He shall also make and publish in every fertilizer bulletin a price-list of the market value of all the materials of which fertilizers are made, and revise the same as often as may be necessary.

Rev., s. 3940; 1901, c. 479, s. 4.

the commissioner of agriculture and attested by the secretary of the board of agriculture in the name of the state and the board of agriculture, shall be sufficient to convey title to the purchaser or purchasers. Ex. sess. 1913, c. 43.

The department shall, as soon as practicable, prepare a convenient handbook, with the necessary illustrative maps, which shall contain all necessary information as to the mines, minerals, forests, soils, climates, waters and waterpowers, fisheries, mountains, swamps, industries, and all such statistics as are best adapted to give proper information of the attractions and advantages which this state affords to immigrants; and shall make an illustrative exposition thereof whenever practicable at international expositions; and shall have authority to offer premiums for the encouragement of agricultural and mechanical pursuits and the raising of improved live-stock in this state.

Rev., s. 3943; Code, s. 2199; 1876-7, c. 174, s. 15; 1883, c. 291, s. 4.

4688. Joint duties of commissioner and board. The commissioner of agriculture, by and with the consent and advice of the board of agriculture, shall:

1. General. Investigate and promote such subjects relating to the improvement of agriculture, the beneficial use of commercial fertilizers and composts, and for the inducement of immigration and capital as he may think proper; but he is especially charged—

2. Commercial fertilizers. With such supervision of the trade in commercial fertilizers as will best protect the interests of the farmers, and shall report to solicitors and to the general assembly information as to the existence or formation of trusts or combinations in fertilizers or fertilizing materials which are or may be offered for sale in this state, whereby the interests of the farmers may be injuriously affected, and shall publish such information in The Bulletin of the department;

3. Cattle and cattle diseases. With investigations adapted to promote the improvement of milk and beef cattle, and especially investigations relating to the diseases of cattle and other domestic animals, and shall publish and distribute from time to time information relative to any contagious diseases of stock, and suggest remedies therefor, and shall have power in such cases to quarantine the infected animals and to regulate the transportation of stock in this state, or from one section of it to another, and may coöperate with the United States department of agriculture in establishing and maintaining cattle districts or quarantine lines, to prevent the infection of cattle from splenic or Spanish fever. Any person wilfully violating such regulations shall be liable in a civil action to any person injured, and for any and all damages resulting from such conduct, and shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor;

Where quarantine regulations of the U. S. department of agriculture, relating to the transportation of cattle, which were adopted by the state board of agriculture, provided that no cattle originating in the quarantined districts as therein described should be moved into "that part of Burke south of the Catawba river," this court judicially knows that a shipment of cattle from Burlington to Morganton has been across the line fixed as a quarantine line: State v. R. R., 141-846.

Laws 1901, chapter 479, section 4 (b), authorizing the commissioner of agriculture, with consent of the state board, "to establish and maintain cattle districts and quarantine lines, to prevent the infection of splenic or Spanish fever," confers power to make regulations prohibiting transportation of cattle: Ibid.

Laws 1901, chapter 479, s. 4 (b), authorizing commissioner of agriculture and the state board to make regulations concerning the transportation of cattle, is not an unwarranted delegation of legislative power, as the commissioner and board are only given power to establish the conditions and certain administrative regulations under and upon which the statute is made to apply: Ibid. Power to make regulations sustained; and an owner who allows his cattle to run at large is guilty, if they wander into prohibited territory: State v. Garner, 158-630.

4. Insect pests. With investigations relative to the ravages of insects and with the dissemination of such information as may be deemed essential for their abatement, and making regulations for destruction of such insects. The wilful violation of any of such regulations by any person shall be a misdemeanor;

5. New agricultural industries. With investigations and experiments directed to the introduction and fostering of new agricultural industries, adapted to the various climates and soils of the state, especially the culture of truck and market gardens, the grape and other fruits;

6. Drainage and irrigation; fertilizer sources. With the investigation of the subject of drainage and irrigation and publication of information as to the best methods of both, and what surfaces, soils, and locations may be most benefited by such improvements; also with the collection and publication of information in regard to localities, character, accessibility, cost, and modes of utilization of native mineral and domestic sources of fertilizers, including formulæ for composting adapted to the different crops, soils, and materials;

7. Farm fences. With the collection of statistics relating to the subject of farm fences, with suggestions for diminishing their cost, and the conditions under which they may be dispensed with altogether;

8. Fish culture. With the supervision of all measures for the propagation and culture of fish in the rivers and inland waters of the state, and to this end may avail himself of such aid as the fish commission of the United States may be induced to extend, and shall offer such encouragement as may be within his power to induce such commission to establish within this state one of its fish hatcheries, and secure the liberation within the waters of this state of the spawn or fry of such fishes as are best suited to our inland streams; he may inquire into the practicability of construction of fishways over the dams and other obstructions of the waters of the state and secure as far as possible the coöperation of mill owners, and with the enforcement of the provisions of law in reference to the free passage of fish through certain waterways in the state;

9. Sales of fertilizers, seeds, and food products. With the enforcement and supervision of the laws which are or may be enacted in this state for the sale of commercial fertilizers, seeds and food products, and with authority to make regulations concerning the same;

10. Inducement of capital and immigration. With the inducement of capital and immigration by the dissemination of information relative to the advantages of soil and climate and to the natural resources and industrial opportunities offered in this state, by the keeping of a land registry and by the publication of descriptions of agricultural, mineral, forest, and trucking lands which may be offered the department for sale; which publication shall be in tabulated form, setting forth the county, township, number of acres, names and addresses of owners, and such other information as may be needful in placing inquiring home-seekers in communication with landowners; and he shall publish a list of such inquiries in The Bulletin for the benefit of those who may have land for sale;

11. Diversified farming. With such investigations as will best promote the improvement and extension of diversified farming, including the rotation of crops, the raising of home supplies, vegetables, fruits, stock, grasses, etc.;

12. Farmers' institutes. With the holding of farmers' institutes in the several counties of the state, as frequently as may be deemed advisable, in order to instruct the people in improved methods in farming, in the beneficial use of fertilizers and composts, and to ascertain the wants and necessities of the various farming communities; and may collect the papers and addresses made at these institutes and publish the same in pamphlet form annually for distribution among the farmers of the state. He may secure such assistants as may be necessary or beneficial in holding such institutes.

13. Publication of bulletin. The commissioner shall publish bulletins which shall contain a list of the fertilizers and fertilizing materials registered for sale each year, the guaranteed constituents of each brand, reports of analyses of fertilizers, the dates of meeting and reports of farmers' institutes and similar societies, description of farm buildings suited to our climate and needs, reports of interesting experiments of farmers, and such other matters as may be deemed advisable. The department may determine the number of bulletins which shall be issued each year.

14. Reports to legislature. He shall transmit to the general assembly at each session a report of the operations of the department with suggestions of such legislation as may be deemed needful.

15. State museum. He shall keep a museum or collection to illustrate the cultural and other resources and the natural history of the state.

Rev., ss. 3294, 3724, 3944; 1901, c. 479, s. 4; 1917, c. 16.

Part 5. Coöperation of Federal and State Governments in Agricultural Work

4689. Legislative assent to Adams act for experiment station. Legislative assent be and the same is hereby given to the purpose of an act of congress approved March sixteenth, one thousand nine hundred and six, entitled "An act to provide for an increased annual appropriation for agricultural experiment stations, and regulating the expenditure thereof," known as the Adams act, and the money appropriated by this act be and the same is hereby accepted on the part of the state for the use of the agricultural experiment station, and the whole amount shall be used for the benefit of the said agricultural experiment station, in accordance with the act of congress making appropriations for agricultural experiment stations and governing the expenditure thereof.

NOTE.—See Educational Institutions of State, s. 5825.

ART. 2. COMMERCIAL FERTILIZERS

4690. Packages to be branded with specified particulars; copy to be filed. All persons, companies, manufacturers, dealers, or agents, before selling or offering for sale in this state any commercial fertilizer or fertilizer material, shall brand or attach to each bag, barrel, or package the brand name of the fertilizer, the weight of the package, the name and address of the manufacturer, and the guaranteed analysis of the fertilizer, giving the valuable constituents of the fertilizer in minimum percentages only, and also the sources of nitrogen or ammonia and potash. These items shall be branded or printed on the bag or package in the following order:

1. Weight of each package in pounds.
2. Brand name or trade-mark.
3. Guaranteed analysis.
4. Available phosphoric acid, per cent.
5. Nitrogen (or equivalent in ammonia), per cent.
6. Potash, per cent.
7. Name and address of the manufacturer.

8. A plainly printed tag, or brand, or print on percentage of water-soluble nitrogen.
9. Where potash is claimed as sulphate it must be derived from high-grade commercial sulphate of potash.

In bone-meal, tankage, or other products, where the phosphoric acid is not available to laboratory methods, but becomes available on the decomposition of the products in the soil, the phosphoric acid shall be claimed as total phosphoric acid, unless it be desired to claim available phosphoric acid also, in which latter case the guarantee must take the form above set forth. In the case of bone-meal and tankage, manufacturers may brand on the bags information showing the fineness of the product, provided it takes a form approved by the department of agriculture. A copy of the brand or stamp on the bag or other package, or on the label attached thereto (all of which must comply with the above requirements), shall be filed with the department of agriculture on or before delivery of such fertilizer to dealers, agents, and consumers in this state, which brand or stamp shall be uniformly used during the fiscal year for which tags have been issued. Such brand, label, or stamp shall truly set forth the data required above.

This and the following sections in this article are intended to protect the public against the sale of worthless fertilizers: State v. Oil Co., 154-635. Section cited, Carson v. Bunting, 154-530; Guano Co. v. Live Stock Co., 168-442; Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175-398; Carter v. McGill, 168-507.

4691. Rules to enforce statute; violation misdemeanor. The board of agriculture is empowered and directed to make such rules and regulations as are necessary to a proper carrying into effect of the provisions of this article, and to provide for all such tags as manufacturers may demand, upon paying the tax therefor. Any person wilfully violating any of the regulations made by the board of agriculture in connection with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Rev., s. 3321; 1901, c. 479, s. 4, subsec. 9.

4692. Sources of ingredients to be disclosed to department. There shall be delivered to the department a statement of the materials or sources from which the phosphoric acid, nitrogen, and potash are each derived in each brand of goods registered. The department of agriculture shall, under rules which it may formulate, furnish to any person applying for the same the sources of nitrogen, potash, and available phosphoric acid contained in any brand of fertilizer registered with the department. If the source of the ingredient is changed, notification thereof shall be promptly furnished to the department.

4693. Brand names; registration; duplication of brand. If the same fertilizer is sold under more than one name, a statement shall be furnished to the commissioner as to what brands are identical. A brand name entered by one person shall not be allowed to be registered by another; and no brand or name shall be allowed to be registered which is so nearly similar to another as to lead to uncertainty, confusion, or fraud. The person whom the records of the department show to have first registered the name shall be permitted to retain it, subject, however, to appeal to the board to determine who is entitled to the brand; but the action of the board shall be without prejudice to the legal rights of the parties to the brand or trade-mark. No brand or name once registered shall be changed to a lower grade at any subsequent registration. The commissioner shall publish a list of brands or trade-marks registered with the department.

4694. Use of terms “high grade” and “standard.” The words “high grade” shall not appear upon any bag or other package of any complete fertilizer which complete fertilizer contains, by its guaranteed analysis, less than eight per cent available phosphoric acid, two and forty-seven one-hundredths per cent nitrogen (equivalent to three per cent ammonia), and two per cent potash; that the word “standard” shall not appear upon any bag or package of any complete fertilizer which contains, by its guaranteed analysis, less than eight per cent available phosphoric acid, one and sixty-five one-hundredths per cent nitrogen (equivalent to two per cent ammonia), and two per cent potash, or a grade or analysis of equal total commercial value; that the words “high grade” shall not appear upon any bag or package of any acid phosphate with potash which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than thirteen per cent available phosphoric acid and one per cent potash, or a grade or analysis of equal total commercial value; that the word “standard” shall not appear upon any bag or other package of acid phosphate with potash which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than eleven per cent available phosphoric acid and one per cent potash, or a grade or analysis of equal total commercial value; that the words “high grade” shall not appear upon any bag or other package of any plain acid phosphate which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than sixteen per cent available phosphoric acid; and, lastly, that the word “standard” shall not appear upon any bag or other package of any plain acid phosphate which shall contain, by its guaranteed analysis, less than fourteen per cent of phosphoric acid. It is further hereby provided that no complete fertilizer, acid phosphate with potash, and phosphate with nitrogen, or plain acid phosphate, shall be offered for sale in this state which contains less than twelve per cent of total plant food, namely, available phosphoric acid, nitrogen, or potash, either singly or in combination, except potash in combination with lime, which shall contain not less than two per cent of potash: Provided, that in mixed fertilizers there shall be claimed not less than one per cent of potash and eighty-two one-hundredths per cent of nitrogen (equivalent to one per cent ammonia) when one or both are present in the same mixture; and also, that mixed fertilizers known as superphosphates and containing only phosphoric acid and ammonia may have only ten per cent of plant food, and shall be known as “high grade” when containing six per cent of phosphoric acid and four per cent of ammonia.

No commercial fertilizer shall be sold or offered or exposed for sale or use within this state as to which the words “high grade” or “standard” are prohibited by this section, unless the words “low grade” are printed in two-inch letters in a conspicuous place upon the package of said commercial fertilizer.

4695. Sale below guaranteed quality; duty of commissioner; purchaser's option. Whenever the commissioner of agriculture shall be satisfied that any fertilizer is five per cent below the guaranteed value in plant food it shall be his duty to assess such deficiency against the manufacturer of the fertilizer and require that twice the value of the deficiency be made good to any person who purchases for his own use such low-grade fertilizer; and should any fertilizer fall as much as ten per cent below the guaranteed value in plant food it shall be his duty to assess three times the value of such deficiency against the manufacturer of the fertilizer and require the same to be paid to the consumer of such fertilizer; and the commissioner may seize any fertilizer belonging to such manufacturer if the deficiency shall not be paid within thirty days after notice to such manufacturer. If the commissioner shall be satisfied that such deficiency in plant food was due to the intention of the manufacturer of same to defraud, then he shall assess and collect from the said manufacturer double the amount of the deficiency which he would have assessed and collected as hereinbefore provided, and pay the same over to the consumer of such fertilizer. Any excess of any ingredient above the guarantee shall not be credited to the deficiency of any other ingredient if the deficiency is more than fifteen per cent: that is, excess of phosphoric acid or ammonia, or potash, cannot be credited to the deficiency in any other of these ingredients, and in assessing deficiencies arising in this connection the deficiency shall be assessed at four times the value of such deficiencies, such deficiencies to be assessed and paid as hereinbefore provided. In fixing the penalties mentioned in this section, or any other section of this article, the commissioner of agriculture shall estimate them by the wholesale price at the factory at the time of contract. If any manufacturer shall resist such collection or payment, the commissioner shall immediately publish the analysis and facts in the bulletin and in one or more newspapers in the state, to be selected by him. The agricultural department shall secure sufficient chemists and assistants, and provide the necessary equipment to enable the department to make a report of the chemical analysis of all fertilizer samples sent to the department by the purchaser or consumer, within twenty days from the time the same is received by the department, and they shall so make reports unless otherwise requested by the sender, and shall also publish a bulletin of all analyses on the first of each month for the preceding month: Provided, that if the analysis made by the department shall show more than twelve and one-half per cent deficiency in the whole, the purchaser may, in lieu of accepting the penalty as provided by law, cancel the contract of purchase; but he must within five days after receipt of said analysis notify the seller of his intention to cancel the contract and his refusal to keep the said fertilizer.

The measure of damages is the abatement of the price: Fertilizer Works v. McLawhorn, 158-274; Guano Co. v. Live Stock Co., 168-442; Carson v. Bunting, 154-530. This section does not interfere with the remedies of the parties to the contract: Tomlinson v. Morgan, 166-557. In an action for the price the defendant may show that the fertilizer was worthless: Carter v. McGill, 168-507. Diminution in crops may, under proper conditions, be shown in evidence as to breach of warranty of quality: Tomlinson v. Morgan, 166-557.

4696. Certain ingredients prohibited. It shall be unlawful to sell or offer for sale in this state any fertilizer or fertilizer material which contains hair, hoof meal, horn, leather scraps, or other deleterious substances not available as food for plants, but in which fertilizer or fertilizer material such forbidden materials aid in making up the required or guaranteed analysis. Whenever the analysis by the department shall show the presence of any of these unlawful materials in goods registered for sale, publication shall be made in the next monthly bulletin and in one or more newspapers, to be selected by the commissioner, giving the name and brand of the goods and the unlawful substance contained in its composition. No manufacturer or seller of such goods shall be allowed to collect pay for same, and when payment has been made it shall be returned by the seller to the purchaser. A copy of the bulletin containing the statement of the presence of unlawful material in the named goods shall be evidence in any court in this state in bar of payment and for recovery of money paid for goods so named. The presence of any forbidden material shall vitiate the whole: Provided, that the manufacturers who desire to use any such material may do so under such regulations as the board may prescribe.

Any person who shall wilfully sell or offer for sale any fertilizer or fertilizer material containing the substances declared by this section to be deleterious shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Rev., s. 3818; 1901, c. 479, s. 9; 1917, c. 143, s. 6.

4697. Collection and analysis of samples; analyst's certificate as evidence. The department of agriculture shall have the power at all times and at all places to have collected by its inspector samples of any commercial fertilizer or fertilizer material offered for sale in the state, and have the same analyzed; and such samples shall be taken from at least ten per cent of the lot from which they may be selected: Provided, that no sample shall be drawn from less than ten bags of any one lot or brand.

The samples must be drawn in the presence of either the agent or seller or dealer, or some other representative of the manufacturer: Provided, that when the agent or seller or dealer, or local representative of the manufacturer, is not present or refuses to act, two disinterested persons may act as witnesses.

The purchaser or consumer, or the agent of either, may take fertilizer samples under the following rules and regulations: When any purchaser or consumer, or agent of either, desires to take a sample of any fertilizer or fertilizer material, he may take such sample according to the rules prescribed by the department of agriculture in the presence of a county or local representative designated by the manufacturer, and notice of which shall be given by the manufacturer on the bill of lading, or, in case there is no county or local representative, or he is unable to serve for any cause, in the presence of an agent, seller, or dealer of the manufacturer and two disinterested freeholders; or, in case the agent, or seller, or dealer, or local representative of the manufacturer refuses to witness the drawing of such sample, a sample may be drawn in the presence of three disinterested freeholders: Provided, such sample or samples shall be drawn with the same kind of instrument used by the inspectors of the department of agriculture in taking samples, the sample to be thoroughly mixed as prescribed by the rules of the department of agriculture, divided into two parts, each part to be placed in a suitable vessel, securely sealed, properly labeled, and one part sent to the department of agriculture for analysis, and the other part to the manufacturer; and a suitable statement shall be signed by the parties taking, or witnessing the taking of the sample covering the matter; such statement or statements to be also sent to the department of agriculture and the manufacturer.

The department of agriculture shall make additional rules and regulations under and by which the purchaser or consumer, or agent of either, may take the sample or samples of fertilizer or fertilizer material as herein provided, and forward the same to the department for analysis under the provisions of this article: Provided, that no sample may be taken except within thirty days after the actual delivery to the consumer except by the state fertilizer inspector.

In the trial of any suit or action wherein there is called in question the value or composition of any fertilizer, a certificate signed by the state chemist and attested with the seal of the department of agriculture, setting forth the analysis made by the state chemist of any sample of said fertilizer drawn under the provisions of this article, and analyzed by him under the provisions of the same, shall be prima facie proof that the fertilizer was of the value and constituency shown by his said analysis. And the said certificate of the state chemist shall be admissible in evidence to the same extent as if it were his deposition taken in said action in the manner prescribed by law for the taking of depositions. The department shall refuse to analyze any sample of commercial fertilizer that is not drawn and forwarded to the department in accordance with the regulations which it may adopt for the carrying out of this article: Provided, that no suit for damages from results of use of fertilizer may be brought except after chemical analysis showing deficiency of ingredients, unless it shall appear to the department of agriculture that the manufacturer of said fertilizer in question has, in the manufacture of other goods offered in this state during such season, employed such ingredients as are outlawed by the provisions of this article, or unless it shall appear to the department of agriculture that the manufacturer of such fertilizer has offered for sale during that season any kind of dishonest or fraudulent goods.

The parties may make a special contract as to liability for damages; otherwise this section will control: Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175-398. Where the seller warrants the fertilizer to be of the specified analysis, but not as to results, there is no implied warranty; but evidence may be given as to effects to show that it did not comply with the specifications: Guano Co. v. Live Stock Co., 168-442. As to measure of damages to be recovered, see Carson v. Bunting, 154-530; Fertilizer Co. v. McLawhorn, 158-274; Tomlinson v. Morgan, 166-557.

4698. Tax tags on shipments in bulk. If any manufacturer, dealer, agent, or other seller of fertilizer shall desire to ship in bulk any fertilizer or fertilizer material to an amount of five tons or more, the said manufacturer or seller of fertilizer shall send with the bill of lading sufficient tax tags to pay the tax on the amount of goods, and the agent of the railroad or other transportation company shall deliver the tags to the consignee when the goods are delivered. The said shipper shall also notify the commissioner of agriculture of the points to and from which the goods are shipped and the date of forwarding: Provided, the analysis thereof and the source or sources from which the same are derived and the other regulations required of shippers in bags shall apply to the said shippers in bulk.

4699. Carriers to furnish statements of fertilizers transported. It shall be lawful for the department of agriculture to require the officers, agents, or managers of any railroad, steamboat, or other transportation company transporting fertilizers or fertilizer material for delivery in this state to furnish monthly statements of the quantity of such fertilizers, with the names of the consignor and consignee, delivered on their respective lines at any and all points within the state; and the department is hereby empowered to compel such officers, agents, or managers to submit their books for examination, if found expedient to do so. Persons failing to furnish statements as required by this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Rev., s. 3819; 1901, c. 479, s. 10; 1917, c. 143, s. 9.

4700. Forfeiture for unauthorized sale; release from forfeiture. All fertilizers and fertilizer material sold or offered for sale contrary to the provisions of this article shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner. The net proceeds of such sale shall be placed in the general fund of the department. The commissioner, however, may, in his discretion, release the fertilizers so seized and condemned upon payment of the required tax or charge, a fine of ten dollars, and all cost and expenses incurred by the department in any proceedings connected with such seizure and condemnation, and upon compliance with all other requirements of this article.

4701. Method of seizure and sale on forfeiture. Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner by any officer or agent of the department. The sale shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the seizure is made, after thirty days advertisement in some newspaper published in such county, or if no newspaper is published in such county, then by like advertisement in a newspaper published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the brand or name of the goods, the quantity, and why seized and offered for sale.

4702. Inspection tax on fertilizer; tax tags. For the purpose of defraying expenses connected with the inspection of fertilizers and fertilizer material in this state, there shall be paid to the department of agriculture a charge of twenty cents per ton on such fertilizers and fertilizer material, except that which is sold to a manufacturer for the sole purpose of use in the manufacture of fertilizers, for each fiscal year ending November thirtieth, which shall be paid before a delivery to agents, dealers, or consumers in this state; but the commissioner, with the advice and consent of the board, shall have discretion to exempt such natural material as may be deemed expedient. Each bag, barrel, or other package of such fertilizer or fertilizer material shall have attached thereto a tag stating that all charges specified in this section have been paid, and the commissioner, with the advice and consent of the board, is hereby empowered to prescribe a form of such tags, and to adopt such regulations as will insure the enforcement of this law. Whenever any manufacturer of fertilizer or fertilizer material shall have paid the charges required by this section his goods shall not be liable to further tax, whether by city, town, or county: Provided, this shall not exempt from ad valorem tax.

This section does not exempt the property from ad valorem tax: Guano Co. v. Biddle, 158-212.

4703. Sale without tag; misuse of tag; penalty; forfeiture. Every merchant, trader, manufacturer, broker, or agent who shall sell or offer for sale any commercial fertilizer or fertilizer material without having attached thereto such labels, stamps, and tags as are required by law, or who shall use the required tags a second time to avoid the payment of the tonnage charge, and every person who shall aid in the fraudulent selling or offering for sale of any such fertilizer, shall be liable to a penalty of the price paid the manufacturer for each separate bag, barrel, or package sold, or offered for sale, or removed, to be recovered by the commissioner of agriculture by suit brought in the name of the state, and any amount so recovered shall be paid, one-half to the informer and one-half to the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. If any such fertilizer shall be condemned as provided by law, it shall be the duty of the department to have an analysis made of the same and cause printed tags or labels expressing the true chemical ingredients thereof to be put upon each bag, barrel, or package, and shall fix the commercial value at which it may be sold. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or offer for sale or remove any such fertilizer, or for any agent of any railroad or other transportation company to deliver any such fertilizer in violation of this section, and any person who shall sell or offer for sale or remove any fertilizer in violation of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Rev., ss. 3820, 3822; 1901, c. 479, ss. 5, 8; 1917, c. 143, s. 13; 1919, c. 13, s. 3.

Party suing for penalty, and not the department of agriculture, is proper party plaintiff: Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 119-120. Section constitutional: Ibid. When complaint alleges violation of sections of this article and this is proved, the court will give penalty: Carson v. Bunting, 154-530. The penalty does not apply to one purchasing for use on his farm: Johnson v. Carson, 161-371. Indictment for violation: State v. Oil Co., 154-635.

ART. 3. COTTON-SEED MEAL

4704. Cotton-seed meal defined; inspection tax. Cotton-seed meal is a product of the cotton seed only, composed principally of the kernel with such portion of the fiber or hull and oil as may be left in the course of manufacture of cotton-seed oil, and when sold for use as fertilizer or feed shall be subject to an inspection tax of twenty cents per ton and be subject to inspection as other fertilizers or fertilizing materials, unless sold to manufacturers for use in manufacturing fertilizers or feed.

1917, c. 242, s. 1.

4705. Bags to be branded with specified particulars. All cotton-seed meal offered for sale, unless sold to manufacturers for use in manufacturing fertilizers or feed, shall have plainly branded on the bag containing it, or on the tag attached thereto, the following data:

1. Cotton-seed meal (with brand and grade).
2. Weight of package.
3. Ammonia and protein.
4. Name and address of manufacturer.

1917, c. 242, s. 2.

Failure to comply with this section subjects the seller to the penalty provided in section 4703: Carson v. Bunting, 154-530. Section referred to in State v. Oil Co., 154-635; Johnson v. Carson, 161-371; Guano Co. v. Live Stock Co., 168-442.

4706. Grades and standards established. No person, firm, or corporation shall offer for sale any cotton-seed meal except as provided in the preceding section, graded and classed as follows:

2. Good cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least seven per cent of ammonia, or thirty-six and no one-hundredths per cent of protein.

3. Ordinary cotton-seed meal by analysis must contain at least six and one-half per cent of ammonia, or thirty-three and forty-four hundredths per cent of protein.

4707. Rules to enforce statute; misdemeanor. The board of agriculture is empowered and directed to make such rules and regulations as are necessary to a proper carrying into effect of the provisions of this article, and to provide for all such tags as manufacturers may demand, upon paying the tax therefor. 1917, c. 242, s. 4.

4708. Sales without tag; misuse of tag; penalty; forfeiture. Every merchant, trader, manufacturer, or agent who shall sell or offer for sale any cotton-seed meal without having attached thereto such labels, stamps, and tags as are required by law, or who shall use the required tag a second time to avoid the payment of the tonnage charge, and every person who shall aid in the fraudulent selling or offering for sale of any cotton-seed meal, shall be liable to a penalty of the price paid the manufacturer for each separate bag, barrel, or package sold, offered for sale, or removed, to be recovered by the commissioner of agriculture by suit brought in the name of the state, and any amount so recovered shall be paid one-half to the informant and one-half to the state treasurer for the use of the department of agriculture. If any such cotton-seed meal shall be condemned, as provided by law, it shall be the duty of the department to have an analysis made of the same; cause printed tags or labels expressing the proper grade to be put upon each bag, barrel, or package, and shall fix the commercial value at which it may be sold; and it shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, or remove any such cotton-seed meal, or for any agent of any railroad or other transportation company to deliver any such cotton-seed meal in violation of this section.

The penalty does not apply to a purchaser for use on his farm: Johnson v. Carson, 161-371. For damages to be recovered, see cases cited under section 4697. Section referred to in Carson v. Bunting, 154-530; State v. Oil Co., 154-635; State v. Faulkner, 175-787.

4709. Sales contrary to act a misdemeanor. Any person, firm, or corporation who shall sell or offer for sale or shall act as agent of or broker for the manufacturer of or dealer in any cotton-seed meal contrary to the provisions above set forth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Rev., 3814; 1917, c. 242, s. 5; 1919, c. 13, s. 2.

This applies only to the manufacturer, owner or agent who sells with an opportunity to examine and test the article: State v. Faulkner, 175-787.

4710. Forfeiture for unauthorized sale; release from forfeiture. All cotton-seed meal sold or offered for sale contrary to the provisions above set forth shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner of agriculture. The net proceeds from such sale shall be placed in the general fund of the department and accounted for upon its books. The commissioner, however, shall have the discretion to release the meal so seized and condemned upon compliance with the law as set forth above and the payment of all costs and expenses incurred by the department in any proceedings connected therewith.

4711. Method of seizure and sale on forfeiture. Such seizure and sale shall be made under the direction of the commissioner of agriculture by an officer or agent of the department; the sale to be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the seizure is made, after thirty days advertisement in some newspaper published in said county, or if no newspaper is published in said county, then by like advertisement in a newspaper published in the nearest county thereto having a newspaper. The advertisement shall state the grade of the meal, the quantity, why seized and offered for sale.

4712. Collection and analysis of samples. The department of agriculture shall have the same authority and powers for taking and analyzing samples of cotton-seed meal as are provided in case of commercial fertilizers and fertilizer materials; and the same procedure as to law and regulations shall be followed in taking such samples of cotton-seed meal as are prescribed and followed for taking samples of fertilizer and fertilizer materials.

4713. Sales below guaranteed quality; duties of commissioner. When the commissioner of agriculture shall be satisfied that any cotton-seed meal is five per cent below the guaranteed analysis, it shall be his duty to assess twice the value of said deficiency against the manufacturer, and if said cotton-seed meal shall fall as much as ten per cent below the guaranteed analysis it shall be his duty to assess three times the value of said meal and require that his findings of said deficiency be made good to all persons who, in the opinion of the commissioner, have purchased the said meal; and the commissioner may seize any meal belonging to said company, to the value of the deficiency, if the deficiency shall not be paid within thirty days after notice to the company. If the commissioner shall be satisfied that the deficiency in analysis was due to intention or fraud of the manufacturer, then the commissioner shall assess and collect from the manufacturer twice the amount above provided for and pay over the same to parties who purchased said meal. That if any manufacturer shall resist such collection or payment, the commissioner shall immediately publish the analysis and the facts in the bulletin and in such newspapers in the state as he may deem necessary.

See cases cited under section 4697.

4714. Adulteration prohibited. It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer to adulterate cotton-seed meal in the process of manufacture or otherwise.

1917, c. 242, s. 8.

4715. Board of agriculture authorized to make and sell lime to farmers. The North Carolina board of agriculture is authorized and directed, for the purpose of furnishing marl or limestone to the farmers of the state, to make such arrangements as they deem advisable for this purpose, and to this end may lease or purchase oyster shells in large quantities and beds of limestone, and erect machinery suitable for the preparation of the material for use by the farmers; and any lime so prepared and any by-products shall be sold for agricultural purposes to the citizens of the state at a reasonable cost which shall produce an amount of money sufficient to maintain and operate the plant.

4716. Convict labor authorized. With the approval of the governor, when requested by the board of agriculture, the superintendent of the penitentiary may furnish a superintendent with a squad of able-bodied convicts, not to exceed fifty, to do such work as the commissioner, with the authority of the board, may deem necessary to mine, prepare, load and dispose of the material. The board shall pay the state quarterly such amount as shall be agreed upon by the superintendent of the penitentiary and the board of agriculture for their work, out of the proceeds of the sales, and the state shall guard, feed, clothe, and work such convicts: Provided, that after the first year's operations the expenses of the work shall not exceed the amount of the sales.

4717. Power to make regulations; reports required. The board of agriculture is authorized to make all regulations necessary to execute the provisions of this article and shall report annually to the governor and furnish him itemized statements of the receipts and expenditures, which shall be published in the report of the commissioner of agriculture to the legislature.

1919, c. 182, s. 3.

4718. Analyses and guaranty. All pulverized limestone and marl sold or offered for sale for agricultural purposes in the state shall have the analyses guaranteed by the manufacturers. These analyses shall show the percentage of calcium carbonate and the percentage of magnesium carbonate in the finished product.

1919, c. 182, ss. 4, 5.

4719. Percentage of carbonates required. Limestone or marl offered or exposed for sale to the farmers of the state for agricultural purposes must show an average of at least seventy per cent calcium carbonate; domolitic limestone at least fifty per cent calcium carbonate; and a total carbonates equivalent of not less than eighty per cent; and shell marl at least sixty per cent calcium carbonate.

4720. Degree of fineness provided. All pulverized limestone, except shell marl, offered or exposed for sale to the farmers of the state for agricultural purposes shall be ground to a sufficient degree of fineness to pass a screen of not less than ten meshes to the linear inch.

4721. Manufacturers to register and file statement of analysis. All manufacturers of ground limestone and marl who shall offer any of their goods for sale in this state shall annually register with the commissioner of agriculture, along with a statement of the analysis of the finished product, a statement showing the name and general average composition of the raw material—limestone, domolitic limestone, marl, etc., from which the finished product is manufactured.

4722. Inspection of factories and shipped products. The commissioner and board of agriculture are authorized, empowered and directed to inspect all quarries, grinders, and other places of manufacture, as well as all consignments of pulverized limestone and marl shipped into North Carolina for agricultural purposes, with a view to enforcing the provisions of this article.

and address of the manufacturer, jobber, or importer; the names of each and all ingredients of which the article is composed; a guarantee that the contents are pure and unadulterated, and a statement of the maximum percentage it contains of crude fiber, and the percentage of crude fat, and the percentage of crude protein, and the percentage of carbohydrates, allowing one per cent of nitrogen to equal six and one-fourth per cent of protein, all four constituents to be determined by the methods in use at the time by the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists of the United States.

4725. Weight of packages prescribed. All concentrated commercial feeding stuffs shall be in standard-weight bags or packages of twenty-five, fifty, seventy-five, one hundred, one hundred twenty-five, one hundred fifty, one hundred seventy-five, and two hundred pounds.

1909, c. 149, s. 3.

4728. Agent released by statement of manufacturer. When a manufacturer, importer, or jobber of any concentrated commercial feeding stuffs files a statement, as required by the preceding section, no agent or seller of such manufacturer, importer, or jobber, shall be required to file such statement.

1909, c. 149, s. 4.

4729. Power to refuse or to cancel registration. The commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to refuse the registration of any concentrated commercial feeding stuff under a name which would be misleading as to the materials of which it is composed, or when the names of each and all ingredients of which it is composed are not stated, or where it does not comply with the standards and rulings adopted by the board of agriculture. Should any concentrated commercial feeding stuffs be registered and it is afterwards discovered that they are in violation of any of the provisions of this article, the commissioner of agriculture shall have the power to cancel such registration.

The commissioner of agriculture is hereby empowered to prescribe the form of such tax tags or stamps.

1909, c. 149, s. 6.

Upon a sale of feeding stuff which is below grade and without tags, what damages the purchaser may recover: Jennette v. Hay and Grain Co., 158-156.

of feeding stuff in question shall be subject to seizure, condemnation, and sale by the commissioner of agriculture, and the proceeds from said sales shall be covered into the state treasury for the use of the department executing the provisions of this article. Said sample, not less than one pound in weight, shall be taken from not less than ten bags or packages, or if there be less than ten bags or packages, then the sample shall be taken from each bag or package, if it be in bag or package form, or if such feeding stuff be in bulk, then it shall be taken from ten different places of the lot. The sample or samples taken shall be kept a reasonable length of time by the department of agriculture, and on demand a portion of such sample or samples shall be furnished to the manufacturer, importer, or jobber of his feeds for examination by the chemists or other experts of said manufacturer, importer, or jobber. The department of agriculture is hereby authorized to publish from time to time in reports or bulletins the results of the analysis of such sample or samples, together with such additional information as circumstances advise: Provided, however, that if such sample or samples as analyzed differ from the statement prescribed in section 4724 above, then, at least thirty days before publishing the results of such analysis, written notice shall be given of such results to the manufacturer, importer, agent, or jobber of such stock, if the name and address of such manufacturer, jobber, or importer be known: Provided further, that if the analysis of any such sample does not differ within reasonable limits from the statement prescribed in section 4724 above appearing upon the goods, the manufacturer shall be considered as having complied with the requirements of this article.

Rev., s. 3808; 1909, c. 149, s. 9.

In the event of any dispute or trial pending in any of the courts of this state, the certificate of any expert grader, employed as above provided, and acknowledged or proven before any clerk of the superior court of any county in the state, shall be admissible in evidence as to the grade or classification of cotton graded or classified by said expert.

1915, c. 175, s. 4.

ART. 18. MARKETING COTTON

4907. Purpose of article. In order to protect the financial interests of North Carolina by stimulating the development of an adequate warehouse system for our great staple crop, cotton, in order to enable growers of cotton more successfully to withstand and remedy periods of depressed prices, in order to provide a modern system whereby cotton may be more profitably and more scientifically marketed, and in order to give this important crop the standing to which it is justly entitled as collateral in the commercial world, a cotton warehouse system for the state of North Carolina is hereby established as hereinafter provided.

The purpose of this article explained: Bickett v. Tax Commission, 177-433. The governor, the state board of agriculture, and the state warehouse superintendent are proper parties plaintiff in an action against the state tax commission to enforce the execution of this article: Ibid. The sections of this article are constitutional: Ibid.

4908. Board of agriculture administers article, makes rules, appoints superintendent. The provisions of this article shall be administered by the state board of agriculture, through a suitable person to be selected by said board and known as the state warehouse superintendent. In administering the provisions of this article the board of agriculture is empowered to make and enforce such rules and regulations as may be necessary to make effective the purposes and provisions of this article and to fix and prescribe reasonable charges for storing cotton in the local warehouses and publish the same from time to time, as the board may deem necessary.

See Bickett v. Tax Commission, 177-433.

4909. Employment of officers and assistants. The board of agriculture shall have authority to employ a warehouse superintendent and necessary assistants, local managers, inspectors, expert cotton classers, and such other employees as may be necessary in carrying out the provisions of this article, and fix and regulate their salaries and duties.

4910. Bonds of superintendent and employees. The person named as state warehouse superintendent shall give bond to the state of North Carolina in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars to guarantee the faithful performance of his duties and to safeguard the system against loss through him, the expense of said bond to be paid by the state, to be approved as other bonds for state officers. The superintendent shall, to safeguard the interests of the state, require bonds from other employees authorized in this article, in amounts at least as large as he may find that ordinary business experience in such matters would suggest as ample.

4911. Fund for support of system; collection and investment. In order to provide a sufficient indemnifying or guarantee fund to cover any loss not covered by the bonds hereinbefore mentioned, in order to provide the financial backing which is essential in order to make the warehouse receipts universally acceptable as collateral, and in order to provide that a state warehouse system intended to benefit all cotton growers in the state shall be supported by the class it is designed to benefit, it is hereby declared: That on each bale of cotton ginned in this state in the two years ending June thirtieth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, twenty-five cents shall be collected, through the ginner of the bale, and paid into the state treasury, to be held there as a special guarantee or indemnifying fund to safeguard the state warehouse system against any losses not otherwise covered.

The state tax commission shall provide and enforce the machinery for the collection of this tax, which shall be held in the state treasury to the credit of the state warehouse system. At least one-half of this amount shall be invested in United States government or farm loan bonds, or North Carolina bonds, and the remainder may be invested in amply secured first mortgages to aid and encourage the establishment of warehouses operating under this system, such investments to be made by the board of agriculture with the approval of the governor and attorney-general: Provided, such first mortgages shall be for not more than one-half the actual value of the warehouse property covered by such mortgages, and run for not more than ten years.

The tax of twenty-five cents on each bale is in the nature of a tax on trades or business, and is constitutional: Bickett v. Tax Commission, 177-433.

4912. Qualifications of warehouse manager. No man shall be employed as manager of a warehouse unless the members of the board of county commissioners and the president of some bank in the county in which the warehouse is operated shall certify to the state warehouse superintendent that the person desiring to be warehouse manager is in their opinion a man of good character, competent, and of good reputation, deserving the confidence of the people.

4913. Negotiable receipts issued for cotton stored; rules and restrictions. For all cotton stored the warehouse manager shall fill in a negotiable official receipt, which shall be signed in pen and ink by him and countersigned by the cotton weigher of the market town or by some other person approved by the county commissioners as being competent and of good character. Such receipt shall also be signed by the state warehouse superintendent or his duly authorized agent: Provided, no warehouse receipt issued by a local manager to himself shall be valid. The state warehouse superintendent shall in each case name the person authorized to countersign receipts for any warehouse.

4914. Issuance of coupons with receipts; form and use. There shall be issued to each warehouse manager by the state superintendent of warehouses a sufficient number of engraved coupons, each representing one bale of cotton stored in the warehouse operated under this article; but coupons furnished at any one time shall not exceed ten per cent of the storage capacity of such warehouse as expressed in bales. Such coupons shall state on their face that they are worthless of themselves; but to each warehouse receipt one such coupon shall be attached for each bale of cotton covered by the receipt, the receipt itself stating that it is not good for a greater number of bales than there are coupons attached; and such coupons must be returned to the warehouse, along with the receipt.

4915. Superintendent to accept federal standards. The warehouse superintendent shall accept as authoritative the standards and classifications of cotton established by the federal government.

4916. Duties of superintendent; manner of operating warehouse system. The state warehouse superintendent shall have the power to lease for stated terms property for the warehousing of cotton: Provided, no rent shall be paid until the operating expenses of such warehouses so leased shall have been paid from the income of the warehouse so leased, and in no case shall the state be responsible for any rent except for the income of such warehouses so leased in excess of operating expenses; and said superintendent shall fix the terms upon which private or corporate warehouses may obtain the benefit of state supervision and operation. And it shall be his especial duty to foster and encourage the erection of warehouses in the various cotton-growing counties of the state for operation under the terms of this article and to provide an adequate system of inspection and of rules, forms, and reports to insure the security of the system; such matters to be approved by the state board of agriculture. The violation of such rules by any officer of the system shall be a misdemeanor. Cotton may be stored in such warehouses by any person owning cotton and receive all the benefits accruing from such state management; and the persons herein permitted to store cotton in said warehouses shall pay to the manager of the warehouse such sum for rent or storage as may be agreed upon by the owner and such person desiring to store cotton therein.

4917. Powers of superintendent; liability for tort. The superintendent shall also have the power to sue or to be sued in the courts of this state in his official capacity, but not as an individual, except in case of tort or neglect of duty, when the action shall be upon his bond. Suits may be brought in the county of Wake or in the county in which the cause of action arose.

1919, c. 168, s. 11.

4918. Requirements for storage; issuance and effect of receipt. The superintendent, when fully satisfied as to the title to the same, shall receive for storage lint cotton properly baled and having an inspection tag attached showing that it has been legally weighed and that a federal or state inspector has graded and stapled said cotton. Receipts of the form and design approved by the board of agriculture shall be issued for such cotton under the seal and in the name of the state of North Carolina, stating location of the warehouse, name of manager, the mark on said bale, weight, grade and length of staple, so as to be able to deliver on surrender of receipt the identical cotton for which it was given. The receipt for the cotton so stored is to be transferable by written assignment and actual delivery, and the cotton which it represents to be deliverable only upon a physical presentation of the receipt, which is to be marked "Canceled" when the cotton is taken from the warehouse. The said receipt carries absolute title to the cotton, it being the duty of the manager accepting same for storage, by inspection of the register of deeds' office, to ascertain whether there are on file crop mortgages or liens for rent or laborer's liens covering said cotton before he accepts same and issues a receipt. It shall be the duty of the register of deeds of the respective counties to furnish without charge from his records a certificate as to any liens and mortgages, upon the request of the warehouse superintendent or manager under him charged with the responsibility under this article. The official warehouse receipts shall contain a statement to be signed by the holder as a part of his endorsement to the effect that there is no lien or mortgage outstanding against such cotton, and any person falsely signing such a statement shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year or by fine not exceeding ten times the market value of the cotton covered by said false statement.

4919. Issuance of false receipt a felony; punishment. The manager of any warehouse, or any agent, employee or servant, who issues or aids in issuing a receipt for cotton without knowing that such cotton has actually been placed in the warehouse under the control of the manager thereof shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction be punished for each offense by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a period of not less than one nor more than five years, or by a fine not exceeding ten times the market value of cotton thus represented as having been stored.

4920. Failure to cancel receipt on delivery; punishment. Any manager, employee, agent or servant, who shall deliver cotton from a warehouse under this article without the production of the receipt therefor, or who fails to mark such receipt "Canceled" on the delivery of the cotton, shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars or imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

4921. Rules for issuance of duplicate receipt. The state warehouse superintendent, or his duly authorized agent, and the manager of the local warehouse is authorized to issue a duplicate receipt for a lost or destroyed receipt only upon affidavit of the owner of the original that the original receipt has been lost or destroyed and by giving the state warehouse superintendent bond with approved security in an amount equal to double the value of the cotton represented by the original receipt, said value to be estimated at the highest market price of middling cotton during the preceding two years, to indemnify the state warehouse superintendent from loss or damage and any cost of litigation.

4922. State not liable on warehouse debts; tax on cotton continued if losses sustained. No debt or other liability shall be created against the state by reason of the lease or operation of the warehouse system created by this article, or the storage of cotton therein, it being the purpose of this article to establish a self-sustaining system to operate as nearly as practicable at cost, without profit or loss to the state, except that expenses of supervision may be paid by the board of agriculture. While it is believed that the provisions and safeguards mentioned in this article, including the bonds required of all officers and the supplemental indemnifying or guarantee fund mentioned herein, will insure the security of the system beyond any reasonable possibility of loss, nevertheless, in order to establish the principle that this system should be supported by those for whose especial financial benefit it is established, it is hereby provided that in the eventuality that the system should suffer at any time any loss not fully covered by the aforementioned bonds and indemnifying fund, such loss shall be made good by having the state tax commission repeat for another twelve months selected by it the special levy on ginned cotton, as prescribed in this article, and for the two years ending June thirtieth of the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

4923. Superintendent to insure cotton; premiums. The superintendent shall insure, and shall keep insured for its full value, upon the best terms obtainable, by individual or blanket policy, all cotton on storage. In case of loss he shall collect the insurance due and pay the same, ratably, to those lawfully entitled to it; insurance policies to be in the name of the state and the premium collected from the owners of the cotton, the state to have a lien on the cotton for insurance and storage charges as in the case of other public warehouses in the state.

4924. Superintendent to negotiate loans on receipts and sell cotton for owners. The state warehouse superintendent, in addition to the duties hereinbefore vested in him, is also permitted and empowered, upon the request of the owner of the warehouse receipts and cotton stored in such warehouses, to aid, assist, and cooperate, or as the duly authorized agent of such owner or owners, which authorization shall be in writing, to secure and negotiate loans upon the warehouse receipts. And upon like written request of the owner, and his or their duly authorized agent, he may sell and dispose of such warehouse cotton for such owner, either in the home or foreign markets, as may be agreed upon between such owner and the superintendent in writing. And for said loan or sales the superintendent shall charge reasonable and just commissions, without discrimination, all of which shall be accounted for and held as part of the fund for the maintenance of the state warehouse system: Provided, however, that the state incurs no liability whatever for any act or representation of the superintendent in exercising any of the permissions or powers vested in him in this section: Provided further, that the bond of the superintendent will be liable for any unfaithful or negligent act of his by reason of which the owner of such warehoused cotton suffer damage or loss.

1919, c. 168, s. 18.

4925. Partial unconstitutionality provided against. If any particular section or part of any section of this article shall be held to be unconstitutional, such holding shall not invalidate any other portion thereof.

1919, c. 168, s. 19.

ART. 19. LEAF TOBACCO SALES

1907, c. 97, s. 2.

4928. Commissioner to keep record and publish in bulletin. The commissioner of agriculture shall cause said statements to be accurately copied into a book to be kept for this purpose, and shall keep separate and apart the statements returned to him from each leaf tobacco market in the state, so as to show the number of pounds of tobacco sold by each market for the sale of leaf tobacco; the number of pounds sold by producers, and the number of pounds resold upon each market. The commissioner of agriculture shall keep said books open to the inspection of the public, and shall, on or before the tenth day of each month, after the receipt of the reports above required to be made to him on or before the fifth day of each month, cause the said reports to be published in the bulletin issued by the agricultural department and in one or more journals published in the interest of the growth, sale, and manufacture of tobacco in the state, or having a large circulation therein.

4960. Landowners' petition and deposits. Whenever a petition signed by all the landowners in a proposed agricultural development district shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of any county in which a part of said lands is located, setting forth and certifying the following:

1. That it is their desire and intention to form an agricultural development district (hereinafter called "the district") of an area aggregating not less than one thousand acres, and that it is their purpose, when cleared and put into condition for cultivation, to sell the said land to settlers on long time and at reasonable prices.

2. They shall deposit with the clerk—

g. A certificate that the lands when improved will have a market value of at least twice the amount of the total cost of the proposed improvement.

1917, c. 131, s. 2.

4961. Viewers' appointment. The clerk shall then appoint a board of viewers (hereinafter called "the viewers"), composed of three members, one a competent civil engineer and the other two practical agriculturists, to examine the lands and data submitted to the clerk by the landowners, and report as to the facts being virtually as stated, or to give their opinion as to any variations.

1917, c. 131, s. 2.

4962. Viewers' report. Their written report shall be filed within two weeks from the date of their appointment. The clerk shall consider this report. If the viewers report that the project is not practicable or will not be for the public welfare, and the clerk shall approve such findings, the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners.

1917, c. 131, s. 2.

4963. Plan submitted to state geologist. If the viewers report that the project is practicable, and that it will be for the public welfare and conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall so find, then all of the data and reports of the proceedings shall be submitted to the state geologist, who shall designate:

1. An engineer to survey and approve of the boundaries and drainage and road plans.

2. An attorney of reputation to examine and approve of the chains of title submitted.

3. A forester to make an estimate of the cost of clearing.

4. A soil expert to report on the availability of the land for agricultural purposes.

1917, c. 131, s. 3.

4964. District established, if geologist approves. The state geologist shall consider these reports, data, and plans, and, if he approves the same, shall so certify to the clerk of the court, who shall then declare the district established.

1917, c. 131, s. 3.

4965. Board of agricultural development commissioners appointed. After the said district shall have been declared established as aforesaid, and the complete plans therefor approved, the clerk shall appoint two persons, one of whom shall be a landowner of the district, the other a practical agriculturist of good character, not a landowner of the district, and these two shall choose a third, who may or may not be a landowner of the district, and the three so appointed and chosen shall be designated as the Board of Agricultural Development Commissioners of District.

4966. Commissioners incorporated; powers; officers; superintendent's bond. Such commissioners when so appointed and chosen shall be immediately created a body corporate under the name and style of the Board of Agricultural Development Commissioners of District (hereinafter called "the commissioners" or "the board of commissioners"), with the right to hold property and convey the same, to sue and be sued, and shall possess such other powers as usually pertain to corporations. They shall organize by electing from among their number a chairman and vice-chairman. They shall also elect a secretary, within or without their body, and shall adopt by-laws for the government of their proceedings. The treasurer of the county in which the proceedings are instituted shall be ex officio treasurer of such board of commissioners. Such board of commissioners shall adopt a seal, which it may alter at pleasure. They shall have and possess such powers as are herein granted. The name of such district shall constitute a part of its corporate name. The commissioners shall appoint a competent person as superintendent of construction; such person shall furnish a bond, to be approved by the commissioners, in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned upon the honest and faithful performance of his duties. Such bond shall be in favor of the board of commissioners. In the event of any vacancy in the membership of the board of commissioners the remaining members shall fill such vacancy, subject to the approval of the court.

4967. Classification of lands according to benefits. It shall be the further duty of the viewers to personally examine the lands in the district and classify them with reference to the benefits they will receive from the improvements to be made. The land benefits shall be separated into five classes. The land receiving the highest benefit shall be marked Class A; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class B; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class C; that receiving the next highest benefit, Class D; and that receiving the smallest benefit, Class E. The holdings of any one landowner need not necessarily be all in one class, but the number of acres in each class shall be ascertained, though its boundary need not be marked on the ground or shown on the map. The total number of acres owned by one person in each class and the total number of acres benefited shall be determined, and the total number of acres in each class in the entire district shall be ascertained and presented in tabulated form. The scale of assessment upon the several classes of land returned by the viewers shall be in the ratio of five, four, three, two, and one; that is to say, as often as five cents per acre is assessed against the land in Class A, four cents per acre shall be assessed against the land in Class B, and three cents per acre in Class C, and two cents per acre in Class D, and one cent per acre in Class E. This shall form the basis of assessment for benefits to the lands of the district.

4968. Appeal from viewers' report. Any party aggrieved may, within ten days after the confirmation of the viewers' report, appeal to the superior court in term-time. Such an appeal shall be taken and prosecuted as now provided in special proceedings. Such an appeal shall be based and heard only upon such exceptions theretofore filed by the complaining party, either as to issue of law or fact, and no additional exceptions shall be considered by the court upon the hearing of the appeal.

4969. Letting contract for construction. The commissioners shall cause notice to be given for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein said district is located, and such additional publication elsewhere as they deem expedient, of time and place of letting the work of construction, and in such notice they shall specify the approximate amount of work to be done, the time fixed for the completion thereof, and the date appointed for the letting. They, together with the superintendent of the district, shall convene and let to the lowest responsible bidder, either as a whole or in part, or in sections, as they deem most advantageous for the district, the proposed work. The landowners may bid on the work, and in the event of their securing the contract, the work shall be done at actual cost, it being distinctly understood that the landowners are to receive no profit from said contract, and any saving effected shall inure to the benefit of the district. No bids shall be entertained that exceed the estimated cost, except for good and satisfactory reasons it shall be shown that the original estimate was erroneous. The commissioners shall have the right to reject all bids and advertise again the work, if in their judgment the interest of the district will be subserved by so doing. The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a contract with the board of commissioners, and to execute a bond for the faithful performance of such contract, with sufficient surety, in favor of the board of commissioners for the use and benefit of the district, in an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the estimated cost of the work awarded to him. In canvassing bids and letting the contract the superintendent of construction shall act only in an advisory capacity to the board of commissioners. The contract shall be based on the plans and specifications submitted by the commissioners in a report, and confirmed by the court, the original of which shall remain on file in the office of the clerk and shall be open to the inspection of all prospective bidders. All bids shall be sealed and shall not be opened except under authority of the commissioners, and on the date therefor appointed for the opening of bids. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for three per centum of the amount of the bid.

4970. Payment for work done. The superintendent of construction shall make monthly estimates of the amount of work done and shall furnish one copy to the contractor and file the other with the secretary of the board of commissioners, and the commissioners shall within five days after filing of such estimate meet and direct the secretary to draw a warrant in favor of the contractor for ninety per centum of the work done according to the specifications and contract; and upon the presentation of such, properly signed by the chairman or vice-chairman and secretary, to the treasurer of the district, he shall pay the amount due thereon. When the work is fully completed and accepted by the superintendent, he shall make an estimate for the whole amount due, including the amounts withheld on the previous monthly estimates, which shall be paid from the fund as before provided. In the event that the landowners receive the contract, the monthly payments shall cover only the actual cost of the work, as certified by the superintendent of construction, to whose certificates shall be attached all pay rolls and vouchers. If any contractor to whom said work shall have been let shall fail to perform the same according to the terms specified in his contract, action may be had in behalf of the commissioners against such contractor and his bond in the superior court, for damages sustained in the district, and recovery made against such contractor and his sureties. In such an event the work shall be advertised and relet in the same manner as the original letting.

4971. Record book kept by clerk. The clerk shall provide a suitable book to be known as the Record Book of the Agricultural Development Commissioners of District, in which he shall cause to be recorded every petition, motion, order, record, judgment, or finding of the board of commissioners in every transaction which may come before it, in such a way as to make a complete and continuous record of the case; copies of all the maps and plans are to be furnished by the commissioners, and marked by the clerk "Official Copy," which shall be kept on file by him in his office, and one of the copies shall be pasted or otherwise attached to his record.

4972. Assessment rolls; preparation; contents; execution. After the classification of the land and ratios of assessment of the different classes to be made thereon has been confirmed by the court, the commissioners shall ascertain the total cost of improvement, including all incidental expenses, and shall certify under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the board of commissioners to the clerk the said total cost, and said certificate shall be forthwith recorded in the record book and open to the inspection of any landowner in the district. The commissioners shall immediately prepare in duplicate the assessment rolls or agricultural improvement tax lists, giving therein the names of the owners of the land in the district as ascertained from the public records, a brief description of the several tracts of land assessed, and the assessment against each tract of land. The first of these assessment rolls shall provide assessments sufficient for the payment of interest on the bond issue to accrue the third year after their issue and the installment of principal to fall due at the expiration of the third year after the date of issue, together with such amounts as shall have to be paid for the collection and handling of the same. The second assessment roll shall make like provision for the fourth year, and in like manner assessment rolls shall make provision for each succeeding year during the life of the bonds. Each of the said assessment rolls shall specify the time when collectible, and shall be numbered in their order, and the amounts assessed against the several tracts of land shall be in accordance with the benefits received, as shown by the classification and ratio of the assessment made by the viewers. These assessment rolls shall be signed by the clerk and by the secretary of the board of commissioners.

4973. Filing and collection of assessment rolls; to be lien on land. One copy of each of said assessment rolls shall be filed in the record book and one copy shall be delivered to the sheriff or other county tax collector, after the clerk has appended thereto an order directing the collection of said assessment, and the said assessment shall thereupon have the force and effect of a judgment as in the case of state and county taxes. These assessments shall constitute a first and paramount lien, second only to state and county taxes, upon the lands assessed for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner, by the same officers, as the state and county taxes are collected.

4974. When assessments due; sale of delinquent lands. The said assessments shall be due and payable on the first Monday in September each year, and if the same shall not be paid in full by the thirty-first day of December following, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to sell the land or lands so delinquent. The sale of lands for failure to pay such assessments shall be made at the courthouse door in the county in which the lands are located, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon, on the first Monday of February of each year; and if for any necessary cause the sale cannot be made on that date, the sale may be continued from day to day for not exceeding four days, or the land may be readvertised and sold on the first Monday in March succeeding, during the same hours, without any order therefor. In all other respects, except as to the time of the sale of the land, the existing laws as to the collection of state and county taxes shall have application to the collection of assessments under this article.

4975. Settlement by tax collector. It shall be the duty of the sheriff or tax collector to pay over to the county treasurer promptly the moneys so collected by him upon said tax assessments, to the end that the said treasurer may have funds in hand to meet the payment of interest and principal due upon outstanding bonds as they mature.

4976. Payment of interest and installments on bonds; county treasurer's liability. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, and without any previous order from the commissioners, to provide and pay the installments of interest at the time and place as evidenced by the coupons attached to said bonds, and also to pay the annual installments of principal due on said bonds at the time and place as evidenced by said bonds; and the said county treasurer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject, on conviction, to fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, if he shall neglect or fail to make prompt payment of said interest and principal of said bonds, and shall likewise be liable in a civil action for all damages which may accrue to the board of commissioners or holders of said bonds, to either or both of which a right of action is hereby given.

4977. New assessment on sale of land. When any land in the district is sold the court shall assess the new owner thereof, and deduct the amount of the new assessment from the assessment of the former owner, and correct the assessment rolls accordingly.

4978. Advertisement of intention to issue bonds. The commissioners shall give notice for three weeks, by publication in some newspaper published in the county in which the district or a part of the district is situated, and shall also post a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places in the district, reciting that they propose to issue bonds for the payment of the total cost of improvement, giving the amount of the bonds to be issued, the rate of interest they are to bear, and the time when payable. Any landowner in the district not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may within fifteen days after the publication of said notice pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, to be assessed from the classification sheet and certificate of the board of commissioners, showing the total cost of improvements, and have his lands released from liability to be assessed for such improvements.

4979. Landowner's waiver. Each and every person owning land in the district who shall fail to pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable as aforesaid, within the time above specified, shall be deemed as consenting to the issuance of the bonds, and in consideration of the right to pay his proportion in installments, he hereby waives his right of defense to the payment of any assessment which may be levied for the payment of the bonds because of any irregularity or defect in the proceedings prior to this time, except in the case of an appeal as hereinbefore provided, which is not affected by this waiver.

4980. Bond issue. At the expiration of fifteen days after the expiration of the notice of the bond issue, the board of commissioners may issue bonds of the district for an amount equal to the total estimated cost of the improvements, less such amounts as shall have been paid in in cash to the county treasurer, plus an amount sufficient to pay interest on the bond issue for the three years next following the date of the issue: Provided, that the total principal amount of the bonds to be issued shall not exceed fifty dollars per acre for the land to be improved.

These bonds shall bear six per cent interest per annum, payable semiannually, and shall be paid in twenty equal installments. The first installment of the principal shall mature at the expiration of three years from the date of issue, and one installment for each succeeding year for nineteen additional years. The commissioners shall sell these bonds at not less than par and apply the proceeds to the payment of interest on said bonds for the three years next following the date of issue, and the payment of other expenses of the district provided for in this chapter. The proceeds from such bonds shall be for the exclusive use of the district specified on their face. The bonds shall be numbered by the board of commissioners and recorded in the record book, which record shall set out specifically the lands embraced in the district on which the tax has not been paid in full, which land is to be assessed as hereinbefore provided. If any installment of principal or interest represented by said bonds shall not be paid at the time and in the manner when the same shall be due and payable, and such default shall continue for a period of six months, the holder or holders of such bond or bonds upon which default has been made shall have a right of action against said district, or the board of commissioners of said district, wherein the court may issue a writ of mandamus against said district, its officers, including the tax collector and treasurer, directing the levying of a tax or specific assessment as herein provided and the collection of the same in such sum as may be necessary to meet any unpaid installment of principal and interest and the cost of said action; and such other remedies are hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond or bonds in default as may be authorized by law; and the right of action is hereby vested in the holder or holders of such bond or bonds upon which default has been made authorizing them to institute suit against any officer on his official bond for failure to perform any duty imposed by the provisions of this chapter. The official bonds of the tax collector and the county treasurer shall be liable for the faithful performance of the duties herein assigned them. Such official bonds may be increased by the board of county commissioners.

4981. Fees allowed sheriff and treasurer. The fee allowed the sheriff or the tax collector for collecting the tax as prescribed in this chapter shall be two per centum of the amount collected, and the fee allowed the county treasurer for disbursing the revenue obtained from the sale of the bonds shall be one per centum of the amount disbursed: Provided, no fee shall be allowed to sheriff or other tax collector, or to the county treasurer, for collecting or receiving the revenue obtained from the sale of said bonds, nor for disbursing the revenue raised for paying off said bonds: Provided further, that in those counties where the sheriff, tax collector, and treasurer are on a salary basis, no fee whatever shall be allowed for collecting or disbursing the funds of the district.

treasurer. Any engineer, viewer, superintendent of construction, or other person appointed under this chapter may be removed by the court, upon petition, for corruption, neglect of duty, or other good and satisfactory cause shown.

4983. Liberal construction; defects in proceeding. The provisions of this chapter shall be liberally construed to promote the objects herein declared and for the general welfare of the state. The collection of assessments shall not be defeated, whether proper notices have been given, by reason of any defect in the proceedings occurring prior to the order of the court confirming the final report of the commissioners; but such orders shall be conclusive and final that all prior proceedings were regular and according to law, unless they were appealed from. If on appeal the court shall deem it just and proper to release any person, or modify his assessment or liability, it shall in no manner affect the rights and legality of any other person than the appellant, and the failure to appeal from the order of the court within the time specified shall be a waiver of any illegality in the proceedings, and the remedies provided for in this chapter shall exclude all other remedies.

4984. Statutes repealed; saving clause. All laws in conflict with this chapter are hereby repealed: Provided, that proceedings now pending by virtue of any statute now or hereafter in force in this state or in any county shall not be affected by this chapter, but that such proceedings may be continued in accordance with such statute, or in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

Any person not registered under this chapter who shall advertise or put up a sign or card or other device, or in any other way hold himself out to the public as an architect, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars: Provided, however, that nothing herein shall prevent any person from making plans or data for buildings for themselves or other persons, if the person so furnishing such plans or data shall not hold himself out as an architect; and Provided further, that nothing in this chapter shall prevent the procuring of plans and specifications from an architect residing outside of this state. Non-resident architects who come within the state to do business shall be subject to the

Said clerk shall record the same in a book to be kept by him, entitled "Record of Architecture," and the clerk shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for recording such certificate: Provided, however, that in any counties where the clerk is on a salary and not on a fee basis, then the said fee of one dollar shall be paid into the county treasury. It shall be unlawful for any person to hold himself out as an architect until said certificate shall have been recorded, and any person found guilty of holding himself out as an architect without registration of his certificate, as aforesaid, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not more than fifty dollars, in the discretion of the court.

It shall be the duty of this commission to make and formulate such rules and regulations for enforcing and carrying out the provisions of this article, and of the laws relating to seats for women employees and the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, as in its judgment it shall deem necessary.

For liability for damages resulting from employment of children before the child labor act of 1903, c. 463, Rev. 3362-3364, see Ward v. Allen, 126-948; Fitzgerald v. Furniture Co., 131-645; Hendrix v. Cotton Mills, 138-170. Since the act of 1903 and subsequent acts of 1907, c. 463, Rev. 1981a-1981e, 1913, c. 64; 1915, c. 148; see *Rolin v. General effect of decisions as summarized by Allen, J., in Pettit v. R. R., 156-119: 1. The statute is constitutional; 2. It applies only to the industries mentioned; 3. Employment of child under age is negligence per se; 4. Such negligence is proximate, if the injury is the result of the employment; 5. There is no assumption of risk by child; 6. Negligence of parent not imputed to child; 7. Presumption against contributory negligence; 8. Presumption against the capacity to appreciate the danger; 9. Presumption may be rebutted.

5033. Prohibited employments of children under sixteen. No person under sixteen years of age shall be employed, or permitted to work, at night in any of the places or occupations referred to in the first preceding section, between the hours of nine p. m. and six a. m., and no person under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in or about or in connection with any quarry or mine.

No person shall knowingly make a false statement or present false evidence in or in relation to any such certificate or application therefor, or cause any false statement to be made which may result in the issuance of an improper certificate of employment.

Effect of failure to have certificate under former statute, 1907, c. 463, Rev., 1981d: Rolin v. Tobacco Co., 141-300; see, also, Leathers v. Tobacco Co., 144-351.

5035. Commission may employ agents. The commission shall have authority to appoint and employ such agents for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this article as may be found to be necessary, and they may use the county superintendent of public welfare or chief school attendance officer or truant officer of the several counties for the purpose of carrying out such provisions, and they may use the agents specially designated for carrying out the provisions of this article to aid in carrying out the provisions of the general compulsory school attendance law under subchapter nine (IX) of the chapter on education.

5036. Inspection by agents; obstruction unlawful. For the purpose of securing the proper enforcement of the provisions of this article and of the laws relating to seats for women employees, and the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, the commission, or its duly authorized agents, shall have authority to enter and inspect, at any time, mines, quarries, mills, factories, canneries, workshops, manufacturing establishments, laundries, bakeries, mercantile establishments, offices, hotels, restaurants, barber shops, bootblack stands, public stables, garages, places of amusement, brick yards, lumber yards, and other places of employment; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to refuse permission to enter, obstruct, or prevent any duly authorized agent of the commission in his effort to make the inspection herein provided for.

5037. Expenses of commission. The state treasurer shall honor all warrants for necessary expenses incurred by the commission for meeting the salaries and expenses of any agents employed by the commission in the enforcement of this article, and the necessary expenses incurred by the commission in carrying out the provisions of this article, out of funds not otherwise appropriated, such warrants to be drawn upon the state auditor by the commission hereby created, or its duly authorized agent. Such expenses so incurred shall not exceed the sum of six thousand dollars per annum.

1919, c. 100, s. 11.

5038. Violations of this article and of certain other laws a misdemeanor. Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this article, or of the laws relating to seats for women employees or of the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, within the discretion of the court.

1919, c. 100, s. 12.

NOTE.—See under chapter Education: General compulsory attendance law, art. 47; Compulsory attendance of deaf children, art. 49; Compulsory attendance of blind children, art. 50.

For violation as to employing child labor, see cases cited under section 5032.

ART. 2. JUVENILE COURTS

5039. Exclusive original jurisdiction over children. The superior courts shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of any case of a child less than sixteen years of age residing in or being at the time within their respective districts:

1. Who is delinquent or who violates any municipal or state law or ordinance or who is truant, unruly, wayward, or misdirected, or who is disobedient to parents or beyond their control, or who is in danger of becoming so; or

2. Who is neglected, or who engages in any occupation, calling, or exhibition, or is found in any place where a child is forbidden by law to be and for permitting which an adult may be punished by law, or who is in such condition or surroundings or is under such improper or insufficient guardianship or control as to endanger the morals, health, or general welfare of such child; or

3. Who is dependent upon public support or who is destitute, homeless, or abandoned, or whose custody is subject to controversy.

When jurisdiction has been obtained in the case of any child, unless a court order shall be issued to the contrary, or unless the child be committed to an institution supported and controlled by the state, it shall continue for the purposes of this article during the minority of the child. The duty shall be constant upon the court to give each child subject to its jurisdiction such oversight and control in the premises as will conduce to the welfare of such child and to the best interests of the state.

This article takes the place of the Apprentice Law, Revisal, ch. 4, and the Juvenile Delinquent Law, 1915, c. 222.

The act of 1915, c. 222, was held to be a valid exercise of police power. It applied to two classes of delinquents: those who had not violated any law, and those who had violated some criminal law; in the latter case it was necessary for the criminal offense to be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction: State v. Newell, 172-933.

5040. Juvenile courts created; part of superior court. There shall be established in each county of the state a separate part of the superior court of the district for the hearing of cases coming within the provisions of this article. Such part of the superior court shall be called the juvenile court of county.

The clerk of the superior court of each county in the state shall act as judge of the juvenile court in the hearing of cases coming within the provisions of this article, in which cases the child or children concerned therein reside in or are at the time within such county. Proceedings in such cases may be initiated before such judge, and in hearing such cases such judge shall comply with all the requirements and conform to the procedure provided in this article.

5041. Definitions of terms. The term "court" when used in this article without modification shall refer to the juvenile court to be established in each county as herein provided. The term "judge" when used in this article shall refer to the clerk of the superior court acting as judge of the juvenile court. The term "child" shall mean any minor less than sixteen years of age. The term "adult" shall mean any person sixteen years of age or over.

1919, c. 97, s. 3.

5042. Sessions of court; records; general provisions. Sessions of the court shall be held at such times and in such places within the county as the judge shall from time to time determine. In the hearing of any case coming within the provisions of this article the general public may be excluded and only such persons admitted thereto as have a direct interest in the case. Sessions of the court shall not be held in conjunction with any other business of the superior court, and children's cases shall not be heard at the same time as those against adults.

The court shall maintain a full and complete record of all cases brought before it, to be known as the juvenile record. All records may be withheld from indiscriminate public inspection in the discretion of the judge of the court, but such record shall be open to inspection by the parents, guardians, or other authorized representatives of the child concerned. No adjudication under the provisions of this article shall operate as a disqualification of any child for any public office, and no child shall be denominated a criminal by reason of such adjudication, nor shall such adjudication be denominated a conviction.

This article shall be construed liberally and as remedial in character. The powers hereby conferred are intended to be general and for the purpose of affecting the beneficial purposes herein set forth. It is the intention of this article that in all proceedings under its provisions the court shall proceed upon the theory that a child under its jurisdiction is the ward of the state and is subject to the discipline and entitled to the protection which the court should give such child under the circumstances disclosed in the case.

5043. Petition to bring child before court. Any person having knowledge or information that a child is within the provisions of this article and subject to the jurisdiction of the court, may file with the court a petition verified by affidavit, stating the alleged facts which bring such child within such provisions. The petition shall set forth the name and residence of the child and of the parents, or the name and residence of the person having the guardianship, custody, or supervision of such child, if the same be known or ascertained by the petitioner, or the petition shall state that they are unknown, if that be the fact.

5044. Issuance of summons; traveling expenses allowed. Upon the filing of the petition or upon the taking of a child into custody, the court may forthwith, or after an investigation by a probation officer or other person, cause to be issued a summons signed by the judge or the clerk of the court directed to the child, unless such child has been taken into custody, and to the parents or, in case there is no parent, to the person having the guardianship, custody, or supervision of the child, or the person with whom the child may be, requiring them to appear with the child at the place and time stated in the summons to show cause why the child should not be dealt with according to the provisions of this article.

The judge may in his discretion authorize the payment of necessary traveling expenses incurred by any witness or person summoned or otherwise required to appear at the hearing of any case coming within the provisions of this article. Such expenses, when approved by the judge of the superior court, shall be a charge upon the county in which the petition is filed.

5045. Custody of child may be immediate. If it appears from the petition that the child is embraced within subdivision one of the first section of this article, or is in such condition or surroundings that the welfare of the child requires that its custody be immediately assumed, the court may endorse or cause to be endorsed upon the summons a direction that the officer serving the same shall at once take such child into his custody.

In the case of any child who has been taken into custody or pending the final disposition of any case, the child may be released in the custody of a parent or other person having charge of the child or in the custody of a probation officer or other person appointed by the court, to be brought before the court at the time designated. Any child embraced in this article may be admitted to bail as provided by law. When not released as herein provided such child, pending the hearing of the case, shall be detained in such place of detention as hereinafter provided for.

5046. Service of summons. Service of summons shall be made personally by reading to and leaving with the persons summoned a true copy thereof: Provided, that if the court is satisfied that reasonable but unsuccessful effort has been made to serve the summons personally upon any of the parties named therein, or if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that it is impracticable to serve a summons personally upon any of them, the court may make an order providing for service of the summons by registered mail or by publication or otherwise in such manner as the judge shall determine. It shall be sufficient to confer jurisdiction if service is effected at any time before the time fixed in the summons for the return thereof; but the court, if requested by the child or a parent, or, in case there is no parent, by the person having the guardianship, custody or supervision of the child, shall not proceed with the hearing earlier than three days after the service. Failure to serve a summons upon any person other than said child shall not impair the jurisdiction of the court to proceed in cases arising under subdivision one of the first section of this article, provided that for good cause shown the court shall have made an order dispensing with such service.

If the person summoned as herein provided shall fail without reasonable cause to appear and abide the order of the court or bring the child, he may be proceeded against as for contempt of court. In case the summons cannot be served or the party served fails to obey the same, and in any case when it shall be made to appear to the court that such summons will be ineffectual, or that the welfare of the child requires that he shall be brought forthwith into the custody of the court, a warrant may be issued on the order of the court either against the parent or guardian or other person having custody of the child or with whom the child may be, or against the child himself.

The sheriff or other lawful officer of the county in which the action is taken shall serve all papers as directed by the court, but the papers may be served by any person delegated by the court for that purpose.

5047. Hearing; disposition of child. Upon the return of the summons or other process or after any child has been taken into custody, at the time set for the hearing, the court shall proceed to hear and determine the case in a summary manner. The court may adjourn the hearing from time to time and inquire into the habits, surroundings, condition and tendencies of the child so as to enable the court to render such order or judgment as shall best conserve the welfare of the child and carry out the objects of this article. In all cases the nature of the proceedings shall be explained to the child and to the parents or the guardian or person having the custody or the supervision of the child. At any stage of the case the court may, in its discretion, appoint any suitable person to be the guardian ad litem of the child for the purposes of the proceeding.

The court, if satisfied that the child is in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state, may so adjudicate, and may find the child to be delinquent, neglected, or in need of more suitable guardianship. Thereupon the court may—

1. Place the child on probation subject to the conditions provided hereinafter; or

2. Commit the child to the custody of a relative or other fit person of good moral character, subject, in the discretion of the court, to the supervision of a probation officer and the further orders of the court; or

3. Commit the child to the custody of the state board of charities and public welfare, to be placed by such board in a suitable family home and supervised therein; or

4. Commit the child to a suitable institution maintained by the state or any subdivision thereof, or to any suitable private institution, society or association incorporated under the laws of the state and approved by the state board of charities and public welfare authorized to care for children, or to place them in suitable family homes; or

5. Render such further judgment or make such further order of commitment as the court may be authorized by law to make in any given case.

6. If a child of fourteen years of age be charged with a felony for which the punishment as now fixed by law cannot be more than ten years in prison his case shall be investigated by the probation officer and the judge of the juvenile court as provided for in this article, unless it appears to the judge of the juvenile court that the case should be brought to the attention of the judge of the superior court, in which case the child shall be held in custody or bound to the next term of the superior court as now provided by law.

Committing a minor defendant to a reformatory is not imprisonment as a punishment for crime: In re Watson, 157-340. See section 7322.

5048. Child to be kept apart from adult criminals; detention homes. No child coming within the provisions of this article shall be placed in any penal institution, jail, lockup, or other place where such child can come into contact at any time or in any manner with any adult convicted of crime and committed or under arrest and charged with crime. Provision shall be made for the temporary detention of such children in a detention home to be conducted as an agency of the court for the purposes of this article, or the judge may arrange for the boarding of such children temporarily in a private home or homes in the custody of some fit person or persons subject to the supervision of the court, or the judge may arrange with any incorporated institution, society or association maintaining a suitable place of detention for children for the use thereof as a temporary detention home.

In case a detention home is established as an agency of the court it shall be furnished and carried on as far as possible as a family home in charge of a superintendent or matron who shall reside therein. The judge of the juvenile court may, with the approval of the state board of charities and public welfare, appoint a matron or superintendent or both and other necessary employees for such home in the same manner as probation officers are appointed under this article, their salaries to be fixed and paid in the same manner as the salaries of probation officers. The necessary expense incurred in maintaining such detention home shall be a public charge.

In case the judge shall arrange for the boarding of children temporarily detained in private homes, a reasonable sum for the board of such children while temporarily detained in such homes shall be paid by the county in which such child shall reside or may be found.

In case the judge shall arrange with any incorporated institution, society or association, for the use of a detention home maintained by such institution, society or association, he shall enter an order which shall be effectual for that purpose and a reasonable sum shall be appropriated by the county commissioners for the compensation of such institution, society or association for the care of children residing or found within the county who may be detained therein.

5049. Probation officers; appointment and discharge; compensation. The judge of the juvenile court in each county shall appoint one or more suitable persons as probation officers who shall serve under his direction. The appointment of such probation officers shall be approved by the state board of charities and public welfare.

The county superintendent of public welfare shall be the chief probation officer of every juvenile court in his county and shall have supervision over the work of any additional probation officer which may be appointed.

An adult on probation who violates any of the conditions thereof may be arrested upon a warrant issued by the court and the court may impose any penalties which it might have imposed at the time the defendant was placed on probation.

5051. Duties and powers of probation officers. It shall be the duty of a probation officer to make such investigations before, during or after the trial or hearing of any case coming before the court as the court shall direct, and shall report thereon in writing. With the approval or under the direction of the judge of the court in which a probation officer is serving, such officer is authorized and empowered to act as probation officer over any person on probation transferred to his supervision from any other court and may act as parole officer over any person released from a correctional institution when requested to do so by the authorities thereof and when authorized so to act by the judge of the court in which such probation officer is serving.

5052. Support of child committed to custodial agency. Whenever any child is committed by the court to the custody of an institution, association, society or person other than its parent or guardian, compensation for the care of such child, when approved by the order of the court, shall be a charge upon the county, but the court may at the issuance and service of an order to show cause on the parent or other person having the duty under the law to support such child adjudge that such parent or other person shall pay in such manner as the court may direct such sum as will cover in whole or in part the support of such child, and wilful failure to pay such sum may be punished as a contempt of court.

5053. Selection of custodial agency. In committing any child to any institution or other custodial agency other than one supported and controlled by the state or in placing the child under any guardianship other than that of its natural guardians, the court shall as far as practicable select as the custodial agency an institution, society or association governed by persons of like religious faith as the parents of such child or an individual holding the same religious belief.

5054. Modification of judgment; return of child to parents. Any order or judgment made by the court in the case of any child shall be subject to such modification from time to time as the court may consider to be for the welfare of such child, except that a child committed to an institution supported and controlled by the state may be released or discharged only by the governing board or officer of such institution.

Any parent or guardian, or, if there be no parent or guardian, the next friend of any child who has been or shall hereafter be committed by the court to the custody of an institution other than an institution supported and controlled by the state, or to the custody of any association, society or person, may at any time file with the court a petition verified by affidavit setting forth under what conditions such child is living, and that application for the release of the child has been made to and denied by such institution, association, society or person, or that institution, association, society or person has failed to act upon such application within a reasonable time. A copy of such petition shall at once be served by the court upon such institution, association, society or person, whose duty it shall be to file a reply to the same within five days. If, upon examination of the petition and reply, the court is of the opinion that an investigation should be had, it may, upon due notice to all concerned, proceed to hear the facts and determine the question at issue, and may return such child to the custody of its parents or guardian or direct such institution, association, society or person to make such other arrangements for the child's care and welfare as the circumstances of the case may require.

Any child while under the jurisdiction of the court shall be subject to the visitation of the probation officer or other agent of the court authorized to visit such child.

1919, c. 97, s. 16.

5055. Guardian appointed if welfare of child promoted. In any case arising under this article the court may determine as between parents or others whether the father or mother or what person shall have the custody and direction of said child, subject to the provisions of the preceding section.

1919, c. 97, s. 17.

5056. Medical examination of child; disposition if mentally defective. The court, in its discretion, either before or after a hearing, may cause any child within its jurisdiction to be examined by one or more duly licensed physicians, who shall submit a written report thereon to the court. If it shall appear to the court that any child within the jurisdiction of the court is mentally defective he may cause the child to be examined by two licensed physicians, and on the written statement of the two examining physicians that it is their opinion that the child is mentally defective, feeble-minded, or epileptic, the court may commit such child to an institution authorized by law to receive and care for mentally defective, feeble-minded, or epileptic children, as the case may be. No child shall be committed to such institution unless the parent or parents or the guardian or custodian of such child, if such there be, are given an opportunity for a hearing.

Whenever a child within the jurisdiction of the court and under the provisions of this article appears to the court to be in need of medical or surgical care a suitable order may be made for the treatment of such child in a hospital or otherwise, and the expense thereof, when approved by the court, shall be a charge upon the county or the appropriate subdivision thereof; but the court may adjudge that the person or persons having the duty under the law to support such child shall pay a part or all of the expenses of such treatment as provided in section 5052 of this article.

5058. Appeals. An appeal may be taken from any judgment or order of the juvenile court to the superior court having jurisdiction in the county by the parent or, in case there is no parent, by the guardian, custodian or next friend of any child, or by any adult described in the two preceding sections of this article whose case has been heard by the juvenile court. Such appeal shall be taken in the manner provided for appeals to the superior court; and written notice of such appeal shall be filed with the juvenile court within five days after the issuance of the judgment or order of such court.

5059. Compensation of judge. The judge of the juvenile court shall be paid a reasonable compensation for his services, the amount to be determined by the county commissioners, and the amount thus determined by the county commissioners shall be charged against the public funds of the county. And such compensation shall be independent of any compensation which may come to him as clerk of the superior court.

5060. Public officers and institutions to aid. It is hereby made the duty of every state, county or municipal official or department to render such assistance and coöperation within his or its jurisdiction or power as shall further the objects of this article. All institutions or other agencies to which any person coming within the provisions of this article may be sent are hereby required to give such information concerning such child to the court or to any other officer appointed by it as said court or official may require for the purposes of this article. The court is authorized to seek the coöperation of all societies, organizations or individuals to the end that the court may be assisted in every way in the discharge of its duties.

5061. Rules of procedure devised by court. The court shall have power to devise and publish rules to regulate the procedure in cases coming within the provisions of this article and for the conduct of all probation and other officers of the court in such cases. The court shall devise and cause to be printed for public use such forms for records and for various petitions, orders, processes, and other papers in the cases coming within this article as shall meet the requirements thereof, and all expenses incurred in complying with the provisions of this article shall be a public charge.

Such city juvenile courts shall conduct their business in accordance with the procedure set forth in this article as applying to the county juvenile court. The governing bodies of such cities shall also appoint one or more assistant probation officers who shall serve within its jurisdiction under the general supervision of the chief probation officer of the county, which chief probation officer of the county is hereby made the chief probation officer of the city court herein provided for. In case it may appear to the governing bodies of such cities herein described that it would be best to allow the county juvenile court to transact the business of the city, they may make such provisions and agreements with the county commissioners for the expense of the joint court as may be agreed upon, and in such event such a city is hereby permitted to make such arrangement in lieu of establishing a city juvenile court. But in case the county commissioners will not agree to such arrangement, then the city must establish a juvenile court, as provided in this section.

Any town of five thousand population which is not a county seat, and in which there is a recorder's court, may, if deemed advisable and necessary by the governing body, provide for the conduct of a juvenile court within the territorial jurisdiction of such recorder's court: Provided, that the provisions and procedure of this article are fully followed as in case for towns of ten thousand inhabitants.

The warrant shall be accompanied by an affidavit, made before an officer having a seal of office, by a reputable person, to the effect that the pensioner is dead, and that the warrant is issued as a balance due the pensioner up to the time of his death.

Rev., s. 5002; 1895, c. 228.

5160. Payment to widow or next of kin upon death of pensioner. Whenever a Confederate soldier, who is now on the pension list, shall die after the check, warrant, or allotment has been issued or made in his favor and before its delivery to him, it shall be lawful for the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such soldier lived to pay the check or warrant to the widow or next of kin of such pensioner, and the indorsement of the widow or next of kin shall be a valid indorsement of such check or warrant.

5161. Pension paid to widow for one year. All pensions due to Confederate soldiers shall be paid to their widows for a period of one year after the death of any such pensioner: Provided, that the amount paid shall not exceed a widow's pension as prescribed by law.

1913, c. 128, s. 1; 1915, c. 212.

Part 5. Funds Provided for Pensions

5162. State pension tax. The auditor shall provide a column on the tax list for each year, to be called pensions for disabled Confederate soldiers, sailors, and widows. This tax shall be collected and paid into the treasury by the sheriffs as are other state taxes.

Rev., s. 5003; 1903, c. 273, s. 18; 1907, c. 674, s. 20.

See Bd. of Education v. Comrs., 113-379; School Directors v. Comrs., 127-263.

5163. Limit and distribution of appropriation. The state auditor is authorized, empowered, and directed to apportion, distribute, and divide the money appropriated by the state for pensions, and to issue warrants to the several pensioners pro rata in their respective grades, so that the entire annual appropriation shall be paid each year to the pensioners, notwithstanding the amounts so paid may be in excess of the amounts fixed by this article for the several grades: Provided, that the total appropriation for this purpose shall not exceed the sum of six hundred and fifty thousand dollars annually.

All moneys provided or appropriated in any one year for the ex-Confederate soldiers, sailors or widows, not paid out to them in any one year shall revert to the pension fund of the state, and shall be paid out to them in the next year, in the class to which they belong.

Rev., s. 5004; 1903, c. 273, ss. 1, 19; 1905, c. 358, s. 2; 1907, c. 674, ss. 1, 21; 1909, c. 779, s. 2; 1911, c. 206, s. 1; 1917, cc. 164, 204, s. 2; 1919, cc. 220, 229.

5164. County tax for pensions. 1. Levy authorized. The county commissioners of each county in the state are authorized and empowered, if in their discretion such levy is deemed advisable, to levy for each year, at the same time and in the same manner as the levy of other county taxes, a special tax not exceeding two cents on the hundred dollars valuation of property and six cents on each taxable poll, the constitutional equation between the property and poll being observed each year, for the purpose of increasing the pensions of Confederate soldiers and widows.

2. Tax collected and accounted for. Such tax shall be collected and accounted for by the sheriff or other tax collector in the same manner and under the same penalties as other taxes levied for the county, and the net proceeds thereof shall be applied each year to increase pro rata the pensions of such persons as stand upon the Confederate pension roll of the county for the year in which the tax is levied.

3. Reports made. The amount collected and disbursed under this section shall be reported by the county treasurer or other disbursing officer of the county to the state treasurer on or before the first day of June in each year, and the state treasurer's report shall show in a separate column the amount paid by each county annually under this section.

NOTE.—For special tax for pensions in Cumberland county, see 1907, c. 555.

Part 6. Miscellaneous Provisions

5165. Officer failing to perform duty. Any officer or other person who shall neglect or refuse to discharge the duties imposed upon him by this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in the superior court shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 3593; 1889, c. 198, s. 15; 1907, c. 674, s. 18.

5166. Speculating in pension claims prohibited. Any person who shall speculate or purchase for a less sum than that to which each may be entitled the claims of any soldier or sailor, or widow of a deceased soldier or sailor, allowed under the provisions of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 3732; 1885, c. 214, s. 12; 1903, c. 273, s. 12; 1907, c. 674, s. 12.

It seems that this section does not authorize the assignment of a pension payable in the future: Gill v. Dixon, 131-87.

5167. County to pay burial expense of soldier or widow. Whenever in any county of this state a Confederate pensioner on the pension roll of the county or the widow of a Confederate soldier shall die, it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners of such county, upon the certificate of such fact by the clerk of the superior court, and recommendation of the chairman of the pension board of the county, to order the payment out of the general fund of the county of a sum not exceeding twenty dollars to be applied toward the defraying of the burial expenses of such deceased pensioner or widow.

The expense is to be paid by the county in which the pensioner was enrolled: Hannah v. Comrs., 176-395.

5168. Certain ex-Confederate soldiers allowed to peddle without license. All ex-Confederate soldiers who are without means of support other than their manual labor and who are incapacitated to perform manual labor for any reason other than by their vicious habits, and now citizens of this state, shall be allowed to peddle drugs, goods, wares, and merchandise in any of the counties of this state without a license therefor. Before any soldier shall be entitled to the benefits of this chapter he shall make application to the county board of pensions of the county of which he is a resident and show to the satisfaction of the county board of pensions that he is entitled to the same by having served in the Confederate army or navy during the war between the states, and that he is incapacitated to perform manual labor, and does not own property the tax valuation of which exceeds the sum of five hundred dollars in his own name or in the name of his wife, deeded to her by him since the first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and two.

NOTE.—For exemption from jury duty, see Jurors.

For exemption from tax as peddlers, see Smith v. Wilkins, 164-135.

SUBCHAPTER I. BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

ART. 1. ORGANIZATION

5169. Application of term. The term “building and loan association,” as used in this subchapter, shall apply to and include all corporations, companies, societies, or associations organized for the purpose of making loans to its members only, and of enabling its members to acquire real estate, make improvements thereon and remove incumbrances therefrom by the payment of money in periodical installments or principal sums, and for the accumulation of a fund to be returned to members who do not obtain advances for such purposes. It shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, society, or association doing business in this state not so conducted to use in its corporate name the term “building and loan association” or “building association,” or in any manner or device to hold themselves out to the public as a building and loan association.

Rev., s. 3881; 1905, c. 435, s. 16.

5170. Method of incorporation; powers. It shall be lawful for any persons in any city, town, or county of this state, under any name by them to be assumed, to associate for the purpose of organizing and establishing a homestead and building and loan association, and, being so associated, they shall, on complying with this subchapter, be a body politic and corporate, and as such be capable in law to hold and dispose of property, both real and personal; may have and use a common seal; may choose a presiding and other officers; may enact by-laws for the regulation of the affairs of such corporation, and compel the due observance of the same by fines and penalties; may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered in any court in this state, and do all acts necessary for the well ordering and good government of the affairs of such corporation, and shall exercise all and singular the powers incident to bodies politic and corporate: Provided, that before any such corporation shall be entitled to the privileges of this subchapter it shall file with the clerk of the superior court of the county where such corporation is designed to act a copy of the certificate of incorporation of such corporation, signed by at least seven members, to be recorded in the office of such clerk, and shall pay a tax of twenty-five dollars to the clerk, which tax shall be paid over by the clerk to the treasurer of the county, to the use of the school fund of the county. The clerk shall certify a copy of the charter to the insurance commissioner.

Rev., s. 3877; 1905, c. 435, s. 1.

Capital stock of building and loan association is property, and hence is taxable according to uniform ad valorem rule: Loan Assn. v. Comrs., 115-410.

The imposing by the state of a license tax on building and loan associations, and forbidding counties and other municipalities to impose any other license tax or fee, does not exempt capital stock of such associations from state and county taxation ad valorem: Loan Assn. v. Comrs., 115-410.

5171. Amendments to certificate. Any addition, alteration, or amendment of the certificate of incorporation of any such corporation shall be signed, certified, and recorded as is provided in the preceding section.

Rev., s. 3878; 1905, c. 435, s. 2.

5172. Form of certificate. Substantially the following form shall be used by associations to be formed under this chapter:

ART. 2. SHARES AND SHAREHOLDERS

5176. Number of shares and entrance fee prescribed. Any corporation created under and by virtue of this subchapter shall have power to declare in its certificate of incorporation the maximum number of shares of which the corporation shall consist to be in force at any one time, the par value of the same, to prescribe the entrance fee per share to be paid by each shareholder at the time of subscribing, to regulate the amount of the installments to be paid on each share, and the time at which the same shall be paid and payable.

Rev., s. 3887; 1905, c. 435, s. 3.

5177. Different classes of shares; guaranteed dividends. Every building and loan association doing business in this state shall be authorized to issue as many series or classes and kinds of shares and at such stated periods as may be provided for in its charter or by-laws: Provided, the guaranteed dividends on paid-up or guaranteed stock shall be less than the association is earning, and may have the right to share in the dividends between the guaranteed and the earned per centum.

Rev., s. 3889; 1905, c. 435, s. 6; 1907, c. 959, s. 3; 1919, c. 179, s. 3.

5178. Certificate issued and payment enforced. Any such corporation shall have power to issue to each member a certificate of the shares held by him, and to enforce the payment of all installments and other dues due to the corporation from the members or shareholders by such fines and forfeitures as the corporation may from time to time provide in the by-laws or its certificate of incorporation.

Rev., s. 3888; 1905, c. 435, s. 4.

5179. New members admitted. Any person applying for membership or shares in any corporation after the end of a month from the date of its incorporation may be required to pay, on subscribing, such sums or assessments as may from time to time be fixed and assessed in the manner provided by the corporation, in order to place such new member or shareholder on like footing with the original members and others holding shares at the time of such application.

Rev., s. 3886; 1905, c. 435, s. 5.

5180. Shareholders equally liable. All shareholders of the serial plan shall occupy the same relative position as to debts, losses, and profits of the association; but this provision shall not prevent any association from receiving dues in advance, allowing such a rate of interest for the anticipated payments of dues as may be agreed on by the directors. No series or class of stock shall be paid off until fully matured.

Rev., s. 3884; 1905, c. 435, s. 7; 1907, c. 959, s. 2; 1919, c. 179, s. 2.

On insolvency, all persons having stock are corporators, and members indebted are debtors: Strauss v. Loan Assn., 117-308, 118-556; B. and L. A. v. Blalock, 160-490.

Married woman settles with insolvent building and loan association as others: Meares v. Duncan, 123-203.

5181. Married women and minors as shareholders. Married women and minors of the age of twelve years and upwards are authorized and empowered to become shareholders in and buy, sell, hold, pay dues on, withdraw, transfer, and otherwise deal in the shares in any such association in the same manner and with the same powers, rights, and liabilities, force and effect as though such minors or femmes covert were of full age or unmarried.

Rev., s. 3885; 1903, c. 728; 1905, c. 435, s. 1.

As to married woman's status as a stockholder, see Meares v. Duncan, 123-203—and as mortgagor to building and loan association to secure her husband's loan, see Meares v. Butler, 123-206.

ART. 3. LOANS

5182. Manner of making loans; security required. At such times as the by-laws shall designate, not less frequently than once a month, the board of directors shall hold meetings at which the funds in the treasury applicable for loans may be loaned. No loans shall be made by such association to any one not a shareholder thereof, nor to any shareholder for an amount greater than the par value of the shares held by such shareholder. Borrowers shall be required to give real estate security, either by way of mortgage or deed in trust unincumbered, except by the prior liens held by such association, accompanied by a transfer and pledge to the association of the shares by reason of which he became entitled to obtain such loan, as collateral security for the repayment of the loan: Provided, that the shares of any such association may be received as security for a loan on such shares of an amount not to exceed ninety per centum of the amount paid in as dues on such shares: Provided further, that liberty loan bonds issued by the United States government may be received as security to an amount not exceeding ninety per cent of the face value of such bonds, and not exceeding the par value of the shares of stock held by the borrower; and any loans heretofore made by any such association upon the security of such liberty loan bonds, within said limits, are in all respects validated.

See annotations under section 5183.

5183. Repayment at any time. Any member of such association who shall borrow from it shall have the right at any time prior to the maturing of the shares pledged as collateral for such loan to pay off and discharge his loan by paying the amount received by him, including the cost and expenses of making the loan, if the same has been deducted therefrom, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the whole sum received by him to the date of settlement and all fines and dues then remaining unpaid. Upon such settlement he shall be credited with only the withdrawal value of his shares as fixed by the charter or by-laws, or by the directors of such association. In case of default by a shareholder who has borrowed from the association and a foreclosure of his mortgage or deed of trust, the amount of this indebtedness to such association shall be ascertained in the manner provided by this subchapter.

Rev., s. 3891; 1905, c. 435, s. 9.

A stockholder and borrower in a B. and L. A. is liable for his part of the expense and losses, and this must be paid before his securities are given up: B. and L. A. v. Blalock, 160-490. Nor can he recover the balance of the proceeds from the sale of his property under mortgage for the debt until his share of the losses is paid: Meares v. Davis, 121-126.

Contract by which stock taken out by a borrower and assigned to the association, when mortgage is executed, is forfeited to association, on default, without allowance of credit on mortgage for payments made on stock, is unconscionable and, though upheld by laws of association's own state, will not be enforced in this state: Rowland v. Loan Assn., 116-877—and upon association realizing, upon foreclosure, its full debt, with interest and expenses, the stock should be returned to borrower, Ibid.

Case where complaint held sufficient to recover money paid to obtain loan: Fagg v. Loan Assn., 113-364.

Case where married woman mortgaged her land to secure husband's loan stock: Meares v. Butler, 123-206.

Corporation holding building and loan stock must settle as an individual does: Meares v. Imp. Co., 126-662.

In accounting in action to foreclose mortgage given to secure loan by building and loan association, borrower should be charged with principal of loan, with legal interest, and credited with payments made on account of principal, interest, fines and penalties: Rowland v. Loan Assn., 118-173—and be charged his pro rata part of expense account of association, Williams v. Maxwell, 123-586.

Law will not aid defendant building and loan association or its individual corporators in effort to effect settlement of illegal transactions (here usurious): Dickerson v. Bldg. Assn., 89-37 (and cases cited).

There is no device or cover by which building and loan associations can take from those who borrow money more than legal rate of interest without incurring penalties of usury laws: Mills v. B. and L. Assn., 75-292; Hallowell v. B. and L. Assn., 120-286.

In absence of special legislation, corporations are affected by usury law to same extent as natural persons: Comrs. v. R. R., 77-289.

Inasmuch as general law fixes rate of interest at six per cent per annum, no special act of legislature can be allowed to alter or change general law in this respect: Rowland v. Loan Assn., 116-877—hence chapter 444, acts of 1895, has not the effect of allowing charge by building and loan associations of greater rate than six per cent per annum on loans, Ibid.

Building and loan associations calling borrower "a partner" or substituting "redeeming" for "lending" or "premium" for "bonus" for an amount they profess to have advanced and yet withhold, or "dues" for "interest," or any like subterfuge, will not avail to avoid usury laws: Mills v. B. and L. Assn., 75-292; Hallowell v. B. and L. Assn., 120-286.

Transaction between quasi-building and loan association and its borrowing stockholder is simply a loan, and is usurious where he is liable under certain circumstances to pay more than amount loaned and legal interest: Meroney v. Loan Assn., 116-882.

Where usury exacted and taken all interest is thereby forfeited, and debtor becomes only liable for the principal: Cheek v. B. and L. Assn., 126-242; Smith v. B. and L. Assn., 119-249.

Borrowing member of building and loan association who has paid usurious interest can recover twice the amount of usurious interest so paid: Cheek v. B. and L. Assn., 126-242; Hallowell v. B. and L. Assn., 120-286—for in such case legal consequences follow irrespective of question of intent, Cheek v. B. and L. Assn., 126-242—and this though borrower is in pari delicto in transaction, Hallowell v. B. and L. Assn., 120-286.

Effect of contract where usury charged is simply a loan without interest; all payments made must be credited on principal, and, in addition, borrower entitled to recover, or have credited on debt, double the amount of payments made as interest within two years prior to action brought: Smith v. B. and L. Assn., 119-249.

As to costs in action under section to recover double the amount of interest paid, see Smith v. B. and L. Assn., 119-249.

For annotations on interest and usury generally, see chapter Interest.

5184. Power to borrow money. Any such association may in its constitution authorize the board of directors from time to time to borrow money on the note of the association. The board of directors may, from time to time, by resolution adopted by a vote of at least two-thirds of all the members of the board and duly recorded on the minutes, borrow money for the association on such terms and conditions as they may deem proper; but the total amount of money so borrowed shall at no time exceed thirty per centum of the amount then actually paid into the association as subscription or dues on installment shares, and the same shall be used for no other purpose than to make loans to members in regular course of business or to pay maturing series of stock.

Rev., s. 3892; 1905, c. 435, s. 10; 1909, c. 898; 1911, c. 61; 1913, c. 21.

ART. 4. UNDER CONTROL OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

5185. Power of insurance commissioner. The insurance commissioner of the state is hereby empowered and directed to perform all the duties and exercise all the powers as to building and loan associations now imposed or conferred upon any other officer of the state by the laws thereof, unless herein otherwise provided.

Rev., s. 3893; 1905, c. 435, s. 24.

5186. Annual license fees. All domestic building and loan associations shall pay an annual license fee of twenty-five dollars and may be licensed upon filing with the insurance commissioner an application in such form as he may prescribe. Such license fee shall be used to defray the expenses incurred by the insurance commissioner in supervising building and loan associations.

A credit union may receive the savings of its members in payment for shares or on deposit; may loan to its members at reasonable rates of interest not exceeding the legal rate, or may invest as hereinafter provided the funds so accumulated, and may undertake such other activities relating to the purpose of the corporation as its by-laws may authorize.

5218. Borrowing money. If the by-laws so provide, a credit union shall have power to borrow money from any source in addition to receiving deposits from its own members, but the aggregate amount of such indebtedness in the case of credit unions which have over five thousand dollars in capital, surplus, and reserve funds shall not at any one time exceed more than the sum of such funds.

5219. Investment of funds. The capital, deposits, undivided profits and reserve fund of the corporation may be invested in one of the following ways, and in such way only:

1. They may be lent to the members of the corporation in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter.

2. They may be deposited to the credit of the corporation in savings banks, credit unions, state banks or trust companies, incorporated under the laws of the state, or in National banks located therein. Funds of credit unions deposited in a savings bank, state bank, or trust company which may become insolvent, shall be preferred in the same way that funds of a "savings and loan association" so deposited are preferred under the banking law of the state.

3. After a credit union shall have been in existence for three fiscal years so much of the reserve fund thereof as shall equal twenty per centum of the total liabilities of the credit union shall be deposited on interest in banks incorporated under the laws of the state, and in the National banks therein.

4. Not more than ten per cent of the capital stock and reserve fund of a credit union may be invested in the stock of another credit union.

5220. Loans. 1. To members. A credit union may lend to its members for such purposes and upon such security and terms as the by-laws shall provide and the credit committee shall approve; but security must be taken for any loan in excess of fifty dollars. An indorsed note shall be deemed to be security within the meaning of this section.

2. Installment loans. A member who needs funds with which to purchase necessary supplies for growing crops may receive a loan in fixed monthly installments instead of in one sum.

3. Loans to members of committee. The supervisory committee shall appoint a substitute to act on the credit committee in the place of any member in case such member makes application to borrow money from the credit union or becomes surety for any other member whose application for a loan is under consideration.

4. Loans to persons not members forbidden. All officers and members of any committees in any way knowingly permitting or participating in making a loan of funds of a credit union to one not a member thereof shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The credit union shall have the right to recover the amount of such illegal loans from the borrower or from any officers or members of committees who knowingly permitted or participated in the making thereof, or from all of them jointly.

5. Repayment of loans. A borrower may repay the whole or any part of his loan on any day on which the office of the corporation is open for the transaction of business.

5221. Rate of interest; penalty. No corporation organized pursuant to this subchapter shall directly or indirectly charge or receive any interest, discount, or consideration, other than the entrance fee, greater than the legal rate.

Any corporation, any person, the several officers of any corporation, and the members of committees who shall violate the foregoing prohibition shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The corporation shall also be subject to procedure by the superintendent of coöperative associations and credit unions as prescribed herein in article twelve.

5222. Reserve fund. All entrance fees, transfer fees, and fines shall, after the payment of organization expenses, be known as reserve income, and shall be added to the reserve fund of the corporation.

At the close of each fiscal year there shall be set apart to the reserve fund twenty-five per centum of the net income of the corporation which has accumulated during the year. But upon the recommendation of the board of directors the members at an annual meeting may increase, and whenever such funds equal the amount of the capital may decrease, the proportion of profits which is required by this section to be set apart to the reserve fund. Nor shall the reserve fund in any case exceed the capital of the corporation plus fifty per centum of its other liabilities.

The reserve fund shall belong to the corporation and shall be held to meet contingencies, and shall not be distributed to the members except upon the dissolution of the corporation.

1915, c. 115, s. 21.

5223. Dividends. At the close of the fiscal year a credit union may declare a dividend not to exceed six per cent per annum from the income during the year and which remains after the deduction of expenses, losses, interest on deposits, and the amount required to be set apart to the reserve fund. Dividends shall be paid on all fully paid shares outstanding at the close of the fiscal year, but shares which become fully paid during the year shall be entitled to a proportional part of such dividend calculated from the first day of the month following such payment in full.

5224. Voluntary dissolution. At any meeting specially called to consider the subject, four-fifths of the entire membership of the corporation may vote to dissolve the corporation and upon such vote shall signify their consent to such dissolution in writing. Such corporation shall then file in the office of the superintendent of coöperative associations and credit unions such consent, attested by its secretary or treasurer and its president or vice-president, with a statement of the names and residences of the existing board of directors of the corporation and the names and residences of its officers duly verified. The superintendent of coöperative associations and credit unions, upon receipt of satisfactory proof of the solvency of the corporation, shall issue to such corporation, in duplicate, a certificate to the effect that such consent and statement have been filed and that it appears therefrom that such corporation has complied with this section. Such duplicate certificate shall be filed by the corporation in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the corporation has its place of business, and thereupon such corporation shall be dissolved and shall cease to carry on business except for the purpose of adjusting and winding up its affairs. The corporation, by its board of directors, shall then proceed to adjust and wind up its business and affairs, with power to carry out its contracts, collect its accounts receivable, and to liquidate its assets and apply the same in discharge of debts and obligations of such corporation, and after paying and adequately providing for the payment of such debts and obligations each share, according to the amount paid thereon, shall be entitled to its proportion of the balance of the assets. The corporation shall continue in existence for the purpose of paying, satisfying, and discharging any existing debts or obligations, collecting and distributing its assets, and doing all other acts required in order to adjust and wind up its business and affairs, and may sue and be sued for the purpose of enforcing such debts and obligations until its business and affairs are fully adjusted and wound up.

5225. Savings institution; restriction of taxation. The corporation shall be deemed an institution for savings, and together with all accumulations therein shall not be taxable under any law which shall exempt savings banks or institutions for savings from taxation; nor shall any law passed taxing corporations in any form, or the shares thereof, or the accumulations therein, be deemed to include corporations doing business in pursuance of the provisions of this subchapter, unless they are specifically named in such law. The shares of credit unions, being hereby regarded as a system for saving, shall not be subject to any stock-transfer tax either when issued by the corporation or transferred from one member to another.

1915, c. 115, s. 26.

ART. 10. SHARES IN THE CORPORATION

5226. Ownership and transfer of shares. The capital of a credit union shall consist of the payments that have been made to it by the several members thereof on the shares. Shares may be subscribed for and paid in such manner as the by-laws shall prescribe. The credit union shall have a lien on the shares of any member and upon any dividends payable thereon for and to the extent of any loan made to him and of any dues or fines payable by him. The credit union may, upon the resignation or expulsion of a member, cancel the shares of such member and apply the withdrawal value of such shares towards the liquidation of the member's indebtedness.

A credit union may, if the by-laws so provide, charge an entrance fee for each share subscribed, to be paid by the shareholder upon his election to membership.

Fully paid shares of a credit union may be transferred to any person eligible for membership, upon such terms as the by-laws may provide, and the payment of a transfer fee shall not exceed twenty-five cents per share.

5227. Shares and deposits for minors and in trust. Shares may be issued and deposits received in the name of a minor, and such shares and deposits may, in the discretion of the directors, be withdrawn by such minor or his parent or guardian, and in either case payments made on such withdrawals shall be valid. If shares are held or deposits made in trust, the name and residence of the beneficiary shall be disclosed and the account shall be kept in the name of such holder as trustee for such person. Such shares or deposits may, upon the death of the trustee, be withdrawn by the person for whom the shares were held or for whom such deposits were made, or by his legal representatives.

5228. Fines and penalties. For failure by any member of a credit union to meet his payments on shares when due, such fines and other penalties may be imposed upon the delinquent member as the by-laws provide. Such fines shall not exceed two per centum per month or a fraction thereof on amounts due, except that a minimum fine of five cents may be imposed.

1915, c. 115, s. 15.

5229. Liability of shareholders. A shareholder of any such corporation, unless the by-laws so provide, shall not be individually liable for the payment of its debts for an amount in excess of the par value of the shares which he owns or for which he has subscribed.

1915, c. 115, s. 26.

ART. 11. MEMBERS AND OFFICERS

5230. Who may become members. The membership of the corporation shall consist of those persons who have been duly elected to membership and who have subscribed for one or more shares and have paid for the same in whole or in part, together with the entrance fee as provided in the by-laws, and have complied with such other requirements as the by-laws may contain. No credit union shall ever pay any commission or offer compensation for the securing of members or on the sale of shares.

5231. Expulsion and withdrawal of members. The board of directors may expel from the corporation any member who has not carried out his engagement with the corporation, or has been convicted of a criminal offense, or neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this subchapter or of the by-laws, or who habitually neglects to pay his debts, or shall become insolvent or bankrupt. The members at a regularly called meeting may expel from the corporation any member who has become intemperate or in any way financially irresponsible; no member shall be expelled until he has been informed in writing of the charges against him and an opportunity has been given him, after reasonable notice, to be heard thereon.

A member may withdraw from a credit union by filing a written notice of his intention to withdraw.

The amounts paid in on shares or deposits by an expelled or withdrawing member, with any dividends credited to his shares and any interest accrued on his deposits to the date of expulsion or withdrawal, shall be paid to such member, but in the order of expulsion or withdrawal and only as funds therefor become available, after deducting any amounts due to the corporation by such member. The member shall have no other or further right in the credit union or to any of its benefits, but such expulsion or withdrawal shall not operate to relieve the member from any remaining liability to the corporation.

5232. Meetings; right of voting. The fiscal year of every such corporation shall end at the close of business on the thirty-first day of December. The annual meeting of the corporation shall be held at such time and place as the by-laws prescribe. Special meetings may be held by order of the directors or of the supervisory committee, and shall be held upon request in writing of ten per cent of the members. Notice of all meetings of the corporation shall be given in the manner prescribed in the by-laws. At all meetings of members or shareholders a member shall have one vote and but one vote, irrespective of the number of shares that may be held by him, and in case of sickness or other unavoidable absence of a member he shall be allowed to vote by proxy in writing, but no member present shall vote more than one such proxy. At any meeting the members may decide upon any question of interest to the corporation, and overrule the board of directors, and by a three-fourths vote of those present and represented, provided the notice of the meeting shall have specified the question to be considered, may vote to amend the by-laws.

5233. Election of directors and committees. 1. Number elected. At the annual meeting the members shall elect a board of directors of not less than five members, a credit committee and a supervisory committee of not less than three members each. However, in credit unions whose business office is located in places other than incorporated cities, the board of directors as such may also be the credit committee. Except as hereinafter specified, no member of the board shall be a member of either of such committees, nor shall one person be a member of more than one of such committees. All members of committees and all directors, as well as all officers whom they may elect, shall be sworn, and shall hold their several offices for such term as may be determined by the by-laws.

2. Oath of office. The oath required of each director, officer, and member of committee shall be the oath of the individual taking the same that he will, so far as the duty devolves on him, diligently and honestly administer the affairs of such corporation, and will not knowingly violate or willingly permit to be violated any of the provisions of law applicable to such corporation, and that he is the owner in good faith and in his own right on the books of the corporation of at least one share therein. Such oath shall be subscribed by the individual making it and certified by the officer before whom it is taken, and shall immediately be transmitted to the superintendent of coöperative associations and credit unions and filed and preserved in his office.

5234. Duties of board of directors. 1. Elect executive officers. At their first meeting and at each first meeting in the fiscal year, the board of directors shall elect from their number a president, vice-president, a secretary, and a treasurer, who shall be the executive officers of the corporation. The offices of secretary and treasurer may, if the by-laws so provide, be held by one person.

2. General management. The board of directors shall have the general management of the affairs, funds, and records of the corporation, shall meet as often as may be necessary, and, unless the by-laws shall specifically reserve all or any of these duties to the members, it shall be the special duty of the directors:

1. To act upon all applications for membership and the expulsion of members.
2. To fix the amount of the surety bond which shall be required of each officer having the custody of funds.

3. To determine from time to time the rate of interest which shall be allowed on deposits and charged on loans.

4. To fix the maximum number of shares which may be held by and the maximum amount which may be lent to any one member; to declare dividends; and to recommend amendments to the by-laws.

5. To fill vacancies in the board of directors or in the credit committees until the election and qualification of successors.

6. To have charge of the investment of the funds of the corporation except loans to members, and to perform such other duties as the members may from time to time authorize.

3. Compensation. No member of the board of directors or of the credit or supervisory committees shall receive any compensation for his services as a member of the board or committees. But the officers elected by the board of directors may receive such compensation as the members may authorize.

5235. Duties of credit committee. The credit committee shall approve every loan or advance made by the corporation to members. Every application for a loan shall be made in writing and shall state the purpose for which the loan is desired and the security offered. No loan shall be made unless it has received the unanimous approval of those members of the committee who were present when it was considered, who shall constitute at least a majority of the committee, nor if any member of the committee shall disapprove thereof; but the applicant for a loan may appeal from the decisions of the credit committee to the board of directors. The credit committee shall meet as often as may be required after due notice has been given to each member.

5236. Duties of supervisory committee. The supervisory committee shall inspect the securities, cash, and accounts of the corporation and supervise the acts of its board of directors, credit committee, and officers. At any time the supervisory committee, by a unanimous vote, may suspend the credit committee or any member of the board of directors, or any officer elected by the board, and by a majority vote may call a meeting of the shareholders to consider any violation of this subchapter or of the by-laws, or any practice of the corporation which, in the opinion of said committee, is unsafe and unauthorized. Within seven days after the suspension of the credit committee the supervisory committee shall cause notice to be given of a special meeting of the members to take such action relative to such suspension as may seem necessary. The supervisory committee shall fill vacancies in their own number until the next regular meeting of the members.

At the close of each fiscal year the supervisory committee shall make a thorough audit of the receipts, disbursements, income, assets, and liabilities of the corporation for the fiscal year, and shall make a full report thereon to the directors. This report shall be read at the annual meeting of the members and shall be filed and preserved with the records of the corporation.

1915, c. 115, s. 12.

ART. 12. SUPERVISION AND CONTROL

5237. Subject to superintendent of credit unions. Corporations organized under the provisions of this subchapter shall be subject to the supervision of the superintendent of coöperative associations and credit unions.

1915, c. 115, s. 7.

5238. Annual reports; penalty. Every corporation organized under this subchapter shall, in January of each year, make a report for the previous calendar year to the superintendent of coöperative associations and credit unions, giving such information as he shall require, which report shall be verified by the oath of the president, treasurer and secretary, as well as by the oath of a majority of the members of the supervisory committee, and it shall make such other and further reports under the like oath as the superintendent shall demand at any time.

Any such corporation which neglects to make an annual report within the month of January, or any of the other reports required by the superintendent of coöperative associations and credit unions at the time fixed by the superintendent, shall forfeit to the state five dollars for each day such neglect continues.

1915, c. 115, s. 7.

5247. By-laws adopted. At the time of making the articles of incorporation the incorporators shall make by-laws which shall provide:

1. The name of the corporation.
2. The purposes for which it is formed.
3. Qualifications for membership.
4. The date of the annual meeting; the manner in which members shall be notified of meetings; the manner of conducting the meetings; the number of members which shall constitute a quorum at the meetings, and regulations as to voting.
5. The number of members of the board of directors; powers and duties; the compensation and duties of officers elected by the board of directors.
6. In the case of selling agencies or productive societies, regulations for grading.
7. In the case of selling agencies or productive societies, regulations governing the sale of products by the members through the organization.
8. The par value of the shares of capital stock.
9. The conditions upon which shares may be issued, paid in, transferred, and withdrawn.
10. The manner in which the reserve fund shall be accumulated.
11. The manner in which the dividends shall be determined and paid to members.

1915, c. 144, s. 5.

5248. General corporation law applied. All coöperative associations shall be maintained in accordance with the general corporation law, except as otherwise provided for in this subchapter.

1915, c. 144, s. 17.

5249. Other corporations admitted. All coöperative corporations, companies, or associations heretofore organized and doing business under prior statutes, or which have attempted to so organize and do business, shall have the benefit of all of the provisions of this subchapter, and be bound thereby on filing with the secretary of state a written declaration, signed and sworn to by the president and secretary, to the effect that the coöperative company or association has by a majority vote of its shareholders decided to accept the benefits of and to be bound by the provisions of this subchapter. No association organized under this subchapter shall be required to do or perform anything not specifically required herein, in order to become a corporation.

1915, c. 144, s. 16.

ART. 14. STOCKHOLDERS AND OFFICERS

5250. Certificates for stock fully paid. Certificates of stock shall not be issued to any subscriber until fully paid, but the by-laws of the association may allow subscribers to vote as shareholders: Provided, part of the stock subscribed for has been paid in cash.

1915, c. 144, s. 11.

5251. Ownership of shares limited. No shareholder in any such association shall own shares of a greater aggregate par value than twenty per cent of the paid-in capital stock, except as hereinafter provided, or be entitled to more than one vote. A coöperative association shall reserve the right of purchasing the stock of any member whose stock is for sale, and may restrict the transfer of stock to such persons as are made eligible to membership in the by-laws.

1915, c. 144, s. 9.

5252. Shares issued on purchase of business. Whenever an association, created under this act, shall purchase the business of another association or person, it may pay for the same in whole or in part by issuing to the selling association or persons shares of its capital stock to an amount which at par value would equal the fair market value of the business so purchased, and in such case the transfer to the association of such business at such valuation shall be equivalent to payment in cash for the shares of stock so issued.

5253. Absent members voting. At any regularly called general or special meeting of the shareholders a written vote received by mail from any absent shareholder, and signed by him, may be read in such meeting, and shall be equivalent to a vote of such of the shareholders so signing: Provided, he has been previously notified in writing of the exact motion or resolution upon which such vote is taken, and a copy of same is forwarded with and attached to the vote so mailed by him. In case of sickness or other unavoidable absence of a member, he shall be allowed to vote by proxy in writing; but no member shall vote more than one such proxy.

5254. Directors and other officers. Every such association shall be managed by a board of not less than five directors. The directors shall be elected by and from the stockholders of the association at such time and for such term of office as the by-laws may prescribe, and shall hold office for time for which elected and until their successors are elected and shall enter upon the discharge of such duties as are prescribed in the by-laws; but a majority of the stockholders shall have the power at any regular or special stockholders' meeting, legally called, to remove any director or officer for cause, and fill the vacancy, and thereupon the director or officer so removed shall cease to be a director or officer of the association. The officers of every such association shall be a president, one or more vice-presidents, a secretary and treasurer, who shall be elected annually by the directors, and each of the officers must be a director of the association. The office of secretary and treasurer may be combined, and when so combined the person filling the office shall be secretary-treasurer.

ART. 15. POWERS AND DUTIES

5255. Nature of business authorized. An association created under this subchapter shall have power to conduct any agricultural, dairy, mercantile, mining, manufacturing, or mechanical business, on the coöperative plan.

1915, c. 144, s. 8.

5256. Amendment of articles. The association may amend its articles of incorporation by a majority vote of its shareholders at any regular shareholders' meeting, or any special shareholders' meeting called for that purpose, on ten days notice to the shareholders. The power to amend shall include the power to increase or diminish the amount of capital stock and the number of shares: Provided, the amount of the capital stock shall not be diminished below the amount of the paid-up capital at the time the amendment is adopted. Within thirty days after the adoption of an amendment to its articles of incorporation, an association shall cause a copy of such amendment adopted to be recorded in the office of the secretary of state and of the clerk of court of the county where the principal place of business is located.

5257. Apportionment of earnings. The directors, subject to revision by the association at any general or special meeting, shall apportion the earnings by first paying dividends on the paid-up capital stock, not exceeding six per cent per annum, then setting aside not less than ten per cent of the net profits for a reserve fund, until an amount has been accumulated in the reserve fund equal to thirty per cent of the paid-up capital stock, and not less than two per cent thereof for an educational fund to be used in teaching coöperation, and the remainder of the net profits by uniform dividend upon the amount of purchases of shareholders and upon the wages and salaries of employees, and one-half of such uniform dividend to nonshareholders on the amount of their purchase, which may be credited to the account of such nonshareholders on account of capital stock of the association; but in selling agencies such as fruit, truck, peanuts, and cotton growers' associations, and in productive associations such as creameries, canneries, warehouses, factories, and the like, dividends shall be prorated on raw materials delivered instead of on goods purchased. In case the association is both a selling and productive concern, the dividends may be on both raw material delivered and on goods purchased by patrons.

5258. Time of distribution. The profits or net earnings of such associations shall be distributed to those entitled thereto, at such times as the by-laws shall prescribe, which shall be as often as once in twelve months.

1915, c. 144, s. 14.

5259. Reports to secretary of state. Every association organized under the provisions of this subchapter shall annually, on or before the first day of March of each year, make a report to the secretary of state; such report shall contain the name of the company, its principal place of business in this state, and generally a statement as to its business, showing total amount of business transacted, amount of capital stock subscribed for and paid in, number of shareholders, total expenses of operation, amount of indebtedness or liabilities, and its profits and losses. A copy of such report shall also be filed with the division of markets and rural organization conducted by the "Joint Committee for Agricultural Work" of the state board of agriculture and the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, as provided in the chapter on Agriculture.

SUBCHAPTER I. DRAINAGE BY INDIVIDUAL OWNERS

ART. 1. JURISDICTION IN CLERK OF SUPERIOR COURT

Part 1. Petition by Individual Owner

5260. Name of proceeding. The proceeding under this subchapter shall be the same as prescribed in the chapter Eminent Domain, article 2, Condemnation Proceedings.

Rev., s. 4028; Code, s. 1324.

Section referred to in Skinner v. Carter, 108-107.

5261. Petition filed; commissioners appointed. Any person owning pocoson, swamp, or flat lands, or owning lowlands subject to inundation, which cannot be conveniently drained or embanked so as to drain off or dam out the water from such lands, except by cutting a canal or ditch, or erecting a dam through or upon the lands of other persons, may by petition apply to the superior court of the county in which the lands sought to be drained or embanked or some part of such lands lie, setting forth the particular circumstances of the case, the situation of the land to be drained or embanked, to what outlet and through whose lands he desires to drain, or on what lands he would erect his dam, and who are the proprietors of such lands; whereupon a summons shall be served on each of the proprietors, and, on the hearing of the petition the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners, who shall be duly sworn to do justice between the parties.

Rev., s. 3983; Code, s. 1297; R. C., c. 40, s. 1; 1795, c. 436; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.

The different sections of this chapter should be construed to harmonize and constitute a system of drainage laws: Adams v. Joyner, 147-77.

The enactment of such laws is a proper exercise of power under the constitution: Forehand v. Taylor, 155-353; Sanderlin v. Luken, 152-738; Staton v. Staton, 148-490; Adams v. Joyner, 147-77; Porter v. Armstrong, 132-66, 134-447, 139-179; Pool v. Trexler, 76-297; Brown v. Keener, 74-714; Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70-634.

Right of the state to condemn land for drains rests on the same foundation as its right in cases of public roads, mills, railroads, schoolhouses, etc.: Sanderlin v. Luken, 152-738; Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70-634; Brown v. Keener, 74-714; Pool v. Trexler, 76-297. See section 5312.

As to rights of drainage in swamp lands, see Mizell v. McGowan, 120-134. Water cannot be diverted from its natural course so as to damage another, but it may be increased and accelerated: Mizell v. McGowan, 129-93, 125-439; Lassiter v. R. R., 126-509; Hocutt v. R. R., 124-214; Briscoe v. Young, 131-386; Mullen v. Canal Co., 130-502; Briscoe v. Parker, 145-14; Davenport v. R. R., 148-287; Roberts v. Baldwin, 151-407; Brown v. R. R., 165-392; Barelliff v. R. R., 168-268; Leary v. Comrs., 172-25; s. c., 174-46. When lands of lower proprietor are damaged by improper drainage of upper proprietor, he may bring action for damages or proceed under this section: Briscoe v. Parker, 145-14.

When the upper proprietor has constructed a drain or canal for his own convenience, without interfering with the rights of the lower proprietor, he is under no obligation to maintain the same for any incidental benefit to the lower proprietor: Canal Co. v. Burnham, 147-41. Where the owner of land has constructed a drainage system and the land is subsequently divided, the owners of the different parts are entitled to the benefits and liable for the maintenance of the drainage system on their portions of the land: Lamb v. Lamb, 177-150.

This chapter applies only to artificial outlets made over land of another to reach a natural water-course: Mizell v. McGowan, 129-93.

Jurisdiction of clerk: Durden v. Simmons, 84-555. Former proceeding as an estoppel: Adams v. Joyner, 147-77. Where judge set aside report of commissioners because report did not comply with statute, and further found as a fact in his order that two of commissioners had been guilty of gross indiscretion, this court would not reverse his order, whether the report conformed to statute or not: Porter v. Armstrong, 139-179. This chapter is the chart which should guide commissioners, and that portion of the judge's order wherein he undertakes to instruct new commissioners as to their duties, should be set aside: Ibid. In a proceeding to drain lowlands, where the questions raised by answer are such as would be passed upon by commissioners, parties are not entitled to a jury trial, and clerk superior court should appoint commissioners: Porter v. Armstrong, 134-447.

Proper method to readjust and equalize assessments where canal is established and ownership of some of the land has been changed: Staton v. Staton, 148-490. When, upon petition of one or more parties under this section, leave was granted by county court to cut a canal across land of another for the purpose of drainage, the petitioners and their assignees, upon the report of the jury being confirmed, acquire not merely an easement, but title in fee to the land condemned: Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70-634. Two, or more, separate proprietors of land cannot sustain a joint petition for a ditch to drain their lands, without alleging that common ditch would drain the lands of all petitioners: Shaw v. Burfoot, 53-344.

The commissioners ordered under section constitute a separate and distinct tribunal, and an appeal (generally) from the county to the superior court is not an appeal from the report of such commissioners so as to vacate it: Skinner v. Nixon, 52-342.

In a petition to the county court for drainage through the lands of another it is for the jury to decide as to the necessity, the manner of construction, and the damages, and the court can only direct the verdict to be recorded or order a new jury: Collins v. Haughton, 26-420. And no appeal lies from the decision of the county court: Ibid.; Stanly v. Watson, 33-124.

5262. Duty of commissioners. The commissioners, or a majority of them, on a day of which each proprietor of land aforesaid is to be notified at least five days, shall meet on the premises and view the lands to be drained or embanked, and the lands through or on which the drain is to pass or the embankment to be erected, and shall determine and report whether the lands of the petitioner can be conveniently drained or embanked except through or on the lands of the defendants or some of them; and if they are of opinion that the same cannot be conveniently done except through or on such lands, they shall decide and determine the route of the canal, ditch, or embankment, the width thereof, and the depth or height, as the case may be, and the manner in which the same shall be cut or thrown up, considering all the circumstances of the case, and providing as far as possible for the effectual drainage or embankment of the water from the petitioner's land, and also securing the defendant's lands from inundation, and every other injury to which the same may be probably subjected by such canal, ditch, or embankment; and they shall assess, for each of the defendants, such damage as in their judgment will fully indemnify him for the use of his land in the mode proposed; but in assessing such damages, the benefit shall be deducted.

Rev., s. 3984; Code, s. 1298; R. C., c. 40, s. 2; 1795, c. 436; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.

Sections 5275, 5276 (Acts of 1889, c. 243) do not repeal this section, but leave in operation so much as is not repugnant thereto: Worthington v. Coward, 114-289. Section referred to in Porter v. Armstrong, 134-452.

5263. Report and confirmation; easement acquired; exceptions. The commissioners shall report in writing, under their hands, the whole matter to the court, which shall confirm the same, unless good cause be shown to the contrary; and on payment of the damages and costs of the proceedings the court shall order and decree that the petitioner may cut the canal or ditch, or raise the embankment in the manner reported and determined by the commissioners; and thereupon the petitioner shall be seized in fee simple of the easement aforesaid: Provided, that, without the consent of the proprietor, such canal, ditch, or embankment shall not be cut or raised through or on his yard or curtilage, nor be allowed when the same shall injure any mill, by cutting off or stopping the water flowing thereto; nor shall such dam be allowed so as to create a nuisance by stagnant water, or cut off the flow of useful springs or necessary streams of water, or stop any ditches of such proprietor when there is no freshet.

Rev., s. 3985; Code, s. 1299; R. C., c. 40, s. 3; 1795, c. 436, s. 2; 1835, c. 7; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.

Practice on appeal from clerk: Worthington v. Coward, 114-289.

As to title acquired hereunder, see Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70-634.

Section merely referred to in Porter v. Armstrong, 134-452.

Report of commissioners appointed to condemn lands and assess damages for purpose of drainage is, like the verdict of a jury, conclusive of facts therein ascertained, until set aside: Railroad v. Ely, 101-8.

Upon an application to condemn lands for purpose of drainage the issues of fact raised by the pleadings should be framed and settled by a jury; they cannot be raised or considered upon exceptions to the reports of the commissioners appointed to assess damages: Ibid.

5264. Width of right of way for repairs. The commissioners, when they may deem it necessary, shall designate the width of the land to be left on each side of the canal, ditch, or dam, to be used for the protection and reparation thereof, which land shall be altogether under the control and dominion of the owner of the canal, ditch, or dam, except as aforesaid: Provided, that in no case shall a greater width of land on both sides, inclusive of a dam, be taken than five times the base of such dam.

Rev., s. 3985a; Code, s. 1302; R. C., c. 40, s. 6.

Where, upon appeal from the report of commissioners to condemn land for drainage purposes, jury found that the amount of land condemned by them for the purpose of the protection and reparation of the ditches was unnecessary, it was proper for the court to remand the cause, with directions to constitute another commission: Winslow v. Winslow, 95-24.

5265. Right of owner to fence; entry for repairs. Any proprietor, through or on whose land such canal or ditch may be cut or embankment raised, may put a fence or make paths across the same, provided the usefulness thereof be not impaired; and the owner of the canal, ditch, or dam, his heirs and assigns, shall at all times have free access to the same for the purpose of making and repairing them; doing thereby no unnecessary damage to the lands of the proprietors.

Rev., s. 3986; Code, s. 1300; R. C., c. 40, s. 4; 1795, c. 436, s. 2; 1835, c. 7; 1852, c. 57, ss. 1, 2.

5266. Earth for construction of dam; removal of dam. The earth necessary for the erection of a dam may be taken from either side of it, or wherever else the commissioners may designate and allow. And such dam may be removed by the proprietor of the land, his heirs or assigns, to any other part of his lands, and he may adjoin any dam of his own thereto, if allowed by the court on a petition, and such proceedings therein as are provided in this chapter, as far as the same may apply to his case: Provided always, that the usefulness of the dam will not be thereby impaired or endangered.

Rev., s. 3987; Code, s. 1301; R. C., c. 40, s. 5.

5267. Earth from canal removed or leveled. The earth excavated from the canal or ditch shall be removed away or leveled as nearly as may be with the surface of the adjacent land, unless the commissioners shall otherwise specially allow.

Rev., s. 3988; Code, s. 1303; R. C., c. 40, s. 7.

5268. No drain opened within thirty feet. The proprietor of any swamp or flat lands through which a canal or ditch passes shall not have a right to open or cut any drain within thirty feet thereof but by the consent of the owner. Such proprietor, however, and other persons may cut into such canal or ditch in the manner hereinafter provided.

Section referred to in Brooks v. Turner, 61-310.

5269. Right to drain into canal. Any person desirous of draining into the canal or ditch of another person as an outlet may do so in the manner hereinbefore provided, and in addition to the persons directed to be made parties, all others shall be parties through whose lands, canals, or ditches the water to be drained may pass till it shall have reached the furthest artificial outlet. And the privilege of cutting into such canal or ditch may be granted under the same rules and upon the same conditions and restrictions as are provided in respect to cutting the first canal or ditch: Provided, that no canal or ditch shall be allowed to be cut into another if thereby the safety or utility of the latter shall be impaired or endangered: Provided further, that if such impairing and danger can be avoided by imposing on the petitioner duties or labor in the enlarging or deepening such canal or ditch, or otherwise, the same may be done; but no absolute decree for cutting such second canal or ditch shall pass till the duties or work so imposed shall be performed and the effect thereof is seen, so as to enable the commissioners to determine the matter whether such second canal or ditch ought to be allowed or not: Provided, that any party to the proceeding may appeal from the judgment of the court rendered under this section to the superior court of the county at term-time, where a trial and determination of all issues raised in the pleadings shall be had as in other cases before a judge and jury.

Section referred to in Brooks v. Turner, 61-310.

5270. Expense of repairs apportioned. Besides the damages which the commissioners may assess against the petitioner for the privilege of cutting into such canal or ditch, they shall assess and apportion the labor which the petitioner and defendants shall severally contribute towards repairing the canal or ditch into or through which the petitioner drains the water from his lands, and report the same to court; which, when confirmed, shall stand as a judgment of the court against each of the parties, his executors and administrators, heirs and assigns.

Rev., s. 3991; Code, s. 1306; R. C., c. 40, s. 10.

See Worthington v. Coward, 114-289. A report of commissioners which fails to assess and apportion that part of the labor which under this section is to be contributed by defendants is fatally defective: Brooks v. Turner, 61-309.

5271. Notice of making repairs. Whenever the canals or ditches for the reparation of which more than one person shall be bound under the provisions of the preceding section shall need to be repaired, any of the persons so bound may notify the others thereof, and of the time he proposes to repair the same; and thereupon each of the persons shall jointly work on the same and contribute his proportion of labor till the same be repaired or the work cease by consent.

Rev., s. 3992; Code, s. 1307; R. C., c. 40, s. 11.

5272. Judgment against owner in default; lien. In case the person so notified shall make default, any of the others may perform his share of labor and recover against him the value thereof, on a notice to be issued for such default, in which shall be stated on oath made before the clerk the value of such labor, and unless good cause to the contrary be shown on the return of the notice, the court shall render judgment for the same with interest and costs; which judgment shall be a lien upon the lands from the date of the performance of the work.

Rev., s. 3993; Code, s. 1308; 1899, c. 396; R. C., c. 40, s. 12.

Landowner is entitled to be heard before any specific amount is adjudged against him under an assessment: Adams v. Joyner, 147-77.

5273. Subsequent owners bound. All persons to whom may descend, or who may otherwise own or occupy lands drained by any canal or ditch, for the privilege of cutting which any labor for repairing is assessed, shall contribute the same, and shall be bound therefor to all intents and purposes, and in the same manner and by the same judgment as the original party himself would be if he occupied the land.

Rev., s. 3994; Code, s. 1309; R. C., c. 40, s. 13.

Referred to in Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70-641. See, also, Staton v. Staton, 148-490.

5274. Amount of contribution for repair ascertained. Whenever there shall be a dam, canal, or ditch, in the repairing and keeping up of which two or more persons shall be interested and receive actual benefit therefrom, and the duties and proportion of labor which each one ought to do and perform therefor shall not be fixed by agreement or by the mode already in this subchapter provided for assessing and apportioning such labor, any of the parties may have the same assessed and apportioned by applying to a justice of the peace, who shall give all parties at least three days notice, and shall summon two disinterested freeholders who, together with the justice, shall meet on the premises and assess the damages sustained by the applicant, whereupon the justice shall enter judgment in favor of the applicant for damages or for work done on such ditch or lands. The costs of this proceeding shall be in the discretion of the justice.

This section is constitutional: Forehand v. Taylor, 155-353; Sanderlin v. Luken, 152-738.

This proceeding is in the nature of a motion in the original cause to modify the decrees from time to time to promote the objects of the proceeding: Staton v. Staton, 148-490.

An action before a justice of the peace for drainage expenses, before proper proceedings to ascertain the share of the expense, will not bar a subsequent action after the assessment is properly made: Forehand v. Taylor, 155-353.

5275. Petition by servient owner against dominant owner. Any person owning lands lying upon any creek, swamp, or other stream not navigable, which are subject to inundation and which cannot be conveniently drained or embanked on account of the volume of water flowing over the same from lands lying above, and by draining the same the lands above will be benefited and better drained, such person may by petition apply to the superior court of the county in which the lands sought to be drained or embanked, or some part of such lands, lie, setting forth the particular circumstances of the case, the valuation of the lands to be drained or embanked, and what other lands above would be benefited, and who are the proprietors of such lands; whereupon a summons shall be served upon each of the proprietors, who are not petitioners, requiring them to appear before the court at a time to be named in the summons, which shall not be less than ten days from the service thereof, and upon such day the petition shall be heard and the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners, who shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, be sworn to do justice between the parties.

Rev., s. 4016; 1889, c. 253.

NOTE.—In Lenoir county, proceedings under this section may be had before a justice of the peace. Rev., s. 4016; 1891, c. 73.

For proceeding under this section, see Adams v. Joyner, 147-77. This section does not repeal sections 5261 et seq.: Worthington v. Coward, 114-289. See Briscoe v. Parker, 145-14; Porter v. Armstrong, 134-447.

5276. Commissioners to examine lands and make report. The commissioners, or a majority of them, on a day of which each proprietor is to be notified at least five days, shall meet on the premises and view the land to be drained and the lands affected thereby, and shall determine and report whether the lands of the petitioner or petitioners ought to be drained exclusively by him or them, and if they are of the opinion that the same ought not to be drained exclusively at the expense of the petitioner or petitioners, they shall decide and determine the route of the canal, ditch, or embankment, the width thereof, and the depth and height, as the case may be, and the manner in which the same shall be cut or thrown up, considering all the circumstances of the case, and providing as far as possible for the effectual drainage of the petitioner's land, and the protection and benefit of the defendant's land; and they shall apportion the labor to be done or assess the amount to be paid by each of the owners of the lands affected by such canal, ditch, or embankment, towards the construction and keeping the same in repair, and report the same to the court, which, when confirmed, shall stand as a judgment of the court against each of the parties, his executors, administrators, heirs and assigns.

Rev., s. 4017; 1889, c. 253, s. 2.

NOTE.—In Lenoir and Beaufort counties, proceedings under this section had before justice of the peace; docketed judgment and execution provided for. Rev., s. 4017; 1891, c. 73, s. 2; P. L. 1911, c. 545.

See Adams v. Joyner, 147-77.

5277. Cost of repairs enforced by judgment. Whenever any such ditch, canal, or embankment shall need repairs or cleaning out, and any of the parties interested therein refuse to perform the labor apportioned to them, or refuse to contribute the amount assessed against them, the same shall be enforced in the manner hereinbefore provided for the joint repair of canals and ditches.

Rev., s. 4018; 1889, c. 253, s. 3.

Landowner is entitled to be heard before any amount is adjudged against him: Adams v. Joyner, 147-77.

5278. Obstructing canal or ditch dug under agreement. Where two or more persons have dug a canal or ditch along any natural drain or waterway under parol agreement, or otherwise, wherein all the parties shall have contributed to the digging thereof, if any servient or lower owner shall fill up or obstruct said canal or ditch without the consent of the higher owners and without providing other drainage for the higher lands, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days.

Rev., s. 3375; 1899, c. 255.

All parties must have contributed under a valid agreement to the lawful digging of a ditch or canal before this section will apply: Porter v. Armstrong, 129-101. Compare Mullen v. Canal Co., 130-496.

5279. Right of dominant owner to repair. In the absence of any agreement for maintaining the efficiency of such ditch or canal, or should the servient owner neglect or refuse to clean out or aid in cleaning out the same through his lands, it shall be lawful for the dominant or higher owner, after giving three days notice to servient owner, to enter along such canal and not more than twelve feet therefrom and clean out or remove obstructions or accumulated débris therefrom at his own personal expense or without cost to the servient owner.

Rev., s. 4025; 1899, c. 255, s. 2.

Where a person enlarges a canal on the lands of another, under a void proceeding, he is a trespasser, and cannot claim credit for money spent thereon: Porter v. Armstrong, 129-101.

Acts 1899, c. 255 (sections 5278-5280), for reclaiming swamp or lowlands, applies only where all the parties contribute under a valid agreement to the lawful digging of a ditch or canal: Ibid.

5280. Canal for seven years necessity presumed; expense apportioned. After a canal has been dug along any natural depression or waterway and maintained for seven years, it shall be prima facie evidence of its necessity, and upon application to the clerk of the superior court of any landowner who is interested in maintaining the same, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to appoint and cause to be summoned three disinterested and discreet freeholders, who, after being duly sworn, shall go upon the lands drained or intended to be drained by such canal, and after carefully examining the same and hearing such testimony as may be introduced touching the question of cost of canal, the amount paid, and the advantages and disadvantages to be shared by each of the parties to the action, shall make their report in writing to the clerk of the superior court stating the facts and apportioning the cost of maintaining such canal among the parties to the action, and the cost of the action shall be divided in the same ratio; and their report when approved shall be properly registered by the clerk. The collection of cost and proportion of work on the canal shall be as prescribed in this subchapter.

Meaning of "canal"; procedure under this section to apportion expense: Forrest v. R. R., 159-547.

5281. Easement of drainage surrendered. If any persons, or those claiming through or under them, who have cut any ditch or canal into which any other person has been permitted to drain land under any proceeding authorized in this subchapter, shall desire to surrender their easement or right in such ditch or canal and be discharged from any judgment rendered and existing under such proceedings, such persons may on motion have such proceeding reinstated for hearing and file a petition therein setting forth such fact or any other grounds for relief thereunder, and upon proof satisfactory to the court that such petitioners have cut another ditch or canal which drains their lands formerly drained by the first ditch or canal, and have abandoned the use of it for any purpose of drainage, the court shall adjudge the easement or right of the petitioners surrendered and determined, and from that time the petitioners and their land shall forever be discharged and released from the judgment heretofore rendered in such former proceeding: Provided, however, that all parties then having an easement or right in such ditch or canal shall be served with notice of such petition twenty days before the hearing thereof.

Rev., s. 4027; 1887, c. 222, s. 3.

5282. Obstructing drain cut by consent. If any person shall stop or in any way obstruct the passage of the water in any ditch or canal having been cut through lands of any person by consent of owner of said land, until after giving the interested parties reasonable time to comply with the mode of proceedings provided for the drainage of lowlands, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days.

Rev., s. 3376; 1891, c. 434.

5283. Protection of canals, ditches, and natural drains. If any person shall fell any tree in any ditch, canal, or natural drainway of any farm, unless he shall remove the same and put such ditch, canal, or natural drainway in as good condition as it was before such tree was so felled; or if any person shall stop up or fill in such ditch, canal, or drainway and thereby obstruct the free passage of water along the said ditch, canal, or drainway, unless the said person shall first secure the written consent of the landowner, and those damaged by such obstruction in said ditch, canal, and drainway, or unless such person so filling in and stopping up such ditch, canal, or drainway shall, upon the demand of the person so damaged, clean out and put the said ditch, canal, or drainway in as good condition as the same was before such filling in and stopping up of the said ditch, canal, or drainway happened, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days.

Rev., s. 3382; 1901, c. 478.

For special act as to Tyrrell county, see 1907, c. 438.

Part 2. Petition Under Agreement for Construction

5284. Procedure upon agreement. 1. Agreement; names filed. Whenever a majority of the landowners or the persons owning three-fifths of all the lands in any well-defined swamp or lowlands shall, by a written agreement, agree to give a part of the land situated in such swamp or lowlands as compensation to any person, firm, or corporation who may propose to cut or dig any main drainway through such swamp or lowlands, then the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig such main drainway shall file with the clerk of the superior court of the county, or, if there be two or more counties, with the clerk of the superior court of either county in or through which the proposed canal or drainway is to pass, the names of the landowners, with the approximate number of acres owned by each to be affected by the proposed drainway who have entered into the written agreement with the person, firm, or corporation, together with a brief outline of the proposed improvement, and in addition thereto shall file with the clerk the names and addresses, as far as can be ascertained, of the landowners, with the number of acres owned by each of them to be affected by the proposed drainway, who have not made any agreement with the person, firm, or corporation proposing to do the improvement.

2. Notice. Upon the filing of such names, it shall be the duty of the clerk to forthwith issue a notice which shall be served by the sheriff to all landowners who have not made any agreement to appear before him at a certain date, which date shall be not less than ten and not more than twenty days from the service of such notice, or, in lieu of the personal service hereinabove required, it shall be sufficient for the clerk to publish in a newspaper published in the county once a week for four weeks a notice to all landowners who have not made any agreement to appear before him at a certain date, which date shall be not less than thirty days and not more than forty days from the first publication of notice, at which time and place the landowners shall state their objections to the proposed improvement, and in addition thereto make an estimate of the amount of damage that might be done to the land owned by each of them on account of the proposed drainway.

3. Hearing; viewers. Upon the hearing it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to forthwith appoint three disinterested persons, none of whom shall own land to be affected by such drainway, if requested by the person, firm, or corporation proposing to do the improvement, whose duty it shall be to familiarize themselves with the proposed improvement, view the premises of the landowners, estimating damages, and make an estimate themselves of the amount of damages that might accrue to the lands of each landowner filing objections on account of the proposed improvement, and report the same to the clerk of the superior court within fifteen days from the date of their appointment.

4. Report; bond. Immediately upon the filing of the reports the clerk of the superior court shall forthwith notify the person, firm, or corporation proposing to dig the drainway or canal of the estimated damages contained in the reports, and the person, firm, or corporation shall execute and deliver a bond in a surety company authorized to do business in the state of North Carolina in twice the sum total of the estimated amount of damages, which bond shall be payable to the clerk of the superior court and conditioned upon the payment to the landowners of the amount of damages that may be assessed in the manner hereinafter provided.

5. Construction authorized. Upon the execution and delivery to the clerk of the said bond, the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig such main drainway shall be and they are hereby authorized to proceed with the cutting or digging of the drainway through any lands in its proposed course, whether the owners of the land may have consented thereto or not, and the person, firm, or corporation so proposing to cut or dig the drainway shall have the proper and necessary right of way for that purpose and for all things incident thereto through any lands or timbers situated in such swamp or lowlands.

Sections 5284-5289 take the place of the act of 1915, c. 141, which was declared unconstitutional, in Lang v. Development Co., 169-662.

5285. Recovery for benefits; payment of damages. After the drainway herein provided for shall be completed the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the same shall be entitled to recover of the landowners owning that part of the land with reference to which no contract for compensating those cutting or digging the drainway may have been made, an amount equal to the benefits to accrue to such lands by reason of the drainway, and shall be required by the clerk of the superior court to pay to any landowner the amount of damages in excess of benefits which may be done to the land, to be determined in the manner hereinafter provided: Provided, that the recovery from any owner of the land shall be limited to the benefits to accrue to that land owned by such person, and situated in such swamp or lowlands or adjacent thereto; and Provided further, that the amount to be so recovered as herein provided for until fully paid shall be and constitute a lien upon such land, the lien to be in force regardless of who may own the land at the time the amount to be recovered as compensation for digging or cutting the drainway shall be determined.

5286. Notice to landowners; assessments made by viewers. After the completion of the main drainway, upon the application of the person, firm, or corporation, or their heirs or assigns, digging or cutting the same, the clerk of the superior court of the county in which any land through which the drainway may pass is situated shall issue a notice to be served by the sheriff upon any person who may have failed to agree with the person, firm, or corporation digging or cutting such drainway, upon a compensation to be paid by the landowner for the digging or cutting of such drainway, notifying the landowner that on a certain day, which shall be named in the notice and not less than twenty days from the date of the issuing of the notice, the clerk of the superior court will appoint three competent and disinterested persons, one of whom may be a surveyor, and none of whom shall own land to be affected by the drainway, to view the land so drained and for which no compensation for the drainage may have been agreed upon as aforesaid, and report to the clerk of the superior court what amount shall be paid therefor by the various landowners who may have failed to arrange for and agree upon the compensation for the drainage as aforesaid, and the amount of damages in cases where the damages have exceeded the benefits, which shall be paid to the landowners by the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging such canal or drainway. In making the appointment of the viewers the clerk of the superior court shall hear any objections which may be advanced by those interested to any of the persons the clerk may consider to be appointed as viewers, but the clerk shall name those whom he considers best qualified.

5287. Report filed; appeal and jury trial. A report signed by two of the persons appointed as viewers shall be entered by the clerk as report of the viewers, and from the report any landowner affected thereby and the person, firm, or corporation digging or cutting such drainway shall have the right of appeal and the right to have any issue arising upon the report tried by a jury, provided exceptions shall be filed to the report within twenty days after the filing of the report with the clerk, in which exceptions so filed may be a demand for a jury trial. If a jury trial be demanded, the clerk shall transfer the proceedings to the civil-issue docket and it shall be heard as other civil actions. If no jury trial be demanded, the clerk shall hear the parties upon the exceptions filed, and appeal may be had as in special proceedings, but no jury trial shall be had unless demanded as herein provided for.

5288. Confirmation of report. Unless an appeal shall be taken by any person affected by the report, or by the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway, and a jury trial demanded within twenty days after the report shall be filed with the clerk, in all of which appeals exceptions shall be filed, the clerk of the superior court shall confirm the report of the jury; if exceptions shall be filed and no demand for a jury trial shall be made, the clerk shall hear the exceptions as in other cases of special proceedings, and judgment entered accordingly. If the report of the viewers be confirmed by the clerk because no exceptions or demand for a jury trial were filed within twenty days, the judgment of confirmation shall be the judgment of the court, and any judgment herein entered against the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway shall be a judgment against the person, firm, or corporation and the surety on its bond given as hereinabove provided.

5289. Payment in installments. The amount to be recovered from any person as compensation for digging or cutting the drainway after the amount shall be definitely determined as herein provided for, shall be payable in five equal annual installments, the first payable one year from the filing of the report of the viewers with the clerk of the superior court, and one payment on the same day of each year thereafter until the full amount be paid. The amount to be recovered from the person, firm, or corporation cutting or digging the drainway, on account of any damages in excess of benefits to the lands of any landowner, shall be payable in one installment, which shall be due and payable one year from the filing of the report of the viewers with the clerk of the superior court.

ART. 2. JURISDICTION IN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

5290. Petition filed; board appointed; refusal to serve misdemeanor. Upon the petition of three citizens in any county to the county commissioners, petitioning for the draining of any creek, swamp, or branch, either upon the plea of health or to promote and advance the agricultural interests of the farmers who may own lands lying on such creek, swamp, or branch petitioned to be drained, the county commissioners shall within ten days after the filing of such petition order the county surveyor to summon three disinterested freeholders, good and lawful men of intelligence and discretion, who shall constitute a board, and the county surveyor shall be the chairman of such board; and the chairman shall give all persons who may be interested in having such creek, swamp, or branch drained three days notice of the time and place of the meeting of the board: Provided, the petitioners shall deposit with the county treasurer the sum of twenty-five dollars for the payment of current expenses not otherwise provided for in this article. Any person duly summoned by the county surveyor to act as a commissioner for the drainage of any such creek, swamp, or branch, who shall refuse to serve, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days.

NOTE.—The provisions of this article also apply to lakes in Hyde County. 1901, c. 166.

5291. Duty of board; refusal to comply with their requirements misdemeanor. The board provided for in the preceding section shall meet at the call of the chairman and shall proceed to inspect and examine the lands as described in the petition to be drained, and the board shall have power to summon witnesses, administer oaths, and take testimony, and if the board decides that the lands specified in the petition shall be drained, either upon the plea of health or for the benefit of the farms lying on or contiguous to such water-course, then the board shall select a place at which the ditch shall be begun. They shall also decide the depth and width of the ditch to be dug, and shall proceed to survey, locate, lay off, and mark the course of the ditch, and the board shall assign to the landowners the amount of labor to be performed and the amount of money to be paid for the purpose of defraying the necessary expenses by each landowner in proportion to the amount of lands drained or pro rata benefits received by the drainage of such lands, and the board shall specify the time in which the work so assigned shall be completed: Provided, no one shall be required to commence on the work assigned to him until the person next below him shall have completed his work in accordance with the specifications of the board. If any person shall refuse to comply with any of the requirements of the board he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not exceeding two hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding two years.

Rev., ss. 3377, 4012; 1887, c. 267, ss. 2, 7.

5292. Report filed. The board shall make a written report to the county commissioners showing all the acts and decisions of the board as to the length, depth, and width of the ditch, the names of all the owners of the lands that will be drained, and the amount of work to be performed and the amount of money to be paid by each person benefited by such drainage. But in case the board determines that the lands described in the petition shall not be drained, then the expenses of the board shall be paid out of the funds deposited with the county treasurer by the petitioners.

Rev., s. 4013; 1887, c. 267, s. 3.

5293. Owners to keep ditch open. All persons whose lands shall be drained under the provisions of this article shall keep the ditch on his land clear of all rafts of logs, brush, or any trash that will obstruct the flow of water through the ditch.

Rev., s. 4014; 1887, c. 267, s. 4.

5294. Compensation of board. The compensation of the board shall be as follows: The county surveyor shall receive three dollars per day and the other members shall receive one dollar and fifty cents per day while engaged in the duties imposed in this chapter.

Rev., s. 4015; 1887, c. 267, s. 5.

SUBCHAPTER II. DRAINAGE BY CORPORATION

ART. 3. MANNER OF ORGANIZATION

5295. Petition filed in superior court. Any proprietor in fee of swamp lands, which cannot be drained except by cutting a canal through the lands of another or other proprietor in fee, situated at a lower level and which would also be materially benefited by the cutting of such canal, who desires that such canal be cut on the terms on which it is hereinafter allowed, may apply by petition, setting forth the facts, to the superior court of the county in which any of the lands through which the canal will pass may lie.

Rev., s. 3996; Code, s. 1311; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 2.

Jurisdiction, see Durden v. Simmons, 84-555. Necessity of notice to other landowners: Gamble v. McCrady, 75-509.

Constitutionality of drainage acts: Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172-100; Brown v. Keener, 74-714; Norfleet v. Cromwell, 70-634; Pool v. Trexler, 76-297. See section 5312.

See Mizell v. McGowan, 120-134; Porter v. Armstrong, 134-447; Canal Co. v. McAlister, 74-161.

5296. Commissioners appointed; report required. On the establishment by the petitioner of his allegations, the court shall appoint three persons as commissioners who, having been duly sworn, shall examine the premises and inquire and report—

1. Whether the lands of the petitioner can be conveniently drained otherwise than through those of some other person.

2. Through the lands of what other persons a canal to drain the lands of the petitioner should properly pass, considering the interests of all concerned.

3. A description of the several pieces of lands through which the canal would pass, and the present values of such portions of the pieces of lands as would be benefited by it, and the reasons for arriving at the conclusion as to the benefit.

4. The route and plan of the canal, including its breadth, depth, and slope, as nearly as they can be calculated, with all other particulars necessary for calculating its cost.

5. The probable cost of the canal and of a road on its bank, and of such other work, if any, as may be necessary for its profitable use.

6. The proportion of the benefit (after a deduction of all damages) which each proprietor would receive by the proposed canal and a road on its bank if deemed necessary, and in which each ought, in equity and justice, to pay toward their construction and permanent support.

7. With their report they shall return a map explaining, as accurately as may be, the various matters required to be stated in their report.

Rev., s. 3997; Code, s. 1312; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 3.

Report of commissioners, assessing persons for benefits accruing to their lands, from the operations of plaintiff canal company, should have been confirmed by court as to those defendants who did not object; but as to those who did, court should have proceeded to try issues involved in the controversy: Canal Co. v. McKeithan, 89-52.

Notice of the time to appoint the assessment commissioners need not be given to the landowners; and the assessment made is presumed to be regular and correct and cannot be attacked collaterally: Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172-100.

5297. Surveyor employed. The commissioners may employ a surveyor to prepare the map required to accompany their report.

Rev., s. 3998; Code, s. 1313; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 4.

5298. Confirmation of report. If it appear that the lands on the lower level will be increased in value twenty-five per cent or upwards by the proposed improvement, within one year after the completion thereof, and that the cost of making such improvement will not exceed three-fourths of the present estimated value of the land to be benefited, and that the proprietors of at least one-half in value of the land to be affected consent to the improvement, the court may confirm such report, either in full or with such modifications therein as shall be just and equitable.

Rev., s. 3999; Code, s. 1314; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 5.

5299. Proprietors become a corporation. Upon a final adjudication, confirming the report, the proprietors of the several pieces of land adjudged to be benefited by the improvement shall be declared a corporation, of which the capital stock shall be double the estimated cost of the improvements, and in which the several owners of the land adjudged to be benefited shall be corporators, holding shares of stock in the proportions in which they are adjudged liable for the expense of making and keeping up the improvement.

Rev., s. 4000; Code, s. 1315; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 6.

5300. Corporate name; officers; powers. The person assessed to pay the highest sum shall be president of the company until another shall be elected; he shall, or in case of his refusal or an unreasonable delay, any other stockholder may, call a meeting of the corporators. The corporators shall choose a corporate name, elect a president and such other officers as may be necessary, and make all by-laws and regulations, not contrary to law, which may be necessary or proper for effecting the purposes of the corporation; they shall fix the number of shares of stock, and assign to each proprietor his proper number; they shall assess the sums which shall be payable by each proprietor, and to ascertain the time and mode of payment, in every meeting each proprietor shall vote once for each share owned by him.

Rev., s. 4001; Code, s. 1316; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 7.

5301. Incorporation of canal already constructed. Whenever the proprietors of any canal already cut shall desire to become incorporated, any number of the proprietors, not less than one-third in number, may file their petition before the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the canal is located, or in either county, where the canal may be located in more than one county, setting forth the names of the proprietors, the length and size of the canal, the name of the owners of land draining in such canal, and the quantity of land tributary thereto. And upon filing the petition, summons shall issue to all parties having an easement in the canal, returnable as in other special proceedings; upon the return thereof, or upon a day fixed by the clerk for hearing same, all owners of the canal may become corporators therein, and upon failure of any to avail themselves of that right, they shall not be entitled to become corporators, except under such by-laws and regulations as such corporation shall make and declare. But those who fail to avail themselves of the benefit of this subchapter shall not be deprived of their easement in the canal, but shall enjoy the same upon payment to the corporation of the assessment made upon them pro rata with the corporators; such assessment shall be made on the land tributary to the canal and apportioned pro rata to each owner thereof; it shall be made by the corporation on ten days notice to each owner of the land, under such rules and regulations as the by-laws may prescribe; but any person dissatisfied therewith shall have the right to appeal to a jury at the regular term of the superior court of the county, and the amount of damages assessed shall be a first lien on the land of the owner against whom judgment shall be rendered: Provided, that in making such assessment upon landowners who are not members of the corporation it shall be unlawful to charge in such assessment any charges or per diem pay for the officers of such canal company against the owner of such land, and any such attempt to charge the salaries or per diem of officers of the canal company in such assessment shall render the same void.

Rev., s. 4008; 1889, c. 380; 1901, c. 670.

ART. 4. RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES IN THE CORPORATION

5302. Shares of stock annexed to land. The ownership of the shares of stock is indissolubly annexed to the ownership of the pieces of land adjudged to be benefited by the improvement; and such shares, or a part thereof proportionate to the area of such land that may descend or be conveyed for any longer time than three years, shall, upon such descent or conveyance, descend and pass with the land, even although such shares be not mentioned in the deed of conveyance, and although their transfer be forbidden by such deed so that every owner of such land in possession, except tenant for a term of years, not exceeding three, and every owner in reversion or remainder after a term not exceeding three years, shall, during his ownership, be entitled to all the rights and privileges and be subject to all the obligations and burdens of a corporator. Every attempted sale of shares otherwise than as annexed to the land shall be void.

Rev., s. 4002; Code, s. 1317; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 8.

5303. Shareholders to pay assessments. Every corporator shall be bound to obey the lawful by-laws of the company, and pay all dues lawfully assessed on him: Provided, he shall in no case pay more than his proportion of the expenses as fixed by this subchapter; and such dues may be collected in the corporate name in any court having jurisdiction; and every assessment duly docketed in the county where the land to be affected lies shall be a lien on the lands of the debtor which are connected with the corporation from the date of such docketing.

Rev., s. 4003; Code, s. 1318; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 9.

The action of the corporation in making assessments, if not void upon its face, cannot be attacked collaterally; and if no method of review is provided, it may be reviewed by certiorari: Canal Co. v. Whitley, 172-100. The assessment is not a debt in the sense that a personal judgment may be obtained, but a charge upon land to be enforced by docketing and execution: Ibid.; Drainage Dist. v. Huffstetler, 173-523. But see section 5362.

5304. Payment of dues entitles to use of canal. Every corporator paying his dues legally assessed without regard to the number of his shares, shall be entitled to the full and free use of the canal for drainage and navigation, and of the road for passage and transportation. By-laws may be made to regulate these rights, but not so as to produce an inequality.

Rev., s. 4004; Code, s. 1319; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 10.

5305. Rights of infant owners protected. If any proprietor whose lands are adjudged to be benefited by a canal shall be an infant, no process shall be issued against him during his minority, or within twelve months thereafter, to enforce payment of any assessment, and he may, at any time within such twelve months, apply to have any order, judgment, or decree made against him set aside as to him. If the infant or his guardian shall, during his minority, and the twelve months next thereafter, pay the dues assessed on him, he shall have all the rights and privileges of a corporator, to be exercised through his guardian. If the infant shall fail to pay, he shall not have any such rights, but if no action to set aside the judgment of the court creating the corporation shall have been brought by him as aforesaid, or upon the decision of such action against him, he shall be entitled to receive his proper share of stock and to possess all the rights and be bound by all the liabilities of a corporator, including a liability for assessments made during his minority, but not for interest on such, nor for any penalty for their prior nonpayment.

Rev., s. 4005; Code, s. 1320; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 11.

5306. Compensation for damage to lands. If any proprietor of lands shall be damaged by any improvement proposed, the commissioners shall so report, and he shall be entitled to be compensated as may be just by the proprietor whose lands are benefited in proportion to the benefit to them respectively; but in estimating such damage the benefit shall be deducted, and such proprietor shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of a corporation as respects the use of the improvement, but shall not be entitled to a vote, or be bound for the assessment.

Rev., s. 4006; Code, s. 1321; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 12.

5307. Dissolution of corporation. If, from any cause, the canal or other improvement shall become or shall prove to be valueless, any corporator may apply as is provided in other cases of special proceedings, and the court may dissolve the corporation created in connection with it.

Rev., s. 4007; Code, s. 1322; 1868-9, c. 164, s. 13.

5308. Laborer's lien for work on canal. Whenever work or repairs shall be done on such canal and any of the parties owning lands liable to be assessed for such work or repairs shall fail or refuse to pay the amount assessed upon their lands, then and in that event the laborers performing such work shall have a lien upon such land to the extent of the amount assessed against the same by the corporation, and such lien may be enforced in the same manner as provided by the laws of this state for the enforcement of laborers' liens.

Rev., s. 4009; 1899, c. 600, s. 2.

5309. Penalty for nonpayment of assessments. Whenever any person whose lands have been adjudged liable to contribute to the maintenance or repair of such canal shall fail or refuse to pay the amount assessed against his land for such maintenance or repair for thirty days after such payment has been demanded by the company, then the company may give such person notice in writing of its intention to cut off his right of drainage into the canal, and if such person shall still neglect and refuse to pay such assessment for thirty days after such notice, then the company may proceed to so obstruct and dam up the ditches of such delinquent as will effectually prevent his draining into the canal.

Rev., s. 4010; 1899, c. 600, s. 3.

5310. Corporation authorized to issue bonds. The corporations organized under this subchapter are authorized to issue bonds to such an amount and in such denomination as they may elect, payable at such times as may be provided, and to sell the same at not less than par, the proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used for the payment of the costs of survey and construction and maintenance of the canal. The bonds shall constitute a lien upon the lands drained or improved by the canal as described in the reports of the commissioners.

5311. Payment of bonds enforced. Upon default of the payment of the interest or principal of such bonds, the holders of the bonds of the corporations organized under this subchapter shall have a right to enforce the lien created by the preceding section by civil actions in the superior courts of the state.

1908, c. 75, s. 2.

SUBCHAPTER III. DRAINAGE DISTRICTS

ART. 5. ESTABLISHMENT OF DISTRICTS

5312. Jurisdiction to establish districts. The clerk of the superior court of any county in the state of North Carolina shall have jurisdiction, power, and authority to establish levee or drainage districts in his county, and to locate and establish levees, drains, or canals, and cause to be constructed, straightened, widened, or deepened any ditch, drain or watercourse, and to build levees or embankments and erect tide gates and pumping plants for the purpose of draining and reclaiming wet, swamp, or overflowed lands; and it is hereby declared that the drainage of swamps and the drainage of the surface water from agricultural lands and the reclamation of tidal marshes shall be considered a public benefit and conducive to the public health, convenience, utility, and welfare.

Nature and purpose of system explained: In re Drainage District, 162-127. The Drainage Act is constitutional: Lumber Co. v. Drainage Comrs., 174-647; Banks v. Lane, 170-14; Shelton v. White, 163-90; Newby v. Drainage District, 163-24; In re Drainage District, 162-127; Comrs. v. Webb, 160-595; Forehand v. Taylor, 155-353; Sanderlin v. Luken, 152-738. The Drainage Act is a police regulation and proceedings thereunder are an exercise of the power of eminent domain: Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217; Lang v. Development Co., 169-662; Shelton v. White, 163-90; Newby v. Drainage District, 163-24; Comrs. v. Webb, 160-594.

Drainage districts are not municipal corporations, but are regarded as public quasi-corporations, partaking to some extent the character of a governmental agency: Newby v. Drainage District, 163-24; Sanderlin v. Luken, 152-738. They are not a governmental agency strictly, but are quasi-public corporations like railroads, having the power of eminent domain and a taxing power for a special purpose: Leary v. Comrs., 172-25; Drainage Comrs. v. Farm Association, 165-697; Drainage Comrs. v. Webb, 160-594.

Drainage act for Mattamuskeet Lake construed, in Carter v. Comrs., 156-183.

5313. Venue; special proceeding. When the lands proposed to be drained and created into a drainage district are located in two or more counties, the clerk of the superior court of either county shall have and exercise the jurisdiction herein conferred, and the venue shall be in that county in which the petition is first filed. The law and the rules regulating special proceedings shall be applicable in this proceeding, so far as may be practicable; and the proceedings hereunder may be ex parte or adversary.

The proceeding is in the nature of a proceeding in rem: Banks v. Lane, 170-14; Staton v. Staton, 148-490. For construction of proceeding, see section 5379.

5314. Petition filed. A petition signed by a majority of the resident land-owners in a proposed drainage district or by the owners of three-fifths of all the land which will be affected or assessed for the expense of the proposed improvements may be filed in office of the clerk of the superior court of any county in which a part of the lands is located, setting forth that any specific body or district of land in the county and adjoining counties, described in such a way as to convey an intelligent idea as to the location of such land, is subject to overflow or too wet for cultivation, and the public benefit or utility or the public health, convenience or welfare will be promoted by draining, ditching, or leveeing the same or by changing or improving the natural watercourses, and setting forth therein, as far as practicable, the starting point, route, and terminus and lateral branches, if necessary, of the proposed improvement.

Regular proceedings to establish district explained: Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90. The petition should be filed by a majority of the landowners in the district or by the owners of three-fifths of the land to be affected: Banks v. Lane, 170-14; s. c., 171-505. The lands to be affected should be described: Lumber Co. v. Comrs., 173-117. The proceeding is intended to be flexible in its nature, and changes may be made from time to time as the circumstances may require: In re Drainage District, 175-270; Staton v. Staton, 148-490; Adams v. Joyner, 147-77.

5315. Bond filed and summons issued. Upon filing with the petition a bond for the amount of fifty dollars per mile for each mile of the ditch or proposed improvement, signed by two or more sureties or by some lawful and authorized surety company, to be approved by the clerk of superior court, conditioned for the payment of all costs and expenses incurred in the proceeding in case the court does not grant the prayer of the petition, the clerk shall issue a summons to be served on all the defendant landowners who have not joined in the petition and whose lands are included in the proposed drainage district. The summons may be served by publication as to any defendants who cannot be personally served as provided by law.

The parties to the proceeding are the petitioners and, as defendants, the landowners in the district who have not joined in the petition: Banks v. Lane, 170-14; s. c., 171-505; Lumber Co. v. Comrs., 173-117. Mortgagees and lienholders are not necessary parties: Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217; Townsend v. Drainage Comrs., 174-556; Banks v. Lane, 170-14; s. c., 171-505; Drainage Comrs. v. Farm Association, 165-697. Owners of timber leases are not included as parties: Lumber Co. v. Comrs., 173-117.

A landowner who has not joined in the petition nor been served with summons is not affected by the proceeding: Lumber Co. v. Comrs., 173-117. It is admissible to notify the owner in possession and have the land assessed in this proceeding, nunc pro tunc: Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217.

5316. Publication in case of unknown owners. If at the time of the filing of the petition, or at any time subsequent thereto, it shall be made to appear to the court by affidavit or otherwise that the owners of the whole or any share of any tracts of land, whose names are unknown, and cannot after due diligence be ascertained by the petitioners, the court shall order a notice in the nature of a summons to be given to all such persons by a publication of the petition, or of the substance thereof, and describing generally the tracts of land as to which the owners are unknown, with the order of the court thereon, in some newspaper published in the county wherein the land is located, or in some other county if no newspaper shall be published in the first-named county, which newspaper shall be designated in the order of the court, and a copy of such publication shall be also posted in at least three conspicuous places within the boundaries of the proposed district, and at the courthouse door of the county. Such publication in a newspaper and by posting shall be made for a period of four weeks. After the time of publication shall have expired, if no person claiming and asserting title to the tracts of land and entitled to notice shall appear, the court in its discretion may appoint some disinterested person to represent the unknown owners of such lands, and thereupon the court shall assume jurisdiction of the tracts of land and shall adjudicate as to such lands to the same extent as if the true owners were present and represented, and shall proceed against the land itself. If at any time during the pendency of the drainage proceeding the true owners of the lands shall appear in person, they may be made parties defendant of their own motion and without the necessity of personal service, and shall thereafter be considered as parties to the proceeding; but they shall have no right to except to or appeal from any order or judgment theretofore rendered, as to which the time for filing exceptions on notice shall have expired.

This publication is sufficient notice, and every presumption is in favor of the regularity of the judgment rendered: Banks v. Lane, 170-14; s. c., 171-505; Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217.

5317. Board of viewers appointed by clerk. Upon the return day the clerk shall appoint a disinterested and competent civil and drainage engineer and two resident freeholders of the county or counties in which the lands are located as a board of viewers to examine the lands described in the petition and make a preliminary report thereon. The drainage engineer shall be appointed upon the recommendation of the state geologist; and no member of the board of viewers so appointed shall own any land within the boundaries of the proposed district. In the selection of the two members of the board of viewers, other than the engineer, the clerk before making the appointment shall make careful inquiry into the character and qualifications of the proposed members, to the end that the members so appointed shall possess the necessary character, capacity, fitness, and impartiality for the discharge of their important duties.

The repeal of the act of 1911, c. 67, s. 14, which authorized the payment of expenses of the engineer by the board of agriculture for the benefit of the drainage district, did not prevent a recovery of the amount so paid: Board of Agriculture v. Drainage District, 177-222. Section referred to in Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642.

5318. Attorney for petitioners. The petitioners shall select some learned attorney or attorneys to represent them, who shall prosecute the drainage proceeding and advise with the petitioners and board of viewers, and shall agree upon the compensation for his professional services up to the time when the district shall be established and the board of drainage commissioners elected, or as nearly so as the same may be approximated. If the petitioners are unable to agree upon the selection of an attorney or attorneys, the selection may be made by the clerk of the court. The foregoing provision shall not interfere with the right of any individual petitioner in the selection of an attorney to represent his individual interests if he shall deem the same desirable or necessary.

5319. Estimate of expense and manner of payment. The clerk shall make an estimate of the aggregate sum of money which shall appear to be necessary to pay all the expenses incident to the performance of the duties by the board of viewers, including the compensation of the drainage engineer and his necessary assistants, and also including the sum for the compensation of the attorney for the district, and such court costs as may probably accrue, which estimates shall embrace the period of services up to and including the establishment of the drainage district and the selection and appointment of the board of drainage commissioners. The clerk shall then estimate the number of acres of land owned or represented by the petitioners, as nearly so as may be practicable without actual survey, and shall assess each acre so represented a level rate per acre, to the end that such assessment will realize the sum of money which he has estimated as necessary to pay all necessary costs of the drainage proceeding up to the time of the appointment of the drainage commissioners, as above provided. The board of viewers, including the drainage engineer, shall not be required to enter upon the further discharge of their duties until the amount so estimated and assessed shall be paid in cash to the clerk of the court, which shall be retained by him as a court fund, and for which he shall be liable in his official capacity, and he shall be authorized to disburse the same in the prosecution of the drainage proceeding. Unless all the assessments shall be paid within a time to be fixed by the court, which may be extended from time to time, no further proceedings shall be had, and the proceeding shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners. If the entire sum so estimated and assessed shall not be paid to the clerk within the time limited, the amounts so paid shall be refunded to the petitioners pro rata after paying the necessary costs accrued. Nothing herein contained shall prevent one or more of the petitioners from subscribing and paying any sum in addition to their assessment in order to make up any deficiency arising from the delinquency of one or more of the petitioners. When the sum of money so estimated shall be paid, the board of viewers shall proceed with the discharge of their duties, and in all other respects the proceeding shall be prosecuted according to the law. After the district shall have been established and the board of drainage commissioners appointed, it shall be the duty of the board of drainage commissioners to refund to each of the petitioners the amount so paid by them as above provided, out of the first moneys which shall come into the hands of the board from the sale of bonds or otherwise, and the same shall be included in ascertaining the total cost of improvement.

5320. Examination of lands, and preliminary report. The board of viewers shall proceed to examine the land described in the petition, and other land if necessary to locate properly such improvement or improvements as are petitioned for, along the route described in the petition, or any other route answering the same purpose if found more practicable or feasible, and may make surveys such as may be necessary to determine the boundaries and elevation of the several parts of the district, and shall make and return to the clerk of the superior court within thirty days, unless the time shall be extended by the court, a written report, which shall set forth:

1. Whether the proposed drainage is practicable or not.
2. Whether it will benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community.
3. Whether the improvement proposed will benefit the lands sought to be benefited.

4. Whether or not all the lands that are benefited are included in the proposed drainage district.

They shall also file with this report a map of the proposed drainage district, showing the location of the ditch or ditches or other improvement to be constructed and the lands that will be affected thereby, and such other information as they may have collected that will tend to show the correctness of their findings.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90; In re Drainage District, 162-127.

5321. First hearing of preliminary report. The clerk of the superior court shall consider this report. If the viewers report that the drainage is not practicable or that it will not benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall approve such findings, the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners. Such petition or proceeding may again be instituted by the same or additional landowners at any time after six months, upon proper allegations that conditions have changed or that material facts were omitted or overlooked. If the viewers report that the drainage is practicable and that it will benefit the public health or any public highway or be conducive to the general welfare of the community, and the court shall so find, then the court shall fix a day when the report will be further heard and considered.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90.

5322. Notice of further hearing. If the petition is entertained by the court, notice shall be given by publication for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation within the county or counties, if one shall be published in such counties, and also by posting a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places within the drainage district, that on the date set, naming the day, the court will consider and pass upon the report of the viewers. At least fifteen days shall intervene between the date of the publication and the posting of the notices and the date set for the hearing.

Section referred to in Banks v. Lane, 170-14; s. c., 171-505; Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90.

5323. Further hearing, and district established. At the date appointed for the hearing the court shall hear and determine any objections that may be offered to the report of the viewers. If it appear that there is any land within the proposed levee or drainage district that will not be affected by the leveeing or drainage thereof, such lands shall be excluded and the names of the owners withdrawn from such proceeding; and if it shall be shown that there is any land not within the proposed district that will be affected by the construction of the proposed levee or drain, the boundary of the district shall be so changed as to include such land, and such additional landowners shall be made parties plaintiff or defendant, respectively, and summons shall issue accordingly, as hereinbefore provided. After such change in the boundary is made, the sufficiency of the petition shall be verified, to determine whether or not it conforms to the requirements hereinbefore provided. The efficiency of the drainage or levees may also be determined, and if it appears that the location of any levee or drain can be changed so as to make it more effective, or that other branches or spurs should be constructed, or that any branch or spur projected may be eliminated or other changes made that will tend to increase the benefits of the proposed work, such modification and changes shall be made by the board. The engineer and the other two viewers may attend this meeting and give any information or evidence that may be sought to verify and substantiate their report. If necessary, the petition, as amended, shall be referred by the court to the engineer and two viewers for further report. The above facts having been determined to the satisfaction of the court, and the boundaries of the proposed district so determined, it shall declare the establishment of the drainage or levee district, which shall be designated by a name or number, for the object and purpose as herein set forth.

If any lands shall be excluded from the district because of the court having found that such lands will not be affected or benefited, and the names of the owners of such lands have been withdrawn from such proceeding, but such lands are so situated as necessarily to be located within the outer boundaries of the district, such fact shall not prevent the establishment of the district, and such lands shall not be assessed for any drainage tax; but this shall not prevent the district from acquiring a right of way across such lands for constructing a canal or ditch or for any other necessary purpose authorized by law.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90. The fact that land in a smaller district is included in a larger district does not prevent the organization of the smaller district: Drainage Comrs. v. Farm Assn., 165-697.

5324. Right of appeal. Any person owning lands within the drainage or levee district which he thinks will not be benefited by the improvement and should not be included in the district may appeal from the decision of the court to the superior court of such county, in term-time, by filing an appeal, accompanied by a bond conditioned for the payment of the costs if the appeal should be decided against him, for such sum as the court may require, not exceeding two hundred dollars, signed by two or more solvent sureties or in some approved surety company to be approved by the court.

Appeal provided for under this section and under section 5333. A party loses his right except as to subsequent changes by failing to appeal: Drainage District v. Parks, 170-435.

On appeal under this section the objector cannot contest the practicability of formation of the district, but only the question as to whether his land is benefited; and this may be an issue for a jury: Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90; Parker v. Johnson, 163-74. If objection is sustained, the court may exclude the land or retain it with compensation for damages: Shelton v. White, 163-90. Whether one who signed the petition can appeal from the preliminary order, see Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90.

5325. Condemnation of land. If it shall be necessary to acquire a right of way or an outlet over and through lands not affected by the drainage, and the same cannot be acquired by purchase, then and in such event the power of eminent domain is hereby conferred, and the same may be condemned. The owners of the land proposed to be condemned may be made parties defendant in the manner of an ancillary proceeding, and the procedure shall be substantially as provided by law for the condemnation of rights of way for railroads so far as the same may be applicable, and such damages as may be awarded as compensation shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners out of the first funds which shall be available from the proceeds of sale of bonds or otherwise.

5326. Complete survey ordered. After the district is established the court shall refer the report of the engineer and viewers back to them to make a complete survey, plans, and specifications for the drains or levees or other improvements, and fix a time when the engineer and viewers shall complete and file their report, not exceeding sixty days.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90.

5327. Nature of the survey. The engineer and viewers shall have power to employ such assistants as may be necessary to make a complete survey of the drainage district, and shall enter upon the ground and make a survey of the main drain or drains and all its lateral. The line of each ditch, drain, or levee shall be plainly and substantially marked on the ground. The course and distance of each ditch shall be carefully noted and sufficient notes made, so that it may be accurately plotted and mapped. A line of levels shall be run for the entire work and sufficient data secured from which accurate profiles and plans may be made. Frequent bench marks shall be established along the line, on permanent objects, and their elevation recorded in the field books. If it is deemed expedient by the engineer and viewers, other levels may be run to determine the fall from one part of the district to another. If an old watercourse, ditch, or channel is being widened, deepened, or straightened, it shall be accurately cross-sectioned, so as to compute the number of cubic yards saved by the use of such old channel. A drainage map of the district shall then be completed, showing the location of the ditch or ditches and other improvements and the boundary, as closely as may be determined by the records, of the lands owned by each individual landowner within the district. The location of any railroads or public highways and the boundary of any incorporated towns or villages within the district shall be shown on the map. There shall also be prepared to accompany this map a profile of each levee, drain, or watercourse, showing the surface of the ground, the bottom or grade of the proposed improvement, and the number of cubic yards of excavation or fill in each mile or fraction thereof, and the total yards in the proposed improvement and the estimated cost thereof, and plans and specifications, and the cost of any other work required to be done.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90.

5328. Assessment of damages. It shall be the further duty of the engineer and viewers to assess the damages claimed by any one that is justly right and due to them for land taken or for inconvenience imposed because of the construction of the improvement, or for any other legal damages sustained. Such damage shall be considered separate and apart from any benefit the land would receive because of the proposed work, and shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners when funds shall come into their hands.

1909, c. 442, s. 11; 1915, c. 238; 1917, c. 152, s. 16.

Act of 1915, c. 238, construed to amend s. 11 instead of s. 2 of 1909, c. 442: Toomey v. Lumber Co., 171-178.

This section gives landowner opportunity to obtain compensation for damages to land: Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Newby v. Drainage District, 163-24. All damage done to the owner's land is to be awarded, including timber destroyed: Lumber Co. v. Drainage Comrs., 174-647.

5329. Classification of lands. It shall be the further duty of the engineer and viewers to personally examine the land in the district and classify it with reference to the benefit it will receive from the construction of the levee, ditch, drain, or water-course or other improvement. In the case of drainage, the degree of wetness on the land, its proximity to the ditch or a natural outlet, and the fertility of the soil shall be considered in determining the amount of benefit it will receive by the construction of the ditch. The land benefited shall be separated in five classes. The land receiving the highest benefit shall be marked "Class A"; that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class B"; that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class C"; that receiving the next highest benefit, "Class D," and that receiving the smallest benefit, "Class E." The holdings of any one landowner need not be all in one class, but the number of acres in each class shall be ascertained, though its boundary need not be marked on the ground or shown on the map. The total number of acres owned by one person in each class and the total number of acres benefited shall be determined. The total number of acres of each class in the entire district shall be obtained and presented in tabulated form. The scale of assessment upon the several classes of land returned by the engineer and viewers shall be in the ratio of five, four, three, two, and one; that is to say, as often as five mills per acre is assessed against the land in "Class A," four mills per acre shall be assessed against the land in "Class B," three mills per acre in "Class C," two mills per acre in "Class D," and one mill per acre in "Class E." This shall form the basis of the assessment of benefits to the lands for drainage purposes.

Section referred to in Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642.

5330. Extension of time for report. In case the work is delayed by high water, sickness, or any other good cause, and the report is not completed at the time fixed by the court, the engineer and viewers shall appear before the court and state in writing the cause of such failure and ask for sufficient time in which to complete the work, and the court shall set another date by which the report shall be completed and filed.

5331. Final report filed; notice of hearing. When the final report is completed and filed it shall be examined by the court, and if it is found to be in due form and in accordance with the law it shall be accepted, and if not in due form it may be referred back to the engineer and viewers, with instructions to secure further information, to be reported at a subsequent date to be fixed by the court. When the report is fully completed and accepted by the court a date not less than twenty days thereafter shall be fixed by the court for the final hearing upon the report, and notice thereof shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county and by posting a written or printed notice on the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places throughout the district, such publication to be made for at least two weeks before the final hearing. During this time a copy of the report shall be on file in the office of the clerk of the superior court, and shall be open to the inspection of any landowner or other person interested within the district.

When no newspaper is published in the county, publication at courthouse door and five places in district is sufficient: Comrs. v. Engineering Co., 165-37. Notice may be waived: Ibid. Publication of notice is required so that all persons whose interests may be affected may have opportunity to be heard: Banks v. Lane, 170-14; s. c., 171-505; Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217.

5332. Adjudication upon final report. At the date set for hearing any landowner may appear in person or by counsel and file his objection in writing to the report of the viewers; and it shall be the duty of the court to carefully review the report of the viewers and the objections filed thereto, and make such changes as are necessary to render substantial and equal justice to all the landowners in the district. If, in the opinion of the court, the cost of construction, together with the amount of damages assessed, is not greater than the benefits that will accrue to the land affected, the court shall confirm the report of the viewers. If, however, the court finds that the cost of construction, together with the damages assessed, is greater than the resulting benefit that will accrue to the lands affected, the court shall dismiss the proceedings at the cost of the petitioners, and the sureties upon the bond so filed by them shall be liable for such costs: Provided, that the state geological and economic survey may remit and release to the petitioners the costs expended by the board on account of the engineer and his assistants. The court may from time to time collect from the petitioners such amounts as may be necessary to pay costs accruing, other than costs of the engineer and his assistants, such amounts to be repaid from the special tax hereby authorized.

Practice under section explained: Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90; In re Drainage District, 162-127; Parker v. Johnson, 163-74. The final report so adopted is the chart to direct the drainage commissioners in constructing the work: Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642. The judgment is an estoppel of record as to all matters involved affecting property rights: Ibid.

When the decree establishing the district does not contain restriction as to amount to be charged on land, those contained in the petition will not control: Gibbs v. Drainage Comrs., 175-5. Such restrictions could not be enforced as an agreement between the parties; and the matter is res judicata as to another proceeding: Mann v. Mann, 176-353. (Mattamuskeet Lake District.) For other questions involved in such district, see Carter v. Comrs., 156-183; Caravan v. Comrs., 161-100.

5333. Appeal from final hearing. Any party aggrieved may, within ten days after the confirmation of the assessor's report, appeal to the superior court in term-time. Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted as now provided in special proceedings. Such appeal shall be based and heard only upon the exceptions theretofore filed by the complaining party, either as to issues of law or fact, and no additional exceptions shall be considered by the court upon the hearing of the appeal.

A party failing to appeal loses his right to object except as to subsequent changes: Drainage Dist. v. Parks, 170-435; Lumber Co. v. Drainage Comrs., 174-647.

Any party interested may appeal, and he may have a jury trial as to benefits, costs and damages; if the objection is sustained, the court may exclude the land or retain it with compensation: Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Shelton v. White, 163-90. If a majority of the land-owners or the owners of three-fifths of the land object, the proceeding should be dismissed: Shelton v. White, 163-90.

The appeal is to be heard only on exceptions filed in the court below: In re Drainage District, 162-127. Incidental matters, as the classification of lands, location of ditches, etc., are questions of fact to be settled by the clerk, and to be reviewed on exceptions by the judge: Shelton v. White, 163-90.

5334. Compensation of board of viewers. The compensation of the engineer, including his necessary assistants, rodmen, and laborers, and also the compensation of the viewers, shall be fixed by the clerk. In fixing such compensation, particularly of the drainage engineer, the clerk shall confer fully with the state geologist and with the petitioners. The compensation to be paid the two members of the board of viewers, other than the engineer, shall not exceed four dollars per day for the time actually employed in the discharge of their duties, and in addition any actual and necessary expenses of travel and subsistence while in the actual discharge of their duties, an itemized report of which shall be submitted and verified.

5335. Account of expenses filed. The engineer and viewers shall keep an accurate account and report to the court the name and number of days each person was employed on the survey and the kind of work he was doing, and any expenses that may have been incurred in going to and from the work, and the cost of any supplies or material that may have been used in making the survey.

5336. Drainage record. The clerk of the superior court shall provide a suitable book, to be known as the "drainage record," in which he shall transcribe every petition, motion, order, report, judgment, or finding of the board in every drainage transaction that may come before it, in such a manner as to make a complete and continuous record of the case. Copies of all the maps and profiles are to be furnished by the engineer and marked by the clerk "official copies," which shall be kept on file by him in his office, and one other copy shall be pasted or otherwise attached to his record book.

1909, c. 442, s. 18.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642.

ART. 6. DRAINAGE COMMISSIONERS

5337. Election and organization under original act. After the drainage district has been declared established, as aforesaid, and the survey and plan therefor approved, the court shall appoint three persons, who shall be designated as the board of drainage commissioners. Such drainage commissioners shall first be elected by the owners of land within the drainage or levee district, or by a majority of same, in such manner as the court shall prescribe. The court shall appoint those receiving a majority of the votes. If any one or more of such proposed commissioners shall not receive the vote of a majority of such landowners the court shall appoint all or the remainder from among those voted for in the election. Any vacancy thereafter occurring shall be filled in like manner. Such three drainage commissioners, when so appointed, shall be immediately created a body corporate under the name and style of "The Board of Drainage Commissioners of District," with the right to hold property and convey the same, to sue and be sued, and shall possess such other powers as usually pertain to corporations. They shall organize by electing from among their number a chairman and a vice-chairman. They shall also elect a secretary, either within or without their body. The treasurer of the county in which the proceeding was instituted shall be ex officio treasurer of such drainage commissioners. Such board of drainage commissioners shall adopt a seal, which they may alter at pleasure. The board of drainage commissioners shall have and possess such powers as are herein granted.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642.

Election of commissioners by landowners prior to appointment by clerk seems to be by way of recommendation: Mann v. Gibbs, 156-44. Election of commissioners for Mattamuskeet Lake District under this section and under act of 1909, c. 509: Ibid.

5338. Name of districts. The name of such drainage district shall constitute a part of its corporate name; for illustration, the board of drainage commissioners of Mecklenburg Drainage District, No. 1. In the naming of a drainage district the clerk of the court, notwithstanding the name given in the petition, shall so change the name as to make it conform to the county within which the district, or the main portion of the district, is located, and be also designated by number, the number to indicate the number of districts petitioned for in the county. For illustration, the first district organized in Mecklenburg County would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 1; name of the second would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 2; the fifth one organized would be Mecklenburg County Drainage District, No. 5: Provided, that so much of this section as provides for numbering the districts in each county shall not apply to districts in which bonds have been issued and sold prior to the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen.

5339. Election and organization under amended act. 1. Method of election. In the election of drainage commissioners by the owners of land, each landowner shall be entitled to cast the number of votes equaling the number of acres of land owned by him and benefited, as appears by the final report of the viewers. Each landowner may vote for the names of three persons for commissioners. If any person or persons in any district shall own land in any district containing an area greater than one-half of the total area in the district, such owner shall only be permitted to elect two of the drainage commissioners, and a separate election shall be held under the direction of the clerk by the minority landowners, who shall elect one member of the drainage commissioners.

2. Organization. Immediately after the election of the board of drainage commissioners, and after the members of the board shall be appointed by the clerk, the clerk of the court shall notify each of them in writing to appear at a certain time and place within the county and organize. The clerk of the superior court shall appoint one of the three members as chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, and in doing so he shall consider carefully and impartially the respective qualifications of each of the members for the position.

3. Term of office. The term of service of the members of the board of drainage commissioners so elected and appointed shall begin immediately after their organization. One commissioner shall serve for one year, one for two years, and the other for three years, the term to be computed from the first day of October following their organization. The members so serving for one, two, and three years, respectively, shall be designated by the clerk of the court or designated by lot among the members, in the discretion of the clerk. Thereafter each member shall be elected for three years. In the year when the term of any member or members shall expire the clerk of the court shall provide for an election of their successors to be held on the second Monday in August preceding the expiration of their term on the thirtieth day of September. The clerk of the court shall record in the drainage record the date of election, the members elected, and the beginning and expiration of their term of office.

4. Vacancies filled. If a vacancy shall occur in the office of any commissioner by death, resignation, or otherwise, the remaining two members are to discharge the necessary duties of the board until the vacancy shall be filled; and if the vacancy shall be in the office of chairman or secretary, the two remaining members may elect a secretary, and the clerk shall appoint one of the two remaining members to act as chairman to hold until the vacancy in the board shall be filled. The clerk shall keep a similar record of any election to fill vacancies, and the member or members shall be elected in like manner as the original members, and shall serve until the expiration of the term of his predecessor. The secretary of the board of drainage commissioners shall promptly notify the clerk of the superior court of any vacancy in the board.

5. Failure to elect. If for any reason the clerk of the court shall fail to provide for an election of drainage commissioners on the second Monday in August to succeed those whose terms will expire on the thirtieth day of September, the clerk shall have authority at the most convenient date thereafter to provide for such election, and in the meantime the incumbents shall continue to hold their office as commissioners until their successors are elected and qualified. The term of office of boards of drainage commissioners heretofore elected and appointed shall expire on the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and their successors shall be elected on the second Monday in August, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in the manner provided by law.

6. Meetings. The board shall meet once each month at a stated time and place during the progress of drainage construction, and more often if necessary. After the drainage work is completed, or at any time, the chairman shall have the power to call special meetings of the board at a certain time and place. The chairman shall also call a meeting at any time upon the written request of the owner of a majority in area of the land in the district.

7. Compensation. The chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall receive compensation based on an annual payment of fifty dollars per annum in districts containing less than five thousand acres in the aggregate, but the clerk of the superior court shall be authorized to increase this annual compensation to one hundred dollars if the duties required of the chairman shall appear to justify such increase. In addition, the chairman shall receive his actual and necessary expenses of travel and subsistence, for which he shall file an itemized statement of the amounts actually paid. The remaining two members of the board shall receive a compensation of not exceeding five dollars per day while necessarily engaged in attendance upon meetings of the board, or in the discharge of other necessary duties imposed by the board, and, in addition, shall receive their actual and necessary expenses in attending meetings of the board. The secretary of the board, if other than a member of the board, shall receive such compensation for work actually performed as may be determined by the board. In drainage districts of unusually large area and requiring greater time and attention, the chairman of the board may be paid a greater compensation than one hundred dollars per annum, to be allowed by the clerk of the superior court, based on a petition filed by the board with the clerk, setting forth all the facts necessary for a determination of the matter. All such payments allowed to the chairman and members of the board shall be paid by vouchers upon the treasurer of the district issued in proper form.

8. Application of section. The provisions of subsection one of this section with respect to the right to vote for and the manner of election of commissioners shall not apply to districts organized prior to the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, but in those districts the landowners shall be entitled to vote as provided by the law prior to that date. The term of office of boards of drainage commissioners in districts organized prior to the date last mentioned, and in which no election of drainage commissioners has been held under this section, shall expire on the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and nineteen, and their successors shall be elected on the second Monday in August, nineteen hundred and nineteen, in the manner provided by this section. If for any reason the clerk of the court shall fail to provide for such election he shall have authority at the most convenient date thereafter to provide for such election, and in the meantime the incumbents shall continue to hold office as commissioners until their successors are elected and qualified. The length of the term of service of commissioners elected hereunder shall be as provided in subsection three of this section. This section shall not apply to the manner or time of election of the drainage commission of the Mattamuskeet drainage district.

ART. 7. CONSTRUCTION OF IMPROVEMENT

5340. Superintendent of construction. The board of drainage commissioners shall appoint a competent person as superintendent of construction. Such person shall furnish a bond, to be approved by the commissioners, in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned upon the honest and faithful performance of his duties, such bond to be in favor of the board of drainage commissioners.

1909, c. 442, s. 20.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642.

5341. Letting contracts. The board of drainage commissioners shall cause notice to be given for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein such improvement is located, if such there be, and such additional publication elsewhere as they may deem expedient, of the time and place of letting the work of construction of such improvement, and in such notice they shall specify the approximate amount of work to be done and the time fixed for the completion thereof; and on the date appointed for the letting they, together with the superintendent of construction, shall convene and let to the lowest responsible bidder, either as a whole or in sections, as they may deem most advantageous for the district, the proposed work. No bid shall be entertained that exceeds the estimated cost, except for good and satisfactory reasons it shall be shown that the original estimate was erroneous. They shall have the right to reject all bids and advertise again the work, if in their judgment the interest of the district will be subserved by doing so. The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a contract with the board of drainage commissioners and to execute a bond for the faithful performance of such contract, with sufficient sureties, in favor of the board of drainage commissioners for the use and benefit of the levee or drainage district, in an amount equal to twenty-five per centum of the estimated cost of the work awarded to him. In canvassing bids and letting the contract, the superintendent of construction shall act only in an advisory capacity to the board of drainage commissioners. The contract shall be based on the plans and specifications submitted by the viewers in their final report as confirmed by the court, the original of which shall remain on file in the office of the clerk of the superior court and shall be open to the inspection of all prospective bidders. All bids shall be sealed and shall not be opened except under the authority of the board of drainage commissioners and on the day theretofore appointed for opening the bids. The drainage commissioners shall have power to correct errors and modify the details of the report of the engineer and viewers if, in their judgment, they can increase the efficiency of the drainage plan and afford better drainage to the lands in the district without increasing the estimated cost submitted by the engineer and viewers and confirmed by the court.

Section referred to: Craven v. Comrs., 176-531; Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642 (limited power to modify report).

5342. Monthly estimates for work, and payments thereon. The superintendent in charge of construction shall make monthly estimates of the amount of work done, and furnish one copy to the contractor and file the other with the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners; and the commissioners shall, within five days after the filing of such estimate, meet and direct the secretary to draw a warrant in favor of such contractor for ninety per centum of the work done, according to the specifications and contract; and upon the presentation of such warrant, properly signed by the chairman and secretary, to the treasurer of the drainage fund, he shall pay the amount due thereon. When the work is fully completed and accepted by the superintendent he shall make an estimate for the whole amount due, including the amounts withheld on the previous monthly estimates, which shall be paid from the drainage fund as before provided.

5343. Failure of contractor; reletting. If any contractor to whom such work has been let shall fail to perform the same according to the terms specified in his contract, action may be had in behalf of the board of drainage commissioners against such contractor and his bond in the superior court for damages sustained by the levee or drainage district, and recovery made against such contractor and his sureties. In such an event the work shall be advertised and relet in the same manner as the original letting.

5344. Right to enter upon lands; removal of timber. In the construction of the work the contractor shall have the right to enter upon the lands necessary for this purpose and the right to remove private or public bridges or fences and to cross private lands in going to or from the work. In case the right of way of the improvement is through timber the owner thereof shall have the right to remove it, if he so desires, before the work of construction begins, and in case it is not removed by the landowner it shall become the property of the contractor and may be removed by him.

This section is not an invalid interference with claimant's right to his timber, the damages having been ascertained under section 5328: Lumber Co. v. Drainage Comrs., 174-647. The drainage commissioners are liable as a board and as individuals for the wrongful diversion of water over the lands outside of district: Leary v. Comrs., 172-25; s. c., 174-46.

5345. Drainage across public or private ways. Where any public ditch, drain, or water-course established under the provisions of this subchapter crosses a public highway, the actual cost of constructing the same across the highway or removing old bridges or building new ones shall be paid for from the fund of the drainage district. Wherever any highway within the levee or drainage district shall be beneficially affected by the construction of any improvement or improvements in such district it shall be the duty of the viewers appointed to classify the land to give in their report the amount of benefit to such highway, and notice shall be given by the clerk of the superior court to the clerk of the board of county commissioners in the county where the road is located of the amount of such assessment, and the county commissioners shall have the right to appear before the court and file its objections, the same as any landowner. When it shall become necessary for the drainage commissioners to repair any bridge or construct a new bridge across a highway by reason of enlarging any water-course, or of excavating any canal intersecting such highway, such bridge shall thereafter be maintained by and at the expense of the board of commissioners of such county, or by such other official board or authority as by law shall be required to maintain such highway so intersected.

Where any public canal established under the provisions of the general drainage law shall intersect any private road or cartway the actual cost of constructing a bridge across such canal at such intersection shall be paid for from the funds of the drainage district and constructed under the supervision of the board of drainage commissioners, but the bridge shall thereafter be maintained by and at the expense of the owners of the land exercising the use and control of the private road: Provided, if the private road shall be converted into a public highway the maintenance of the bridge shall devolve upon the board of commissioners of the county or such other authority as by law shall be required to maintain public highways and bridges.

Assessments against county for benefits to highways, and payment enforced by mandamus:
Drainage Dist. v. Comrs., 174-738.

5346. Drainage across railroads; procedure. Whenever the engineer and the viewers in charge shall make a survey for the purpose of locating a public levee or drainage district or changing a natural water-course, and the same would cross the right of way of any railroad company, it shall be the duty of the owner in charge of the work to notify the railroad company, by serving written notice upon the agent of such company or its lessee or receiver, that they will meet the company at the place where the proposed ditch, drain, or water-course crosses the right of way of such company, the notice fixing the time of such meeting, which shall not be less than ten days after the service of the same, for the purpose of conferring with the railroad company with relation to the place where and the manner in which such improvement shall cross such right of way. When the time shall arrive fixed for such conference, unless for good cause more time is agreed upon, it shall be the duty of the viewers in charge and the railroad company to agree, if possible, upon the place where and the manner and method in which such improvement shall cross such right of way. If the viewers in charge and the railroad company cannot agree, or if the railroad company shall fail, neglect, or refuse to confer with the viewers, they shall determine the place and manner of crossing the right of way of the railroad company, and shall specify the number and size of openings required, and the damages, if any, to the railroad company, and so specify in their report. The fact that the railroad company is required by the construction of the improvement to build a new bridge or culvert or to enlarge or strengthen an old one shall not be considered as damages to the railroad company. The engineer and viewers shall also assess the benefits that will accrue to the right of way, roadbed, and other property of the company by affording better drainage or a better outlet for drainage, but no benefits shall be assessed because of the increase in business that may come to the road because of the construction of the improvement. The benefits shall be assessed as a fixed sum, determined solely by the physical benefit that its property will receive by the construction of the improvement, and it shall be reported by the viewers as a special assessment, due personally from the railroad company as a special assessment; it may be collected in the manner of an ordinary debt in any court having jurisdiction.

5347. Notice to railroad. The clerk of the superior court shall have notice served upon the railroad company of the time and place of the meeting to hear and determine the final report of the engineer and viewers, and the railroad company shall have the right to file objections to the report and to appeal from the findings of the board of commissioners in the same manner as any landowner. But such an appeal shall not delay or defeat the construction of the improvement.

5348. Manner of construction across railroad. 1. Duty of railroad. After the contract is let and the actual construction is commenced, if the work is being done with a floating dredge, the superintendent in charge of construction shall notify the railroad company of the probable time at which the contractor will be ready to enter upon the right of way of such railroad and construct the work thereon. It shall be the duty of the railroad to send a representative to view the ground with the superintendent of construction and arrange the exact time at which such work can be most conveniently done. At the time agreed upon the railroad company shall remove its rails, ties, stringers, and such other obstructions as may be necessary to permit the dredge to excavate the channel across its right of way. The work shall be so planned and conducted as to interfere in the least possible manner with the business of the railroad.

2. Corporation commission to settle. If the superintendent of construction and the railroad company shall not be able to agree as to the exact time at which such work can be done, including the time of beginning and the time to be consumed in such work, either party may give written notice thereof to the chairman of the corporation commission of the state, and thereupon the corporation commission shall cause an investigation to be made, and, after hearing both parties, shall fix the time of beginning such work and the time to be consumed in the work of construction, and the final determination of the corporation commission thereon shall be binding upon the superintendent of construction representing the district and the railroad company, and the work shall be done in such time as may be fixed by the corporation commission.

3. Penalty for delay. In case the railroad company refuses and fails to remove its track and allow the dredge to construct the work on its right of way, it shall be held as delaying the construction of the improvement, and such company shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars per day for each day of delay, to be collected by the board of drainage commissioners for the benefit of the drainage district as in the case of other penalties. Such a fine may be collected in any court having jurisdiction, and shall inure to the benefit of the drainage district.

4. Payment of expense. Within thirty days after the work is completed an itemized bill for the actual expenses incurred by the railroad company for opening its tracks shall be made and presented to the superintendent of construction of the drainage improvement. Such bill, however, shall not include the cost of putting in a new bridge or strengthening or enlarging an old one. The superintendent of construction shall audit this bill and, if found correct, approve the same and file it with the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners. The commissioners shall deduct from this bill the cost of the excavation done by the dredge on the right of way of the railroad company at the contract price, and pay the difference, if any, to the railroad company.

5349. Control and repairs by drainage commissioners. Whenever any improvement constructed under this subchapter is completed it shall be under the control and supervision of the board of drainage commissioners. It shall be the duty of the board to keep the levee, ditch, drain, or water-course in good repair, and for this purpose they may levy an assessment on the lands benefited by the construction of such improvement in the same manner and in the same proportion as the original assessments were made, and the fund that is collected shall be used for repairing and maintaining the ditch, drain, or water-course in perfect order: Provided, however, that if any repairs are made necessary by the act or negligence of the owner of any land through which such improvement is constructed or by the act or negligence of his agent or employee, or if the same is caused by the cattle, hogs, or other stock of such owner, employee, or agent, then the cost thereof shall be assessed and levied against the lands of the owner alone, to be collected by proper suit instituted by the drainage commissioners. It shall be unlawful for any person to injure or damage or obstruct or build any bridge, fence, or floodgate in such a way as to injure or damage any levee, ditch, drain, or water-course constructed or improved under the provisions of this subchapter, and any person causing such injury shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof may be fined in any sum not exceeding twice the damage or injury done or caused.

When the petition asked for a limitation of expense to 15 cents per acre, and this was omitted in the judgment on final report, and no exceptions were taken, it is res judicata and the commissioners are not restricted to such limit: Gibbs v. Drainage Comrs., 175-5; Mann v. Mann, 176-353 (Mattamuskeet Lake District).

5350. Construction of lateral drains. The owner of any land that has been assessed for the cost of the construction of any ditch, drain, or water-course, as herein provided, shall have the right to use the ditch, drain, or water-course as an outlet for lateral drains from such land; and if the land be of such elevation that the owner cannot secure proper drainage through and over his own land, or if the land is separated from the ditch, drain, or water-course by the land of another or others, and the owner thereof shall be unable to agree with such others as to the terms and conditions on which he may enter their lands and construct the drain or ditch, he may file his ancillary petition in such pending proceeding to the court, and the procedure shall be as now provided by law.

ART. 8. ASSESSMENTS AND BOND ISSUE

5351. Total cost for three years ascertained. After the classification of lands and the ratio of assessments of the different classes to be made thereon has been confirmed by the court, the board of drainage commissioners shall ascertain the total cost of the improvement, including damages awarded to be paid to owners of land, all costs and incidental expenses, and also including an amount sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of maintaining the improvement for a period of three years after the completion of the work of construction, after deducting therefrom any special assessments made against any railroad or highway, and, thereupon, the board of drainage commissioners, under the hand of the chairman and secretary of the board, shall certify to the clerk of the superior court the total cost, ascertained as aforesaid; and the certificate shall be forthwith recorded in the drainage record and open to inspection of any landowner in the district.

5352. Assessment and payment; notice of bond issue. If the total cost of the improvement is less than an average of twenty-five cents per acre on all the land in the district, the board of drainage commissioners shall forthwith assess the lands in the district therefor, in accordance with their classification, and said assessment shall be collected in one installment, by the same officer and in the same manner as state and county taxes are collected, and payable at the same time. In case the total cost exceeds an average of twenty-five cents per acre on all lands in the district, the board of drainage commissioners shall give notice for three weeks by publication in some newspaper published in a county in which the district, or some part thereof, is situated, if there be any such newspaper, and also by posting a written or printed notice at the door of the courthouse and at five conspicuous places in the district, reciting that they propose to issue bonds for the payment of the total cost of the improvement, giving the amount of bonds to be issued, the rate of interest that they are to bear, and the time when payable. Any landowner in the district not wanting to pay interest on the bonds may, within fifteen days after the publication of such notice, pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, to be ascertained from the classification sheet and the certificate of the board showing the total cost of the improvement, and have his lands released from liability to be assessed for the improvement; but such land shall continue liable for any future assessment for maintenance or for any increased assessment authorized under the law.

Mandamus will issue to compel the drainage commissioners to levy an assessment to pay expense of establishing the district: Allen v. Drainage Comrs., 175-190. An injunction by independent action will not lie to prevent the collection of assessments; the remedy is by motion in the cause: Banks v. Lane, 170-14; s. c., 171-505; Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217. Injunction will not issue to restrain collection of assessments upon an allegation that the drainage commissioners are not properly carrying out the drainage plan: Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642.

Assessments are not in the nature of a contract for work done in construction, but are charges based upon the estimated cost of work, the value of the land, and the benefits probably to be received: Craven v. Comrs., 176-531. An assessment is not a personal debt, but a charge upon the land, to be paid as the assessments mature: Drainage District v. Huffstetler, 173-523; Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217; but see section 5362. Assessments are not to be levied on timber interests: Lumber Co. v. Comrs., 173-117.

The assessments are to be collected as taxes and paid over to the county treasurer or to the person performing the duties of treasurer: Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528.

An assessment for bond issue in a drainage district has priority over a mortgage on the land: Drainage Comrs. v. Farm Assn., 165-697.

For collection of assessments under special district act, see Drainage Comrs. v. Mitchell, 170-324. Section referred to in Comrs. v. Engineering Co., 165-37. For liability of individual landowners in Mattamuskeet Lake District, see Carter v. Comrs., 156-183; Caravan v. Comrs., 161-100.

5353. Failure to pay deemed consent to bond issue. Every person owning land in the district who shall fail to pay to the county treasurer the full amount for which his land is liable, as aforesaid, within the time above specified, shall be deemed as consenting to the issuance of drainage bonds, and in consideration of the right to pay his proportion in installments, he hereby waives his right of defense to the payment of any assessments which may be levied for the payment of bonds, because of any irregularity, illegality, or defect in the proceedings prior to this time, except in case of an appeal, as hereinbefore provided, which is not affected by this waiver. The term "person" as used in this act includes any firm, company, or corporation.

Section referred to: Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528; Comrs. v. Engineering Co., 165-37.

5354. Bonds issued. At the expiration of fifteen days after publication of notice of bond issue the board of drainage commissioners may issue bonds of the drainage district for an amount equal to the total cost of the improvement, less such amounts as shall have been paid in in cash to the county treasurer, plus an amount sufficient to pay interest on the bond issue for the three years next following the date of issue. It shall be optional with the board of drainage commissioners in the issuing of bonds to issue serial bonds in denominations of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, bearing not more than six per cent interest from date of issue, payable semiannually. The first annual installment of principal shall fall due not less than three years nor more than six years after the date thereof, and each annual installment of principal shall not be less than five per cent nor more than ten per cent of the total bonds authorized and issued. If the first annual installment of principal shall be made to fall due more than three years after the date of issue, the annual assessments shall be levied and collected to meet the semiannual installments of interest due for such years as the fund therefor may not have been otherwise provided.

Section referred to in Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528. For questions involving the issue of bonds for Mattamuskeet Lake District, see Mann v. Mann, 176-353; Gibbs v. Drainage Comrs., 175-5; Carter v. Comrs., 156-183. The exemption of drainage district bonds from taxation is unconstitutional: Comrs. v. Webb, 160-594.

5355. Form of bonds; excess assessment. All bonds authorized and issued shall be signed by the chairman and secretary of the board of drainage commissioners and the corporate seal of the district affixed thereto, and the interest coupons shall be authenticated by the facsimile signature of the secretary, and both the principal and interest coupons shall be payable at some bank or trust company to be designated by the board of drainage commissioners and incorporated in the body of the bond. The form of the bond shall be authorized by the board of drainage commissioners or by the board and the purchaser of the bonds jointly, at the option of the board.

For the purpose of meeting any possible deficit in the collection of annual drainage assessments there shall be levied and assessed during each year, when either principal or interest on bonds shall be due, such an assessment as will yield five per cent more than the total of principal and interest due in such year; that is to say, for every one hundred dollars of principal and interest, or either, due in any one year, there shall be levied and assessed a sufficient drainage tax to yield one hundred and five dollars for such year. When this excess of drainage tax so levied and collected shall accumulate so that the aggregate surplus in the hands of the treasurer shall amount to more than ten per cent of the total bonds of the district outstanding and unpaid, then such surplus above ten per cent thereof may be available for expenditure by the board of drainage commissioners in the maintenance and upkeep of the drainage works in such district: Provided, this section shall not apply to drainage districts established and in which the bonds have been sold prior to the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen.

5356. Application of funds; holder's remedy. The commissioners may sell these bonds at not less than par and devote the proceeds to the payment for the work as it progresses and to the payment of the interest on the bonds for the three years next following the date of issue and to the payment of the other expenses of the district provided for in this subchapter. The proceeds from such bonds shall be for the exclusive use of the levee or drainage district specified on their face, and shall be numbered by the board of drainage commissioners and recorded in the drainage record, which record shall set out specifically the lands embraced in the district on which the tax has not been paid in full, which land is to be assessed as hereafter provided. If any installment of principal or interest represented by the bonds shall not be paid at the time and in the manner when the same shall become due and payable, and such default shall continue for a period of six months, the holders of such bonds upon which default has been made may have a right of action against the drainage district or the board of drainage commissioners of the district, wherein the court may issue a writ of mandamus against the drainage district, its officers, including the tax collector and treasurer, directing the levying of a tax or special assessment as herein provided, and the collection of same, in such sum as may be necessary to meet any unpaid installments of principal and interest and cost of action; and such other remedies are hereby vested in the holders of such bonds in default as may be authorized by law; and the right of action is hereby vested in the holders of such bonds upon which default has been made authorizing them to institute suit against any officer on his official bond for failure to perform any duty imposed by the provisions of this subchapter. The official bonds of the tax collector and county treasurer shall be liable for the faithful performance of the duties herein assigned them. Such bonds may be increased by the board of county commissioners.

1909, c. 442, s. 34; 1911, c. 67, s. 11; 1911, c. 205.

5357. Sale of bonds. In making the sale of drainage bonds the board of drainage commissioners shall prepare a notice of such sale containing the usual and appropriate information regarding the terms and provisions of the bonds, and shall publish the same for at least a period of two weeks in at least one paper of general circulation published within the state and in at least one other newspaper of large circulation among the buyers of bonds, in which they shall invite sealed bids from prospective purchasers to be opened on a certain day, and may require a cash deposit to accompany all bids, and shall reserve the right to reject any and all bids. In such notice the commissioners may hold in reserve information as to the date when the first installment of principal shall fall due, the annual installments of principal to be paid, the number of years within which the serial bonds are to be paid, the form of the bonds, and the name of the bank or trust company at which the interest coupons and the installments of principal are to be made payable, and shall state that the information and data so withheld may subsequently be agreed upon between the drainage commissioners and the purchaser of the bonds; or the board of drainage commissioners in their advertisement asking bids may make optional propositions in the respects above recited, inviting bids as to each kind of bond so proposed. The board of drainage commissioners shall accept the highest bona fide bid for such bonds and issue and sell the same accordingly, provided the highest bid shall equal or exceed the par value of the bonds with any accrued interest thereon. If no satisfactory bid shall be received, the board of drainage commissioners may readvertise the bonds for sale in the manner above provided, or they may accept any private bid for the bonds at not less than their par value, with any accrued interest thereon. The board of drainage commissioners shall in good faith make diligent effort to sell the bonds at a price not less than their par value, with accrued interest.

5358. Refunding bonds issued. In any case where the board of drainage commissioners of any drainage district have issued or may issue bonds for the purpose of constructing or completing the drainage works in such district, the payment of which at maturity would in the judgment of the board of drainage commissioners be an unreasonable burden on the owners of the lands in such district assessed for the payment of such bonds and interest, or if it shall appear for other good and substantial reasons that the welfare of the district and the owners of lands therein would be promoted thereby, the board of drainage commissioners shall have the power to refund such bonds, or any part thereof, and issue new bonds equal to the amount of bonds outstanding and unpaid, or any part thereof. The new or refunding bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent, payable semiannually, and shall be divided into such annual installments not exceeding ten per cent and not less than five per cent of the outstanding bonds so refunded. The new assessments shall be levied and collected with which to pay the principal and interest on the bonds in the manner provided by law. The first installment of principal on the bonds so refunded may be made payable at a certain date in the future not exceeding six years from the date of the refunding bonds, and in the meantime annual assessments shall be levied and collected for the payment of the interest.

5359. Drainage bonds received as deposits. The state treasurer is authorized to receive drainage bonds issued by drainage districts in North Carolina as deposits from banks, insurance companies, and other corporations required by law to make deposits with the state treasurer: Provided, that the attorney-general shall have approved the form of such bonds.

5630. Assessment rolls prepared. The board of drainage commissioners shall immediately prepare the assessment rolls, or drainage tax lists, giving thereon the names of the owners of land in the district, so far as can be ascertained from the public records, a brief description of the several tracts of land assessed, and the amount of the assessment against each tract of land. The first of these assessment rolls shall provide assessments sufficient for the payment of interest on the bond issue to accrue the third year after their issue and the installment of principal to fall due at the expiration of the third year after the date of issue, together with such amounts as shall have to be paid for collection and handling of the same. The second assessment roll shall make like provision for the fourth year; the third for the fifth year; the fourth for the sixth year; the fifth for the seventh year; the sixth for the eighth year; the seventh for the ninth year; the eighth for the tenth year; the ninth for the eleventh year; the tenth for the twelfth year. Each of the assessment rolls shall specify the time when collectible and be numbered in their order, and the amounts assessed against the several tracts of land shall be in accordance with the benefits received, as shown by the classification and ratio of assessments made by the viewers. These assessment rolls shall be signed by the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners and by the secretary of the board. There shall be four copies of each of the assessment rolls, one of which shall be filed with the drainage record, one shall be filed with the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, who shall carefully preserve the same, one shall be preserved by the clerk of the court, without change or mutilation, for the purposes of reference or comparison, and one shall be delivered to the sheriff, or other county tax collector, after the clerk of the superior court has appended thereto an order directing the collection of such assessments, and the assessments shall thereupon have the force and effect of a judgment as in the case of state and county taxes. If the drainage commission who has assessed the lands of a drainage district prior to March 11th, 1919, shall file the aforesaid four copies of assessment rolls within six months from April 1st, 1919, the filing of such assessment rolls shall have the same legal effect as if filed strictly in accordance with this section immediately after the preparation of such assessment rolls.

See Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642.

5361. Assessment lien; collection; sale of land. The assessments shall constitute a first and paramount lien, second only to state and county taxes, upon the lands assessed for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon as they become due, and shall be collected in the same manner and by the same officers as the state and county taxes are collected. The assessments shall be due and payable on the first Monday in September each year, and if the same shall not be paid in full by the thirty-first day of December following, it shall be the duty of the sheriff or tax collector to sell the lands so delinquent. The sale of lands for failure to pay such assessments shall be made at the courthouse door of the county in which the lands are situated, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon of the first Monday in February of each year; and if for any necessary cause the sale cannot be made on that date, the sale may be continued from day to day for not exceeding four days, or the lands may be readvertised and sold on the first Monday in March succeeding during the same hours without any order therefor. The existing general tax law in force when sales are made for delinquent assessments shall have application in redeeming lands so sold, and in all other respects, except as to the time of sale of lands, the existing law as to the collection of state and county taxes shall apply to the collection of such drainage assessments.

Assessments for bond issue have priority over mortgage on the land: Drainage Comrs. v. Farm Assn., 165-697. While the assessments are liens, they become effective as such as they accrue: Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217. For rights of purchaser, see section 5371.

Sales of land for assessments are governed by the same rules as sales for taxes: Townsend v. Drainage Comrs., 174-556. The money collected should be paid over to the county treasurer or to the person performing the duties of such office: Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528.

5362. Assessment collectible out of other property of delinquent. If for any cause the sheriff is unable to collect the amount of assessment made by the drainage commissioners out of the lands assessed under the provisions of this article, then the said assessment shall be collectible as taxes are collected out of any other property, real or personal, belonging to the person owning the land at the time such assessment was made.

5363. Sheriff in good faith selling property for assessment not liable for irregularity. The sheriff who executes upon property for the collection of drainage assessments under the provisions of this article shall not be liable either civilly or criminally if he shall sell such property in good faith, even though such sale is irregular or for any cause illegal.

1919, c. 282, s. 4.

5364. Receipt books prepared. The clerk of the superior court in each county where one or more drainage districts have been established shall be required to have prepared annually during the month of August a form of receipt, with appropriate stubs attached and properly bound, for the drainage assessments due on each tract of land as recited in the assessment rolls. This bound book of tax receipts or bills shall be indorsed "Drainage assessments of the (here give the name of the district) for the county of _____, delivered to the sheriff or tax collector as of the first Monday in September, 19____, for collection as required by law," and the same indorsement shall be printed at the top of each tax bill or blank receipt. Each tax bill or blank receipt shall contain a blank space for the name of the owner of the property, the amount of the annual drainage tax, the amount of maintenance tax, if any, and a receipt at the bottom of the same, followed by a blank line for the signature of the tax collector. This bound book of tax bills or receipts, with the blanks duly filled in, shall be delivered to the sheriff or tax collector on the first Monday of September of each year. The necessary cost of printing and binding such book of tax bills or receipts and the filling in of the same shall be a proper charge against such drainage district and shall be paid by the board of drainage commissioners.

5365. Receipt books where lands in two or more counties. Where any drainage district which has been established contains lands located in a county or counties other than the county in which the district was established, the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the district was established shall have prepared annually during the month of August a form of tax bills or receipts, with appropriate stubs attached, covering all the lands in the drainage district located in such other county or counties, and in the form herein provided for the county in which the district has been established, and have the same substantially bound in book form. He shall also fill in the blanks of such tax receipts ready for the signature of the collector. On a page in such bound book after the tax bills or receipts there shall be appended an order directed to the sheriff or tax collector in the county in which such lands are located, which shall be in substantially the following form:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA—COUNTY OF

The Sheriff or Tax Collector of.....County:

This is to certify that the foregoing tax bills or blank receipts embrace the drainage assessments made on certain lands in the county of....., which are located in and are a part of (here insert the name of the drainage district), which district was established in the county of..... These assessments are due on the first Monday of September, 19..., and must be paid and collected within the time required by law. You will make monthly settlements of your collections with the treasurer of.....county, being the county in which the district was established, and in all other respects you will discharge your duties as sheriff or tax collector as required by law.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and official seal, this.....day of....., 19...

Clerk Superior Court.....County.

Thereupon such drainage assessments in such county shall have the force and effect of a judgment upon the lands so assessed, as in the case of state and county taxes, and shall in all other respects be as valid assessments as those levied upon lands in the county in which the district was established. The auditor for drainage districts herein authorized shall also examine the records and accounts of the sheriff of such county. In the establishment and administration of the drainage districts the clerk of the superior court, the county treasurer, and the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall have jurisdiction over the lands and the collection of drainage assessments in the county or counties other than the county in which the district was established to the same extent as in the county where such district was established: Provided, that in those counties which do not have a county treasurer, then the auditor provided for in this subchapter shall perform the duties required by this section for the county treasurer.

5366. Authority to collect arrears. If any sheriff or tax collector was authorized to collect drainage assessments in any year prior to 1917, and failed to collect any part of such drainage assessments, and is now out of office, or is still holding the office of sheriff or tax collector, then and in such event such sheriff or tax collector, regardless of the expiration of his term of office, is hereby authorized and directed to proceed to the collection of such unpaid drainage assessments, and in default of payment being made, he is further authorized to make sales of such lands as may be in default at the times and in the manner authorized by law during the year one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, or one thousand nine hundred and nineteen.

5367. Sheriff to make monthly settlements; penalty. The sheriff or tax collector shall be required to make settlements with the county treasurer on the first day of each month of all collections of drainage assessments for the preceding month, and to pay over to the treasurer the money so collected, for which the treasurer shall execute an appropriate receipt, to the end that the treasurer may have funds in hand to meet the payments of interest and principal due upon the outstanding bonds as they mature. If any sheriff or tax collector shall fail to comply with the law for the collection of drainage assessments, or in making payments thereof to the treasurer as provided by law, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be subject to fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and he shall likewise be liable in a civil action for all damages which may accrue either to the board of drainage commissioners or to the holder of the bonds, to either or both of whom a right of action is given.

Section referred to in Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528.

5368. Duty of treasurer to make payment; penalty. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, and without any previous order from the board of drainage commissioners, to provide and pay the installments of interest at the time and place as evidenced by the coupons attached to the bonds, and also to pay the annual installments of the principal due on the bonds at the time and place as evidenced by the bonds. The county treasurer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject, upon conviction, to fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, if he shall wilfully fail to make prompt payments of the interest and principal of the bonds, and he shall likewise be liable in a civil action for all damages which may accrue either to the board of drainage commissioners or to the holder of such bonds, to either or both of whom a right of action is hereby given.

1911, c. 67, s. 12.

Section referred to in Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528.

5369. Fees for collection. The fee allowed the sheriff or tax collector for collecting the drainage tax as hereinbefore prescribed shall be two per cent of the amount collected, and the fee allowed the treasurer for disbursing the revenue obtained from the sale of drainage bonds shall be one per cent of the amount disbursed: Provided, that no fee shall be allowed the sheriff or tax collector or county treasurer for collecting or receiving the revenue obtained from the sale of the bonds hereinbefore provided for, nor for disbursing the revenue raised for paying off such bonds: Provided further, that in those counties where the sheriff or tax collector and treasurer are on a salary basis, no fees whatever shall be allowed for collecting or disbursing the funds of the drainage district.

Section referred to in Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528.

5370. Conveyance of land; change in assessment roll; procedure. 1. Status of land fixed. The boundaries of lands as surveyed and mapped, the ownership thereof, and the classification and assessment thereof as appears in the final report and map and upon the assessment roll, shall be and remain as of the time when the district was established and the final report of the board of viewers was approved by the court. No conveyance or devise of land or devolution by inheritance after the petition has been filed or the owner thereof has been served with the original summons, either by personal service or by publication, shall affect the status or liability of such land as a part of such drainage district, except as herein provided.

2. Conveyance before final report. If the owner of any lands included in such district shall, after the filing of the petition, and after being served with the original summons and before the approval of the final report, convey the whole or any part of such lands, or the title thereto shall be otherwise changed, then and in such event the grantor and grantee or new owner, or either, may file a petition in an ancillary proceeding before the clerk of the superior court setting forth the facts, with a description of the lands conveyed either in part or the entire body of land, together with a description of the land excepted and not conveyed. If the grantor or grantee or new owner, in whole or in part, file such petition, the other not so joining shall be served with notice of same. The clerk may require the petitioner to attach to the petition a map showing the boundaries of the entire body of land as it appears in the record of the proceedings, and also showing the part conveyed. If the ownership of such land has been changed by devise or inheritance, or any joint ownership has been changed by partition, such new owner may file a petition as herein provided. Such petition shall conclude with a prayer that the grantee or new owner be made a party to the proceeding. The court after a hearing may make the grantee or new owner a party to the drainage proceeding and shall certify to the engineer and viewers a description of the land so conveyed or held by the new owner, with directions to verify the boundaries and to classify the land to the same extent as if the grantee was the original party. Any part of such lands not so conveyed shall be and remain a part of the district.

3. Conveyance after district established. After the district shall be established, the lands classified, the final report approved, and the assessment roll filed, no conveyance of any land in the district shall affect or change the existing status or liability of such land as to assessment charges or otherwise, except in the manner herein defined. When the title and ownership of any tract of land embraced in the district have been changed or vested in others by grant, devise, or inheritance, or by partition between joint owners, subsequent to the establishment of the district, the assessment roll may be amended in the following manner: The grantor and grantee, or the new owners, may file a petition with the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners alleging that the ownership of the land has changed, and the manner thereof, in whole or in part. If the whole body of land as appears in the final report or on the assessment roll has changed ownership, a general description consistent with such final report and map shall be sufficient. If the ownership of the body of land has changed only as to part thereof, the petition shall contain a description of the part thereof claimed by the new owners, and the number of acres and the classifications, or the several classes if it be in more than one class, and also a description of that part of the land the title to which remains in the original owner, with the number of acres and with the classification and the several classes if it contains more than one class of land. The petition shall so describe the land and the number of acres in each class as to that part of which the ownership has changed as to maintain the number of acres originally assessed, and the class or classes in which the same has been assessed, and the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners may require the petitioners to have the lands surveyed, and submit a map if the same shall be necessary.

4. Duty of chairman of drainage commissioners and clerk. The chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall present this petition to the clerk of the superior court at any time thereafter, not later than the first Monday in July following. It shall be the duty of the clerk to examine and verify the facts set forth in the petition, and particularly if the number of acres assessed and the classes thereof against the new owners added to the number of acres and the classes assessed against that part of the land, the title to which has not changed, shall equal the total number of acres and the classes so assessed as appear against such entire body of land in the final report and assessment roll. If the clerk shall be so satisfied, he shall enter an order or decree changing the original assessment roll, or the assessment roll as theretofore amended, by adding the name of the new owner with the number of acres assessed in each class, and by amending the number of acres assessed and the classes thereof against the original owner as appears on the original assessment roll or assessment roll as theretofore amended. It shall be the duty of the clerk after such order to make such changes in the assessment roll. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court in making changes in the original assessment roll from time to time to observe and maintain the total number of acres in each class, to the end that the revenue produced from the annual assessment shall not be thereby diminished. The chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, instead of presenting to the clerk of the court each petition of landowners separately, may combine a number of petitions and present the same to the court at one and the same time. The first Monday in July in each year is hereby set apart as a special day on which petitions for changing the assessment roll may be submitted, at which time the clerk shall hear all petitions not theretofore submitted.

5. Failure of chairman of board to act. If the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners shall fail to act when any petition shall be submitted to him as herein provided, or the chairman or any member of the board shall fail to discharge any duty imposed by this section or any other provision of the general drainage law, it is hereby made the duty of the clerk of the superior court, either independently or upon the request of any landowner in the district, to cite such chairman or member to appear before him upon a certain day and show cause why he should not be removed from office, and unless good cause be shown, it shall be the duty of the clerk to remove the chairman or any member of the board of drainage commissioners and to certify his action, to the end that another member may be elected according to law. If the failure of the chairman or any member of the board of drainage commissioners to discharge such duty shall be wilful, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court.

6. When owner may file petition with clerk. If the grantor and grantee, or all those claiming to have acquired title to any body of land on the assessment roll and whose assessment will be affected, cannot agree upon joinder in a petition to the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, or if the said chairman fails within a reasonable time to discharge his duty by presenting the petition to the court, then either party interested in the tract of land as it appears on the assessment roll may file a petition with the clerk of the superior court setting forth the facts as to the change in ownership and title of such land, with the description of the entire tract of land and the number of acres in each class, together with a description of that part of the land as to which the ownership has changed, with the number of acres in each class, and pray the court to order that the assessment roll be amended in accordance with the title and interest of the several owners. At the time of filing the petition a summons shall issue to the other parties interested in the tract of land to show cause, on a day certain, why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. Upon the return day the clerk of the court shall hear all the evidence, find the facts, and enter up a judgment directing the appropriate amendment to the assessment roll. It shall be the duty of the clerk to amend the assessment roll in accordance with his judgment.

7. Effect of change in assessment roll. No judgment or amendment of the assessment roll shall be valid unless the number of acres and the classes assessed against the original and new owners shall equal the area and classification as contained in the tract of land as it appears on the original assessment roll. This petition may be presented to the court at any time, but the first Monday in July in each year is hereby designated as the day upon which all petitions for amendments to the assessment roll may be submitted. Any amendments to the assessment roll ordered after the last day of August in each year shall not become effective until the first day of September the following year, and the assessment roll as it appears on the first day of September of each year shall constitute the assessment roll to be delivered to the sheriff on the first Monday in September, and he shall collect the drainage assessments as they appear thereon without regard to any changes in title or ownership or any changes in the assessment roll made by the court after the thirty-first day of August. All amendments sought to be made to the assessment roll shall have reference to the assessment roll as it appears at the time the amendment is sought, which shall be either the original assessment roll or as amended; but it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to examine frequently the assessment roll as amended, and before the same shall be further amended, and make certain that the aggregate number of acres in each class as appeared on the original assessment roll shall not be reduced, nor the aggregate annual assessments reduced. Any amendments ordered shall be made on the assessment roll and become due in the following September, and on all subsequent assessment rolls which have not become due or collectible.

8. Clerk to prepare new assessment rolls. It shall be the duty of the chairman and the secretary of the board of drainage commissioners of the district to render to the clerk of the court any clerical assistance involved in changes in the assessment rolls, but the primary duty and responsibility in making such amendments shall remain with the clerk of the superior court, and he shall be held liable for any error or omission which may work a loss to the district or the bondholders. If such amendments to the assessment rolls shall make necessary the preparation of new assessment rolls, the clerk of the superior court shall be required to prepare such new assessment rolls with the clerical assistance of the chairman and secretary of the board of drainage commissioners, and such new assessment rolls shall be signed by the chairman and secretary of the board of drainage commissioners and by the clerk of the superior court before delivery to the sheriff or tax collector as required upon the original assessment rolls. The original assessment rolls shall be preserved by the clerk of the court among his records for future reference.

9. Number of copies. In the event it shall be necessary to prepare new assessment rolls, the clerk shall prepare four copies, one copy for the drainage record, another for the sheriff or tax collector, another for the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, and the other for filing and preserving among the records, and which fourth copy shall never be mutilated or interlined, but shall be preserved in its original form for reference. As to all drainage districts heretofore established, the clerk of the court shall prepare an additional copy of all the original assessment rolls for the several years the lands in such districts are assessed and securely preserve the same, at least until all outstanding bonds of the district shall be paid, to the end that they may always be accessible for reference and comparison. It shall not be necessary hereafter to deliver to the sheriff or tax collector a copy of the assessment roll for the current year in which assessments are due and payable, but the copy provided for him may remain among the records of the clerk of the court for safe keeping and reference by him.

10. Costs determined. As compensation to the clerk of the court for the performance of duties imposed herein, he shall be paid such sum by the board of drainage commissioners of such drainage district as they may deem fair and adequate, and the same is hereby declared a proper charge against said district, but no additional compensation shall be paid to the clerk in those counties where he receives a salary in lieu of fees. Any costs which may accrue in amendments to the assessment rolls shall be adjudged against the parties in interest, in the discretion of the clerk, and such costs shall be paid before the amendment shall become effective. As to all petitions which shall be filed and submitted to the court on the first Monday in July, no costs shall be paid or adjudged against any party in those counties where the clerk and sheriff receive a salary in lieu of fees.

11. Chairman represents board. As to all petitions filed with the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners, or as to the discharge of any duty by the chairman required of him under the general drainage law, he shall be presumed to act for the board, and the chairman shall do all things necessary to protect and maintain the interests of the drainage district. If the chairman shall be or become a landowner in the drainage district and may desire an amendment to the assessment rolls, he may file his petition before any other member of the board, or file the same directly with the clerk of the superior court.

12. Application of section. The provisions of this section shall apply to landowners in districts heretofore established and to drainage proceedings heretofore instituted to the same extent as to drainage proceedings hereafter instituted and established.

NOTE.—For the adjustment of assessments in the case of tenant for life or years and remainderman, see Municipal Corporations, art. 9; 1911, c. 7.

5371. Warranty in deed runs to purchaser who pays assessment. Where the land assessed by drainage commissioners under the provisions of this article has been purchased since the making of the assessment by a purchaser for value without notice under a deed of general warranty, and said purchaser pays to the sheriff the amount of said drainage assessment, which is a lien on the land purchased, then such purchaser who pays the said drainage assessment shall have a right of action against the warrantor of his title under the covenant of general warranty contained in his deed for the recovery of the amount paid.

5372. Modification of assessments. 1. Relevy. Where the court has confirmed an assessment for the construction of any public levee, ditch, or drain, and such assessment has been modified by the court of superior jurisdiction, but for some unforeseen cause it cannot be collected, the board of drainage commissioners shall have power to change or modify the assessment as originally confirmed to conform to the judgment of the superior court and to cover any deficit that may have been caused by the order of court or unforeseen occurrence. The relevy shall be made for the additional sum required, in the same ratio on the lands benefited as the original assessment was made.

2. Upon sale of land for assessments. If any person, or any number of persons, claiming to have title to any tract or tracts of land subject to assessment or drainage tax shall fail to pay any annual assessment levied against such lands, and the sheriff or tax collector shall be compelled to sell such lands under the law for the purpose of making such collection, the net proceeds of such sale shall be paid to the county treasurer, to be held by him and disbursed for the purpose of paying the current assessment and future annual assessments so far as the proceeds may be sufficient. When the fund in the custody of the treasurer shall be exhausted in the payment of annual assessments against such lands, or there shall not be a sufficient sum to pay the next annual assessment, the county treasurer shall immediately give written notice to that effect to the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners of the district, and also to the clerk of the superior court, whereupon the board of drainage commissioners shall institute an investigation of such tract or tracts of land to determine the market value, and if they shall find that the market value is not equal to all the future annual assessments to cover its share of installments of principal and interest on the outstanding bonds, they shall proceed, with the approval of the clerk of the superior court, to make new reassessment rolls on all the remaining lands in the district and increase the sum in sufficient sums to equal the deficit thereby created, and such new assessment rolls shall constitute the future assessment rolls until changed according to law, and shall be certified to the tax collector as herein provided in lieu of the former assessment rolls. However, the tract or tracts of land which have been so sold by the tax collector shall continue on the assessment roll in the name of the new owner, but reassessed upon the new basis, and the drainage tax collected at the same time and in the same manner as other lands as long as such lands may have sufficient market value out of which to collect the annual drainage tax, and when such lands shall cease to have such value, or shall be abandoned by the person claiming title thereto, the drainage commissioners may omit the same from the assessment roll with the approval of the clerk of the superior court, but such lands may in the same manner at any time in the future be restored to the assessment rolls.

3. Surplus funds. If the funds in the hands of the county treasurer at any time, arising under this section or in any other manner, shall be greater than is necessary to pay the annual installments of principal and interest, or the annual cost of maintenance of the drainage works, or both, such surplus shall be held by the county treasurer for future disbursement for other purposes as herein provided or subject to the order of the board of drainage commissioners.

4. Insufficient funds. If there shall be any impairment or destruction of the drainage works by any unforeseen cause or occurrence not anticipated, during the period of construction by the contractor, the contractor shall nevertheless repair and complete the works according to the contract and specifications and shall be liable therefor and also his sureties on his bond; but if the contractor shall make default and if there shall be a failure to collect all resulting damages from such contractor and the sureties upon his bond, and it shall thereby be necessary to raise a greater sum of money to complete the drainage works in accordance with the plans, or if for any other unavoidable cause it shall be necessary to raise a greater sum to complete such drainage works, the board of drainage commissioners, having first obtained the approval of the clerk of the superior court, shall prepare new assessment rolls upon all the lands in the district upon the original basis of classification of benefits and increase the same in sufficient sums to equal the deficit thereby created, and the same shall constitute the new assessment rolls until changed according to law, and shall be certified to the tax collector as herein provided.

5. Additional bonds issued. If for any of the causes hereinbefore recited in this section, or for any other cause, a sum of money greater than the proceeds of sale of the drainage bonds shall become necessary to complete the drainage system, and the board of drainage commissioners shall determine that the amount to be raised is greater than can be realized from the collection of one annual assessment upon the lands in the district without imposing an undue burden upon the lands, or if it is advisable or necessary to raise the money more expeditiously, then and under such conditions additional bonds may be issued in such aggregate sum as may be necessary.

6. Manner of issue. The proceedings for the issue of such additional bonds shall be substantially as follows: The board of drainage commissioners shall file their petition with the clerk of the superior court, setting forth all the facts which require the expenditure of more money and the issue of additional bonds to complete the drainage system, which shall be accompanied by the recommendation of the drainage engineer who was one of the original viewers, or some other expert drainage engineer selected by the drainage commissioners; whereupon the court shall issue a notice to all the owners of land within the district reciting the substance of the petition and directing each to appear before the court on a day certain, not less than twenty days after the service upon all the parties, and to show cause, if any they have, why the additional bonds should not be authorized, which notice shall be served personally on each such landowner by reading the same, and by leaving a copy, and if the same cannot be personally served, then it shall be served in the manner authorized by law. Any landowner may file an answer denying any material allegation in the petition or setting forth any valid objection to same before the return day thereof.

Upon the day when the notice is returnable, or on such day as to which the same may have been continued, the court shall proceed to hear the petition and answers. If the court shall find that the allegations of the petition are true, and that the issue of additional bonds is advisable or necessary, the court shall make an appropriate order authorizing and directing the issue of such additional bonds, fixing the amount of such issue, the date of same, the time when the interest and principal shall be payable, and all other matters necessary and appropriate in the premises. Any landowner may appeal from the order of the clerk of the superior court, and on such appeal only the issues raised in the answer shall be considered, and such appeal and the further procedure thereon shall be as prescribed in special proceedings, except as modified by this subchapter.

After the court shall have ordered the additional issue of bonds, the further procedure as to the assessment rolls, the levying and collecting of the drainage taxes, the disbursement of the revenue therefrom for the payment of such bonds and interest thereon, and all further procedure shall be the same as required for the establishment of drainage districts. The additional bonds issued shall not exceed twenty-five per cent of the total amount originally issued. The additional issue of bonds shall bear six per cent interest per annum and may be made payable in ten annual installments, or in lesser number of annual installments as nearly equal as may be, as recommended by the board of drainage commissioners and approved by the court.

Section (subsection 3) referred to in Comrs. v. Lewis, 174-528.

5373. Subdistricts formed. Subdistricts may be formed by owners of land in main districts theretofore established in the manner provided for the organization of main districts. Such subdistricts shall have the right to use the ditches or canals of the main districts for outlets. The formation of subdistricts shall not operate to release the lands in any subdistrict from the payment of any assessment or levy made prior to the formation of such subdistricts, nor from any assessment which may thereafter be made for the completion and maintenance of the canals in main districts, or for the payment of the principal and interest on any indebtedness incurred by the main district, nor shall it give the subdistrict any claim on the funds of such main district for its local use. It shall be the duty of the drainage commissioners of the main district to control all matters pertaining to the main district drainage. Drainage commissioners for the subdistricts shall have authority and control over all matters pertaining to drainage within their respective subdistricts, except such work as belongs exclusively to the main district.

ART. 9. REPORT OF OFFICERS

5374. Drainage commissioners to make monthly statement. It shall be the duty of the commissioners of all drainage districts in the state of North Carolina organized under the provisions of the laws thereof to file with the clerk of the superior court in the county where such district is organized a monthly statement or account during the course of construction of canals for the district, showing the receipts and expenditures of all funds coming into their hands belonging to such drainage district for the period of one month prior to the day on which the same is filed, and also to post a copy of such statement or account at the courthouse door in the county. Thereafter all statements or accounts shall be filed and posted every sixty days. Such statement or account shall be certified by the chairman of the board of commissioners of each drainage district and shall be attested by the secretary thereof, and a copy thereof shall be filed and kept as a part of the minutes of the district.

5375. Annual report. At the end of each fiscal year the board of commissioners of all drainage districts in the state of North Carolina shall file with the clerk of the superior court in the county where the district is organized a verified itemized statement of receipts and expenditures of all funds belonging to the district during the fiscal year just closed, and shall post a copy of same at the courthouse door in the county where the district is organized, and, if there be a newspaper published in the county, shall publish such account therein.

5376. Penalty for failure. Any board of commissioners of any drainage district in the state, and each of the members thereof, which shall fail or refuse to file the statements or accounts, and shall fail to post or publish the same as provided in the two preceding sections, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished in the discretion of the court.

5377. Auditor appointed. The board of county commissioners of each county in which one or more drainage districts have been established shall, annually, on the first Monday in May, appoint one of the members of the finance committee of the county, if the county has such finance committee, who shall be designated "Auditor for Drainage District"; but if the county has no finance committee, then the board of county commissioners shall appoint an intelligent and competent person of sufficient experience who shall be designated as the "Auditor for Drainage District." Such auditor shall receive such compensation as shall be agreed upon by the board of county commissioners, to be paid out of the general fund of said district, but not to exceed fifty dollars annually.

5378. Duties of the auditor. The auditor for the drainage district will be required to examine the assessment roll and the records and accounts of the sheriff or tax collector as to the assessment roll which went into his hands on the previous first Monday in September and for all previous years as to which the records and accounts of the sheriff or tax collector have not been audited.

The auditor shall for each of such years make a report as to each drainage district, showing the total amount of drainage assessments due for each year, the amount collected by the sheriff up to the fifteenth day of May of the following year, the names of the owners of land, and a brief description of the lands on which the drainage assessments have not been paid, and the total amount of unpaid drainage assessments, with any further data or information which the auditor may regard as pertinent.

If lands in the district lie in other counties, the auditor for the county in which the district was established shall also examine the records of the sheriff or tax collector for such other counties.

The auditor shall also examine the books of the treasurer of the county for similar years, and he shall report the amount of drainage assessments paid to the treasurer by the sheriff or tax collector for each year, and the amounts paid out by the treasurer during such years, and for what purposes paid. It shall be the duty of the sheriff and treasurer to permit the auditor to examine their official books and records and to furnish all necessary information, and to assist the auditor in the discharge of his duties.

The auditor shall make a report to the board of county commissioners on or before the first Monday in July following his appointment, and he shall deliver a duplicate of such report to the chairman of the board of drainage commissioners of each drainage district established in the county.

If the sheriff has not collected all of the drainage assessments, or has not paid over all collections to the county treasurer, or if the treasurer has not made disbursements of the drainage funds as required by law, or has not in his hands the funds not so disbursed by him, it shall be the duty of the auditor to so report, and to prepare two certified copies of his report, one of which shall be delivered to the judge holding a term of superior court in the county following the first Monday in July, and a copy to the solicitor of the judicial district in which the county is located, and it shall be the duty of such solicitor to examine carefully such report and to institute such action, civil or criminal, against the sheriff or tax collector or the treasurer, as the facts contained in the report may justify, or as may be required by law.

ART. 10. GENERAL PROVISIONS

5379. Construction of drainage law. The provisions of this subchapter shall be liberally construed to promote the leveeing, ditching, draining, and reclamation of wet and overflowed lands. The collection of the assessment shall not be defeated, where the proper notices have been given, by reason of any defect in the proceedings occurring prior to the order of the court confirming the final report of the viewers; but such order or orders shall be conclusive and final that all prior proceedings were regular and according to law, unless they were appealed from. If on appeal the court shall deem it just and proper to release any person or to modify his assessment or liability, it shall in no manner affect the rights and legality of any person other than the appellant, and the failure to appeal from the order of the court within the time specified shall be a waiver of any illegality in the proceedings, and the remedies provided for in this subchapter shall exclude all other remedies.

Liberal construction required: Banks v. Lane, 170-14; Griffin v. Comrs., 169-642; Comrs. v. Engineering Co., 165-37. The proceedings are flexible in their nature, and changes may be made from time to time as the conditions may require: In re Drainage District, 175-270; Staton v. Staton, 148-490.

When the proper notices have been given, the order of court confirming final report is conclusive as to regularity unless appeal is taken: Taylor v. Comrs., 176-217; Lumber Co. v. Drainage Comrs., 174-647; Banks v. Lane, 171-505. The proceedings cannot be attacked collaterally: Newby v. Drainage District, 163-24.

5380. Removal of officers. Any engineer, viewer, superintendent of construction or other person appointed under this act may be removed by the court, upon petition, for corruption, negligence of duties, or other good and satisfactory cause shown.

1909, c. 442, s. 38.

5381. Local drainage laws not affected. This subchapter shall not repeal or change any local drainage laws already enacted.

1909, c. 442, s. 38½.

5382. Punishment for violating law as to drainage districts. Any parent or person in loco parentis residing outside of any special-tax district, urban or rural, chartered or otherwise, and owning property within said district whose child, children, or wards shall attend school in said district, shall be entitled to receive as a credit on the tuition of said child, children, or wards the amount of special school taxes paid on said property.

5478. Enlargement of graded school districts in towns. Any graded school district in an incorporated city or town may be enlarged so as to include territory situate outside of and contiguous to the corporate limits of such city or town in the manner herein provided.

1. Election upon petition by school authorities. Upon the written petition of a majority of the members of the school committee or board of trustees of such graded school district, which petition shall describe the boundaries of the territory to be included, and which shall be indorsed by the county board of education, the board of county commissioners shall order an election to be held in the new territory to be so included.

2. Law governing election. The election so ordered shall be held in the manner and form provided by law for elections for the establishment of special school tax districts.

3. Effect of election. In case a majority of the qualified voters in the new territory shall vote at such election in favor of a special tax of the same rate as that authorized and collected in the graded school district to which the said territory is contiguous, then the said territory shall be added to and become a part of the said graded school district; and in case a majority shall vote against said tax the district shall not be so enlarged.

4. Transfer of persons living contiguous into district. Upon written petition of one or more inhabitants whose property is contiguous to said special chartered or local-tax district, the county board of education may transfer such individual or individuals to said district, and there shall be levied upon the property and poll of each individual so transferred the same tax as is levied upon other property and polls of said district.

5. Levy and collection of tax. Upon the enlargement of the graded school district as provided herein there shall be levied and collected annually in the new territory a special tax, which tax shall not exceed that levied and collected in the original graded school district. This tax shall be levied and collected by the county authorities in the same manner provided for the collection of other taxes.

6. Tax to school funds. Upon the collection of such tax it shall be placed to the credit of the committee or trustees of the said graded school district so enlarged.

coterminous with such city or town, is hereby made coterminous with such city or town. Every graded school district in this state is hereby incorporated and authorized to adopt a corporate seal. The name of such corporation shall be the name by which such school district is known.

SUBCHAPTER III. REVENUE: SOURCES AND APPORTIONMENT

ART. 11. STATE PUBLIC SCHOOL FUND

5480. State literary fund. All funds of the state heretofore derived from the sources enumerated in section four, article nine, of the state constitution, and all funds that may be hereafter so derived, together with any interest that may accrue thereon, shall be a fund separate and distinct from the other funds of the state, to be known as the State Literary Fund.

Rev., s. 4093; 1901, c. 4, s. 4; 1903, c. 567, s. 1.

NOTE.—From the state literary fund appropriations are made for loans to counties for schoolhouses, etc., and in consequence the fund is sometimes called "State Loan Fund," see sec. 5672.

5481. The state public school fund. There shall be annually levied and collected a tax of thirty-two cents on every hundred dollars valuation of taxable property in the state for the maintenance of the public schools of the state, and the funds derived therefrom shall be a separate fund in the hands of the state treasurer to be known as The State Public School Fund, and the treasurer shall, on the first day of December of each year, certify to the state board of education the amount of the funds derived or to be derived from said tax for that school year.

5482. Apportionment of state public school fund. Out of the state public year.

school fund the state board of education shall apportion annually to each county of the state, on or before the first day of January of every year, a sum sufficient to pay one-half the annual salary of the county superintendent and three months salary of all teachers of all sorts employed in the public schools of the county, including the teachers of city, town, township, and all special chartered schools, and one-third the annual salary of all city superintendents: Provided, that no part of this fund shall be used to pay the salaries of teachers who receive appropriations from other state funds.

5483. Reduction of special county and district taxes. The board of county commissioners of any county or any other governing body having authority, upon petition signed by a majority of the school committeemen of any local-tax district and approved by the county board of education, or upon petition signed by a majority of the school committeemen of any specially chartered school district, shall reduce the special-tax levy in said local-tax district or specially chartered school district: Provided, the reduction shall not be greater than the increase in the tax rate in that particular district that will result because of the operation of this article.

The county commissioners of any county, upon petition of a majority of the county board of education, shall reduce any special county school tax levy that has been voted on the county: Provided, such reduction shall not be greater than the increase that will result because of the operation of this article.

5484. Manner of payment. Upon requisition of the state superintendent of public instruction the state auditor shall issue his warrant upon the state treasurer, payable to the treasurer of the county school fund, for the apportionment made under this article to each county. The state treasurer is required to pay such warrant promptly upon presentation by the treasurer of the county school fund and, if necessary, to borrow in the name of the state the funds needed for such payments: Provided, that after the school year 1919-1920 the county board of education shall submit to the state board of education, together with the county budget, a certificate from the state tax commission to the effect that the property of said county has been assessed in accordance with the provisions of law.

5485. County board to submit budget to state superintendent; special county tax for six months term. On or before the first Monday of November of each year the county board of education shall submit to the state board of education on blanks furnished by the state superintendent of public instruction, its county school budget for the ensuing year. The county board of education shall further make oath that adequate provision has been made as required under this article for a six months school term in every school district of the county, including city or town public schools, the rate of special county school tax levied therefor, and the aggregate fund derived or to be derived therefrom. No county shall receive any part of the funds appropriated by the state under this article until it has levied the special county school tax herein required of it for a six months school term in every school district.

5486. County commissioners to levy required tax for six months school term. On or before the first Monday in May of each year the county board of education shall submit an itemized county school budget to the county commissioners, setting forth the amount of money needed to maintain the public schools of the county six months for the succeeding school year. Such budget shall also set forth the number of teachers, both white and colored, employed in each district and the salary fixed for each teacher, and such other information as may be required by the state superintendent of public instruction in the blanks to be furnished by him to each county board of education. The budget shall be sworn to and subscribed by the chairman of the county board of education and the county superintendent of schools. A copy thereof shall also be filed in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction. It shall then be the duty of the board of county commissioners, after deducting the amount to be received from the state public school fund, to levy annually a special tax on all property, real and personal, and on all taxable polls, subject to the constitutional limitation of the poll tax, in said county, sufficient to supply the deficiency shown by the budget to be needed for the support and maintenance of the public schools of said county for six months in each school district. Such tax shall be annually levied and collected at the same time and in the same manner as other county taxes are levied and collected, and the funds derived therefrom, together with other school funds in their hands, shall be apportioned and expended by the county board of education for maintaining one or more public schools in each school district for a term of six months in each year: Provided, that no county shall be compelled to levy a special county tax of more than thirty-five cents on every one hundred dollars valuation of property, real and personal, and a corresponding tax on every taxable poll for said purpose, except as provided in the next succeeding section; and after every county has levied and collected the special county tax to the limit stated above, if the funds derived therefrom may be insufficient therefor, the county shall receive from the state public school fund an apportionment sufficient to bring the school term in every school district to six months.

The report of the board of education is in the nature of a recommendation to aid the judgment and discretion of the board of commissioners: Board of Education v. Comrs., 150-116.

The county commissioners are required to levy a sufficient tax to run the public schools for four (now six) months, under Const., Art. IX, and the limitations in Const., Arts. V and VII, do not apply: Collie v. Comrs., 145-170, overruling Barksdale v. Comrs., 93-473; Holwell v. Borden, 148-255; Board of Education v. Comrs., 150-116; Board of Education v. Comrs., 174-469. The expense of the state high schools in the county is to be considered and provided for: Board of Education v. Comrs., 174-469; but not the high schools in towns, organized under a special law, Ibid.

5487. Incidental expense fund. All poll tax, fines, forfeitures, penalties, and all public school revenues, other than that derived from the state public school fund and the special county tax, shall be placed to the credit of the incidental expense fund and the building fund, as provided in the budget, and if this amount is insufficient for these funds, the county board of education may provide in the county school budget for an additional amount not to exceed twenty-five per cent of the teachers' salary fund, and the county tax may be increased sufficiently beyond the maximum levy of thirty-five cents to provide this amount if it shall appear necessary to the county board of education and the county commissioners.

5488. Procedure in case of disagreement or refusal of county commissioners to levy school tax. In the event of a disagreement between the county board of education and the board of county commissioners as to the amount to be provided by the county for the maintenance of a six months school term, and as to the rate of tax to be levied therefor, or in the event of the refusal of any board of county commissioners to levy said tax, the county board of education shall bring action in the nature of a mandamus against the board of county commissioners to compel the levying of such special tax under the provisions of this article entitled Mandamus of the chapter on Civil Procedure. And it shall be the duty of the judge hearing the same to find the facts as to the amount needed and the amount available from the sources herein specified, which findings shall be conclusive, and to give judgment requiring the county commissioners to levy the sum which he finds necessary to maintain the schools for six months in every school district in the county. Any board of county commissioners failing to obey such order and to levy the tax shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be prosecuted therefor in the superior court.

The recommendation of the board of education is to aid the judgment and discretion of the county commissioners; but the county commissioners are required to levy sufficient tax, and may be indicted for failing to do so: Board of Education v. Comrs., 150-116.

5489. Consolidation of districts; elimination of small schools. The apportionment of the state public school fund shall be administered so as to encourage consolidation of districts and the elimination of small schools or small districts, and the state board of education may refuse to apportion any part of the fund to any school or district having an average daily attendance of less than fifteen pupils or to any new school or district created since January first, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, if the number of districts or the number of separate schools in a county has been increased thereby: Provided, that no district shall be abolished if the geographical conditions are such that the children of the district cannot be annexed to some adjoining district without seriously limiting the educational opportunities of the children of the district.

5490. Requirements necessary to receive state fund. No school shall be entitled to receive an apportionment from the state public school fund or from the county school fund of any county for more than one teacher, except as follows: In a school where, during the preceding school year, except in case of an epidemic, the average number of children attending such school daily was not less than thirty pupils, funds may be apportioned for paying the salaries of two teachers; and in a school where, during the preceding school year, the average number of children attending such school daily was not less than sixty-five pupils, funds may be apportioned for paying the salaries of three teachers; and in schools where, during the preceding school year, the average number of children attending daily was not less than ninety-five pupils, funds may be apportioned for paying the salaries of four teachers; and in a school where, during the preceding school year, the average number of children attending such school daily exceeded ninety-five pupils, funds may be apportioned for one additional teacher for each thirty additional pupils in average daily attendance in the school: Provided, that for the encouragement of high school instruction the state superintendent of public instruction may formulate rules and regulations that will permit the payment of salaries to high school teachers having a smaller attendance of pupils per teacher than that specified in this section.

5491. Appropriations for superintendent of colored normal school, board of examiners, rural libraries. The salary and expenses of the superintendent of the state colored normal school, one thousand five hundred dollars; the salaries and expenses of the state board of examiners and institute conductors, twenty-five thousand dollars; the biennial appropriation for the rural libraries, seven thousand five hundred dollars, which have heretofore been appropriated from the state equalizing fund, shall be appropriated from the state public school fund.

5492. Appropriation for teacher training. There shall be set aside annually from the state public school fund a sum not exceeding fifty thousand dollars for promoting teacher training in the several counties, for the improvement of teachers now in service, and for the better supervision of rural schools. The state board of education is authorized to reserve annually out of this appropriation an amount not to exceed five hundred dollars, to be paid out upon requisition of the state superintendent of public instruction in defraying part of the necessary expense incurred in connection with the supervision and inspection of public high schools.

1917, c. 285, s. 4; 1919, cc. 102, s. 12, 254, s. 20.

ART. 12. COUNTY SCHOOL BUDGET AND TAXES

5493. County school budget required; contents. On or before the first Monday in May of each year the county board of education of each county shall prepare a school budget, which shall set forth the amount of money necessary to maintain the public schools of said county for six months in every school district for the succeeding school year. The county budget shall provide three separate school funds: (1) a teachers' salary fund; (2) an incidental expense fund; and (3) a building fund.

The budget for both the regular county schools and the specially chartered schools shall be made on blanks supplied by and in accordance with the directions of the state superintendent of public instruction, and it shall be unlawful for any part of the teachers' salary fund to be used for any other purpose than that specified in the budget, after it has been approved by the state board of education.

5494. Teachers' salary fund; basis of estimate. In estimating the amount necessary for the teachers' salary fund, the county board shall take as a basis for the year 1919-1920 the monthly salaries of the teachers of every school of said county for the year 1918-1919, and shall increase that amount for each school as follows, subject to such exceptions as may hereafter appear: (a) For teachers holding elementary certificates not less than twenty-five per cent increase; (b) primary and grammar certificates not less than fifteen per cent increase; (c) high school certificates ten per cent increase; (d) principals' certificates not less than ten per cent increase; (e) all superintendents of county and city schools an increase of not less than ten per cent.

The salary of each teacher holding a second-grade certificate shall not be greater than forty-five dollars per month.

Nothing in this section shall make it compulsory upon the county board of education to fix the monthly salaries of the teachers for any school larger than the following: (a) For inexperienced teachers, a salary not larger than the average salary of 1918-1919 of the teachers in the county holding the same grade certificates; (b) for teachers of successful experience of two or more years holding elementary certificates, sixty-five dollars per month; (c) special primary and grammar grade certificates, seventy dollars per month; (d) high school certificates, seventy-five dollars per month; (e) principals of elementary schools of three teachers or more, one hundred dollars per month; (f) principals of high schools, one hundred and twenty-five dollars per month; and the apportionment from the state public school fund shall be made upon this salary basis.

A teacher holding a certificate of one class and teaching in another class of work shall be paid according to the class of work done, and not according to the class of certificate held.

The county board of education may in its discretion fix a salary schedule, not inconsistent with this article, based upon successful teaching experience and professional study; and nothing in this article shall operate against increasing the salary of teachers out of special tax funds.

If any school closed in 1918-1919 on account of the influenza, or for other causes, the salary or salaries that would have been paid to the teachers of that school if it had been in session shall be the basis upon which to calculate the fund for that school, subject to such increase as provided for the teachers of that school.

In no case shall the salary of any teacher be reduced by the operations of this section.

5495. Incidental expense fund; basis of estimate. The incidental expense fund shall provide fuel, janitors, school supplies, insurance, rent, professional study, special supervision of all sorts, and all administration expenses other than the salary of the county superintendent. The amount of this fund shall be derived by ascertaining the incidental expenses of the specially chartered schools for two-thirds of the annual expenses of the year 1918-1919, and the amount for the regular county schools for twelve months for the year 1918-1919, with an addition of ten per cent of these two amounts, which may be set aside as a special contingent fund for expenses not otherwise provided for. After deducting the contingent fund, the expense of the county superintendent, traveling expenses and per diem of the county board of education, and the fees or salary of the county treasurer from the total incidental expense fund, the per cent of the remainder that shall be apportioned to the special chartered school shall be the same as the per cent of the teachers' salary fund apportioned to said specially chartered school.

5496. Building fund; estimate. A building fund not to exceed twenty-five per cent of the total teachers' salary fund for the entire county may be set aside each year to be used in erecting school buildings, additions to buildings, dormitories, teachers' residences, repayment of loans to the state loan fund, sinking fund, permanent improvements, and other necessary buildings, and the per cent of this fund that shall be apportioned to the specially chartered schools shall be the same as the per cent of the teachers' salary fund apportioned to said specially chartered school.

Under former statute the graded schools were entitled to share in the reserve building fund: Comrs. v. Board of Education, 163-404.

5497. Lists of fines and penalties filed with county boards of education. The clerks of all state and municipal courts, justices of the peace, and the clerks or other officials having in custody the records of any city or town in the state shall furnish to the county board of education of their respective counties, on the first Monday of July and January of each year, a detailed statement of fines, forfeitures, and penalties which go to the school fund, that have been imposed or which have accrued, this information to be furnished on blanks prepared by the state department of public instruction.

Rev., s. 4108; 1901, c. 4, s. 62; 1913, c. 149, s. 1(h).

Fines, etc., included in this section as belonging to school fund explained: Board of Education v. Henderson, 126-689; School Directors v. Asheville, 128-249; s. c., 137-503; Bearden v. Fullam, 129-479.

5498. Tax list to have separate columns for school taxes. The auditor shall include on the form which he furnishes to the board of county commissioners and on which the tax lists are to be made out, separate columns for school poll tax and school property tax, and for special county and district taxes on property and polls. In one of these columns shall be written the total poll tax levied by the state and by the county authorities for schools, and due by the taxpayer. In the other column shall be written the total property tax levied by the state and by the county authorities, and due by the taxpayer.

Rev., s. 4109; 1901, c. 4, s. 60; 1907, c. 835, s. 1(d).

5499. Register to furnish abstracts of lists to county board. The register of deeds shall furnish to the county board of education, as soon as the tax lists are made out, an abstract of such lists, showing in separate columns the total amount of poll tax on such lists, and also the total amount of property tax thereon, and also, in another column, the amount of special county and district poll taxes, and in a separate column the amount of special county and district property taxes; and shall furnish such other information from his office as the county board of education may require.

Section referred to in Bd. of Ed. v. Comrs., 167-114.

5500. Sheriff's liability, civil and criminal, for failure to settle school tax. The sheriff of each county shall pay annually, in money, to the treasurer of the county school fund, on or before the thirty-first day of December of each year, the whole amount for school purposes collected by both state and county, less his lawful commission for collecting the same, and such sum as may be allowed on account of insolvents for the current year; and on failing to do so shall be liable to an action on his official bond for his default in such sum as will cover such default, such action to be brought to the next ensuing term of the superior court in the name of the state upon the relation of the board of county commissioners. The sheriff shall furnish to the county board of education at the time of his settlement with the county treasurer as provided in this section a complete itemized copy of such settlement, which shall contain a list of all insolvent polls, releases, errors, and rebates allowed him by the county board of commissioners. In making settlement with the treasurer, the sheriff or tax collector shall make separate account of insolvents and delinquents allowed, whether on property or capitation tax. The county superintendent shall make copies of the fines and penalties reported by justices of the peace and reported to the clerk of superior court and file the same with the county board.

Rev., s. 4111; Code, s. 723; 1901, c. 4, s. 54; 1905, c. 533, s. 20; 1919, c. 254, s. 3.

The sheriff is required to pay over the school fund, less his commissions, to the treasurer; and the county commissioners cannot charge any of the expense of making out the tax lists against the school fund: Board of Education v. Comrs., 167-114.

5501. Fiscal school year. The fiscal school year shall begin on the first day of July and close on the thirtieth day of June next succeeding.

Rev., s. 4118; 1901, c. 4, s. 67.

ART. 13. FEDERAL AND STATE COÖPERATION

5502. Acceptance of benefits of federal vocational education act. The state of North Carolina hereby accepts all of the provisions and benefits of an act passed by the senate and house of representatives of the United States in congress assembled, entitled, "An act to provide for the promotion of vocational education, to provide for coöperation with the states in the promotion of such education in agriculture and the trades and industries; to provide for coöperation with the states in the preparation of teachers of vocational subjects; and to appropriate money and regulate its expenditure," approved February twenty-third, nineteen hundred and seventeen.

5503. State appropriation equal to federal appropriation. The state of North Carolina appropriates out of the state public school fund a sum of money for each fiscal year equal to the maximum sum which may be allotted to the state of North Carolina from the federal treasury, under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes Act, namely, for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and twenty, sixty-seven thousand, four hundred and fifty-two dollars and forty-nine cents; for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, eighty-one thousand, three hundred and six dollars and eighteen cents: Provided, that none of this state appropriation shall be used to match federal funds in schools of less than college grade receiving other state funds for the promotion of the teaching of vocational subjects: Provided further, that only such portion of above state appropriation shall be used as may be absolutely necessary to carry on the work outlined in section 5394 and to meet the federal requirements.

5504. State treasurer authorized to receive and disburse vocational education fund. The state treasurer is hereby designated and appointed custodian of all moneys received by the state from the appropriation made by said act of congress, and he is authorized to receive and to provide for the proper custody of the same, and to make disbursement thereof in the manner provided in the said act and for the purpose therein specified. He shall also pay out moneys appropriated by the state of North Carolina for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of article 4 of this chapter upon the order of the state board for vocational education.

ART. 14. SPECIAL COUNTY SCHOOL TAX

5505. Election upon petition of county board of education. Upon the petition of the county board of education of any county the county commissioners may order an election to be held in the county to ascertain the will of the people whether there shall be levied on all taxable property and polls in the county a special tax, not to exceed thirty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property and ninety cents on each poll, to supplement the county school fund of the county.

The establishment and support of schools is not a necessary expense for a county or municipal corporation, and therefore a special tax or a bond issue for that purpose must be approved by a majority of the qualified voters at an election held for that purpose: Hill v. Lenoir County, 176-572; Williams v. Comrs., 176-554; Snider v. Jackson County, 175-590; Stephens v. Charlotte, 172-564; Moran v. Comrs., 168-289; Sprague v. Comrs., 165-603; Gastonia v. Bank, 165-507; Ellis v. Trustees, 156-12; Hollowell v. Borden, 148-255; Wharton v. Greensboro, 146-356; Smith v. Trustees, 141-143; Rodman v. Washington, 122-39; Goldsboro v. Broadhurst, 109-228; Riggsbee v. Durham, 98-81; Lane v. Stanly, 65-153.

An election held in a county for this purpose, which fails in the county but carries in one township, is not valid for such township alone unless the question was submitted separately: Hill v. Lenoir County, 176-572.

5506. Rules governing election. The election shall be conducted for the county as nearly as may be under the same rules and regulations governing district special school-tax elections.

1911, c. 71, s. 2.

See section 5527.

5507. Levy and collection in county. In case a majority of the qualified voters at said election shall vote in favor of the tax, the same shall be annually levied and collected in the same manner and at the same time as the other taxes of the county are levied and collected.

1911, c. 71, s. 3.

5508. Reduction of special local-tax levy in district. In case a majority of the qualified voters at said election in the county shall vote in favor of the special tax the board of county commissioners shall ascertain the sentiment of the voters in any existing special-tax district as to whether or not they desire to retain all or any part of the existing special tax in any special-tax district, and the county commissioners shall reduce the annual special levy of such district by an amount not exceeding the special levy provided for the county, under this article.

1919, c. 254, s. 16.

The question of special tax in the county and in a township are two distinct propositions and should be submitted separately: Hill v. Lenoir Co., 176-572. Upon a single proposition as to special tax for the county, which fails in the county but prevails in one township, to levy a tax in such township is unconstitutional: Ibid. (under section before amended by act of 1919.)

5509. Subsequent elections upon failure of first. In case a majority of the qualified voters at said election in any county shall fail to vote for said special tax, on petition of a majority of the members of the county board of education of the county, the county commissioners may, after thirty days notice, order an election in any subsequent year after the first election for the same purpose and under the same regulations as the first election herein provided for in any or all of the townships of the county that shall have failed to carry said special tax in the former election.

5510. Payment of election expenses. The expense of holding said election shall be paid out of the county school fund of the county.

1911, c. 71, s. 7.

ART. 15. SPECIAL HIGH SCHOOL TOWNSHIP TAX

5511. Election upon petition of freeholders. In any township, upon petition of one-fourth of the freeholders of the township, approved by the county board of education, the board of county commissioners, after thirty days notice at the courthouse door and three public places in the township, shall hold an election to ascertain the will of the people within the township whether there shall be levied in said township a special annual tax of not less than ten cents nor more than thirty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property, and not less than thirty cents nor more than ninety cents on each poll, in addition to all other taxes levied for all other purposes, to be used for the establishment of a central high school or high schools in said township, in case such special tax is voted.

See Smith v. School Trustees, 141-143, and cases cited under section 5505. As to who are "freeholders," see section 5526.

5512. Rules governing election; tickets. The board of county commissioners shall appoint a registrar and order a new registration for said township, and the election shall be held under the law governing general elections, as nearly as may be, and the expenses of such election shall be paid out of the general county school fund. At said election those who are in favor of the levy and collection of said tax shall vote a ticket on which shall be printed or written the words "For High School Tax," and those who are opposed shall vote a ticket on which shall be printed or written the words "Against High School Tax."

Rev., s. 4113; 1905, c. 533, s. 13.

5513. Levy and collection. In case a majority of the qualified voters at said election are in favor of said tax, then so much of the tax on property and polls herein provided for as in the judgment of the committee may be necessary shall be annually levied and collected in the manner prescribed for the levy and collection of other taxes.

Rev., s. 4113; 1905, c. 533, s. 13.

5514. Money to be expended by high school committee. All moneys levied under the provisions of this article shall, upon collection, be placed by the treasurer of the county school fund to the credit of the township high school committee, composed of three members, appointed by the county board of education, and shall be expended exclusively by said committee in establishing and maintaining one or more high schools in said township, under such rules and regulations as to its conduct and such course or courses of study as shall be prescribed by the state superintendent of public instruction.

Rev., s. 4113; 1905, c. 533, s. 13.

5515. Powers, duties, and qualifications of committee. The powers, duties, and qualifications of the committeemen provided for in the preceding section shall be similar to those of other school committeemen, and they shall have the same power to apportion the funds so raised as is conferred upon the county board of education for apportionment of the general fund among the schools of the township.

Rev., s. 4113; 1905, c. 533, s. 13.

5516. School may be established without special tax. Township high schools may be established without the levying of a special township high school tax where the public funds are sufficient for that purpose, under such rules and regulations as to organization and course of study as the state superintendent of public instruction may prescribe.

Rev., s. 4113; 1905, c. 533, s. 13.

5517. Elementary branches may be taught; other funds may be apportioned. The provisions of this article shall not be so construed as to prevent the teaching of the elementary branches in such high schools as may be established, nor so construed as to prevent the county board of education from making such apportionment of public school funds to such high schools as they may deem equitable and just.

Rev., s. 4113; 1905, c. 533, s. 13.

5518. High school subjects may be taught in public schools. High school subjects may be taught in all public schools employing more than one teacher, according to such rules and regulations as to organization and course of study as shall be prescribed by the state superintendent of public instruction, where the public funds are sufficient to provide for such teaching; but the high school branches taught in such schools shall not interfere with the thorough teaching of the elementary branches.

Rev., s. 4113; 1905, c. 533, s. 13.

ART. 16. SPECIAL CITY OR TOWN TAX

5519. Election upon petition of freeholders. In every incorporated city or town in which there is not now levied a special tax for schools, upon a petition signed by one-fourth of the freeholders therein, the board of aldermen or town commissioners of such city or town shall, at the date of the municipal or general election next ensuing, upon the presentation of the petition, order an election to be held to ascertain the will of the people whether there shall be levied in such city or town a special annual tax of not more than thirty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property and ninety cents on the poll to supplement the public school fund in such city or town.

Rev., s. 4114; 1901, c. 4, s. 71.

As to who are "freeholders," see section 5526. As to necessity for election, see cases cited under section 5505.

5520. Rules governing election; tickets. The election shall be held in the different election precincts or wards under the law governing municipal or general elections in such cities or towns. At the election those who are in favor of the levy and collection of the tax shall vote a ticket on which shall be printed or written the words "For Special Tax," and those who are opposed shall vote a ticket on which shall be printed or written the words "Against Special Tax."

Rev., s. 4114; 1901, c. 4, s. 71.

5521. Levy and collection. In case a majority of the qualified voters at the election is in favor of the tax, the same shall be annually levied and collected in such city or town in the manner prescribed for the levy and collection of other city or town taxes.

Rev., s. 4114; 1901, c. 4, s. 71.

5522. Money to be expended by city or town school committee. All moneys levied under the provisions of this article shall, upon collection, be placed to the credit of a city or town school committee, composed of not less than five nor more than seven members, to be appointed by the board of aldermen or town commissioners for such city or town, and shall be, by such committee, expended exclusively upon the public schools in the city or town; and there shall be but one school district in the city or town, in which there may be established one or more schools for each race. The school committee shall apportion the money in such manner as in its judgment will equalize school facilities.

Rev., s. 4114; 1901, c. 4, s. 71.

ART. 17. SPECIAL TAX IN SCHOOL DISTRICTS CONTAINING CITIES OR TOWNS

5523. Election upon petition; conduct of election; result; use of power. In any graded school, public or high school district, which includes an incorporated city or town, upon the written petition of one-third of the qualified voters of the district for an election to be held upon the question of levying an additional special annual tax to an amount specified in the petition with the approval of the school trustees of the district, such election shall be ordered by the board of aldermen or other governing body of the incorporated city or town, in case the district is confined exclusively to such city or town, or by the board of county commissioners, in case the district includes also a part of the county not embraced within the city or town.

Such election shall be ordered, advertised, and held in the same manner as is now or may be hereafter provided by law for municipal or general elections where the same is entirely within the corporate limits of the city or town; but where the said election is for a district that includes, in addition, any portion of the county not within the corporate limits of the city or town, then the said election shall be ordered, advertised, and held in the same manner as is now or may be hereafter provided by law for election of members of the general assembly. At such election those who favor the levy and collection of said tax shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the words "For Special School Tax," and those who are opposed shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the words "Against Special School Tax."

It shall be the duty of the governing authorities of the city or town where the election is held entirely within the corporate limits of the city or town, but it shall be the duty of the county commissioners where the district in which the election is held includes any part of the county not within the corporate limits of the city or town, to declare the result of said election. If the majority of the qualified voters at said election shall vote in favor of said tax, the same shall be annually levied and collected in the manner prescribed for the levy and collection of other taxes. All money levied and collected under the provisions of this section shall be placed to the credit of the board of trustees of said schools, to be by them expended exclusively for the maintenance of the said schools within the tax district in which the said election is held.

See cases cited under section 5505.

5525. Limit of aggregate tax rate. The aggregate of all school taxes annually levied and collected under the provisions of this article, and of any other law, general or special, enacted prior to March 1st, 1917 (other than taxes levied and collected for the purpose of paying the interest or principal of public, graded, or high school bonds), shall not exceed one dollar on the one hundred dollars worth of property.

1917, c. 102, s. 3.

ART. 18. SPECIAL TAX IN SPECIAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS

5526. Election for special-tax districts on petition of freeholders. Special school tax districts may be formed by the county board of education in any county without regard to township lines under the following conditions: Upon a petition of one-fourth of the freeholders within the proposed special school district, in whose names real estate in such district is listed in the tax lists of the current fiscal year, endorsed by the county board of education, the board of county commissioners, after thirty days notice at the courthouse door and three public places in the proposed district, shall hold an election to ascertain the will of the people within the proposed special school district whether there shall be levied in such district a special annual tax of not more than thirty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property and ninety cents on the poll to supplement the public school fund which may be apportioned to such district by the county board of education in case such special tax is voted.

Rev., s. 4115; 1909, c. 525, s. 4.

The requirements for this proceeding are (a) petition by one-fourth of the freeholders in the proposed district; (b) endorsement by the county board of education; (c) holding an election; (d) vote of a majority of the qualified voters in favor of it: Howell v. Howell, 151-575; Gill v. Comrs., 160-177. The term "freeholders" was held not to include women: Gill v. Comrs., 160-177; but this was changed by act of 1915, c. 22 (section 1746): Chitty v. Parker, 172-126. A change in the boundaries of the district after the petition is filed will make the proceeding void, unless assented to by the signers: Chitty v. Parker, 172-126. The validity of the proceeding may be tested by a direct proceeding for that purpose: Gill v. Comrs., 160-177. The presumption is in favor of the regularity of the proceedings: Thrash v. Comrs., 150-693.

5527. Rules governing election; tickets. The board of county commissioners shall appoint a registrar and two pollholders, and shall designate a polling place and order a new registration for such district. The election shall be held in the district under the law governing general elections, as near as may be. The registrar and pollholders shall canvass the vote cast and declare the result, and shall duly certify the returns to the board of county commissioners, and the same shall be recorded in the records of the board of county commissioners. The expense of holding the election shall be paid out of the general school fund of the county. At the election those who are in favor of the levy and collection of the tax shall vote a ticket on which shall be printed or written the words "For Special Tax," and those who are opposed shall vote a ticket on which shall be printed or written the words "Against Special Tax."

Rev., s. 4115; 1907, c. 835, s. 1(f).

The qualification of voters is the same as in other elections; and a majority of the qualified voters must vote in favor of the district: Williams v. Comrs., 176-554; Gill v. Comrs., 160-177; Howell v. Howell, 151-575.

5528. Levy and collection. In case a majority of the qualified voters at the election is in favor of the tax, the same shall be annually levied and collected in the manner prescribed for the levy and collection of other taxes.

Rev., s. 4115.

The poll tax under this section is not limited to $2: Perry v. Comrs., 148-521.

5529. Special districts from portions of contiguous counties. Special-tax districts may be formed as provided in this article out of portions of contiguous counties. The petition for such a district must be endorsed by the boards of education of both counties. The registrar and one pollholder shall be appointed by the board of commissioners of the county in which the larger number of petitioners reside, and one pollholder must be appointed by the board of commissioners of the other county. All the provisions of article 10 in regard to districts in contiguous counties shall be applicable as far as may be to the establishment of special-tax districts out of portions of contiguous counties herein provided.

Rev., s. 4115; 1915, c. 236, s. 1(b).

Creation of special-tax district in portions of different counties: Marsh v. Early, 169-465.

5530. Enlargement of special district upon election. Upon a written request of a majority of the committee or trustees of any special-tax district, the county board of education may enlarge the boundaries of any special-tax district established under this article, or by special act or charter of the general assembly, so as to include any contiguous territory, and an election in such new territory may be ordered and held in the same manner as prescribed in this article for elections in special-tax districts. In case a majority of the qualified voters in such new territory shall vote at the election in favor of a special tax of the same rate as that voted and levied in the special-tax district to which the territory is contiguous, then the new territory shall be added to and become a part of the special-tax district, and the term "special tax of the same rate" herein used shall include, in addition to the usual special tax, any tax levied to meet the interest and sinking fund of any bonds theretofore issued by the district proposed to be enlarged. In case a majority of the qualified voters at the election shall vote against the tax, the district shall not be enlarged.

See Marsh v. Early, 169-465.

5531. Abolition of district upon election. Upon petition of two-thirds of the qualified voters residing in any special-tax district established under this article, the same shall be endorsed and approved by the county board of education, and the board of county commissioners shall order another election in the district for submitting the question of revoking the tax and abolishing the district, to be held under the provisions prescribed in this article for holding other elections. It shall be the duty of the board of education to endorse the petition when presented, containing the proper number of names of qualified voters, and this provision is made mandatory, and the board is allowed no discretion to refuse to endorse the same when so presented. If at the election a majority of the qualified voters in the district shall vote "Against Special Tax," the tax shall be deemed revoked and shall not be levied, and the district shall be discontinued.

Rev., s. 4115; 1909, c. 525, s. 4; 1911, c. 135, s. 1(i); 1917, c. 188, s. 1.

The requirement that the board of education should "endorse and approve" the petition for election under this section was held to be an act requiring the exercise of discretion and not enforced by mandamus: Key v. Bd. of Education, 170-123. (Changed by act of 1917, c. 188.)

5532. Special district in debt may not be abolished. The provisions of this article as to abolishing special-tax districts shall not apply when such special-tax district is in debt in any sum whatever.

Rev., s. 4115; 1917, c. 188, s. 1.

Where a special tax has been levied, a subsequent change or revocation of the district will not prevent the collection of such tax: Mann v. Allen, 171-219; Marsh v. Early, 169-462 (before act of 1917, c. 188).

5533. Election for abolition not oftener than once in two years. No election for revoking a special tax in any special-tax district shall be ordered and held in the district within less than two years from the date of the election at which the tax was voted and the district established, nor at any time within less than two years after the date of the last election on the question in the district; and no petition revoking such tax shall be approved by the county board of education oftener than once in two years.

Rev., s. 4115; 1911, c. 135, s. 1(i).

5534. Special tax levy restored at any time in abolished district. The provisions for ordering a new election to revoke a special tax in any special-tax district shall not apply to elections in such districts for increasing or restoring the special-tax levy in such district, which elections may be ordered and held at any time in accordance with the provisions of this article for establishing new special-tax districts.

Rev., s. 4115; 1909, c. 525, s. 4.

5535. Increasing levy in special district, where inadequate. When it shall be ascertained upon the written petition of one-third of the qualified voters of the special-tax district, endorsed by the county board of education, that the special tax levied under this article will be inadequate to maintain and support the school or schools of the special-tax district, then it shall be competent to hold an election in the district to increase the special-tax levy upon real and personal property and polls to an amount not exceeding fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property and one dollar and fifty cents on the poll. This election shall be called and held in the same manner as the election for creating the special-tax district as provided in this article; but no election shall be held oftener than once in two years.

Rev., s. 4115; 1917, c. 102, s. 5; 1919, cc. 64, 254, s. 11.

5536. Money to be expended by school committee. All money levied under the provisions of this article shall, upon collection, be placed to the credit of the school committee in the district, which committee shall be appointed by the county board of education; and such school committee shall apportion the money among the schools in the district in such manner as in its judgment will equalize school facilities.

Rev., s. 4115.

For special authority to issue bonds, see Hood v. Sutton, 175-98; Bd. of Ed. v. Comrs., 174-47; Gregg v. Comrs., 162-479.

SUBCHAPTER IV. PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM AND INSTRUCTION

ART. 19. GENERAL SCHOOL SYSTEM

5537. Constitutional provisions. The people have the right to the privilege of education, and it shall be the duty of the state to guard and maintain that right; and religion, morality, and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged. The general assembly shall provide by taxation and otherwise for a general and uniform system of public schools, wherein tuition shall be free of charge to all children of the state between the ages of six and twenty-one years; and the general assembly is empowered to enact that every child of sufficient mental and physical ability shall attend the public schools, during the period between the ages of six and eighteen years, for a term of not less than sixteen months, unless educated by other means.

Rev., s. 4085; Const., Art. I, s. 27; Art. IX, ss. 1, 2, 15.

See annotations to constitution.

5538. Separation of races. The children of the white race and the children of the colored race shall be taught in separate public schools, but there shall be no discrimination in favor of or to the prejudice of either race. All white children shall be taught in the public schools provided for the white race, and all colored children shall be taught in the public schools provided for the colored race; but no child with negro blood, or what is generally known as Croatan Indian blood, in his veins, however remote the strain, shall attend a school for the white race, and no such child shall be considered a white child. The descendants of the Croatan Indians now living in Robeson, Sampson, and Richmond counties shall have separate schools for their children, as hereinafter provided in this chapter.

Rev., s. 4086; Const., Art. IX, s. 2; 1901, c. 4, s. 68; 1903, c. 435, s. 22; 1915, c. 236, s. 1.

It is constitutional for the legislature to enact that no child with negro blood in his veins, "however remote the strain," shall attend a school for the white race: Medlin v. Board of Education, 167-239; Johnson v. Board of Education, 166-468; Ferrall v. Ferrall, 153-174. See, also, Hare v. Board of Education, 113-9 (decided before the act of 1915).

There must be no discrimination in the division of the school fund or school advantages on account of race: Williams v. Bradford, 158-36; Bonitz v. School Trustees, 154-375; State v. Wolf, 145-441; Lowery v. School Trustees, 140-39; Hooker v. Greenville, 130-475; Markham v. Manning, 96-132; Puitt v. Comrs., 94-709; Riggsbee v. Durham, 94-800.

It is not discriminating to divide the races when advantages are equal: Puitt v. Comrs., 94-709; McMillan v. School Committee, 107-609; see, also, Britton v. R. R., 88-536; State v. Steele, 106-782; Whitford v. Comrs., 159-160.

5539. Women on school boards. Positions on committees for rural and graded schools, boards of trustees of state schools and colleges for women, and subtext-book commissions shall not be deemed offices within this state, but shall be places of profit or trust; and women shall be eligible to serve in such positions under the same conditions and restrictions as are now imposed upon men. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any position or place where the person holding such position or place is elected by the people.

5540. Closing schools for nonattendance. When a monthly or weekly report of any school where the district does not contain over one hundred and fifty children shows an average daily attendance of less than one-fifth of the school census, the committee may, with the approval of the county superintendent of schools, order the school to be closed, and the money due such school shall remain to the credit of that school; but all funds remaining to the credit of such school at the close of the school year, unused, because of nonattendance, shall be returned to the general fund for reapportionment, unless such nonattendance shall have been caused by providential or other unavoidable causes; and the county board of education, upon the recommendation of the county superintendent, shall have authority to close any school for either race in any township before it shall have continued for the average length of school term for the township in case the attendance does not justify the continuance of the school, and the money remaining to the credit of such district thus closed for nonattendance shall be returned to the general school fund.

Rev., s. 4164.

The court will not interfere with the exercise of discretion of the trustees of a graded school as to the opening and management of the school: Dula v. School Trustees, 177-426.

5541. Branches taught. The branches to be taught in all the public schools shall be spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, drawing, language lessons and composition, English grammar, geography, the history of North Carolina and the United States, elements of agriculture, and oral and text-book instruction in elementary physiology and hygiene, including the nature and effect of alcoholic drinks and narcotics: Provided, that in public schools employing more than one teacher the elements of civil government, containing the constitution of North Carolina and the United States, and such other subjects of study as the state board of education may direct, shall be taught after adequate provision shall have first been made for the thorough teaching of the branches before named.

5542. Fire prevention to be taught. It shall be the duty of the insurance commissioner and the superintendent of public instruction to provide as far as practicable for the teaching of "Fire Prevention" in the colleges and schools of the state, and to arrange, if possible, for a text-book adapted to such use.

1915, c. 166, s. 5.

NOTE.—As to fire prevention and "Fire Prevention Day," see chapter Fire Protection, art. 1.

NOTE.—Section 5698 of this chapter contains list of subjects of text-books to be taught in schools.

For provisions regulating teaching of elementary branches in high schools, and high school subjects in public schools, see this chapter, secs. 5517, 5518.

ART. 20. ARBOR DAY

5543. Arbor day designated. The Friday following the first day of November in each year shall be known as Arbor Day, to be appropriately observed by the public schools of the state.

1915, c. 51, s. 1.

5544. Governor to make proclamation for observance by schools. The governor is herewith authorized to make proclamation setting forth the provisions of this article and recommending that arbor day be appropriately observed by the school children of the state, in order that they may be brought up to appreciate the true value of trees and forests to their state.

1915, c. 51, s. 2.

5545. State superintendent to provide for observance. It shall be the duty of the state superintendent of public instruction to take the matter of the observance of arbor day by the public schools of the state under his general supervision, to issue each year a program for its observance to cover such part of the day as he may prescribe, and to transmit suitable instructions to the county school authorities under his charge for an appropriate observance of arbor day.

1915, c. 51, s. 3.

ART. 21. SEPARATE SCHOOLS FOR INDIANS IN CERTAIN COUNTIES

5546. Indians subject to article designated. The persons residing in Robeson, Richmond, and Sampson counties, supposed to be descendants of a friendly tribe once residing in the eastern portion of the state, known as Croatan Indians, and who have heretofore been known as "Croatan Indians" or "Indians of Robeson County," and their descendants, shall be known and designated as the "Cherokee Indians of Robeson County"; and the persons residing in Person county supposed to be descendants of a friendly tribe of Indians and White's Lost Colony, once residing in the eastern portion of this state, and known as "Cubans," and their descendants, shall be known and designated as the "Indians of Person County."

Rev., s. 4168; 1885, c. 51, s. 2; 1911, c. 215; P. L. 1911, c. 263; 1913, c. 123; P. L. 1913, c. 22.

NOTE.—For separate schools for Indians in Scotland county, see 1909, c. 720. For separate schools in Cumberland county, see 1907, c. 499.

See Goins v. Indian Training School, 169-736. See, also, sections 6257-6259.

5547. To have separate schools. The Indians mentioned above and their descendants shall have separate schools for their children, school committees of their own race and color, and shall be allowed to select teachers of their own choice, subject to the same rules and regulations as are applicable to all teachers in the general school law, and there shall be excluded from such separate schools all children of the negro race to the fourth generation.

Rev., s. 4168; 1885, c. 51, s. 2; 1889, c. 60, s. 1; 1911, c. 215.

Acts providing separate schools for Croatan Indians are constitutional: McMillan v. School Com., 107-609. Legislature can classify pupils according to race: Ibid.—but must give members of all races equal school advantages: Ibid.; Puitt v. Comrs., 94-709; State v. Steele, 106-782; Britton v. R. R., 88-536. As to meaning of word "generation," see McMillan v. School Com., 107-609; Hare v. Bd. of Ed., 113-9. As to mandamus to compel admission into school for other race, see Hare v. Bd. of Ed., 113-9, and cases cited. These schools are not restricted to those resident in the county where the school is established, but are open to all who come within their limits: Goins v. Indian Training School, 169-736.

5548. Duty of county board. It shall be the duty of the county board of education to see the provisions of this article carried into effect, and the board shall for that purpose have the census taken of all the children of such Indians and their descendants between the ages of six and twenty-one, and proceed to establish such suitable school districts as shall be necessary for their convenience, and take all such other and further steps as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying this article into effect.

5549. Right to attend school in other districts. Where any children, descendants of such Indians, reside in any district in the counties mentioned in this article in which there are no separate schools provided for their race, they shall have the right to attend any of the public schools in the county provided for their race, and their share of the public school fund shall be appropriated to their education upon the certificate of the school committee in the district in which they reside, stating that they are entitled to attend such public schools.

Rev., s. 4169; 1885, c. 51, ss. 3, 4; P. L. 1911, c. 263; P. L. 1913, c. 22.

5550. Pro rata share of school fund kept separate. The treasurer of the county school fund and other proper authorities whose duties are to collect, keep, and apportion the school fund shall procure from the county board of education the number of children in the county between the ages of six and twenty-one, belonging to such Indian race, and shall set apart and keep separate their pro rata share of the school funds, which shall be paid out under the same rules in every respect as are provided in the general school law and in the preceding sections.

Rev., s. 4170; 1885, c. 51, s. 4.

5551. Application of general school law. The general public school law shall be applicable in all respects to such separate schools for the Indians mentioned in this article, except where such general law is repugnant to these special provisions relating to such schools; and these special provisions for such separate schools shall apply only to the counties of Robeson, Richmond, Sampson, and Person.

Rev., s. 4171; 1885, c. 51, s. 5; 1911, c. 215; P. L. 1911, c. 263; 1913, c. 123.

ART. 22. INSTRUCTION IN TEMPERANCE

5552. Minimum of instruction; how and when given. In addition to the branches in which instruction is now required by law to be given in all schools supported wholly or in part by public money, instruction shall also be given as to the nature of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics and their effect upon the human system, in connection with the various divisions of physiology and hygiene. Such subject shall be taught in each school year below the second year in the high schools, and shall be taught as thoroughly as arithmetic and geography are taught in said schools. Such instruction shall be given by the use of text-books in the hands of all pupils in all grades from the fourth grade to the first year in the high school, inclusive, or in corresponding classes in graded schools, and orally to all pupils in the first three or primary grades, by teachers using text-books adapted to such oral instruction as a guide and standard; and all pupils must pass such tests as may be required in other studies before promoting to the next succeeding year's work. The minimum amount of such instruction shall be two lessons each week for ten weeks, or the equivalent of the same, in schools employing one teacher, and three lessons each week for ten weeks, or the equivalent of the same, in schools employing two or more teachers. Such instruction shall be given as aforesaid to all pupils in all public schools of the state.

1907, c. 957, s. 1.

5553. Gradations and regulations as to text-books. The text-books used for the instruction required to be given by the preceding section shall be graded to the capacities of the pupils, and for students below high-school grade such text-books shall give at least one-fifth their space, and for students of fifth school grade they shall give not less than twenty pages to the nature and effect of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics; but no book in which the required amount of this subject shall appear, in whole or in part, as a separate chapter at the end of the book, shall be considered as complying with the requirements of this statute, and no topical outline of study for the guidance of teachers which reduces the amount of temperance instruction below that which is required by the text-books provided for in this article shall be considered as complying with the intent of the law. No text-book on physiology or hygiene not conforming to this article shall be used in the public schools except so long as may be necessary to fulfill the conditions of any legal adoption existing on the eleventh day of March, nineteen hundred and seven.

5554. Training of teachers for this instruction. In all normal schools, teachers' training classes, teachers' institutes, teachers' associations, summer schools, and all other organizations for the equipment of teachers, adequate time and attention shall be given to instruction in the best methods of teaching physiology and hygiene, with special reference to the nature of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics; and no teacher shall be licensed who has not passed a satisfactory examination in this subject and the best method of teaching it.

1907, c. 957, s. 3.

5555. Enforcement of temperance instruction. It shall be the duty of the proper officer in control of any school or schools described in the first and third sections of this article to enforce the provisions of this article; and any such officer, school director, committee, superintendent, or teacher who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this article, or shall neglect or fail to make proper provision for the instruction required and in the manner specified for all pupils in each and every school under his control and supervision, shall be removed from office and the vacancy filled as in other cases; and if it be satisfactorily proved that trustees or boards of education or boards of educational institutions receiving money from the state have failed to enforce this article, as far as they have authority, it shall be deemed sufficient cause for withholding the warrant for the state appropriation of school money to which such district or educational institution would otherwise be entitled.

1907, c. 957, s. 4.

ART. 23. INSTRUCTION IN AGRICULTURE, MANUAL TRAINING, AND HOME ECONOMICS

5556. State superintendent to prepare courses and publish bulletins. The state superintendent of public instruction shall prepare or have prepared courses of study in agriculture, manual training, and home economics for use in public schools of the state, and shall have the same printed in bulletin form, said bulletins to be used as supplementary texts and guides in teaching these subjects in all public schools.

These bulletins shall contain courses of study and readily usable outlines in agriculture, including crop production and management, gardening and fruit growing, livestock farming including simple lessons in home dairying and poultry raising, manual training and home economics, and any other subjects which may be considered necessary in the teaching of the above named courses.

5557. Bulletins furnished without cost. The bulletins provided for in this article shall be published by the state board of education and printed by the state printer, as state printing, and shall be furnished to the teachers and public school children of the state, without cost. These bulletins shall be distributed from the office of the state superintendent of public instruction as are other publications of the department.

5558. Time given to subjects for different classes of schools. The state superintendent of public instruction shall fix the minimum time to be given to the teaching of agriculture, manual training, and home economics in the respective grades, having in mind in the preparing of these regulations the conditions existing in the one-teacher school, the two-teacher school, and three-teacher school, and all of the regularly organized schools as distinctive types for which this material is to be provided.

5559. School credits for outside work. For the purpose of encouraging the practical application of the principles taught in the classroom, the state superintendent of public instruction shall prepare a system of credits, whereby the boys and girls shall receive credit for work done outside of the school hours, upon the farm and in the home, in conformity with the present system of credits obtaining in our public schools.

1919, c. 255, s. 2.

5560. Lands for demonstration work. The board of education of any county, or the board of control in any school of the state, may secure by donation, purchase, condemnation proceedings, or through lease, one or more acres of land adjacent to or near any school site for the purpose of conducting practical demonstrations of the principles taught in the classroom.

5561. Examination and training of teachers. All teachers of the state offering to teach any grade in which the subjects herein specified are required in any of the rural schools shall pass an examination on the subjects of agriculture, manual training, and home economics, in so far as the teaching of these subjects applies to their respective grades, and upon the bulletins provided for in this article, but this requirement does not apply to teachers entering the profession prior to July first, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen. Furthermore, the bulletins herein provided for shall be made a part of the course of study in agriculture, manual training, and home economics in summer schools for teachers, conducted by the various state institutions and in other courses for the improvement of teachers.

5562. All teachers may be examined. Every county superintendent in the state, together with state board of examiners and institute conductors, is hereby empowered to require satisfactory evidence, by examination or otherwise, of the ability of every teacher in the respective counties to teach the subject-matter contained in the bulletins herein provided for.

1919, c. 255, s. 9.

5563. All schools required to give courses. Every public school in the state, unless exempted by the following section, shall be required to give courses in agriculture, manual training, and home economics, as prescribed herein, to its students.

1919, c. 255, s. 10.

5564. Town schools exempted. Schools operating in towns of a population of two thousand or more may be exempt from the provisions of this article by permission granted such schools by their local boards: Provided, that courses of study in home gardening, school gardening, manual training, and home economics, suited to the needs of such schools, shall be prepared.

1919, c. 255, s. 4.

5565. Reports by county superintendents. Every county superintendent of public instruction shall report to the state superintendent of public instruction, within sixty days after the beginning of the school term in his county, as to whether or not such courses as are provided for herein are being taught.

1919, c. 255, s. 11.

ART. 24. COUNTY FARM-LIFE SCHOOLS

5566. Establishment of school in county. There shall be established and maintained in every county complying with the provisions of this article, as hereinafter set forth, a school to be known as a "County Farm-life School," for the training and preparation of the boys and girls of the county for farm life and home-making.

1911, c. 84, s. 1.

5567. Aim of school and course of study. The aim of said school shall be to prepare boys for agricultural pursuits and farm life and to prepare girls for home-making and housekeeping on the farm. The course of study shall include practical work on the farm by the boys and practical work in all subjects relating to housekeeping and home-making by the girls. The course of study in said school shall be subject to the approval of the state board for vocational education.

1911, c. 84, s. 2; 1919, c. 257, s. 1.

5568. Board of trustees; appointment; terms; vacancies. The school shall be under the control and management of a board of trustees of practical farmers, consisting of one member from each township in the county, appointed by the county board of education, who shall serve until their successors shall be appointed. The first board of trustees shall be divided by the county board of education into three as nearly equal groups as possible. One group shall be appointed for a term of two years, one group for a term of four years, and one group for a term of six years. Upon the expiration of the term of office of any trustee his successor shall be appointed for a term of six years. The county superintendent of public instruction shall be ex officio a member of said board and secretary thereof. All vacancies occurring by death, resignation, or otherwise in said board shall be filled for the unexpired term by the county board of education.

5569. Qualification and organization of board. Within ten days after any county, township, or townships shall have complied with the provisions of this article, as hereinafter set forth, for the maintenance and equipment of the school, the members of the board of trustees shall be appointed, and the county superintendent shall duly notify them to meet at the county-seat within ten days after their appointment to qualify and organize.

5570. Location of school. After due advertisement, inviting bids for the location of said school within the county, the board of trustees shall locate it at such place in said county as shall offer the largest financial aid for maintenance and equipment, having due regard for desirability and suitability of location: Provided, however, that said school shall not be located in any city or town of more than one thousand inhabitants, nor within two miles of the corporate limits of any city or town of more than five thousand inhabitants.

5571. Buildings, farm, maintenance. For the maintenance of said school, the county or township or school district, or all combined, wherein it is located, shall provide annually, by taxation or otherwise, not less than twenty-five hundred dollars. The county or township or school district, or all combined, shall provide by bond issue, or otherwise, the following equipment for said school: a school building with recitation rooms and laboratories and apparatus necessary for efficient instruction in the prescribed subjects of study; dormitory buildings with suitable accommodations for not less than twenty-five boys and twenty-five girls; a barn and dairy building with necessary equipment; a farm of not less than fifty acres of good arable land. All of said buildings shall be located on said farm and shall be constructed in accordance with plans approved by the state superintendent of public instruction, and the entire equipment shall be subject to his approval and acceptance after inspection.

Since the schools are not a necessary expense for county, a farm-life school cannot be maintained by tax or bonds without the approval of a majority of the qualified voters: Snider v. Jackson County, 175-590. The establishment of such school contemplates equal advantages for both races: Whitford v. Comrs., 159-160. Such school may be established by special act: Moran v. Comrs., 168-289.

5572. Authority to accept erected school building. Upon the recommendation of the board of trustees and the presentation of satisfactory reasons therefor, the state superintendent of public instruction may grant permission to the board of trustees to accept any suitable and properly equipped school building already constructed, though it may not be located on the farm, provided it be located within reasonable and convenient distance thereof.

5573. Election in county to establish schools. 1. Upon written request of the county board of education of any county, the board of county commissioners of said county may in their discretion order an election to be held in said county, in accordance with the law governing general elections therein, as nearly as may be. A new registration shall be ordered for said election; and not less than thirty days notice of said election shall be given at the courthouse door and three other public places in the county; and if there be newspapers published in the county, a notice of said election shall also be published weekly for four successive weeks preceding said election in one newspaper therein; and the registrars and pollholders shall canvass the vote cast, declare the result, and duly certify the returns to the board of county commissioners, and the returns shall be recorded in the records of said board of county commissioners.

2. At said election shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the county the question of levying and collecting a special tax on all taxable property and polls of said county for the maintenance and equipment of a "County Farm-life School" therein. At such election those favoring the levying and collecting of such a tax for such purpose shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the words "For County Farm-life School," and those opposed shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the words "Against County Farm-life School."

3. If a majority of the qualified voters shall vote "For County Farm-life School," then all the provisions of this article shall be in full force and effect, and the county commissioners shall annually levy and cause to be collected, in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes of the county are levied and collected, a tax on all property and polls of the county sufficient to provide the sum required for the annual maintenance of said school, and, in addition, the sum required for the payment of the annual interest on such bond issue as may be found necessary for providing the equipment for the school as said interest accrues, and to create a sinking fund for the purpose of paying off and discharging said bonds as they become due. The bond of the sheriff or tax collector of said county shall be responsible for the tax to the same extent as it is liable for other taxes collected by him.

5574. Issuance of bonds. If a majority of the qualified voters at the election shall vote "For County Farm-life School," it shall be deemed and held that a majority of the qualified voters are in favor of granting to the board of county commissioners of said county authority to issue bonds in an amount not to exceed fifty thousand dollars for the purpose of providing the necessary equipment; and such authority shall be granted to and vested in said board of county commissioners, and said board is hereby authorized and empowered to issue and sell bonds in the name of said county to an amount not to exceed fifty thousand dollars, of such denomination and of such proportion as said board of county commissioners may deem advisable, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed six per cent, with interest coupons attached, payable at such time or times and at such place or places as they may deem advisable, such bonds to be of such form and tenor and transferable in such way, and the principal thereof payable or redeemable at such time or times, not less than fifteen years from the date thereof, and at such place or places, as the board of county commissioners may determine.

The proceeds arising from the sale of said bonds shall be expended by said board of county commissioners in providing, by purchase or otherwise, the equipment in land, buildings, and apparatus required under this article for the "County Farm-life School." The treasurer of said county shall receive no compensation for receiving or disbursing the money which may be received from the sale of said bonds.

5575. Township election to secure location. The county commissioners of any county that has voted for the establishment of a "County Farm-life School" therein shall, upon petition of one-fourth of the freeholders in any township applying to the trustees of said "County Farm-life School" to secure the location of said school therein, order an election therein, to be held after thirty days notice at three public places in said township, under the law governing state and county elections as nearly as may be, and the returns of said election shall be certified by the registrars and poll-holders to the board of county commissioners, and the same shall be recorded in the records of said county commissioners. At the election shall be submitted to the qualified voters of said township the question of issuing bonds in a sum not to exceed fifty thousand dollars, the amount of said bond issue to be set out in the petition for said election, and of levying and collecting on all taxable property and polls in said township a special tax sufficient to provide for the payment of the interest on said township bonds as it accrues, and to create a sinking fund for the purpose of paying off and discharging said township bonds as they become due. At such election, those favoring the levying and collection of such tax for such purpose shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the words "For County Farm-life School," and those opposed shall vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the words "Against County Farm-life School."

5576. Township bonds to secure location. If a majority of the qualified voters at said election shall vote "For County Farm-life School," then it shall be deemed and held that a majority of the qualified voters are in favor of granting to the board of county commissioners of said county authority to issue bonds in the name of said township in such amount as shall have been named in the petition and notice of election, to be sold by said commissioners for the purpose of aiding in providing the buildings and farm and other equipment for "The County Farm-life School," provided said school shall be located in said township; and if said school shall be located in said township, the board of county commissioners shall annually levy and cause to be collected, in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes of the county are levied and collected, a tax on all property and polls in said township sufficient to provide for the payment of interest on said township bonds as it accrues and to create a sinking fund for the purpose of paying off and discharging said township bonds as they become due. The board of county commissioners is authorized and empowered to issue and sell said bonds of the township to the amount specified in the petition and notice of election, of such denomination and of such proportion as they may deem advisable, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed six per cent, with interest coupons attached, payable at the time or times, and at the same place or places, and of the same form and tenor, and the principal thereof payable or redeemable at the same time or times and at the same place or places as the county bonds issued by the board of county commissioners for the equipment of said "County Farm-life School."

The proceeds arising from the sale of the township bonds shall be added to the proceeds arising from the sale of the county bonds and expended therewith by the board of county commissioners in providing, by purchase or otherwise, the equipment in land, buildings, and apparatus required in this article for the "County Farm-life School."

5577. Election by contiguous townships to secure location. Any two or more contiguous townships bidding for the location of the "County Farm-life School" may unite and hold an election upon the same terms and conditions as are provided for one township for the location of the "County Farm-life School" at such point in said townships as may be determined by the board of trustees of said "County Farm-life School": Provided, that the amount of bonds authorized to be issued by one or more townships in order to secure the location of the "County Farm-life School" in a given township shall be deducted from the amount of bonds authorized to be issued by the county, so as to limit the total issue of bonds for farm, buildings, and equipment to fifty thousand dollars.

5578. Election in townships to establish on failure of county election. 1. In case an election shall be ordered and held in any county as herein provided, for the establishment and maintenance of a "County Farm-life School" therein, and a majority of the qualified voters at such election shall fail to vote "For County Farm-life School," any township in said county, or any two or more contiguous townships in said county, shall, upon petition of one-fourth of the freeholders therein to the board of county commissioners of the county, have an election ordered by the commissioners upon the same terms and conditions prescribed in the three preceding sections of this article: Provided, that a new registration shall be ordered.

2. If in such election a majority of the qualified voters in said township or townships shall vote "For County Farm-life School," then, in that event, it shall be deemed and held that the board of county commissioners of the county is authorized and empowered to issue and sell bonds in the name of said township or townships in an amount not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars, and to levy and cause to be collected, in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes of the county are levied and collected, a sufficient tax on all property and polls in said township or townships to comply with all conditions named in this article for the maintenance and equipment of a "County Farm-life School," subject to the same conditions as are herein provided for the issuance and sale of county bonds and the levying and collection of a county tax for said purpose.

3. The said "County Farm-life School" shall thereupon be located at such point in said township or townships as may be determined by the board of trustees of said "County Farm-life School" provided for in this article. Such school, when thus established, shall be a "County Farm-life School" for said county, and shall be subject to all the rights, privileges, and obligations and conditions prescribed in this article for "County Farm-life Schools," except as herein otherwise provided.

5579. Provisions for township school becoming county farm-life school. At any time after the establishment of the "County Farm-life School" by the township or townships under the provisions of the preceding section, the county may hold an election as provided in this article for the establishment of a county farm-life school by the county; and if at the election a majority of the qualified voters of the county shall vote "For County Farm-life School," and the tax and bond issue provided for in this article for the maintenance and equipment of a "County Farm-life School" shall be provided, as directed herein, by the county commissioners for the entire county, such school established by the township or townships shall become a county farm-life school in all respects like a county farm-life school established under this article, and the bonds of the township or townships and the tax levied for the maintenance of the school and for interest and sinking fund on the bonds shall be assumed by the entire county, and the bonds of the township or townships shall be canceled by substituting therefor county bonds as provided for a county farm-life school.

5580. High school department in connection with county farm-life school. There shall be established and maintained in connection with each county farm-life school such a high school course of study as may be approved by the state board for vocational education, and for the maintenance of such high school department of the county farm-life school there shall be the same county and state apportionments as are now made and required for a first-grade public high school under the provisions of subchapter III of this chapter. If said county farm-life school shall be located at the same place with some existing public high school in said county, then said public high school shall be merged into and become the high school department of said county farm-life school as an organic part thereof; and the appropriations for the maintenance thereof shall be the same as the appropriations now required for a first-grade public high school. The requirements for teachers in said high school department of the county farm-life school shall be the same as are now required for high school teachers under the high school law. Said high school department and course of study, however, and the entire management of the same shall be under the direction and control of the board of trustees and the principal of the county farm-life school, and shall be conducted as an organic part of said school.

5581. Certification of teachers. No person shall be employed as principal in charge of any county farm-life school who does not hold a high school teacher's certificate on all required subjects except Latin, Greek, and Modern Languages, and endorsed by the state board for vocational education. And no person shall be employed in the department of said "County Farm-life School" for the special training of girls for home-making and housekeeping on the farm who does not hold a high school teacher's certificate on all required subjects except Latin, Greek, and Modern Languages, and endorsed by the state board for vocational education. All teachers in farm-life schools shall be elected by the board of trustees on the recommendation of the principal of said schools, and all teachers of vocational subjects in schools receiving funds from the vocational education fund shall be approved by the state board for vocational education.

5582. Agricultural and farm-life extension and demonstration. It shall be a part of the duty of the faculty of each "County Farm-life School" to conduct agricultural farm-life extension and demonstration work in said county, in cooperation, as far as possible, with such work carried on in said county by the state department of agriculture, the North Carolina state college of agriculture and engineering, and the United States department of agriculture; to hold township and district meetings in various parts of the county from time to time for farmers and farmers' wives; to coöperate with the county superintendent of public instruction and with the county commissioner of agriculture, where such officer exists, in stimulating, directing, and supervising practical farm-life work in the public high schools and the elementary schools of the county, and in providing instruction, through the county teachers' association and through special short courses of study at said "County Farm-life School" for the public school teachers of said county.

5583. Short courses for adults. There shall be provided in the courses of study of the "County Farm-life School" short courses in farm-life studies to which shall be admitted adult farmers, men and women; and there shall be held at the school annually one or more county meetings for the farmers and their wives of the county for instruction and demonstration work. All of the work herein required and all other work of the "County Farm-life School" shall be under the general supervision of the county superintendent of public instruction, and the school shall in all respects be an organic part of the county public school system.

5584. Admission of students from other counties. The board of trustees of the "County Farm-life School" of any county is hereby authorized and empowered to admit students from other counties of the state to said school upon payment of such rate of tuition as said board of trustees may fix; but all students who are residents of the county in which said school is located shall be admitted to said school without charge for tuition, except as otherwise provided in this article; and said board of trustees shall fix all other charges in said school at actual cost.

5585. Treasurer of county farm-life school; compensation. The treasurer of the county shall be the treasurer of the "County Farm-life School," and shall receive and disburse all funds therefor, keeping and rendering annually to the board of trustees of said school a separate account of such receipts and disbursements. If he be employed on salary, he shall receive no additional compensation for his services; and if employed on commission, he shall receive as compensation not to exceed one per cent on all disbursements and nothing on receipts. The official bond of said treasurer shall be responsible and held liable for all funds coming into his hands for said school to the same extent as it is liable for other funds received by him as treasurer of said county.

5586. Incorporation and powers. The board of trustees of said "County Farm-life School" and their successors in office shall be and are hereby constituted a body corporate by the name and style of "The Board of Trustees of the County Farm-life School of County," and by that name may sue and be sued, contract and be contracted with, purchase, hold, and sell real estate and personal property, receive donations by gift or otherwise, and exercise such other rights and privileges as are conferred by law upon corporate bodies so far as such powers are necessary or convenient to the attainment of the objects of the school or to the performance of the duties of the board. The title to all lands and other property of the "County Farm-life School" shall vest in said board of trustees.

5587. Appropriation of state funds; number of schools. Upon satisfactory evidence furnished by the state board for vocational education to the state board of education that all the provisions of this article for the establishment, maintenance, and equipment of a "County Farm-life School" have been complied with in any county, the said state board of education shall order the state superintendent of public instruction to issue a requisition upon the state auditor for the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars annually for the maintenance of said school, and the state auditor shall issue his warrant in favor of the county treasurer of said county for said amount, which shall be paid out of the state treasury and the money placed to the credit of the "County Farm-life School" of said county; and sufficient moneys to pay said warrants are hereby appropriated out of the state public school fund if the amount of that fund is sufficient, after meeting all of the requirements of article 11 of this chapter, otherwise the appropriation shall be made out of the state funds not otherwise appropriated: Provided, however, that there shall not be established more than ten such schools in any one year, and that not more than one such school shall be established in any county.

The provision limiting the number of such schools to one in a county is constitutional, since it is construed to mean one for each race, or equal advantages to both races: Whitford v. Comrs., 159-160.

5588. County board may supplement funds. If the funds available for the maintenance and support of any county farm-life school shall be insufficient to provide for the proper maintenance and support of said school, the county board of education of any county is hereby empowered to add to its annual budget for the maintenance and support of such school an amount not greater than one thousand dollars, provided that this amount shall not be duplicated out of the state public school fund.

1919, c. 181.

ART. 25. FARM-LIFE INSTRUCTION IN COUNTY HIGH SCHOOLS

5589. County high schools may maintain departments of instruction in agriculture and domestic science. There may be maintained in one or more of the public high schools of any county of the state complying with the provisions of this article, as hereinafter set forth, a department of agricultural instruction and a department of training in domestic science and home economics in order to better prepare the boys and girls of said county for farm life and home-making.

1911 (Pub.-Local), c. 449, s. 1; 1913, c. 105.

5590. Board of trustees of such school. The said school or schools shall be under the control and management of a board of trustees, consisting of the members of the board of education of the county and the chairman and secretary of the board of trustees of each high school in which such departments are established.

1911 (Pub.-Local), c. 449, s. 2; 1913, c. 105.

5591. Selection and location of school. After due advertisement inviting bids from the public high schools of the county now in existence or hereafter created, the county board of education of the county shall designate the place or places at which such agricultural or domestic science work shall be established. In designating a school, the county board of education shall take into consideration the financial aid offered for maintenance and equipment, desirability and suitability of location. But no such department shall be established in a school which is located in a town of more than one thousand inhabitants, nor within two miles of the corporate limits of any city or town of more than five thousand inhabitants.

1911 (Pub.-Local), c. 449, s. 3; 1913, c. 105.

5592. Maintenance of schools; buildings and equipment. For the maintenance of such school or schools, the county board of education of the county wherein the school is established shall provide annually out of the public school fund, or by donation or local tax, not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars. The present average school term of the county shall not be shortened, however, by the appropriation herein designated.

ART. 41. TEXT-BOOK COMMISSION AND SUBCOMMISSION; SUBJECTS; ADOPTION

5691. Commission created; duty. The state board of education is hereby constituted a state text-book commission, whose duty it is, acting conjointly with the subcommission, to select and adopt a uniform series or system of text-books for use in the elementary public schools of the state, and who shall serve without compensation. The governor shall be ex officio president of such commission and the superintendent of public instruction its secretary.

Rev., s. 4057; 1901, c. 1, ss. 1, 2, 7, 20; 1911, c. 118, s. 1(a).

5692. Term of office; powers; term of contracts. The commission shall maintain its organization during the five years of the continuance of the contract now in force. It may from time to time make any necessary regulations, not contrary to the provisions of this article, to secure the prompt distribution of the books herein provided for, and the prompt and faithful performance of all contracts. At any time within six months before the expiration of the contracts now in force for furnishing books to the public schools, the commission may advertise for new bids or proposals, as required by this article, and enter into such other contracts as they may deem best for the interest of the patrons of the public schools of the state. Any contract entered into or renewed shall be for the term of five years.

Rev., ss. 4058, 4059; 1901, c. 1, s. 14; 1911, c. 118, ss. 1(b), 1(c).

5693. Appointment of subcommission; compensation. It shall be the duty of the governor and the state superintendent of public instruction to appoint a subcommission of six members, to be selected from among the teachers or county superintendents actually engaged in school work in this state; and members of the subcommission actually serving shall be paid a per diem of four dollars per day during the time that they are actually engaged in such service, and in addition shall be repaid all money actually expended by them in payment of necessary expenses, to be paid out of the public funds of the state treasury, and they shall make out and swear to an itemized statement of such expenses.

Rev., s. 4063; 1907, c. 835, s. 1(b); 1911, c. 118, s. 1(f).

5694. Oath of subcommissioners. Each member of the subcommission, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, shall take and subscribe an oath to act honestly, conscientiously, and faithfully, and that he is not now, has not, within two years prior to his appointment, been agent or attorney for or in the employment of or interested in any book or publishing house, concern, or corporation making or proposing to make bids for the sale of books, pursuant to the provisions of this article, and that he will carefully and faithfully examine all books submitted, and make true report thereon, as herein directed and prescribed. Such oath shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

Rev., s. 4064; 1901, c. 1, s. 5.

5695. Examination of books by subcommission. To the subcommission shall be referred all books sent to the state text-book commission as specimen copies or samples upon which bids are to be based; and it shall be the duty of the subcommission, in executive session, to examine and report upon the merits of the books, irrespective of the price, taking into consideration the subject-matter of the books, their printing, their material, and their mechanical qualities, and their general suitability and desirability for the purposes for which they are desired and intended.

Rev., s. 4065; 1901, c. 1, s. 3.

5696. Report of subcommission. The subcommission shall report to the commission at such time as the commission shall direct, arranging each book in its class or division, and reporting books in the order of their merit, pointing out the merits and demerits of each, and indicating what book it recommends for adoption first, what book is its second choice, and its third choice, and so on, pursuing this plan with the books submitted upon each branch of study; and if the subcommission shall consider different books upon the same subject or of the same class or division of approximately even merit, all things being considered, it shall so report, and if it considers that any book offered is of such class as to make it inferior and not worthy of adoption, shall in its report so designate such book. In its report it shall make such recommendations and suggestions to the commission as it shall deem advisable and proper to make.

Rev., s. 4065; 1901, c. 1, s. 4.

5697. Opening and filing report. The report of the subcommission shall be kept secret and sealed up and delivered to the secretary of the commission, and shall not be opened up by any member of the commission until the commission and the subcommission shall meet in joint executive session to open and consider the bids or proposals of publishers or others desiring to have books adopted by the commission, and when the commission shall have finished with the report it shall be filed and preserved in the office of the superintendent of public instruction and shall be open at all times for public inspection.

Rev., s. 4066; 1901, c. 1, ss. 4, 6; 1911, c. 118, s. 1(g).

5698. Character and requisites of books adopted. The uniform series of text-books to be selected by the commission and the subcommission shall include the following branches of study, to wit: Orthography, defining, reading, writing, drawing, arithmetic, geography, grammar, language lessons, history of North Carolina containing the constitution of the state, history of the United States containing the constitution of the United States, physiology, hygiene, nature and effect of alcoholic drinks and narcotics, elements of civil government, elements of agriculture. None of such text-books shall contain anything of a partisan or sectarian character, and all shall be written or printed in English.

Rev., s. 4060; 1901, c. 1, ss. 2, 8; 1911, c. 118, s. 1(d).

5699. Selection and adoption of books. The commission and subcommission in their selection and adoption of a uniform series of text-books shall consider the merits of the books, taking into consideration their subject-matter, the printing, binding, material, and mechanical quality, their general suitability and desirability for the purposes intended, and the price; and shall give due consideration to the report and recommendation of the subcommission. The text-book commission and the subcommission shall select and adopt such books as will, in their judgment, best accomplish the ends desired; and in case any books are deemed by them suitable for adoption and more desirable than other books of the same class or division submitted, and in case they consider the price at which such books are offered to be unreasonably high, and that the same should be offered at a smaller price, they are hereby authorized and directed to notify immediately the publishers of such books of their decision, and request such reduction in price as they deem reasonable or just; and if they shall agree on a price with such publishers they may adopt such books; but upon failure to agree upon price, they shall use their sound judgment and discretion as to the adoption of those or of other books deemed by them to be the next best in the list submitted.

Rev., s. 4067; 1901, c. 1, s. 6; 1911, c. 118, s. 1(h).

5700. Exclusive use of books adopted. The books adopted by the commission and subcommission as a uniform system of text-books shall be introduced and used as text-books, to the exclusion of all others, in all the free public schools in the state for a period of five years from the date of adoption, and it shall not be lawful for any school officer, director, or teacher to use any books upon the same branches other than those adopted by the commission. Nothing herein shall prevent the use of supplementary books, but such supplementary books shall not be used to the exclusion of the books prescribed or adopted under the provisions of this article; nor shall anything herein prevent the teaching in any school any branch higher or one more advanced than is embraced in the section prescribing the character and requisites of books to be adopted, nor the use of any book upon such higher branch of study, but such higher branch shall not be taught to the exclusion of the branches enumerated in the second preceding section.

Rev., s. 4061; 1901, c. 1, s. 16; 1911, c. 118, s. 1(e).

5701. Teacher allowing other books dismissed. If any teacher shall wilfully use or permit to be used in his school any text-book upon the branches embraced in this article, where the commission has adopted a book upon that branch, other than the one so adopted, the county board of education shall discharge and cancel the certificate of such teacher or school superintendent; but they may use or permit to be used such book or books as may be owned by the pupils of the school at the time of the adoption until such books are worn out, not exceeding one year from the date of adoption.

Rev., s. 4062; 1901, c. 1, s. 18.

5702. Provision for purchase when contractor fails to supply. Nothing herein shall prevent or prohibit the patrons of the public schools throughout the state from procuring books in the usual way, in case no contract shall be made or the contractor fails or refuses to furnish the books provided for in this article at the time required for their use in the respective schools.

Rev., s. 4062; 1901, c. 1, s. 17.

5703. Advertisement for bids. At any time within six months before the expiration of the now existing contracts the commission shall advertise, in such manner and for such a length of time and at such places as may be deemed advisable, that at a time and place fixed definitely in the advertisement sealed bids or proposals will be received from the publishers of school text-books for furnishing books to the public schools in the state of North Carolina, through agencies established by the publishers in the several counties, and in the several places in the counties of the state as may be provided for in such regulations as the commission may adopt and prescribe. The advertisement shall also state in substance the requirements of the section providing how bids are to be made and their contents, and shall reserve the right to the commission to reject all bids.

Rev., s. 4068; 1901, c. 1, ss. 1, 7, 11, 14; 1911, c. 118, s. 1(j).

5704. Form and contents of bids. The bids or proposals shall be for furnishing books for a period of five years, and no longer, and no bid for a longer period shall be considered. The bids shall state specifically and definitely the price at which books are to be furnished and the exchange price at which such books are to be furnished, and shall be accompanied by ten or more specimen copies of each and every book proposed to be furnished. It shall be required of each bidder to deposit with the treasurer of the state a sum of money, such as the commission may require, not less than five hundred nor more than twenty-five hundred dollars, according to the number of books each bidder may propose to supply, and such deposits shall be forfeited absolutely to the state if the bidder making the deposit of any sum shall fail or refuse to make and execute such contract and bond, as is hereinafter required, within such time as the commission shall require. All bids shall be sealed and deposited with the secretary of state, to be by him delivered to the commission when in executive session, for the purpose of considering the same, when they shall be opened in the presence of the commission. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state to carefully preserve in his office, as the standard of quality and excellence to be maintained in such book during the continuance of the contracts for furnishing the same, the specimen or sample copies of all books which have been the basis of any contract, together with the original bid or proposal.

Rev., s. 4069; 1901, c. 1, ss. 7, 9, 10.

5705. Bids and proposals may be rejected. The commission shall have and reserve the right to reject any and all bids or proposals if of the opinion that any or all should for any reason be rejected; and in case it fail from among the bids or proposals submitted to select or adopt any books upon any of the branches prescribed by this article, may readvertise for sealed bids or proposals, under the same terms and conditions as before, and proceed with its investigations in all respects as in the first instance and as required by the terms and provisions of this article; and the commission shall have and reserve the same rights in cases of advertisement for and presentation of bids and proposals for manuscripts and unpublished books hereinafter provided for in this article.

Rev., s. 4070; 1901, c. 1, s. 11.

5706. Adoption of manuscripts and unprinted books. In the event that the commission rejects the bid for furnishing any book, or in case it fail to adopt any book of the classes required, it may advertise for sealed bids or proposals from authors or publishers of text-books who have manuscripts of books not yet published, for prices at which they will publish and furnish in book form such manuscripts for use in the public schools of North Carolina, proceeding in like manner as in bids for furnishing books; but the state itself shall not under any circumstances enter into any contract binding it to pay for the publication of any book, but in the contract with the owner of the manuscript it shall be provided that he shall pay the compensation to the publisher for the publication and putting in book form the manuscript, together with the cost and expense of copyrighting the same.

All such bids or proposals shall be accompanied with a cash deposit of from five hundred to twenty-five hundred dollars, as the commission may direct, and as heretofore provided in this article; and it is expressly provided that any person now doing business or proposing to do business in this state shall have the right to bid for the contract to be awarded hereunder in manner as follows: In response to the advertisement such person may submit his written bid to edit or have edited, published, and supplied for use in the public schools in this state any book provided for hereunder. Instead of filing with the bid or proposal a sample or specimen or copy of each book proposed to be furnished, he may exhibit to the commission, in manuscript or printed form, the matter proposed to be incorporated in any book, together with such a description and illustration of the form and style thereof as will be fully intelligible and satisfactory to the commission, or he may submit a book the equal of which in every way he proposes to furnish, and he shall accompany his bid or proposal with the cash deposit hereinbefore required. All such books and manuscripts shall be examined and reported upon by the subcommission before being adopted.

Rev., s. 4071; 1901, c. 1, s. 11.

5707. Commission to deliver sample books to subcommission. It shall be the duty of the commission to meet at the time and place designated in the advertisement and take out the sample or specimen copies submitted, upon which the bids are based, and refer and submit them to the subcommission, as provided for and directed in this article, with instructions to the subcommission to report at a time specified, with the classification and recommendation, as provided in this article.

Rev., s. 4072; 1901, c. 1, s. 8.

5708. Adoption of books. When the report of the subcommission is submitted it shall be the duty of the commission and the subcommission to meet in joint executive session to open and examine all sealed proposals submitted and received in pursuance of the notice or advertisement provided for in this article. It shall be the duty of the commission and the subcommission to examine and consider all such bids or proposals, together with the report and recommendation of the subcommission, and determine, in the manner provided in this article, what books, upon the branches hereinabove mentioned, shall be selected for adoption, taking into consideration the size, quality as to the subject-matter, material, printing, binding, and the mechanical execution and price, and the general suitability for the purpose desired and intended.

Rev., s. 4073; 1901, c. 1, s. 8; 1911, c. 118, s. 1(k).

5709. Award of contract. After the selection or adoption shall have been made, the commission shall award the contracts, and shall by registered letter notify the publishers or proposers to whom the contracts have been awarded. But the commission shall not, in any case, contract with any person for the use of any book which shall be sold to patrons for use in any public school in the state in excess of the price at which such book is to be furnished by such person, under contract, to any state, county, or school district in the United States, under like conditions as those prevailing in this state and under this article.

Rev., s. 4073; 1901, c. 1, s. 9.

5710. Execution of contract. Upon the awarding of the contracts it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to prepare the same in accordance with the terms and provisions of this article. On behalf of the state the contracts shall be executed by the governor and secretary of state, and the seal of the state shall be set thereto. All such contracts shall be executed in triplicate, of which one shall be kept by the secretary of the commission, one shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and one shall be retained by the contracting party. All contracts entered into or renewed under the provisions of this article shall be for the term of five years.

Rev., s. 4074; 1901, c. 1, ss. 8, 14.

5711. Stipulations in contract. It shall be stipulated in each contract that the contractor has never furnished, and is not now furnishing under contract, any state, county, or school district in the United States where like conditions prevail as are then prevailing in this state and under this article, the same books as are embraced in the contract at a price below that stipulated in the contract; and the commission is hereby authorized and directed, at any time that it may find that any books have been sold at a lower price under contract to any state, county, or school district, to sue upon the bond of the contractor and recover the difference between the contract price and the lower price for which books have been sold. It shall also be stipulated in the contract that the contractor shall take up school books in use in this state at the date of such contract, and receive the same in exchange for new books, allowing a price for such old books not less than fifty per cent of the contract price of the new books.

Rev., s. 4075; 1901, c. 1, ss. 9, 10.

5712. Liability of state on contract. It shall always be a part of the terms and conditions of every contract made in pursuance of this article that the state of North Carolina shall not be liable to any contractor in any manner for any sum whatever, but all such contractors shall receive their pay and compensation solely and exclusively from the proceeds of the sale of books, as provided for in this article.

Rev., s. 4076; 1901, c. 1, s. 10.

5713. Power to alter contracts. Nothing in this article shall prevent the commission and any contractor agreeing thereto from in any manner changing or altering any contract, if four members of the commission shall agree to the change and think it advisable and for the best interest of the public schools of the state.

Rev., s. 4077; 1901, c. 1, s. 9.

5714. Books must come up to sample. The books furnished under any contract shall, at all times during the existence of the contract, in all respects be equal to the specimen or sample copies furnished with the bid.

Rev., s. 4078; 1901, c. 1, s. 9.

5715. Bond of contractor. At the time of the execution of the contract the contractor shall enter into a bond in the sum of not less than ten thousand dollars, payable to the state of North Carolina, the amount of the bond within such limits to be fixed by the commission, conditioned for the faithful, honest, and exact performance of his contract, and shall further provide for the payment of reasonable attorneys' fees in case of recovery in any suit upon the same, with three or more good and solvent sureties, actual citizens and residents of this state, or any guaranty company authorized to do business in this state may become the surety on such bond; and it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to prepare and approve such bonds. The commission may at any time, by giving thirty days notice, require additional security or additional bond.

Rev., s. 4079; 1901, c. 1, ss. 8, 9.

5716. Action on the bond. 1. Suit by commission. In case any contractor shall fail to execute specifically the terms and provisions of his contract, the commission is hereby empowered and directed to bring an action upon the bond of such contractor for the recovery of any and all damages. Such action shall be in the name of the state of North Carolina, and the recovery shall be for the benefit of the public school fund of the state and counties, and when collected shall be placed in the treasury of the school fund. The bond shall not be exhausted by a single recovery, but may be sued on from time to time until the full amount thereof shall be recovered.

2. Suit by county board. And it is expressly provided that should any party contracting to furnish books, as provided for in this article, fail to furnish them or otherwise break his contract, in addition to the right of the state to sue on the bond hereinabove required, the chairman of the county board of education or any member thereof may sue in the name of the state in the courts of the state having jurisdiction, and recover on such bond the full value of the books so failed to be furnished, for the use and benefit of the school fund of the county. In all such cases service of process may be made on any agent or contractor in the county, or if no agent is in the county, then service may be made on any agent in charge of any depository, and such service shall be and stand in the place of service on the defendant contractor.

Rev., s. 4080; 1901, c. 1, ss. 8, 9, 13.

5717. Deposits by bidders; return and forfeiture. When any person shall have been awarded a contract, and shall have given the bond required, the commission, through its secretary, shall so inform the treasurer of the state, who shall then return to such contractor the cash deposit made by him; and the commission, through its secretary, shall inform the treasurer of the names of the unsuccessful bidders or proposers, and the treasurer shall, upon the receipt of this notice, return to them the amounts deposited by them in cash at the time of the submission of their bids. Should any person fail or refuse to execute a contract and give the bond, as required by this article, within thirty days after the awarding of the contract to him and the mailing of the registered letter containing notice thereof, which shall be sufficient evidence that the notice was given and received, the cash deposit shall be deemed and is hereby declared forfeited to the state of North Carolina, and it shall be the duty of the treasurer to place such cash deposit in the treasury of the state, to the credit of the school fund.

Rev., s. 4081; 1901, c. 1, s. 8.

5718. Prices to be printed on books. It shall be the duty of all contractors to print plainly on the back of each book the contract price, as well as the exchange price at which it is agreed to be furnished, but the books submitted as sample or specimen copies with the original bid shall not have the price printed on them before they are submitted to the subcommission; and all books shall be sold to the consumer at the retail contract price, and on each book shall be printed the following: "The price fixed hereon is fixed by state contract, and any deviation therefrom should be reported to your county superintendent of public instruction or to the state superintendent at Raleigh."

Rev., s. 4082; 1901, c. 1, ss. 9, 13, 19.

5719. Selling books at greater than contract price misdemeanor. If any dealer, clerk, or agent shall sell any book adopted by the text-book commission for a greater price than the contract price he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars.

Rev., s. 3834; 1901, c. 1, s. 19.

5720. Distributing agencies and depositories; penalty failure to have. There shall be maintained in each county in the state not less than one and as many more agencies as the commission, upon recommendation of the county board of education, shall order, to be located at such points as the county board may recommend, for the distribution of books to the patrons; or the contractor shall be permitted to make arrangements with merchants or others for the handling and distribution of the books. Parties living in the country where no agency has been established or no arrangement made for the distribution may order the same from one of the contractors, who shall deliver any book so ordered to the person ordering, to his postoffice address, freight, express, postage, or other charges prepaid, at the retail contract price, if the price of the books so ordered shall be paid in advance.

The contractors shall maintain one or more joint state depositories at some convenient distributing point or points in the state, at which shall be kept at all times an ample supply of all adopted books for the convenient and expeditious supply of books to the local depositories in the various counties of the state. Whenever demanded and certified by the county superintendent of public instruction of any county to be necessary to secure and keep on hand an ample supply of books at any local depository, the contractors shall furnish books to such local depository on consignment.

And every contractor shall be required to keep on hand at all times at every established agency in every county an ample supply of books to meet all demands of patrons and purchasers, and upon failure to do so, or upon failure to establish agencies when ordered to do so by the commission, as directed herein, the contractor shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars for each and every failure to comply with the provisions of this section, to be sued for by the attorney-general in the name of the state in the superior court of Wake county, for the benefit of the school fund of the county injured by such failure; and if any contractor against whom judgment shall be obtained for such penalty shall fail to pay the same within thirty days after the docketing thereof, he shall forfeit his contract, and the commission shall so declare, and shall thereupon proceed to make a new contract for books with some other contractor. The county superintendent shall notify the contractors annually of the date of opening the public schools at least thirty days before they open.

5721. Contract proclaimed by governor; notices by state superintendent. As soon as the commission shall have entered into a contract for the furnishing or supplying of books for use in public schools, it shall be the duty of the governor to issue his proclamation announcing such fact to the people of the state. And as soon thereafter as practicable the state superintendent shall issue a circular letter to each county superintendent in the state and to such others as he may desire, which letter shall contain the list of books adopted, the prices, location of agencies, and method of distribution, and such other information as he may deem necessary.

Rev., s. 4084; 1901, c. 1, ss. 12, 15.

ART. 42. HIGH SCHOOL TEXT-BOOKS

5722. Unit of adoption the county. The unit for the adoption of high school text-books shall be the county.

1919, c. 201, s. 1.

5723. State superintendent to prepare list of approved text-books. The state superintendent of public instruction shall, within one year from the eighth day of March, nineteen hundred and nineteen, have prepared a list of approved text-books for use in all public high schools of the state, from which list adoptions for each county in each subject of study taught in the high schools of the county shall be made in the manner prescribed in this article; and the state superintendent of public instruction shall have the state list of approved high school text-books printed, showing the wholesale, retail, and exchange prices as agreed upon by contract with the publishers of approved books under the provisions of this article.

5724. County committee to recommend books. The county board of education of each county shall, upon recommendation of the county committee on high school text-books, every four years, except as hereafter provided, adopt a county list which shall be made up from the state list of approved books provided for in the preceding section; and the said committee to select high school text-books for each county shall be composed of the county superintendent of public instruction, the superintendent of the largest city or town school system of the county, and three high school principals or teachers chosen from the different high schools of the county, to be selected jointly by the two above mentioned county and city superintendents: Provided, that in a county where such a committee cannot be secured according to the manner provided above, the state high school inspector shall recommend to the county board of education of said county the high school books to be used in said county, and the county board of education shall adopt the list of books so recommended; and the county adoptions of high school text-books under this article shall be limited to the state list of approved high school text-books to be selected under the direction of the state superintendent of public instruction and published by him as provided in the preceding section: Provided, that nothing in this article shall be so construed as to prevent the county committee on high school text-books from recommending the use of, and the county board of education from adopting, more than one book in a subject for use in the different types of high schools that may require books of greater or less difficulty, nor shall any high school be prevented from using necessary supplementary books.

5725. Publishers to submit samples with prices to state superintendent. The state superintendent of public instruction shall give notice to the publishers of high school text-books in such manner as he may choose, that each publisher wishing to have any book adopted for use in the high schools of North Carolina shall submit six copies of the same (of his regular, standard edition) to the state superintendent of public instruction, together with a statement in writing of the price at which the said publisher will sell such book to properly constituted high school authorities in the state. The publisher shall quote to the state superintendent of public instruction the wholesale, retail, and exchange prices of each book he submits, which prices shall not be higher than are charged for the same book in any other state adopting high school text-books under a plan similar to that prescribed in this article.

5726. State committee on high school text-books; duties, reports to state superintendent. The state superintendent of public instruction shall appoint a state committee on high school text-books, consisting of five members, who shall serve without pay except reimbursement out of the state treasury upon the requisition of the state superintendent of public instruction for actual expenses incurred by attendance upon meetings of the committee that may be called by, or under the direction of, the state superintendent of public instruction. It shall be the duty of the state committee on high school text-books to make an examination of each book submitted by any publisher, under the provisions of this article, with a view to determining whether or not the contents, quality, and price of said book are such as to make it suitable and desirable for use in public high schools of this state; and the said state committee on high school text-books shall, every four years, except as herein otherwise provided, submit to the state superintendent of public instruction, on or before the first day of January of each year within which county adoptions are to be made, a report of its findings, with recommendations as to the books that shall be placed on the state approved list, which list shall constitute the state adopted list for a period of four years, except as herein otherwise provided.

5727. State superintendent approves list. All books recommended for use in the public high schools of the state by the state committee on high school text-books that meet with the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction shall then be placed upon the state list of approved text-books at the prices agreed upon under contract entered into by him with the publisher of approved high school text-books.

5728. State superintendent contracts with publishers. The state superintendent of public instruction shall then enter into a contract with every publisher having books on the state list of approved high school text-books to sell such books to the properly constituted authorities throughout the state in the manner provided for in this article.

5729. Bond of publishers. Each publisher having any book on the state list of approved books shall file with the state superintendent of public instruction a bond payable to the state of North Carolina, with some surety company authorized to do business in the state as surety thereon, in the sum to be determined by the state superintendent of public instruction, said sum being not less than five hundred dollars and not more than twenty-five hundred dollars, according to the number of books filed; the bond to be conditioned as follows:

1. That the publisher will furnish any of the books at the price and under the conditions listed in his contract with the state superintendent of public instruction to the duly constituted high school authorities of the state during the time said contract is continued in force.

2. That the price of any book or books shall not exceed the lowest price the publisher has made elsewhere in the United States under a plan similar to that prescribed in this article, and that he will maintain said price uniformly throughout the state on the books filed and approved under the provisions of this article.

3. With such notice the superintendent shall send a list of such clothing as shall be prescribed by the board of trustees of the institution, and a blank form of certificate of health and freedom of exposure to contagious disease at such time. In case the parents or custodian of such person shall be financially unable to furnish the clothing as required, the clerk shall procure the clothing at a cost not to exceed twenty dollars, and the payment for same shall be made out of the county treasury by the board of county commissioners upon the certificate of the clerk of the court.

5902. Conveyance to and from school upon discharge. Upon receiving notice that such person can be admitted to the institution, the clerk shall order the parents, custodian, or applicant to convey such person to the institution without expense to the institution or the county. In case such parents, custodian, or applicant is financially unable to bear such expense, the clerk shall cause the person to be conveyed to the institution in the same manner and in accordance with the same forms as are now provided by law for the transfer of patients to insane hospitals, so far as they are applicable. And when any child or person, who is or has been an inmate of the institution, is dismissed or discharged from said institution in accordance with the rules and regulations of said institution, the parent or guardian of such child or person shall come, or send some responsible person, to receive said child or person and convey same to his or her legal residence, without cost to the institution; and in case the parent or guardian of said child or person is wholly unable to bear such expense, then the commissioners of said county shall allow such expense.

5903. Clothing and conveyance of children at cost of county. In case the parents of a child between the ages of six and twenty-one are wholly unable to bear the expense of furnishing the clothing of said child as required by the rules and regulations of the board of directors of said school, or of furnishing the money for transportation of such child to the school, it shall be the duty of the county from which the child is sent to bear such cost, in the manner provided for adults in the other sections of this article.

5905. Bond issue for establishment of school authorized. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this article a sum of money not exceeding sixty thousand dollars shall be appropriated to be used and expended for the purposes herein mentioned within the next two years, and the state treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to issue bonds of the State of North Carolina, payable forty years after the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, to an amount not exceeding the sum of sixty thousand dollars, such bonds to be issued and sold, after due advertising, on the best obtainable terms from time to time as the money is needed to meet the expenses of building the institution. All of said bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per cent per annum, from the date of issue until paid, which said interest shall be paid semiannually the first days of January and July of each and every year, so long as any portion of the said bonds shall remain due and unpaid. If in the progress of the work funds should be needed at a time when financial conditions should seem unfavorable for the sale of bonds, then, in his discretion, the state treasurer may, and he is hereby fully authorized, to negotiate a temporary loan or loans upon the best obtainable terms, and, if necessary, to pledge any of the unsold bonds as collateral therefor.

1911, c. 87, s. 9.

5906. Form of such bonds and coupons. The bonds authorized and directed to be issued by the preceding section shall be coupon bonds of the denomination

1911, c. 87, s. 10.

5907. Bonds exempt from taxation. The said bonds and coupons shall be exempt from all state, county or municipal taxation or assessment, direct or indirect, general or special, whether imposed for the purposes of general revenue or otherwise, and the interest paid thereon shall not be subject to taxation as for income, nor shall said bonds and coupons be subject to taxation when constituting a part of the surplus of any bank, trust company, or other corporation, but when constituting a part of such surplus shall be deducted from the total assets in order to ascertain the taxable value of such shares.

5908. State bonds for permanent improvements authorized. For the purpose of making permanent improvements to the Caswell training school at Kinston, North Carolina, the state treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to issue bonds of the state of North Carolina, payable ten years after the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, to an amount not to exceed the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars. The appropriation provided for in this section shall not interfere with other appropriations made by the general assembly of nineteen hundred and seventeen, but if the income of the state is insufficient to meet all appropriations the treasurer of the state is hereby directed to borrow sufficient funds to meet the appropriation provided for in this section.

5909. Interest on such bonds. All of said bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per cent per annum from the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, until paid, which said interest shall be payable semiannually on the first day of January and July of each and every year so long as any portion of the said bonds shall remain due and unpaid.

1917, c. 269, s. 2.

5910. Terms of bonds and coupons; sale of bonds. The bonds authorized and directed to be issued by the preceding section shall be coupon bonds of the denomination of five hundred dollars and one thousand dollars each, as may be determined by the state treasurer, and they shall be signed by the governor and state treasurer and sealed with the great seal of the state. The coupons thereon may be signed by the state treasurer alone, or may have a facsimile of his signature printed, engraved, or lithographed thereon, and the bonds shall in all other respects be in such form as the state treasurer may direct; and the coupons thereon shall, after maturity, be receivable in payment of all taxes, debts, dues, licenses, fines, and demands due the state of North Carolina of any kind whatsoever, which shall be expressed on the face of the bonds. Before selling the bonds herein authorized to be issued, the treasurer shall advertise the sale and invite sealed bids in such manner as in his judgment may seem to be most effectual to secure the best price. He is authorized to accept bids for the entire issue or any portion thereof, and when the conditions are equal, he shall give the preference of purchase to the citizens of North Carolina; and he is authorized to sell the bonds herein authorized in such manner as in his judgment will produce the best price.

5911. Bonds exempt from taxation. The said bonds and coupons shall be exempt from all state, county, or municipal taxation or assessment, direct or indirect, general or special, whether imposed for purpose of general revenue or otherwise, and the interest paid thereon shall not be subject to taxation as for income, nor shall said bonds and coupons be subject to taxation when constituting a part of the surplus of any bank, trust company, or other corporation.

5912. Expenditure of proceeds. All expenditures of the proceeds of these bonds shall be under the direction and control of the state building commission provided for by Article 1 of the chapter State Departments, Institutions and Commissions, under the same terms and provisions as are therein set out.

Rev., s. 4292; 1901, c. 89, s. 85.

NOTE.—For definition of political party under primary law, see s. 6052.

This chapter supersedes all other statutes with respect to the same general effect: State v. Edwards, 134-636.

ART. 2. TIME OF ELECTIONS

5914. For state officers. On Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and four, and every four years thereafter, an election shall be held in the several election precincts in each county for the following officers: Governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, attorney-general, and other state officers whose terms last for four years, and at said time and every two years thereafter, elections shall be held in the several election precincts in each county for other state officers whose election is not otherwise provided for by law.

Rev., s. 4293; 1901, c. 89, s. 3.

5915. For presidential electors. On the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eight, and every four years thereafter, or on such days as the congress of the United States shall have directed, a poll shall be opened in each of the precincts of the state for the election of electors of president and vice-president of the United States, the number of whom is to be equal to the number of senators and representatives in congress to which this state may be entitled, and the persons shall be electors for the state as aforesaid, and the voting place in each ward or precinct shall be the same as in elections for members of the general assembly, unless changed by the county board of elections.

Rev., s. 4294; 1901, c. 89, s. 77.

5916. For president and vice-president, by electors. The persons elected and appointed as electors of the president and vice-president of the United States shall assemble on the second Monday of January, in the capitol at the city of Raleigh, and then and there give their votes on behalf of the state of North Carolina for president and vice-president of the United States, and proceed in relation thereto in all things conformably to the constitution of the United States and the acts of congress in that behalf.

Rev., s. 4295; 1901, c. 89, s. 82.

5917. For county officers, solicitors, and congressmen. On the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six, and every two years thereafter, an election shall be held in the several election precincts in each county for members of congress in the several districts, members of the general assembly for their respective counties and districts, a register of deeds, county surveyor, coroner, sheriff, county commissioners, where the county commissioners are elected by the people, and in such counties as have one, a county treasurer, and other officers whose terms are for two years. And on the said first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six, and every four years thereafter, an election shall be held in each county for clerk of the superior court, and at such times an election shall be held in the several judicial districts for the office of solicitor.

Rev., s. 4296; 1901, c. 89, s. 1.

NOTE.—See, also, s. 6005.

For election of congressmen, see section 6005. Appointee to fill vacancy in office of clerk superior court holds only until next election of members of general assembly: Rodwell v. Rowland, 137-617.

5918. For township offices. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six, and every two years thereafter, an election shall be held in each township for the office of constable, and also for justices of the peace in such counties as elect them by a vote of the people, and all other officers elected by a vote of the township.

Rev., s. 4297; 1901, c. 89, s. 2.

Where legislature forms a new township and prescribes a time for election of officers, see Brady v. Comrs., 74-101.

5919. Special election for members of general assembly. When a vacancy occurs in the general assembly by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the chairman of the county board of elections, or of the sheriff of the county in which the late member resided, provided the general assembly shall not be in session, to notify the governor of such vacancy, and in case the general assembly shall be in session when such vacancy occurs, it shall be the duty of the presiding officer in the house in which the vacancy occurs to notify the governor of the same, who shall thereupon issue a writ of election to the chairman or chairmen of the district or county represented by the late member, said election to be held at such time as the governor may designate, and in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Rev., s. 4298; 1901, c. 89, s. 74.

5920. For vacancies in state offices. Whenever any vacancies shall exist by reason of death, resignation, or otherwise, in any of the following offices, to wit, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, attorney-general, solicitor, justices of the supreme court, judges of the superior court, or any other state officer elected by the people, the same shall be filled by elections, to be held in the manner and places and under the same regulations and rules as prescribed for general elections, at the next regular election for members of the general assembly which shall occur more than thirty days after such vacancy, except as otherwise provided for in the constitution.

Rev., s. 4299; 1901, c. 89, ss. 4, 73.

General review of question as to how long appointees to fill vacancies hold offices, in Rodwell v. Rowland, 137-617.

As to term of office of judges of supreme and superior courts who have been appointed by the governor to fill vacancies, under Art. 4, sec. 25, of state constitution, see Appendix A of 114th report, page 923; also see cases cited under Const., Art. 4, sec. 25.

Where A. was elected judge of superior court and declined to accept office and qualify, held that there was a vacancy which the governor had power to fill: Cloud v. Wilson, 72-155.

General assembly has no power to order an election to fill vacancy in office of superior court judge, and any law for that purpose is unconstitutional and void: Ibid.

The words "until the next regular election" in sec. 31, Art. 4, of the constitution, mean until the next regular election for the office in which a vacancy has occurred: Cloud v. Wilson, 72-155; but see Rodwell v. Rowland, 137-617, in which this case is distinguished.

An appointment or an election to an office before the act creating it takes effect is invalid: State v. Shuford, 128-588; Cook v. Meares, 116-582.

ART. 3. STATE BOARD OF ELECTIONS

5921. Board appointed by governor; term of office. There shall be a state board of elections, consisting of five electors, whose terms of office shall begin on the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and five, and continue for two years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. The governor shall appoint the members of this board, and not more than three of them shall be of the same political party. Their successors shall likewise be appointed by the governor, and their term of office shall continue for two years and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Rev., s. 4300; 1901, c. 89, s. 5.

5922. Meetings; vacancies; pay. The state board of elections shall meet in Raleigh on the first Monday in July, in the year nineteen hundred and six, and shall organize by electing one of its members chairman and another secretary, and the chairman of said board may call such meetings as may be necessary to discharge the duties and functions imposed upon said board by this chapter at such times and places as he may appoint. Any vacancy occurring in the said board shall be filled by the governor, and the person so appointed shall fill the unexpired term. The members of the board shall receive in full compensation for their services four dollars per day for the time they are actually engaged in the discharge of their duties, together with their actual traveling expenses, and such other expenses as are necessary and incidental to the discharge of the duties imposed by this chapter.

5923. Called meetings; authority; quorum. The chairman of the state board of elections shall call a meeting of the board upon the application in writing of any two members thereof, or if there be no chairman, or the chairman does not call such meeting, any three members of the said board shall have power to call a meeting of the board. And any duty imposed or power conferred by this chapter may be performed or exercised at such meeting, although the time for performing or exercising the same prescribed by this chapter may have expired. And if at any meeting any member of said board shall fail to attend, and by reason thereof there is a failure of a quorum, the members attending shall adjourn from day to day, for not more than two days, at the end of which time, if there should be no quorum, the governor may remove the members so failing to attend summarily and appoint their successors.

Rev., s. 4302; 1901, c. 89, s. 7.

ART. 4. COUNTY BOARD OF ELECTIONS

5924. County board; membership; appointment; qualifications. There shall be in every county in the state a county board of elections to consist of three persons of good moral character, who are electors in the county in which they are to act, who shall be appointed by the state board of elections at least three months before the next general state election, and biennially thereafter, and whose terms of office shall continue for two years from the time of their appointment and until their successors are appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed therefrom as hereinafter provided. Not more than two members of the county board of elections shall belong to the same political party, and the state chairman of each political party shall have the right to recommend three electors in each county, and it shall be the duty of the state board of elections to appoint said county board from the names thus recommended: Provided, that said chairmen shall recommend such persons on or before the first Monday of August of each year in which appointments are to be made.

Rev., s. 4303; 1901, c. 89, s. 6.

5925. Meetings and organization. It shall be the duty of the county board of elections to meet in their respective counties not later than the first Monday in September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six, and biennially thereafter, and, a majority being present, they shall organize by electing one of its members chairman and another secretary, and it may meet at such other times and places as the chairman of said board, or any two members thereof, may direct to divide their respective counties into election precincts and fix the polling places.

Rev., s. 4304; 1901, c. 89, s. 11.

5926. To establish or change polling places; new polling book and registration. The county board of elections may, in their respective counties, adopt the present election precincts, or they may establish new precincts, but the election precincts and polling places as now fixed in each county shall remain as they now are until altered. In the case of the alteration of the election precincts or polling places therein, they shall give twenty days notice thereof, in some public journal, or, in lieu thereof, in three public places in such county and at the courthouse door. And the county board of elections shall have power from time to time, after dividing their counties into election precincts, to establish, alter, discontinue, or create such new election precincts in their respective counties as they may deem expedient, giving twenty days notice thereof, by advertising in some public journal, or, in lieu thereof, in three public places in such county and at the courthouse door. If any polling place is changed in any precinct, like advertisement of such change shall be given. And there shall be at least one polling place in every township, conveniently located for a majority of the voters. The county board of elections shall have power from time to time to order a revision of the polling book of any precinct in any township and to order a new registration for any precinct; and if and when a new registration is ordered notice shall be given as hereinbefore provided for the alteration of an election precinct or polling place.

Rev., s. 4305; 1901, c. 89, s. 11; 1913, c. 138.

A notice that an election will be held “at the various precincts as they are now established” is sufficient, when the polling places have been fixed and used in previous elections: Comrs. v. Trust Co., 164-301.

Where, in a division of a city into precincts, some voters are left out of the precinct lines, the election is void: Van Bokkelen v. Canady, 73-198. The registrar has no authority to erase the name of a person who is on the registration list and qualified to vote: Williams v. Comrs., 176-554; Casey v. Dare County, 168-285.

5927. Books and stationery furnished to county board. The county board of elections shall make their requisition upon the secretary of state for such books, blanks, and stationery as may be necessary for the registration of voters and holding elections in their respective counties. And if the secretary of state shall fail to provide said books, blanks, or stationery, it shall be the duty of the said board to provide the same at the expense of the state.

Rev., s. 4306; 1901, c. 89, s. 11.

5928. To appoint registrars and judges of election. The county board of elections in each county shall appoint all registrars and judges of election in their respective counties, and fill vacancies except as herein provided.

Rev., s. 4307; 1901, c. 89, s. 8.

5929. Appointment of registrars regulated; vacancies filled. The county board of elections of the several counties shall select, on or before the first Monday in September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six, and biennially thereafter, one person of good repute and standing, who shall act as registrar for each township, ward, or precinct. The said county board of elections shall make publication of the names of the persons so selected at the courthouse door immediately after such appointment, and shall cause a notice to be served upon said persons by the sheriff. If any registrar fail to perform the duties of his office, and for that or for any other cause be removed from office, or shall die or resign, or if there shall for any other cause be a vacancy in said office, the chairman of the county board of elections may appoint another in his place. No person who is a candidate shall be a registrar or judge of election.

Rev., s. 4308; 1901, c. 89, s. 16.

County chairman of political party did not have right to designate the registrar under act of 1897: Mullen v. Morrow, 123-773.
For qualifications of registrar under act of 1897, see Ibid.

5930. How vacancies in county board filled. The state board of elections shall have power to remove from office any member of the county board of elections for incompetency, failure of duty, or for any other satisfactory cause. When any member of the county board of elections shall be removed by the state board of elections, the vacancy thus created shall be filled by the state board of elections; the vacancy occurring in the county board of elections for other cause than removal by the state board of elections shall be filled by the chairman of the state board of elections, but the person so appointed to fill any vacancy shall be of the same political party as his predecessor.

Rev., s. 4309; 1901, c. 89, s. 9.

5931. Removal of registrars and judges of election. The county board of elections shall have power to remove any registrar or judge of election appointed by it for incompetency, failure to qualify within the time prescribed by law, failure to discharge the duties of office after qualifying, or for any other satisfactory cause.

Rev., s. 4310; 1901, c. 89, s. 10.

As to cause for removal under act of 1897, see Mullen v. Morrow, 123-773.

5932. Election returns transmitted to speaker of house. The chairman of the county board of elections, or other returning officer of each county, shall, on or before the fifth day after the election, transmit by mail, in a registered letter or otherwise, to the speaker of the house of representatives, a separate statement of the votes taken in his county for each of the state officers, to wit: governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, and attorney-general, and other state officers; which statement in each case shall be in the following or some similar form, viz.:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA.....COUNTY.

I,, the chairman of the county board of elections of county, do hereby certify that at the election held in the said county to elect a governor (or other officers, as the case may be), at the places appointed by law for holding elections for said county, on the day of, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and, votes were given for, and..... votes for.....

Given under my hand, this day of, nineteen hundred and

Chairman of the County Board of Elections.

If such statements are transmitted by mail, they shall be directed in sealed packets to the speaker of the house of representatives, in care of the secretary of state, and, if by messengers, they shall be sent direct to the speaker of the house of representatives, sealed as aforesaid: Provided, that no messenger bringing said statements or any other abstracts or election returns shall receive compensation therefor. The chairman of the county board of elections, or other returning officers, failing or neglecting to perform the duties required in this section, shall forfeit and pay two thousand dollars, to be recovered in the superior court of his county by any person who shall sue for the same, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and imprisoned at hard labor in the state's prison for twelve months: Provided further, that the chairman of the county board of elections of Carteret, Hyde, and Dare shall have until the eleventh day after the election to comply with this section.

Rev., s. 4311; 1901, c. 89, s. 42.

5933. Chairman to furnish county officers certificate of election. The chairman of the county board of elections of each county shall furnish, within ten days, the member or members elected to the house of representatives and to the senate, when the district is not composed of more than one county, a certificate of election under his hand and seal. He shall also immediately notify all persons elected to the county offices to meet at the courthouse on the first Monday in the ensuing December to be qualified.

Rev., s. 4312; 1901, c. 89, s. 41.

Certificate of county canvassers is conclusive upon county commissioners as to one's right to be inducted into a county office: Hannon v. Grizzard, 96-293.

5934. Where chairmen meet in senatorial districts. The chairmen of the county boards of elections in the various senatorial districts composed of more than one county, after receiving the returns from the board of county canvassers, shall meet on the ninth day after election at the following places in their respective districts for the purpose of comparing polls:

In the first district at Hertford, in the county of Perquimans.
 In the second district at Plymouth, in the county of Washington.
 In the third district at Roxobel, in the county of Bertie.
 In the fourth district at Halifax, in the county of Halifax.
 In the sixth district at Rocky Mount, in the county of Nash.
 In the seventh district at New Bern, in the county of Craven.
 In the ninth district at Wallace, in the county of Duplin.
 In the tenth district at Wilmington, in the county of New Hanover.
 In the eleventh district at Clarkton, in the county of Bladen.
 In the thirteenth district at Fayetteville, in the county of Cumberland.
 In the fourteenth district at Dunn, in the county of Harnett.
 In the sixteenth district at Norlina, in the county of Warren.
 In the seventeenth district at Berea, in the county of Granville.
 In the eighteenth district at Hillsboro, in the county of Orange.
 In the twenty-first district at Aberdeen, in the county of Moore.
 In the twenty-second district at Asheboro, in the county of Randolph.

In the twenty-third district at Norwood, in the county of Stanly.
In the twenty-fourth district at Charlotte, in the county of Meeklenburg.
In the twenty-seventh district at Pilot Mountain, in the county of Surry.
In the twenty-eighth district at Yadkinville, in the county of Yadkin.
In the thirtieth district at Maiden, in the county of Catawba.
In the thirty-second district at Rutherfordton, in the county of Rutherford.
In the thirty-third district at Morganton, in the county of Burke.
In the thirty-fourth district at Jefferson, in the county of Ashe.
In the thirty-fifth district at Burnsville, in the county of Yancey.
In the thirty-seventh district at Sylva, in the county of Jackson.
In the thirty-eighth district at Murphy, in the county of Cherokee.

Rev., s. 4313; 1913, c. 53.

5935. Chairmen to issue certificate to senator elected. Said chairmen or a majority of them after they shall have thus completed the comparison of the polls shall judicially determine the result of the election in said senatorial district, and shall issue a certificate of election substantially as follows:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA—COUNTY OF.....

We,, chairman of the county board of elections of..... county;, chairman of the county board of elections of..... county;, chairman of the county board of elections of..... county; and, chairman of the county board of elections of..... county, do hereby certify that we met in pursuance to law at the courthouse in the town of, on the day of November,, being the ninth day after the general election, and after comparing the polls we find that—

We therefore declare that and have received a majority of the votes and are duly elected as senators from the senatorial district of North Carolina.

..... (Seal.)

If for any cause a majority of said chairmen should fail to be present, those present shall adjourn for one week and give notice of such adjournment to the absent chairmen, which notice shall be served by the sheriff of the county where such chairmen may reside: Provided, however, if any such chairmen shall be incapacitated by sickness from attending, it shall be the duty of the secretary of the board to attend in place of such chairmen and exercise the power conferred by this section upon such chairmen. Said chairmen or a majority of them shall certify under their hands to the secretary of state, upon blanks furnished by him for that purpose, a list of the names of the persons voted for in said district for senator, together with the votes cast for each, and their postoffice addresses.

Rev., s. 4314; 1905, c. 510; 1909, c. 894.

ART. 5. QUALIFICATION OF VOTERS

5936. Persons excluded from electoral franchise. The following classes of persons shall not be allowed to register or vote in this state, to wit: First, persons under twenty-one years of age; second, idiots and lunatics; third, persons who have been convicted or confessed their guilt in open court, upon indictment, of any crime the punishment of which is now or may hereafter be imprisonment in the state's prison, unless such person shall have been restored to citizenship in the manner prescribed by law.

Rev., s. 4315; 1901, c. 89, s. 14.

For restoration to citizenship, see section 385 et seq.

Record of indictment and conviction of a voter of a crime previous to election is admissible to show that he voted fraudulently: Boyer v. Teague, 106-576.

Registrar has no right to ask person offering to register if he has ever been convicted of an infamous crime: In re Reid, 26-337.

5937. Qualifications of electors. Subject to the exceptions contained in the preceding section, every male person who has been naturalized, twenty-one years of age, a citizen of the state of North Carolina, who shall have resided two years in the state and six months in the county, and four months in the precinct, ward, or election district in which he offers to vote next preceding the election, shall, if otherwise qualified, as prescribed in this chapter, be a qualified elector in the precinct, ward, or township in which he resides: Provided, that removal from one ward, precinct, or other election district to another in the same county shall not operate to deprive any person of the right to vote in the precinct, ward, or other election district from which he has removed until four months after such removal, and all electors shall register and vote in the election precinct of their residence, except in case of removal, as above specified, in which case such person shall register in the township, ward, or precinct whence he has removed. The residence of a married man shall be where his family resides, and that of a single man where he sleeps. And it shall be the duty of the registrar or judge of election, when requested by any bystander, to swear any person offering to register, as to his residence, and to have placed in writing opposite his name the word "Sworn."

Rev., s. 4316; 1901, c. 89, s. 15.

Cities and towns, like counties and townships, are parts of the state, organized for the convenience of local self-government; and the qualifications of voters are the same, to wit: citizenship, twenty-one years of age, twelve months (now two years) residence in the state, and thirty days (now four months) in city or town: Van Bokkelen v. Canady, 73-198; Echerd v. Viele, 164-122.

See annotations as to who are qualified voters, under section 5938. See, also, annotations under section 5940.

5938. Registration a prerequisite. Only such persons as are registered shall be entitled to vote in any election held under this chapter.

Rev., s. 4317; 1901, c. 89, s. 12.

Compliance with this requirement is mandatory: Smith v. Wilmington, 98-343. A voter who has been duly registered cannot be deprived of his right to vote, nor will he lose his character as a "qualified voter" by a failure to reregister, unless a new registration is made in pursuance of plain requirements of law: Ibid. Registration of an elector, who is qualified to vote, must be accepted as the act of a public officer, and entitles elector to cast his vote: DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465.

Registration is essential to the exercise by a citizen, possessed of the other legal qualifications, of his right to vote, and when duly made is prima facie evidence of the right: Hampton v. Waldrop, 104-453; Smith v. Wilmington, 98-343. When a voter's name is properly on the registration book, it cannot be erased by the registrar simply at the request of the voter: Williams v. Comrs., 176-554.

As to new registration, see Cox v. Comrs., 146-586, and cases cited.

Registration list is prima facie evidence of who are qualified voters: Clark v. Statesville, 139-490. A qualified voter is one who is entitled to register as a voter, and who is also qualified to vote after such registration: Railroad v. Caldwell, 72-492, 493—a registered voter being one who has lawfully registered and paid his poll tax, Pace v. Raleigh, 140-65; Echerd v. Viele, 164-122. Voter must register anew, when so required, in order to be a qualified voter: Clark v. Statesville, 139-490. Other cases on the subject are: Harris v. Scarborough, 110-232; Smith v. Wilmington, 98-343; Wood v. Oxford, 97-233; McDowell v. Construction Co., 96-514; Markham v. Manning, 96-132; Duke v. Brown, 96-127; Southerland v. Goldsboro, 96-49.

ART. 6. REGISTRATION OF VOTERS

5939. Voter must be able to read and write; exceptions. Every person presenting himself for registration shall be able to read and write any section of the constitution in the English language, and shall show to the satisfaction of the registrar his ability to read and write any such section when he applies for registration, and before he is registered: Provided, however, that no male person who was, on January first, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, or at any time prior thereto, entitled to vote under the laws of any state in the United States where he then resided, and no lineal descendant of such person, shall be denied the right to register and vote at any election in this state by reason of his failure to possess the educational qualification aforesaid: Provided, that it shall be made to appear to the registrar that he or his ancestor was entitled to vote prior to January first, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, in any state in the United States, as prescribed by article six, section four, of the constitution, and such person, if otherwise qualified, shall be registered, and no registrar shall have the right to inquire whether such person can read or write.

Rev., s. 4318; 1901, c. 89, s. 12.

5940. Qualifications as to residence for voters; oath to be taken. In all cases the applicant for registration shall be sworn before being registered, and shall state as accurately as possible his name, age, place of birth, place of residence, stating ward if he resides in an incorporated town or city; and any other questions which may be material upon the question of identity and qualification of the said applicant to be admitted to registration. The registrar, if in doubt as to the right of the applicant to register, may require other evidence satisfactory to him as to the qualification of the applicant. And thereupon, if the applicant shall be found to be duly qualified and entitled to be registered as an elector, the registrar shall register the applicant, giving his race opposite his name, and shall record his name, age, residence, place of birth, and the township, county, or state from whence he has removed, in the event of a removal, in the appropriate column of the registration books, and the registration books containing the said record shall be evidence against the applicant in any court of law in a proceeding for false or fraudulent registration. Every person qualified as an elector shall take the following oath:

I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of North Carolina not inconsistent therewith; that I have been a resident of the state of North Carolina for two years, and of the county of for six months, and of township (precinct or ward) for four months; or that I was a resident of township (ward or precinct) on the day of (being four months preceding the election) and removed therefrom to township (ward or precinct), where I have since resided; that I am twenty-one years of age; that I have not registered for this election in any other ward or precinct or township. So help me, God.

And thereupon the said person, if otherwise qualified, shall be entitled to register.

Rev., s. 4319; 1901, c. 89, s. 12.

Power of legislature to enact registration laws: Harris v. Scarborough, 110-232. Statutes which prescribe registration as a qualification for voting are mandatory, and the officers charged with the enforcement of the law have no authority to dispense with such requisite: Smith v. Wilmington, 98-343; Hardee v. Henderson, 170-572; Hill v. Skinner, 169-405, and cases cited. Only the forms which affect the merits are essential to the validity of an election or the registration of an elector: DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465.

An election held, where no opportunity is given the citizens to register, is void: Perry v. Whitaker, 71-475. Failure to give a voter an opportunity to register will invalidate the election if his vote would have affected the result: McDowell v. Construction Co., 96-514; Hendersonville v. Jordan, 150-35.

Where the voter offers to comply with the law for registration, but is prevented by the wrongful act of the registrar, he is entitled to vote, but a vote cast upon an invalid registration should be rejected: Harris v. Scarborough, 110-232. Failure to administer the oath to a voter is an irregularity which will not deprive him of his right to vote: Woodall v. Highway Com., 176-377; Gibson v. Comrs., 163-510; Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426.

As to the duty of the registrar and of the applicant for registration, see Harris v. Scarborough, 110-232, modified and overruled in part by Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426.

The oath prescribed in The Code, section 2681, was held to be a sufficient compliance with the constitution, article 6, sec. 2: Deberry v. Nicholson, 102-465.

The registrar under a private act is a judge to decide who is entitled to register up to the day of election, and he is not liable criminally for error in judgment: State v. Powers, 75-281.

A board of county canvassers, under election law of 1877, c. 275, had no authority to revise registration or to examine into the qualifications of those who voted or who were not allowed to vote: Peebles v. Comrs., 82-385.

If a division of the city into precincts leaves some of the citizens out of the precinct lines, the election is void: Van Bokkelen v. Canady, 73-198. So much of the city charter as requires a voter, when challenged, to prove by other persons of credibility, known to the registrar, that he has the requirements as to age, residence, etc., is void: Ibid.

RESIDENCE UNDER FORMER STATUTES. "Residence," as used in the constitution, defining political rights, is synonymous with domicile, denoting a permanent dwelling place, to which the party, when absent, intends to return: Hannon v. Grizzard, 89-115. A protracted residence abroad of one engaged in business and with no home in this state, is not consistent with the idea of a residence here: Ibid. Plaintiff was in the service of federal government at Washington, but continued to pay poll tax and vote in this state, and spent a part of each year at his home here: Held, that his constitutional residence remained unchanged: Ibid.

If in reply to questions by registrar elector answers that he is twenty-one years old, and has resided in state twelve months (now two years) and in county ninety days (now six months) preceding election, it is duty of registrar, upon his taking the prescribed oath, to record his name as a voter; but bystanders may require him to be sworn as to his residence: In re Reid, 119-641.

IRREGULARITIES. The presumption is in favor of the validity of an election: Woodall v. Highway Com., 176-377; Hardee v. Henderson, 170-572; Hill v. Skinner, 169-405.

An irregularity which does not deprive a voter of his right or admit a disqualified person to vote, which casts no uncertainty on the result, and which was not brought about by one interested in the result, will be disregarded: Hill v. Skinner, 169-405; Briggs v. Raleigh, 166-149; Younts v. Comrs., 151-582. Vote given at a polling place must not be rejected because of a disregard of those directions contained in constitution or statutes (except as to time and place of holding election) the nonobservance of which amount to mere irregularity. The same principle governs registration of electors: DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465.

Where a registrar gave notice that registration of voters would take place at his residence, but kept books and actually registered names at his store some 300 yards distant, he having left word at house for persons applying there to come to store, it was held that irregularity did not vitiate registration and the election held under it: Newsom v. Earnheart, 86-391.

Where registration book had been lost, and could not be replaced, but registrar procured new book, in which he entered names of such persons as he knew had theretofore been registered, and also the names of those who applied for registration subsequently, and it appeared that, at election following, no one voted whose name did not appear on registration book, that no one voted who was not entitled to vote, and no one who was entitled to vote was excluded: Held, that election was not invalid: Hampton v. Waldrop, 104-453.

Where person entitled to be registered was registered by one with whom registrar left books, and such registration was accepted as sufficient by registrar and acted on by judges of election, the vote of such person will not be rejected for such irregularity: Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426.

Where qualified voters living near dividing line of two townships, which line was not definitely located, in good faith registered and voted in township in which they did not actually reside, but it appeared that they had listed their property for taxation, sent their children to school, and for many years previous had registered and voted in the same township: Held, that the votes of such electors, having been cast, must be counted: Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426, overruling Harris v. Scarborough, 110-232.

Where it appears that the registrar administered the prescribed oath to electors, but that he did not swear them on the Bible, it will be inferred, in the absence of direct proof to the contrary, that the oath was taken with uplifted hand. Administering oath in such manner is sufficient to meet requirements of election law: DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465; see State v. Houston, 103-383.

Where judges of election received ballot of a person entitled to vote, who had, in proper time, presented himself for registration and taken required oath, but whose name, through inadvertence or fault of registrar, had not been entered on registration books: Held, that vote of such person must be counted: Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426; Gibson v. Comrs., 163-510.

5941. Poll tax must be paid before person can vote; receipt exhibited. No person shall be entitled to vote unless he shall have paid his poll tax for the previous year, on or before the first day of May of the year in which he offers to vote, as prescribed under article five, section one, of the constitution. Every person liable for such poll tax shall, before being allowed to vote, exhibit to the registrar his poll tax receipt for the previous year, issued under the hand of the sheriff or tax collector of the county or township where he then resided; and unless such poll tax receipt shall bear date on or before the first day of May of the year in which he offers to vote, such person shall not be allowed to vote: Provided, that in lieu of such poll tax receipt it shall be competent for the registrar and judges of election to allow such person to vote upon his taking and subscribing the following oath:

NORTH CAROLINA, COUNTY.

I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that on or before the first day of May of this year I paid my poll tax for the previous year, as required by article six, section four, of the constitution of North Carolina.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this the day of, 19...

Registrar.

Which oath shall bear date on the day on which such election is held: Provided further, that if not satisfied, the registrar and judges of election may require other and further proof of such payment of poll tax.

Rev., s. 4320; 1901, c. 89, s. 13.

The poll tax referred to is that for general state and county purposes, which cannot exceed $2: Perry v. Comrs., 148-521.

5942. Who may vote without paying poll tax. No person who has become of age since the first day of June of the previous year, or who was fifty years of age or over on the first day of June of the previous year, shall be required to produce any poll tax receipt, or take the oath as to payment of poll tax hereinbefore provided, in order to vote. No person who has been exempted by the commissioners of the county wherein he resides on account of poverty or infirmity shall be required to produce any poll tax receipt or to take said oath as to payment of poll tax in order to vote. No person shall be allowed to vote on any exemption granted by the board of commissioners unless the same shall have been granted on or before the first day of May of the year in which he offers to vote, and bears date on or before said date.

Rev., s. 4321; 1901, c. 89, s. 13; 1903, c. 479.

5943. Sheriff to give receipt for poll tax. Every sheriff or tax collector, upon payment of the poll tax, shall issue to the person paying the same a certificate showing the amount of such poll tax and the true date upon which the same was paid.

Rev., s. 4378; 1901, c. 89, s. 13.

5944. Sheriff to give duplicate when receipt lost. Any person having paid his poll tax as required by law, and having lost his tax receipt, shall, upon making affidavit of such loss and satisfactory proof of his identity, be entitled to a duplicate thereof from the sheriff or tax collector.

Rev., s. 4379; 1901, c. 89, s. 13.

5945. Annual list of persons paying poll tax prepared and certified. It shall be the duty of every sheriff and tax collector, between the first and tenth days of May of each year in which a general election occurs, to certify under oath a true and correct list of all persons who have paid their poll tax for the previous year on or before the first day of May, to the clerk of the superior court, who shall, within ten days, record the same in a book to be provided for that purpose, keeping each township separate, and certify a true copy thereof to the chairman of the board of elections for such county.

Rev., s. 4380; 1901, c. 89, s. 13.

5946. When person can register on election day. No registration shall be allowed on the day of election, but if any person shall give satisfactory evidence to the registrar and judges of election that he has become qualified to register and vote after the time for registration has expired, he shall be allowed to register on that date.

Rev., s. 4322; 1901, c. 89, s. 21.

One who becomes qualified on election day, by reason of his having lived in the state the required time, should be allowed to register on election day: Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426.

5947. Time when registration books must be open; oath of registrar. The registrar of each township, ward, or precinct shall be furnished with a registration book prepared as hereinbefore provided, and it shall be his duty, between the hours of nine o'clock a. m. and sunset, on each day (Sunday excepted) for twenty days preceding the day for closing the registration books, as hereinafter provided, to keep open said books for the registration of any electors residing within such township, ward, or precinct and entitled to registration. The said books shall be closed for registration at sunset on the second Saturday before each election. On each Saturday during the period of registration the registrar shall attend with his registration books at the polling place of his precinct or ward for the registration of voters. Every registrar, before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, shall take an oath before a justice of the peace or some other person authorized to administer oaths, that he will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of North Carolina not inconsistent therewith, and that he will honestly and impartially discharge the duties of registrar, and honestly and fairly conduct such election.

Rev., s. 4323; 1901, c. 89, s. 18.

See annotations under section 5940. The registrar need not be at place of registration every hour of the twenty days specified; an absence of two days would not make void the election when every voter has had a fair opportunity to register: Younts v. Comrs., 151-582. See, also, Hill v. Skinner, 169-405, where the registration books were open eight days.

5948. Registration books deposited with register of deeds. Immediately after any election, the registrar and judges of election shall deposit the registration books for their respective precincts with the register of deeds of their respective counties.

Rev., s. 4324; 1901, c. 89, s. 25.

ART. 7. PERMANENT REGISTRATION

5949. Persons entitled to permanent registration. Every person claiming the benefit of section four of article six of the constitution of North Carolina, as ratified at the general election on the second day of August, one thousand nine hundred, and who shall be entitled to register upon the permanent record for registration provided for under said section four, shall, prior to December first, one thousand nine hundred and eight, apply for registration to the officer charged with the registration of voters as prescribed by law in each regular election to be held in the state for members of the general assembly, and such person shall take and subscribe before such officer an oath in the following form, viz.:

I am a citizen of the United States and of the state of North Carolina; I am years of age. I was, on the first day of January, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, or prior to said date, entitled to vote under the constitution and laws of the state of, in which I then resided (or, I am a lineal descendant of, who was, on January one, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, or prior to that date, entitled to vote under the constitution and laws of the state of, wherein he then resided).

Fact that voter is registered on permanent roll as provided by constitution does not dispense with necessity of registering anew in order to become qualified voter, whenever required by statutes regulating registration of voters: Clark v. Statesville, 139-490.

5950. Oaths administered; names recorded. It shall be the duty of the officer charged with the registration of voters in all such elections held in this state until November first, one thousand nine hundred and eight, to administer such oaths and to record the name of such person on his roll of registered and qualified voters; and all registration under this chapter and under the said section of the constitution shall be had and taken at the times and places provided by law for registration of voters for all such elections in this state until November first, one thousand nine hundred and eight.

5951. Registrar to return list to clerk of court; record. It shall be the duty of such registration officer, within five days after the close of the election, to return to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which he resides a list of the names of all the persons so registered by him, stating therein the name and age of such person, and the name of the person from whom descended, unless he himself was a voter on January first, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, or prior thereto, and the state wherein he or his ancestor was a voter, and the date on which he applied for registration, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court, within ten days after receipt of said list, to make an alphabetical roll by townships of all persons taking such oath and registered by such registrar, and to record the same in a book to be provided for that purpose, which said book shall contain the name and age of such person, the name of the person from whom he was descended, unless he himself was a voter on January first, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, or prior thereto, the state in which he was such voter and the date he applied for registration. And the said roll shall, during the office hours of said clerk, be open to the inspection of the public.

Rev., s. 4327; 1901, c. 550, s. 3; 1903, c. 557.

5952. Clerks to certify list to secretary of state. It shall be the duty of the several clerks of the superior courts of this state to certify to the secretary of state, within thirty days after the close of each election, a copy of the said roll in his office, and it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to record, in a book provided for that purpose, the facts set out in such certified copy, and keep the lists from each county separate. The clerk of the superior court shall keep the lists from each township in separate columns. The books kept by such clerks and the secretary of state shall be plainly lettered "Permanent Roll of Registered Voters," and they shall prepare a complete alphabetical index to the same. And for recording and indexing such names the clerks of the superior courts shall receive as compensation ten cents for each copy-sheet, to be paid by the county commissioners.

Rev., s. 4328; 1901, c. 550, s. 4; 1903, c. 557, s. 2.

5953. How permanent roll prepared and certified; certified copies from roll. It shall be the duty of all officers charged with the registration of voters in any election held in the state to enter the name of such person on the registration book and voting lists of his township, ward, or precinct, and to give a certificate in the following form:

I,, registrar for township (ward or precinct) of county, do hereby certify that on this day of race, of county, township, precinct (or ward), age years, took and subscribed the oath required by law, and has this day been registered on the permanent roll as a voter in said township (ward or precinct), in accordance with section four, article six, of the constitution of North Carolina.

This the day of, 19....
Registrar.

And it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court to certify, under his hand and seal, to the genuineness of such certificate as follows:

NORTH CAROLINA, COUNTY.

I,, clerk of the superior court of the aforesaid county, do hereby certify that the foregoing certificate is in due form, and that the signature of said, registrar of said precinct (ward or township), is in his own proper handwriting.

Witness my hand and official seal, this the day of, 19....
Clerk of the Superior Court.

And for furnishing such certificates and administering such oaths neither the said registrar nor clerk shall be paid any compensation by the person so applying for registration. In the event of the loss of such certificate the person entitled to the same, upon the payment of twenty-five cents, may obtain from the clerk of the superior court, or from the secretary of state, a certificate under his official seal to the effect that his name is on the permanent roll of registered voters from his county, in his office, and such certificate shall, in all respects, take the place of such original, and be used as such.

Rev., s. 4329; 1901, c. 550, s. 5.

5954. When copy of roll obtainable by clerk from secretary of state. In the event of loss or destruction of such rolls in the clerk's office, it shall be his duty to obtain from the secretary of state a certified copy of said roll for his county, and such certified copy shall be good and effectual for all purposes as the original would have been.

Rev., s. 4330; 1901, c. 550, s. 6.

5955. Copy of, or certificate from roll evidence of voter's rights. In all suits involving the right to vote, or trying the title to office, or other action in which such rolls are produced in evidence, all of the facts and recitals therein shall be taken as prima facie evidence of such facts and recitals, and if the right of any voter upon such rolls to vote is challenged, either his certificate or a certified copy of such permanent roll shall be deemed prima facie evidence of his right to vote.

Rev., s. 4331; 1901, c. 550, s. 7.

Section referred to in Woodall v. Highway Com., 176-377.

5956. Registration of voters removing residence. Whenever any voter so registered shall remove from one precinct to another in the same county, or from one county to another in the state, he shall make application for registration, and upon production of his certificate of his being on the permanent roll, as provided in this chapter, under the hand and seal of either the clerk of the superior court or of the secretary of state, and proof of his identity, the proper officer charged with the registration of voters shall register his name and make record of the same as in cases of original registration under this chapter.

Rev., s. 4332; 1901, c. 550, s. 8.

5957. Educational qualification not applicable to permanent registrants. Any person holding a certificate of registration, as herein provided, shall be entitled to register in any county in this state, notwithstanding his inability to read and write: Provided, that he shall be otherwise qualified as an elector.

Rev., s. 4333; 1901, c. 550, s. 9.

The making of a permanent roll or record was intended to be done for sole purpose of furnishing convenient and easily available evidence of fact that those whose names appear therein are not required to have educational qualification: Clark v. Statesville, 139-490.

5958. Secretary of state furnishes necessary blanks. The secretary of state shall procure, provide, and furnish to the several officers named in this chapter and charged with duties under it, all such books, blanks, and other printed matter as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this chapter.

Rev., s. 4334; 1901, c. 550, s. 10.

5959. Books constitute roll in secretary of state's office. The books containing the permanent roll of registered voters, sent to the office of the secretary of state by clerks of the courts of the several counties, shall be and constitute the permanent roll of registered voters, required by this chapter to be kept in the office of the secretary of state, and such books shall be deemed a full and complete compliance with the requirements of this chapter. It shall be the duty of the several clerks of the court, within thirty days after the close of each registration hereafter to be held, up to the first day of December, one thousand nine hundred and eight, to forward to the secretary of state the names of all persons registering under article six, section four, of the constitution of North Carolina, as required by this chapter, and it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to record such names in the permanent roll of registered voters for the several counties.

Rev., s. 4335; 1903, c. 178.

ART. 8. ABSENT ELECTORS

5960. Registration and voting by mail. In all primaries and elections of every kind hereafter held in this state any elector who may be absent from the county in which he is entitled to vote, or physically unable to attend for the purpose of voting in person, which fact shall be made to appear by the certificate of a physician or by affidavit, shall be allowed to register and vote as hereinafter provided.

5961. Registration of voters expecting to be absent during registration period. Any citizen of the state, not duly registered, who may be qualified to vote under the constitution and laws of this state, and who expects to be absent from the county in which he lives during the usual period provided for registration of voters, may be registered as herein provided. The secretary of state shall, on or before the seventh day of August, nineteen hundred and seventeen, furnish to the chairman of the county board of elections in each county a book for the registration of absent electors, which book shall contain separate columns for the name of elector, name of precinct in which elector resides, age, place of birth, race, and precinct in which elector last resided. It shall be the duty of the chairman of the board of elections in each county to register on said county registration book any qualified elector who presents himself for registration at any time other than the usual registration period, and who expects to be absent from the voting precinct in which he resides during the usual registration period, if found to be otherwise entitled to registration, in the same manner as now provided by law for the registration of voters before the precinct registrar in the usual registration period. The chairman of the county board of elections shall, immediately after the appointment of a registrar or registrars for any election to be held in his county, either legalized primary or general election, either for the county or for any political subdivision thereof, certify to the respective registrars in each of such precincts the names, age, and residence, place of birth, etc., of any electors registered on the said county registration book and thereby entitled to vote in such precinct; and it shall be the duty of the registrar in every such precinct to enter upon the regular registration book for such precinct the names of all such electors so certified to him by the chairman of the county board of elections, marking opposite the names of such electors the words "Registered before chairman county board of elections"; and electors so registered shall be entitled to vote in any election in such precinct in the same manner as if registered by the precinct registrar.

5962. Blank certificates and envelopes for absent electors. The state board of elections shall furnish to the county board of elections in each county, at the same time that tickets are furnished for any general or primary elections, certificates in blank, and return envelopes, to be used by absent electors. The said certificates to be in the form as follows:

.....P. O.;date.

The state board of elections shall also furnish to the county board of elections at the same time certificates in form as follows:

.....State;date
To the registrars and judges of election of.....Precinct:
I hereby cast my vote for each nominee of the.....party to be voted for at the election to be held on (give date of election.)

Said certificate shall be signed by the elector, and when signed and witnessed shall be counted as a vote for each of said nominees, subject to the right of challenge.

1917, c. 23, s. 3; 1919, c. 322, s. 2.

5963. Ballots to be mailed to absent voters. It shall be the duty of the chairman of the county board of elections to mail or send to any voter absent from the county, or who is physically unable to attend in person, on application for same, by such voter or any person for him, as soon as received from the state board of elections, one of each form of ballot applied for to be voted in such election, one blank certificate of the kind applied for and one return envelope.

5964. Opening votes of absent voters. It shall be the duty of the registrar in each precinct to open at three p. m. on the day of election all such letters received from such voters, and count the certificates provided for in the second preceding section.

5965. Challenges. The right to vote of any such absent voter shall be subject to challenge in the same manner as if the elector proposing to vote were present in person, and if found entitled to vote under the provisions of this article and the laws of the state, every such vote so received shall be deposited and counted in the same manner as if the voter had been present and cast his vote in person.

5966. Absent voter may sign name on ballot; ballots and certificates to be kept. In voting by the method prescribed in this article the voter may, at his election, sign, or cause to be signed, his name upon the margin or back of his ballot or ballots, for the purpose of identification. The ballot or ballots so voted, together with the accompanying certificates, shall be returned in a sealed envelope by the registrar and pollholders, with their certificates of the results of the election, and kept for six months, or, in case of contest in the courts, until the results are finally determined.

5967. Fees allowed in connection with absentee's voting. The following fees shall be allowed as compensation for services under this article: The chairman of the county board of elections, for registering voters on the county registration book, and certifying same to precinct registrars, twenty cents. The precinct registrars, for entering same on precinct registration book, the same fees allowed by law for registration of voters. The chairman of the county board of elections, for mailing form of certificate, ballots, and return envelope, including postage, five cents. The fees, including postage, shall be paid as provided in regard to the expenses of the election or primary.

5968. Construction in favor of absentee's right. All the provisions of this article, and all of the other election laws of this state, shall be liberally construed in favor of the right of the elector to vote.

1917, c. 23, s. 7; 1919, c. 322, s. 5.

ART. 9. JUDGES OF ELECTION

5969. Appointment. The county board of elections for each county, on or before the first Monday in September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six, and biennially thereafter, or at such other times as it shall be necessary to do so, shall appoint two persons who shall act as judges of election at each place of holding elections in their respective districts, each of whom shall be men of good moral character and able to read and write. The chairman of each political party in each county shall have the right to recommend three electors, residing in the precinct, who shall be men of good moral character, and able to read and write, for judges of election in such precinct: Provided, that no person holding any office or place of trust or profit under the government of the United States or the state of North Carolina, except justices of the peace, shall be eligible to appointment. And the county board of elections shall appoint one judge of election out of each list so recommended: Provided, said lists shall be filed by such chairman by twelve o'clock m. on said first Monday in September.

Rev., s. 4336; 1901, c. 89, s. 20.

Remedy, where election board fails to appoint those recommended by chairman of political party as judges, is by mandamus: Harkins v. Cathey, 119-649.

Person who can write his name, but who cannot read and write generally, is not qualified: Mullen v. Morrow, 123-773.

5970. Names published; vacancies filled; qualify before acting. The county board of elections shall, immediately after the appointment of judges of election as herein provided, publish the names of such judges so appointed, at the courthouse door of said county; and if any person appointed judge of election shall decline to serve, and so notify the chairman of the county board of elections, said chairman shall have the right to appoint another qualified elector of such precinct, who shall be of the same political party, if possible, to serve as judge of election in his stead, and his name shall be published at the courthouse door, and notice of his appointment served upon him as above provided. If any person appointed judge of election shall fail to attend at the polls at the hour of opening the same, the registrar of the township, ward, or precinct shall appoint some suitable elector of the same political party as the judge failing to appear, if practicable, to act in his stead, who shall be by him sworn before acting; and if the registrar shall fail to appear, then the judges of election may appoint another to act as registrar, who shall be sworn before acting.

Rev., s. 4337; 1901, c. 89, s. 20.

5971. Duties of judges. The judges of election shall attend at the polling places for which they are severally appointed on the day of election, and they, together with the registrar for such township, ward, or precinct, who shall attend with the registration books, after being sworn by some justice of the peace or other person authorized to administer oaths, to conduct the election fairly and impartially, according to the constitution and laws of the state, shall open the polls and superintend the same until the close of the election. They shall keep poll books, in which shall be entered the name of every person who shall vote, and at the close of the election the said registrar and judges of election shall certify the same over their proper signatures, or a majority of them, and deposit one copy thereof with the register of deeds and another with the chairman of the county board of elections for safe-keeping. And said poll books shall, in any trial for illegal or fraudulent voting, be evidence.

Rev., s. 4338; 1901, c. 89, s. 20.

ART. 10. CHALLENGES

5972. Registrar to attend polling place for challenges. It shall be the duty of the registrar to attend the polling place of his township or precinct with the registration books on Saturday preceding the election, from the hour of nine o'clock a. m. till the hour of three o'clock p. m., when and where the said books shall be open for the inspection of the electors of the precinct or township, and any of said electors shall be allowed to object to the name of any person appearing on said books. In case of any such objection, the registrar shall enter upon his books, opposite the name of the person so objected to, the word "Challenged," and shall appoint a time and place, before the election day, when he, together with said judges, shall hear and decide said objection, giving personal notice of such challenge to the voter so objected to; and if for any cause personal notice cannot be given, then it shall be sufficient notice to leave a copy thereof at his residence: Provided, nothing in this section shall prohibit any elector from challenging or objecting to the name of any person registered or offering to register at any time other than that above specified. If any person so challenged or objected to shall be found not duly qualified, the registrar shall erase his name from the books.

Rev., s. 4339; 1901, c. 89, s. 19.

A failure to keep registration books open on Saturday before election, during whole of prescribed time, does not vitiate election when no one was denied right of examination of books: DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465. See, also, Younts v. Comrs., 151-582; Hill v. Skinner, 169-405.

5973. How challenges heard. When any person is challenged, the judges and registrar shall explain to him the qualifications of an elector, and shall examine him as to his qualifications; and if the person insists that he is qualified and shall prove his identity with the person in whose name he offers to vote, and his continued residence in the precinct since his name was placed upon the registration list, as the case may be, by the testimony, under oath, of at least one elector, one of the judges or the registrar shall tender to him the following oath or affirmation:

You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you are a citizen of the United States; that you are twenty-one years old, and that you have resided in this state for two years, and in this county for six months next preceding this election, and that you are not disqualified from voting by the constitution and laws of this state; that your name is (here insert name given), and that in such name you were duly registered as a voter of this township; and that you are the identical person you represent yourself to be, and that you have not voted in this election at this or any other polling place. So help you, God.

And if he refuses to take such oath, when tendered, his vote shall be rejected; if, however, he does take the oath when tendered, his vote shall be received: Provided, that after such oath or affirmation shall have been taken, the registrar and judges may, nevertheless, refuse to permit such person to vote, unless they be satisfied that he is a legal voter; and they are hereby authorized to administer the necessary oaths or affirmations to all witnesses brought before them to testify to the qualification of a person offering to vote. Whenever any person's vote shall be received, after having taken the oath or affirmation prescribed in this section, the registrar or one of the judges shall write on the poll books, at the end of such person's name, the word "Sworn." The same powers as to the administration of oaths and affirmations and the examination of witnesses, as in this section granted to registrars and judges of election, may be exercised by the registrars in all cases where the names of persons registered or offering to register are objected to.

Rev., s. 4340; 1901, c. 89, s. 22.

5974. Challenge as felon; answer not used on prosecution. If any person is challenged as being convicted of any crime which excludes him from the right of suffrage, he shall be required to answer any question in relation to such alleged conviction; but his answer to such questions shall not be used against him in any criminal prosecution.

Rev., s. 3388; 1901, c. 89, s. 71.

ART. 11. CONDUCT OF ELECTIONS

5975. Special elections. Every election held in pursuance of a writ from the governor shall be conducted in like manner as the regular biennial elections, so far as the particular case can be governed by general rules, and shall, to all intents and purposes, be as legal and valid, and subject the officers holding and the persons elected to the same penalties and liabilities as if the same had been held at the time and according to the rules and regulations prescribed for the regular biennial elections.

Rev., s. 4341; 1901, c. 89, s. 75.

5976. Opening and holding of polls. The polls shall be open on the day of election from sunrise until sunset on the same day, and no longer, and each elector whose name shall appear registered shall be entitled to vote, unless he is successfully challenged for good cause on the day of election. A space of not more than fifty feet in every direction from the polls or rooms in which the election is held may be kept open and clear of all persons except the judges, registrar, and election bailiffs herein provided for, which space may be roped off with a narrow passage leading to and from the polls, and each elector shall approach the polls from one direction through such passage, and after his ballot is deposited in the ballot box, with as little delay as possible he shall depart by the passage leading from the polls. Only one elector shall enter the said passage at a time, and after the elector has entered, no one except the registrar or judges of election shall be permitted to speak to him or make any signs to him, nor shall he be permitted to speak or to make any signs to any one except the registrar or judges of election until his ballot has been deposited in the box and he has passed out of the enclosure. The said roped space shall, at all times during the hours for balloting, be kept open and clear of all persons except the election officers as aforesaid, and it shall be the duty of the election bailiffs to keep such space so cleared and open: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall make it compulsory for the judges and registrar to rope off said space: Provided further, that when any person is challenged, one challenger for each political party shall be entitled to enter the space roped off during the hearing of such challenge, but they shall retire therefrom upon the challenge being decided.

Rev., s. 4342; 1901, c. 89, s. 23.

That one of officers appointed to conduct election was absent a short time from polls, during which time no vote was cast and ballot boxes were not tampered with, nor was any opportunity afforded for tampering with them, does not vitiate election: DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-456.

In the absence of fraud it is not material to validity of election that the persons appointed judges to hold it electioneered, or were absent from their posts at different times during the day: Wilson v. Peterson, 69-113.

Disqualifications of persons who hold an election for state and county officers will not affect validity of election. Such persons are de facto officers, whose acts are valid as to third persons, and cannot be collaterally impeached: Wilson v. Peterson, 69-113; DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465.

As to effect of irregularities in holding elections, see annotations under section 5940.

5977. Power of election officers to maintain order. The registrar and judges of election in each ward or precinct, the board of county canvassers of each county, and the board of state canvassers shall respectively possess full power and authority to maintain order, and to enforce obedience to their lawful commands during their sessions, respectively, and shall be constituted inferior courts for that purpose, and if any person shall refuse to obey the lawful commands of any such registrar or judges of election, or board of county canvassers, or board of state canvassers, or by disorderly conduct in their hearing or presence shall interrupt or disturb their proceedings, they may, by an order in writing, signed by their chairman, and attested by their clerk, commit the person so offending to the common jail of the county for a period not exceeding thirty days, and such order shall be executed by any sheriff or constable to whom the same shall be delivered, or if a sheriff or constable shall not be present, or shall refuse to act, by any other person who shall be deputed by such township or precinct board of elections, or board of county canvassers in writing, and the keeper of such jail shall receive the person so committed and safely keep him for such time as shall be mentioned in the commitment.

Rev., s. 4376; 1901, c. 89, s. 72.

5978. Appointment of bailiffs to maintain order at precincts. The registrar and judges of election may appoint one or more bailiffs for each precinct or ward to be present during the election to keep peace and protect the voting place, and to prevent improper intrusion upon the voting place, or interfering with the election, and to arrest all persons creating any disturbance about the voting place, and to enable all persons who have not voted, and who desire to vote, to have unobstructed access to the polls for the purpose of voting when others are not voting, and to keep clear the open space hereinbefore provided at all times during the election. It shall be the duty of the election bailiffs to be present at the voting place, and to take such steps as will accomplish the object of their appointment, and they shall have full power to do so; and they may summon to their aid all persons present at the voting place, and may arrest offenders against this section, who shall have the privilege of giving bail. And for the purposes of carrying out the powers herein conferred upon them, the registrar and judges of election shall be and are hereby constituted conservators of the peace. Every person offending against this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 4381; 1901, c. 89, s. 26.

5979. Voter may deposit his own ballot. The ballot may be deposited for the voter by the registrar, or one of the judges of election, or the voter may deposit it if he chooses.

Rev., s. 4343; 1901, c. 89, s. 24.

5980. Size of ballots. The ballots shall be on white paper and may be printed or written, or partly written and partly printed, and shall be without device. The state board of elections may, on or before the first Monday of September, one thousand nine hundred and six, and biennially thereafter, prescribe the size of ballots for state, judicial, and congressional officers, and the county board of elections may, on or before the first Monday of September, one thousand nine hundred and six, and biennially thereafter, prescribe the size of the ballot for county, legislative, and township offices.

Rev., s. 4344; 1901, c. 89, s. 28.

The statute prohibiting devices upon ballots embraces elections for town and city officers: Baxter v. Ellis, 111-124. "O. K." on the back of a ballot is a device: Ibid. That the ballots are not of the required size is not sufficient to reject them unless the difference is so pronounced as to amount to a device: Wright v. Spires, 152-4. A ballot which has a name torn off should not for that cause be rejected: Bray v. Baxter, 171-6.

5981. Contents of ticket. The state officers, viz., governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, attorney-general, and other state officers not herein mentioned, the justices of the supreme court and the judges of the superior court and United States senators, shall be voted for on one ballot; members of congress on one ballot; presidential electors on one ballot; solicitors, members of the general assembly, clerk of the superior court, treasurer, register of deeds, surveyor, coroner, sheriff, county commissioners, tax collector, and every other officer elected by the voters of the county, shall be voted for on one ballot. All officers elected by the voters of a township shall be voted for on one ballot.

5982. Ballot boxes; description; how provided. The county board of elections or, upon their failure, the registrar and judges of election, shall provide in each election precinct in their respective counties ballot boxes for each class of officers to be voted for in which to deposit the ballots for such officers, respectively. Each of said boxes shall have an opening through the lid of sufficient size to admit a single ballot, and no more. Each box shall be labeled in plain roman letters, designating whether congressional, state, county, or township box. The ballot boxes so furnished by the said county board of elections may be kept by the registrars after the election is over, if so ordered by said county board; otherwise they shall be returned to said board. The said registrar and judges of election, before the voting begins, shall carefully examine the ballot boxes and see that there is nothing in them, and thereupon they shall close and securely fasten the same, and no ballot box shall be opened until the time for voting is at an end.

Rev., s. 4346; 1901, c. 89, s. 29.

5983. How votes counted. When the election shall be finished, the registrar and judges of election, in the presence of such of the electors as may choose to attend, shall open the boxes and count the ballots, reading aloud the names of the persons who shall appear upon each ticket; and if there shall be two or more tickets rolled up together, or any ticket shall contain the names of more persons than such elector has a right to vote for, or shall have a device upon it, in either of these cases such tickets shall not be numbered in taking the ballots, but shall be void; and the said counting of votes shall be continued without adjournment until completed and the result thereof declared. Any ballot found in the wrong box shall not be counted, unless the registrar and judges of election shall be satisfied that the same was placed there by mistake.

Rev., s. 4347; 1901, c. 89, s. 30.

While it is irregular to permit other persons than officers of election to count ballots, yet, unless it appears affirmatively that count was not correct, that fact will not be allowed to vitiate election, especially when judges accepted and certified result thus ascertained as true: Roberts v. Calvert, 98-580.

Where ticket was handed to judges of election rolled up and secured by an elastic band, and judges distributed votes among boxes, such votes were properly received and counted: DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465.

If there be two candidates for different offices having the same name, and a ticket be found in ballot box having that name and no other on it, it may be proved by extrinsic evidence for which of the candidates it was given: Wilson v. Peterson, 69-113.

Voter cannot vote two tickets of same kind, but with different names scratched, all left unscratched making a full ticket: Wilson v. Peterson, 69-113.

Where the ballot has more names on it than is allowed by law, but only one name for the office in question, it should be counted: Bray v. Baxter, 171-6. See, also, Mitchell v. Alley, 126-84.

The fact that a name is torn off does not exclude the ballot: Bray v. Baxter, 171-6—nor would the fact that the ballot is not of the prescribed size, unless the difference is so great as to amount to a device, Wright v. Spires, 152-4.

ART. 12. COUNTY BOARD OF CANVASSERS

5984. Appointment of members of board. The registrar and judges of election in each township, ward, or precinct shall appoint one of their number to attend the meeting of the board of county canvassers as a member thereof, and they shall deliver to the member who shall have been so appointed the original return or statement of the result of the election in such township, ward, or precinct, and the members of the several township, ward, or precinct boards of election, who shall have been so appointed, shall constitute the board of county canvassers for such county, and a majority shall constitute a quorum.

Rev., s. 4348; 1901, c. 89, s. 31.

This contemplates only one original return: Jones v. Flynt, 159-87.

5985. Meetings of board; election of chairman; oath of chairman and members. The board of county canvassers shall meet on the second day next after every election, at eleven o'clock a. m. of that day, at the courthouse of the county, and at that hour, without delay, the members of such board who shall then be present shall choose one of their number who shall be chairman, and shall choose one of their members as clerk of said board: Provided, the board of county canvassers of Hyde shall meet on the seventh day after the election. As soon as such chairman shall be appointed he shall administer to each of the other members, and each of the other members shall take an oath or affirmation in the following form: "You do swear (or affirm) that you will faithfully and impartially execute the duties of the board of canvassers according to law." And thereupon one of the members of such board, appointed for that purpose, shall administer to such chairman, and such chairman shall take an oath or affirmation in the same form as that taken by the other members of the board. And before proceeding to canvass and estimate the votes in such county, the chairman of the board shall administer to the clerk thereof an oath or affirmation in the following form:

“You do swear (or affirm) that you will faithfully execute the duties of clerk of this board according to law.”

Rev., s. 4349; 1901, c. 89, s. 32; 1905, c. 222; P. L. 1911, c. 422.

5986. To canvass returns and determine result. The board of county canvassers at their said meeting, in the presence of such electors as choose to attend, shall open and canvass and judicially determine the returns, stating the number of legal ballots cast in each precinct for each officer, the name of each person voted for, and the number of votes given to each person for each different office, and shall sign the same. The said board shall have power and authority to judicially pass upon all facts relative to the election, and judicially determine and declare the result of the same. And they shall also have power and authority to send for papers and persons and examine the same.

Rev., s. 4350; 1901, c. 89, s. 33.

See quo warranto, in chapter Civil Procedure, for contested election cases.

Courts will not interfere by injunction to prevent canvassing board from ascertaining and promulgating result: Bynum v. Comrs., 101-412. Their duties being judicial and involving discretion, the court cannot control their action by mandamus: Britt v. Board of Canvassers, 172-797.

The return of the board of canvassers is prima facie correct: Jones v. Flynt, 159-87. But their judgments or decisions are not so conclusive as to exclude collateral attack in a civil action in the nature of quo warranto; and the word “judicially” in this section does not enlarge the meaning: Barnett v. Midgett, 151-1.

POWERS OF CANVASSING BOARDS UNDER FORMER STATUTES. Inspectors of elections are, under the act of assembly, the exclusive judges of the qualification of voters, and, no corruption being charged or found against them, are not responsible for mere error in judgment: Peavey v. Robbins, 48-339.

A board of county canvassers, in canvassing the votes cast in an election, have no right to go behind the returns sent up by the judges of election from the respective townships of the county: Moore v. Jones, 76-182.

The quasi-judicial functions of county canvassers do not extend beyond an inquiry into and a determination of the regularity and sufficiency of returns themselves: Peebles v. Comrs., 82-385.

County canvassers must decide upon authenticity and regularity of returns; but, when received, returns must be counted as importing absolute verity, as far as the county canvassers are concerned: Ibid.

The power conferred upon boards of county canvassers of elections, by the Code of 1883, section 2694, is confined to an examination and determination of regularity and authenticity of returns, and does not extend to inquiries into any facts which it may be claimed made the election invalid, as fraud, intimidation, etc.: Gatling v. Boone, 98-573.

CANVASSING THE RETURNS UNDER FORMER STATUTES. The return of the pollholders to the ones designated by law to canvass the vote of the county is prima facie evidence of the correctness of the count: Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426; Roberts v. Calvert, 98-580; Gatling v. Boone, 101-61; Peebles v. Comrs., 82-385; Moore v. Jones, 76-182—if for any reason such returns cannot be used, any other competent evidence is admissible to show the result of the election, Gatling v. Boone, 101-61—and the declaration by the canvassers of the result establishes a prima facie right in favor of persons thereby ascertained to be elected, and is conclusive only of right to be inducted into office, Gatling v. Boone, 98-573; Bynum v. Comrs., 101-414, and cases there cited; Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426; Wallace v. Salisbury, 147-58—but such declaration of result does not exclude jurisdiction of proper courts to examine and determine, upon a direct proceeding, correctness and sufficiency of returns and true results of election, Gatling v. Boone, 98-573; McDowell v. Construction Co., 96-514—though such declaration of result, and the certificate of election issued, cannot be attacked collaterally, McDowell v. Construction Co., 96-514; Bynum v. Comrs., 101-412, and cases cited on page 414.

The result of vote is conclusively settled, so far as board of county commissioners are concerned, by certificate of board of canvassers: Hannon v. Grizzard, 96-293.

Where, at close of an election in a township, judges counted ballots and officially declared result, correctness of such count and declaration is not rebutted by introduction in evidence of a tally sheet showing different results, which was kept overnight and during day following election in a public office, where any one could have access to it and which bears signs of having been tampered with: Quinn v. Lattimore, 120-426.

To invalidate an election upon ground of intimidation, burden is upon assailant to show that voters were kept from voting or compelled to vote otherwise than they would. Mere noise, confusion or threats will not suffice: Roberts v. Calvert, 98-580.

Result of an election will not be disturbed because of illegal votes received or legal votes refused, unless number be such that correctness would show a majority for the contesting party: Deloatch v. Rogers, 86-358. County board of canvassers erred in rejecting vote of township because there had been no new registration as ordered, when order was given too late: Swain v. McRae, 80-111. Where there has been no registration at all, the votes cast cannot be counted by proving that none but duly qualified electors voted; possibly this principle might be relaxed where a fraudulent conspiracy to deprive voters of right of suffrage is shown; and it does not apply where legislature has failed to provide means for registration: Harris v. Scarborough, 110-232.

Where the board of county canvassers illegally declared one elected to a county office, and upon his failure to qualify the county commissioners declared the office vacant and appointed a third person to fill the vacancy, this would not affect the right of the person duly elected to have his election determined by the court: Roberts v. Calvert, 98-580.

5987. What returns placed on same abstract. The abstract of votes for each of the following classes of officers shall be made on a different sheet:

1. Governor and all state officers; justices of the supreme court; judges of the superior court; and United States senators.
2. Senators and representatives of the general assembly.
3. Solicitor.
4. County officers.
5. Township officers.
6. Representative in the congress.

Rev., s. 4351; 1901, c. 89, s. 34; 1915, c. 121, s. 1.

5988. Duplicate abstract of votes for higher offices; preparation and disposition. Two abstracts of all votes cast for state officers, representative in congress, for justices of the supreme court, for judges of the superior court, for solicitor, and for United States senators, shall be made and signed by the chairman of the board of county canvassers, one of which shall be delivered to the chairman of the county board of elections, one filed with the register of deeds, to be registered in his office; also two separate abstracts of all votes cast for state senators, when the senatorial districts consist of more than one county, one of which shall be filed with the register of deeds to be registered in his office, and the other furnished to the county board of elections or other returning officer.

Rev., s. 4352; 1901, c. 89, s. 35; 1915, c. 121, s. 1.

5989. Duplicate abstracts of county and township officers; preparation and disposition. Two abstracts of the votes cast for county and township officers and for members of the general assembly shall be made and signed by the chairman of the board of county canvassers, one of which shall be delivered to the chairman of the county board of elections, and one filed with the register of deeds to be registered in his office. The register of deeds shall, within five days after such returns are filed in his office, certify under his official seal to the secretary of state, upon blanks furnished by him for that purpose, a list of the persons voted for as members of the senate and house of representatives and all county officers, together with the votes cast for each, and their postoffice addresses.

5990. Filing of original returns; duplicate abstracts of vote for higher offices. When the canvass is concluded the board shall deliver the original returns to the clerk of the superior court to be filed in his office. The register of deeds shall also deliver by mail to the secretary of state and to the chairman of the state board of elections, each, one duplicate of the abstract of the votes cast for governor and all state officers, for justices of the supreme court, judges of the superior court and solicitor, and representative in congress, and for United States senators.

Rev., s. 4354; 1901, c. 89, s. 37; 1915, c. 121, s. 1.

5991. Who declared elected. The person having the greatest number of legal votes for any office is to be declared elected. But if two or more county candidates, having the greatest number of votes, shall have an equal number, the county board of elections shall determine which shall be elected.

Rev., s. 4355; 1901, c. 89, s. 38.

In case of a tie the county board of elections determines, not who has been elected, but who shall be elected: Bray v. Baxter, 171-6. The fact that the person receiving the highest number of votes is disqualified does not entitle the one receiving the next highest vote to be declared elected: State ex rel. Spruill v. Bateman, 162-588.

5992. Proclamation of result of election. When the board of county canvassers shall have thus completed the comparison of the polls, they shall judicially determine the result of the election in their county for all persons voted for, and proclaim the same at the courthouse door, with the number of votes cast for each.

Rev., s. 4356; 1901, c. 89, s. 39.

The result determined by the board of canvassers makes out a prima facie case for the person declared elected: Jones v. Flynt, 159-87. The presumption in favor of correctness of the result is conclusive until reversed by the judgment of court in a proceeding for that purpose: Wallace v. Salisbury, 147-58. See, also, cases cited under section 5986.

ART. 13. STATE BOARD OF CANVASSERS

5993. Who constitutes board. The governor and four members of the state board of elections, to be named and selected by said board, shall constitute the board of state canvassers, but no member thereof shall take part in canvassing the votes for any office for which he himself is a candidate.

Rev., s. 4357; 1901, c. 89, s. 63.

5994. Duty of board. The board of state canvassers shall open the abstracts transmitted to the secretary of state on the Thursday following the third Monday after each election held under the provisions of this chapter, and examine the returns, if they shall have been received from all of the counties, and, if not all received, they may adjourn not exceeding twenty days for the purpose of obtaining the returns from all of the counties, and when these are received, shall proceed with the canvass, which canvass shall be conducted publicly in the hall of the house of representatives. They shall make an abstract, stating the number of legal ballots cast for each candidate, the names of all persons voted for, for what office they respectively received the votes, and the number of votes each received, and stating whom they ascertain and judicially determine by the count to be elected to the office, which abstract shall be signed by the board of canvassers in their official capacity as state canvassers, and have the seal of the state affixed thereto: Provided, that in all cases of special elections ordered by the governor to fill vacancies in the representation of the state in the congress, the board of state canvassers may meet as soon as the secretary of state may notify the members of the board that the returns from all the counties entitled to vote in said special elections have been received by him; and it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to fix the days of meeting, which shall not be later than ten days after such elections, and it shall be the duty of all returning officers to make their returns promptly, so that the same may be received within the ten days.

5995. Duty of board if abstracts not received. If the abstracts or returns from any county shall not be received at the office of the secretary of state, or by the board of state canvassers, or by the state board of elections, by the third Monday after the day of election, the secretary of state or the board of state canvassers is authorized to obtain from the register of deeds or the county board of elections, at the expense of such county, the original abstracts or returns, or, if they have been forwarded, copies of them.

Rev., s. 4359; 1901, c. 89, s. 64; 1917, c. 176, s. 1.

5996. To estimate votes cast for executive officers. The board of state canvassers shall estimate the votes cast for officers of the executive department from the abstracts forwarded to the secretary of state, and shall publish a statement of the result of such calculation, but this statement shall be for information of the public only, and shall not have the effect to determine what candidates have been elected to such offices. Their election shall be ascertained and declared according to section three, article three, of the constitution.

Rev., s. 4360; 1901, c. 89, s. 68.

5997. To declare result; certificate of election issued. After the state board of canvassers shall have ascertained and declared the result of the elections as hereinbefore provided, they shall cause the result to be certified to the secretary of state, who shall prepare a certificate for each person elected, and shall sign the same, which certificate he shall deliver to the person elected, when he shall demand the same.

Rev., s. 4361; 1901, c. 89, s. 67.

5998. Secretary of state to record abstracts. The secretary of state shall record the abstract or abstracts in a book to be kept by him for recording the result of elections and to be called The Election Book, and shall also file the abstract or abstracts.

Rev., s. 4362; 1901, c. 89, s. 66.

ART. 14. STATE OFFICERS, SENATORS, AND CONGRESSMEN

5999. How returns published and result declared; how tie broken. The speaker of the house of representatives, in the presence of a majority of the members of both houses of the general assembly, shall open and publish the returns for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction and attorney-general, or other state officers, and United States senators, at twelve o'clock noon, on the first Tuesday after the organization of both houses of the general assembly. And if for any cause there be no returns from any county of the state, or if any return be defective, a proper return shall be had in such manner as the two houses in joint session may direct; and in either case the publication of the result may be postponed to such time as the joint session of the two houses may deem best. The person having the highest number of votes for each office, respectively, shall be declared duly elected thereto; but if two or more be equal and highest in votes for the same office, then one of them shall be chosen by joint ballot of both houses of the general assembly. Contested elections shall be determined by a joint vote of both houses of the general assembly in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as prescribed in cases of contested election of members of the general assembly.

Rev., s. 4363; 1901, c. 89, s. 44; 1915, c. 121, s. 1.

6000. How abstract of votes made. An abstract of the returns for state officers and United States senators shall be made by the clerks of the two houses of the general assembly, showing the number of ballots cast for each candidate, the names of all persons voted for, the offices for which they received such votes, and the number of votes cast for each person, and the persons ascertained by the canvass to be elected to the several offices, and said abstract shall be signed by the presiding officers of the two houses and delivered to the secretary of state, who shall record it in the election book kept in his office, and then file it. Said abstract shall also be printed in the journals of the two houses and in the legislative documents.

Rev., s. 4364; 1901, c. 89, s. 45; 1915, c. 121, s. 1.

6001. Regular elections for senators. United States senators to fill vacancies caused by the expirations of regular terms shall be elected by the people at the last regular election before each vacancy shall occur as now provided for state officers, and the tickets shall be furnished, blanks sent out and returns made as for state officers, and the returns canvassed and results declared in the same way.

6002. Election of senator to fill unexpired term. If such vacancy shall occur more than thirty days before any general state election, the governor shall issue his writ for the election by the people, at the next general election, of a senator to fill the unexpired part of the term, and said election shall take effect from the date of the canvassing of the returns, which shall take place at the same time and in the same way as the canvassing of the returns for state officers.

1913, c. 114, s. 2.

6003. Governor to fill vacancies until general election. Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of United States senator from this state caused by death, resignation, or otherwise than by expiration of a term, the governor shall appoint to fill the vacancy till there shall be an election.

1913, c. 114, s. 1.

6004. Congressional districts specified. For the purpose of selecting representatives to the congress of the United States, the state of North Carolina shall be divided into ten districts, as follows:

First District—Beaufort, Camden, Chowan, Currituck, Dare, Gates, Hertford, Hyde, Martin, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Pitt, Tyrrell, and Washington.

Second District—Bertie, Edgecombe, Greene, Halifax, Lenoir, Northampton, Warren, and Wilson.

Tenth District—Buncombe, Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, McDowell, Macon, Polk, Rutherford, Swain, and Transylvania.

Rev., s. 4366; 1911, c. 97.

6005. When election for congressmen held. The election for United States senators whose terms will expire before the next general election and for members of congress shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, one thousand nine hundred and six, and biennially thereafter, unless congress shall prescribe a different time for the holding of such elections, and shall be conducted by the officers provided for holding elections of members of the general assembly in this chapter and at the same place.

Rev., s. 4367; 1901, c. 89, s. 59.

Mandamus cannot be used to interfere with or control the discretionary power of the election officers, nor quo warranto to try title to the office of congressman; the remedy is by contest: Britt v. Board of Canvassers, 172-797; O'Hara v. Powell, 80-103.

6006. Election after reapportionment of congressmen. Whenever, by a new apportionment of representatives among the several states, the number of representatives in the congress of the United States from North Carolina shall be either increased or decreased, and neither the congress nor the general assembly shall provide for the election of the same, then if the said representatives shall be increased, the increased number shall be elected by the qualified voters of the whole state, and shall be voted for on one ballot, and the representatives from the several congressional districts shall be elected by the voters of said districts, respectively, and shall each be voted for on another ballot; but if the number of said representatives shall be decreased as aforesaid, in that event all the representatives in congress shall be elected by the qualified voters of the whole state and shall be voted for on one ballot.

Rev., s. 4368; 1901, c. 89, s. 58.

6007. Special election for congressmen. If at any time after the expiration of any congress and before another election, or if at any time after an election, there shall be a vacancy in the representation in congress, the governor shall issue a writ of election, and by proclamation shall require the voters to meet in the different townships in their respective counties at such times as may be appointed therein, and at the places established by law, then and there to vote for a representative in congress to fill the vacancy; and the election shall be conducted in like manner as regular elections.

Rev., s. 4369; 1901, c. 89, s. 60.

6008. Certificate of election for congressmen. Every person duly elected a representative to congress, upon obtaining a certificate of his election from the secretary of state, shall procure from the governor a commission, certifying his appointment as a representative of the state, which the governor shall issue on such certificate being produced.

Rev., s. 4370; 1901, c. 89, s. 61.

ART. 15. ELECTION OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS

6009. Conduct of election. The election of presidential electors shall be conducted and the returns made as nearly as may be directed in relation to the election of state officers, except as herein otherwise expressed.

Rev., s. 4371; 1901, c. 89, s. 79.

6010. Names of electors on one ballot. The names of the electors to be chosen shall be written or printed on each ballot, and each ballot shall contain the name of at least one inhabitant of each congressional district into which the state may be divided, and against the name of each person shall be designated the number of the congressional district to which he belongs.

Rev., s. 4372; 1901, c. 89, s. 78.

6011. How returns made. The county board of canvassers shall meet in the courthouse of their respective counties as hereinbefore provided, and shall ascertain and determine, by faithful addition, the number of legal votes for every person who shall have been voted for as an elector within the county, and shall certify the same under their hands substantially in the manner and form following, to wit:

We, the county canvassers for county, do hereby certify that an election was held on the day and at the places fixed by law within said county, for electors of president and vice-president of the United States, and that the number of votes hereinafter specified opposite the names of the several persons following was given for such persons as electors for the state of North Carolina, of president and vice-president of the United States, namely: D. G. F. (here state the number of votes for D. G. F.), for J. M. L. (here state the number of votes for J. M. L., and so on, until the list of persons voted for and the number of votes shall be completed).

Given under our hands, this day of, in the year A. D.

Three fair copies of such certificate and return shall be made by the board of canvassers under their hands, and one of the same shall be immediately delivered to the chairman of the county board of elections of the county, whose duty it shall be to attend at the meeting of said canvassers, and who shall forthwith make proclamation and read the same through at the courthouse door; and the said chairman of the county board of elections shall immediately thereafter seal up said copy in an envelope, and transmit the same by mail in a registered letter or otherwise, to the secretary of state at the capitol in Raleigh, so that he shall receive the same within twelve days after the day of election; and one of said copies, together with the original precinct returns, shall be delivered to the clerk of the superior court, who shall record the said copy in The Election Book, and file the originals of said copy in his office. And one copy shall be delivered to the register of deeds, to be registered in his office. The clerk of the superior court shall immediately, after the same shall have been delivered to him, send a copy of the certificate of the board of county canvassers, sealed with the seal of his office, to the secretary of state at Raleigh, so that he may receive the same within twelve days after said election. And in case of failing to make such returns within the time herein prescribed, such chairman of the county board of elections, clerk, or other officer, whose duty it shall be so to do, shall forfeit and pay to the state the sum of five hundred dollars, to be recovered by the attorney-general, in the superior court for the county of Wake.

Rev., s. 4373; 1901, c. 89, s. 80.

6012. Declaration and proclamation of result. The secretary of state, upon the meeting of the board of state canvassers on the Thursday following the third Monday after each election, shall deliver said certificates to the board, whose duty it shall be to then attend, in the presence of such other persons as may choose to be present, in the hall of the house of representatives in the capitol, open the certificates and proceed to canvass the same, and ascertain and determine the result: Provided, that if the returns from any county shall not, by that time, have been received by the secretary of state from the chairman of the county board of elections, or clerk of the superior court, or register of deeds, then the board of state canvassers shall order and compel a duplicate return from the clerk of the superior court and the chairman of the county board of elections, or register of deeds, or both, in such manner as they may think best; and for that purpose they may adjourn from day to day, not to exceed twenty days. The board of state canvassers in canvassing said returns shall merely add up the returns, as certified by the county board of canvassers, but it shall be their duty to disregard any such apparent clerical error or any such technical informality as may not render it reasonably uncertain who was the person intended to be designated as voted for, and what was the number of votes actually received by any candidate. At the conclusion of the canvass, the board shall make an abstract of all votes cast, and shall deliver the same to the secretary of state, together with the original returns from the several counties, to be filed in his office. The secretary of state shall copy the said abstracts in The Election Book directed in this chapter to be kept in his office, and shall, under his hand and seal of his office, certify to the governor the names of as many persons receiving the highest number of votes for electors of president and vice-president of the United States as the state may be entitled to in the electoral college. The governor shall thereupon immediately issue his proclamation and cause the same to be published in such daily newspapers as may be published in the city of Raleigh, wherein he shall set forth the names of the persons duly elected as electors, and warn each of them to attend at the capitol in the city of Raleigh at noon on the second Monday of January next after his election, at which time the said electors shall meet, and in case of the absence or ineligibility of any elector chosen, or if the proper number of electors shall for any cause be deficient, those present shall forthwith elect from the citizens of the state so many persons as will supply the deficiency, and the persons so chosen shall be electors to vote for the president and vice-president of the United States. And the governor shall, on or before the second Monday of January, make out three lists of the names of the said persons so elected and appointed electors, and cause the same to be delivered to them, as directed by the act of congress.

6013. Penalty for presidential elector failing to attend and vote. Each elector, with his own consent previously signified, failing to attend and vote for a president and vice-president of the United States, at the time and place herein directed (except in case of sickness or other unavoidable accident), shall forfeit and pay to the state five hundred dollars, to be recovered by the attorney-general in the superior court of Wake county.

Rev., s. 4375; 1901, c. 89, s. 83.

ART. 16. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS AS TO GENERAL ELECTIONS

6014. Agreements for rotation of candidates in senatorial districts of more than one county. Qualified voters in primary election: Brown v. Costen, 176-63.

6028. Notices filed by candidates to be certified; printing and distribution of ballots. When the time for filing notices by candidates for nomination shall have expired, the chairman of the state board of elections shall within three days thereafter certify the facts as to such notices as have been filed with it to the secretary of state; and at the same time he shall certify to the appropriate county boards of elections the facts as to such notices as have been filed with said state board of elections by candidates for nomination for the state senate in districts composed of two or more counties; and said chairman, acting under the direction of the state board of elections and under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by it, shall, without delay, at the expense of the state, cause a sufficient number of official ballots to be printed for each political party having candidates to be voted for in the primary and distributed to the chairman of the county boards of elections in the several counties, upon which ballot shall appear the names of candidates who shall, under the provisions of this article, have filed notice of their candidacy and otherwise complied with the requirements of this article, except candidates for offices ballots for which are herein provided to be printed by the several county boards of elections, so that such ballots shall be received by the respective county boards of elections at least ten days before the date of holding such primaries. The expense of printing and distributing such official ballots shall be paid by the state treasurer out of funds not otherwise appropriated, upon the warrant of the chairman of the state board of elections. Any election or other officer who shall accept appointment and who shall, without previously resigning, fail to perform in good faith the duties prescribed in this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court.

6029. Only official ballots to be voted; contents and printing of ballots. There shall be voted in primary elections only the official ballots furnished to the chairmen of the county boards of elections and by them to the registrars; and if other ballots be voted in a party primary, they shall not be counted. There shall be as many kinds of official ballots as there are political parties members of which have filed notice of their candidacy for primary elections, and all ballots shall be printed on white paper in black ink and shall be of the same size and style of printing; and the name of the political party whose ballot it is shall be printed in bold-face type at the top of the ballot.

6030. How choice indicated on ballot; how names of candidates placed thereon. Each elector wishing to participate in such primary election shall be permitted to vote for his choice for the nomination for president of the United States by name, to be inserted in the ballot arranged therefor, and to vote for his choice of candidates for the nomination for all other offices provided for by and subject to the provisions of this article, including candidates for the United States senate, by making a cross-mark in the small squares opposite the names of the respective candidates for whom he elects to vote. It shall be the duty of the board of elections having in charge the duty of printing the ballots for primary elections to be held under the provisions of this article to so print the ballots that the names of the opposing candidates for any office shall, as far as practicable, alternate in position upon the ballot, to the end that the name of each candidate shall occupy with reference to the name of every other candidate for the same office, first position, second position, and every other position, if any, upon an equal number of ballots, and distribute the said ballots, when so printed, impartially and without discrimination.

6031. How primary conducted; ballot boxes; voter's rights; polling books; information given; observation allowed. There shall be provided for each election precinct at the expense of the respective counties three ballot boxes, labeled respectively, "National Primary Box," "State Primary Box," and "Legislative Primary Box," for each political party; in the first whereof shall be deposited all ballots for president and vice-president of the United States and members of congress; in the second whereof shall be deposited all ballots for state and district offices other than senatorial districts; and in the third whereof shall be deposited all ballots for members of the general assembly.

When an elector offers himself and expresses the desire to vote at a primary held under this article, he shall declare the political party with which he affiliates and in whose primary he desires to vote, as hereinbefore provided, and he shall then be furnished by the registrar ballots, as desired by him, of the political party with which he affiliates, which he may vote, and he shall not in such primary be allowed to vote a ticket marked with the name of any political party of which he has not declared himself to be a member as herein defined; but any one may at any time any elector proposes to vote challenge his right to vote in the primary of any party upon the ground that he does not affiliate with such party or does not in good faith intend to support the candidates nominated in the primary of such party, and it shall be the duty of the registrar and judges of election upon such challenge to determine whether or not the elector has a right to vote in said primary: Provided, that he may vote for candidates for all or any of the offices printed on such ballot, as he shall elect, and he shall be required to disclose the name of the political party printed thereon and no more. He may in the manner hereinbefore prescribed mark such names as he desires, and these and only these shall be counted as being voted for by him, and he shall have the right to so vote for only one candidate as his choice for each office. If he be a qualified elector and has elected to vote in the primary of a party of which he has declared himself to be a member, as provided herein, he may deposit his ballots in the proper ballot boxes, or he may permit the registrar or a judge of election to so deposit them for him. Any person who has become of the age of twenty-one years between the time when the books closed for registration and the day of the primary election, and who is otherwise a qualified elector, and who desires to register and vote as a member of a political party, may do so in the manner herein provided.

At the time of voting, the name of the voter shall be entered on a primary polling book to be provided and kept for the purpose, under rules prescribed by the state board of elections, which said book shall be provided at the expense of the state for the first election held under this article and subsequently at the expense of the several counties, and upon said book shall be entered, opposite the name of such voter and in proper column provided for the purpose, the name of the political party whose ticket he shall have voted, and said books shall be filed for safe-keeping, until the next election, in the clerk's office of the county in which the ballots are so cast.

It shall be the duty of the county board of elections and of the judges and registrar in each precinct to make all necessary arrangements by providing a proper number of places in each precinct whereby each voter shall have an opportunity, both at all primary and all general elections, to arrange his ballot in secret and without interference from any other person whatsoever; and it shall be the duty of the judges of election and registrars holding primary and general elections to give any voter any information he may desire in regard to the kind of ballot which he may be entitled to vote and the names of the candidates thereon, and, in response to questions asked by him, they shall communicate to him any information which he may desire in regard to the kind of ballot which he may be entitled to vote and the names of the candidates thereon, and, in response to questions asked by him, they shall communicate to him any information necessary to enable him to mark his ballot as he desires.

At the written request of the chairman of any political party of any county, the judges and registrar of any precinct shall designate the name of some elector in each precinct, if there be such elector who affiliates with such political party, who shall be furnished the opportunity to observe the method of holding such primary election; but such elector shall in no manner interfere with the method of holding such election or interfere or communicate with or observe any voter in casting his ballot, but shall make such observation and notes of the manner of holding such election and the counting of the ballots as he may desire: Provided, nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any elector from casting at the general election a free and untrammelled ballot for the candidate or candidates of his choice.

Under this section it is the duty of the registrars and judges of election to determine the right of an applicant to vote, and their determination is final: Brown v. Costen, 176-63. When the polls have been closed, the primary ballot boxes shall be opened in the presence of the registrars and both judges of election at the several precincts and such electors as may desire to be present: Provided, the registrars and judges may fix such space as they may consider reasonable and necessary to enable them to count the ballots. The ballots of each of the several parties in the boxes in each precinct shall be counted and bound in separate packages, and the result shall be certified to the proper county board of elections and by them to the state board of elections upon blanks to be provided by the state board of elections at the expense of the state within the time and, as near as may be, in the manner provided for the certification of the result of general elections.

At the time of holding primary elections for state officers, as hereinbefore provided, there shall likewise be held primary elections for the nomination of the candidates of the several political parties in the state for county offices; and no one shall be voted for in such primary elections for the nomination of candidates for county offices unless he shall have filed a notice with the appropriate county board of elections and shall have taken the pledge required of candidates filing notice with the state board of elections, as hereinbefore provided, and shall have otherwise complied with the requirements applicable to such candidates for nomination for state offices, except in so far as such requirements are modified by the provisions of this article with reference to candidates for primary nominations for county offices.

6044. Returns of election boards to be under oath. The chairman or secretary of each of the county boards of elections and the chairman or secretary of the state board of elections shall file with all returns and declarations of results of election required by law to be filed by such boards an affidavit that the same are true and correct according to the returns made to them; and a judge of election or registrar shall accompany the precinct returns as to results of primary elections with an affidavit that the same are true and correct, according to the votes cast and correctly counted by them.

6045. When results determined by plurality or majority; second primaries. Nominations for president and vice-president of the United States in the several congressional districts shall be determined by a plurality of the votes cast, and in the case of all other officers mentioned in this act nominations shall be determined by a majority of the votes cast.

If in the case of an office other than the offices of president and vice-president no aspirant shall receive a majority of the votes cast, a second primary, subject to the conditions hereinafter set out, shall be held in which only the two aspirants who shall have received the highest and next highest number of votes shall be voted for: Provided, that if either of such two shall withdraw and decline to run, and shall file notice to the effect with the appropriate board of elections, such board shall declare the other aspirant nominated: Provided further, that unless the aspirant receiving the second highest number of votes shall, within five days after the result of such primary election shall have been officially declared, and such aspirant has been notified by the appropriate board of elections, file in writing with the appropriate board of elections a request that a second primary be called and held, the aspirant receiving the highest number of votes cast shall be declared nominated by such appropriate board.

If a second primary be ordered by the state or a county board of elections, it shall be held four weeks after the first primary, in which case such second primary shall be held under the same laws, rules, and regulations as are provided for the first primary, except that there shall be no further registration of voters other than such as may have become legally qualified after the first primary election, and such persons may register on the day of the second primary, and shall be entitled to vote therein under the provisions of this article.

What is a sufficient compliance with the statute in declaring the result: Johnston v. Board of Elections, 172-162. When an election has been held and the result declared, if no one has a majority, a second primary may be held, if demanded in five days by the person receiving the second highest number of votes; otherwise the person receiving the highest number of votes becomes the candidate: Ibid.

While the courts will not interfere with the choice of candidates by political parties, they may require election officers to perform a particular act specified in the statute: Brown v. Costen, 176-63; Johnston v. Board of Elections, 172-162. The proper remedy to require the election officers to place a candidate's name on the ballot is by mandamus, and not quo warranto: Johnston v. Board of Elections, 172-162.

6046. Attorney-general to aid boards by advice and as to forms. In the preparation and distribution of ballots, poll books, forms of returns to be made by registrars and judges, and forms of the returns to be made by the county boards of elections to the state board of elections and to be made by the state board of elections, and all other forms to be prepared by the attorney-general of the state of North Carolina, and it shall be the duty of the state board of elections to call to its aid the attorney-general of the state of North Carolina, and it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to advise and aid in the preparation of all such ballots, books, and forms.

6047. Returns, canvasses, and other acts governed by general election law. The returns to be made by the registrars and judges as to the results of primary elections, and the canvassing by the county boards of elections of such results and declarations of such results, and the reports to be made by the county boards of elections to the state board of elections and other acts and things to be done in ascertaining and declaring the results of primary elections, unless otherwise provided herein, shall be done within the time before or after the primary election, and, as near as may be, under the circumstances prescribed for like acts and things done with reference to a general election, unless such acts and things prescribed to be done within certain times under the general election law shall, with respect to primary elections, be changed by general rules promulgated by the state board of elections for what may seem to them a good cause.

6048. Election board may refer to ballot boxes to resolve doubts. When, on account of errors in tabulating returns and filling out blanks, the result of an election in any one or more precincts cannot be accurately known, the county board of elections and the state board of elections shall be allowed access to the ballot boxes in such precincts to make a recount and declare the results, which shall be done under such rules as the state board of elections shall establish to protect the integrity of the election and the rights of the voters.

This section confers no authority upon the court to investigate and pass upon the methods of conducting the primary: Brown v. Costen, 176-63.

6049. Official ballots for general election of state and district officers; preparation and distribution. It shall be the duty of the state board of elections, in the preparation of ballots for the general election, to prepare one official ballot for each political party for all state and district officers and distribute such ballots to the several county boards of elections in such time that they will be received at least ten days before the date of the general election, whereupon the several county boards of elections shall distribute such ballots to the several registrars and judges of election in their respective counties, so that they will be received at least three days before the date of the general election; and on the ballot of each political party which shall have nominated candidates in the primary shall be printed the name of such party, and under the names of the respective political parties shall appear the offices to be filled by the election and the names of the nominees of each political party for such offices respectively; the expense whereof shall be paid by the state treasurer out of funds not otherwise appropriated, upon warrant of the chairman of the state board of elections.

6050. Official ballots for general election of county officers; preparation and distribution. It shall be the duty of the several county boards of elections, in the preparation of ballots for the general election, to prepare one official ballot for each political party for members of the general assembly and county offices, and distribute such ballots to the several registrars and judges of election of their respective counties in such time that they will be received by such registrars and judges of election at least three days before the date of the general election; and on the ballot of each political party which shall have nominated candidates in the primary shall be printed the name of such party; and under the names of the respective political parties shall appear the offices to be filled by the election and the names of the nominees; the expense whereof shall be paid by the several counties upon the warrant of the chairmen of the several county boards of elections.

6051. Names on official ballot; nonpartisan candidates added on petition. No name other than the name of the person chosen in the primary shall be printed as a candidate of any political party for any office; but upon the petition of any elector, if filed within the time allowed by law for declaring the result of primary elections, when such petitioner is qualified by law to hold a particular office, that his name be placed on the official ballot for the general election as a nonpartisan candidate for such office, said petition to contain a statement under oath that the person so applying does not affiliate with any political party, it shall be the duty of the state board of elections to print the name of such person as a nonpartisan candidate for office: Provided, that in addition to said petition there shall be filed with the state board of elections and within the same time a petition duly signed by ten per cent of those entitled to vote for the candidate for such office, according to the vote cast in the last gubernatorial election in the political division in which such candidate may be voted for. The state board of elections shall prescribe general rules whereby it may be advised as to the authenticity and genuineness of the signatures of such petitioning persons.

See Johnston v. Board of Elections, 172-162.

6052. Political party defined. The term political party as herein used shall include all political parties having candidates who were voted for for state offices at the general election in nineteen hundred and fourteen, and, in addition, any political party which may be declared to be such by a declaration signed by ten thousand legal voters and filed with the state board of elections thirty days before the time fixed for candidates for state offices to file notices with said board of their candidacy.

NOTE.—For definition of political party under the general election law, see this chapter, s. 5913.

6053. Filling vacancies occurring after primary. In the event that any person nominated in any primary election as the candidate of a political party for a state office shall die, resign, or for any reason become ineligible or disqualified between the date of such primary election and ensuing general election, the vacancy caused thereby may be filled by the action of the state executive committee of such political party; in the event of such vacancy in the case of a district office, the same may be filled by the action of the executive committee for such district of such political party; and in the event of such vacancy in the case of a county office, or the house of representatives or the state senate in a district composed of only one county, the same may be filled by the action of the executive committee of the party affected thereby in the county wherein such vacancy occurs: Provided, that should a vacancy occur in any office after the primary has been held, a nomination shall be made in like manner as above provided, and the name of the person so nominated shall be placed on the official ballot.

6054. Certain counties excepted. This article shall not apply to nominations for candidates for county offices and members of the house of representatives in the following counties providing for a primary with respect to said county officers and members of the house of representatives, to wit: Alamance, Alexander, Alleghany, Ashe, Brunswick, Burke, Cabarrus, Caldwell, Catawba, Cherokee, Clay, Dare, Davidson, Davie, Duplin, Edgecombe, Gaston, Graham, Halifax, Hyde, Johnston, Lee, Macon, Martin, McDowell, Mitchell, Montgomery, New Hanover, Northampton, Pender, Polk, Sampson, Stanly, Surry, Transylvania,

At such election those favoring the nomination of county and legislative officers by primary shall cast ballots on which is written or printed "For County Primary"; those opposed shall cast ballots bearing the words "Against County Primary." If a majority of the votes cast in such election shall be "For County Primary," then the provisions of this act shall thereafter apply to such county, and it shall be no longer exempted. Otherwise, such exception shall remain in force.

ART. 2. FUND DERIVED FROM FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES

6063. Fire insurance companies to report premiums collected. Every fire insurance company, corporation, or association doing business in any incorporated town or city in North Carolina that has, or may hereafter have, a regularly organized fire department under the control of the mayor and city council or other governing body of said town or city, and which has in serviceable condition for fire duty apparatus and equipment amounting in value to one thousand dollars or more, and which enforces the fire laws to the satisfaction of the insurance commissioner, shall return to the insurance commissioner of the state of North Carolina a just and true account of all premiums collected and received from all fire insurance business done within the corporate limits of such towns and cities during the year ending December thirty-first, or such portion thereof as they may have transacted such business in such towns and cities. Such companies, corporations, or associations shall make said returns within sixty days from and after the thirty-first day of December of each year.

6064. Tax on receipts for premiums. Every fire insurance company, corporation, or association as aforesaid shall, within seventy-five days from December thirty-first of each year, deliver and pay to the state insurance commissioner the sum of fifty cents out of and from every one hundred dollars, and at that rate, upon the amount of all premiums written on fire and lightning policies covering property situated within the incorporated limits of such towns and cities during the year ending December thirty-first in each year, or for such portion of each year as said company, corporation, or association shall have done business in said towns and cities.

1907, c. 831, s. 2.

6065. Insurance commissioner to investigate returns and collect tax. Every such company, corporation, or association shall make accurate returns of all business done, both on fire and lightning insurance, covering property situated within the limits of such towns and cities; and in case any fraud, misrepresentation, or mistake of any returns, as provided for in this article, be apparent, it shall be the duty of the insurance commissioner to investigate such returns and collect the amount which he shall find to be due.

6066. Penalty for failure to report and pay tax. Every fire insurance company, association, or corporation aforesaid which shall knowingly or wilfully fail or neglect to report or pay over any of the moneys due on premiums as aforesaid, at the times and in the manner specified in this article, or shall be found upon examination to have made a false return of business done by them, shall for each offense forfeit and pay the sum of three hundred dollars for the use and benefit of the fire department of such town or city, to be recovered in a civil action in the name of the town or city.

6067. Insurance commissioner to pay fund to town treasurer. The insurance commissioner shall pay over the money so collected from the insurance companies, corporations, or associations, as aforesaid, doing business in the several towns and cities in the state having or that may hereafter have organized fire departments as provided in this article, to the treasurer of each town or city, to be held by him as a separate and distinct fund, subject to the use of the board of trustees of the firemen's relief fund in each town or city, composed of five members, residents of said city or town as hereinafter provided for, to be used by them for the purposes as named in section 6069.

6068. Trustees appointed; organization. In each town or city complying with and deriving benefits from the provisions of this article there shall be appointed annually, in January, a local board of trustees, known as the trustees of the firemen's relief fund, to be composed of five members, two of whom shall be named by the members of the local fire department, two by the mayor and board of aldermen or other local governing body, and the remaining member by the state insurance commissioner, all to hold office for two years, or until their successors are appointed, and to serve without pay for their services. They shall immediately after appointment organize by electing from their members a chairman and a secretary and treasurer, which two last positions may be held by the same person. The treasurer of said board of trustees shall give a good and sufficient bond, to be approved by the insurance commissioner, for the faithful and proper discharge of the duties of his office.

6069. Disbursement of fund by trustees. The board of trustees shall have entire control of the funds derived from the provisions of this article, and shall disburse the funds only for the following purposes:

1. To safeguard the men in active service from loss of time from their daily work, occasioned by sickness contracted or injury received while in the performance of their duties as firemen.

2. To provide a reasonable support for those actually dependent upon the services of any fireman who may lose his life in the fire service of his town, city, or state, either by accident or from disease contracted or injury received by reason of such service. The amount is to be determined according to the earning capacity of the deceased.

3. To safeguard any fireman who has honorably served for a period of ten years in the fire service of his city or town from ever becoming an inmate of any almshouse or actually dependent upon charity.

6070. Trustees to keep account and file report; effect of failure. The board of trustees shall keep a correct account of all moneys received and disbursed by them, and shall at the annual meeting of the North Carolina state firemen's association render an itemized statement of the same, for publication in the annual report, a copy of which report shall be made annually to the state insurance commissioner; and in case any board of trustees in any of the towns and cities benefited by this article shall neglect or fail to perform their duties, or shall wilfully misappropriate the funds entrusted to their care, or shall neglect or fail to report at the annual meeting of the state association, then the insurance commissioner shall withhold any and all further payments to such board of trustees, or their successors, until the matter has been fully investigated by an official of the state firemen's association, and adjusted to the satisfaction of the state insurance commissioner. Should such payments be unadjusted for a period of fifteen months from the time when such payment would otherwise have been made, then the insurance commissioner shall pay over the said payment to the North Carolina state firemen's association to be used by the association as a general relief fund for the purpose of assisting any local board of trustees where bona fide claims for benefits arising under purposes one and two of the preceding section shall have exceeded the income arising from the local one-half per cent tax.

6071. Municipal clerk to certify list of fire companies. The clerk of any city, town, village, or other municipal corporation having an organized fire department shall, on or before the thirty-first day of October in each year, make and file with the insurance commissioner his certificate, stating the existence of such department, the number of steam, hand, or other engines, hook and ladder trucks, and hose carts in actual use, the number of organized companies, and the system of water supply in use for such departments, together with such other facts as the insurance commissioner may require, on a blank to be furnished by him. If the certificate required by this section is not filed with the insurance commissioner on or before October thirty-first in any year, the city, town or village so failing to file such certificate shall be deemed to have waived and relinquished its rights for such year to the appropriation herein provided for.

6072. Fire department to be member of state association. For the purpose of supervision and as a guaranty that provisions of this article shall be honestly administered in a business-like manner, it is provided that every department enjoying the benefits of this law shall be a member of the North Carolina state firemen's association, and comply with its constitution and by-laws. And it is further provided that a sum not to exceed five per cent of the gross proceeds received by each town or city from the provisions of this article shall be turned over to the state firemen's association for general purposes. One-fourth of the funds arising from the five per cent mentioned herein shall be paid to the colored fire association of North Carolina for general purposes.

6073. No discrimination on account of color. Inasmuch as there are in a number of the towns and cities of this state fire companies composed exclusively of colored men, it is expressly provided that the local boards of trustees shall make no discrimination on account of color in the payment of benefits.

1907, c. 831, s. 10.

the state to which his attention has been called in accordance with the provisions of the next preceding section, or by interested parties, by which property is accidentally or unlawfully burned, destroyed, or damaged, whenever in his judgment the evidence is sufficient, and to specially examine and decide whether the fire was the result of carelessness or the act of an incendiary. The commissioner shall, in person, by deputy or otherwise, fully investigate all circumstances surrounding such fire, and, when in his opinion such proceedings are necessary, take or cause to be taken the testimony on oath of all persons supposed to be cognizant of any facts or to have means of knowledge in relation to the matters as to which an examination is herein required to be made, and shall cause the same to be reduced to writing. If he is of the opinion that there is evidence sufficient to charge any person with the crime of arson, or other wilful burning, he shall cause such person to be arrested, charged with such offense, and prosecuted, and shall furnish to the solicitor of the district all such evidence, together with the names of witnesses and all the information obtained by him, including a copy of all pertinent and material testimony taken in the case.

All investigations held by or under the direction of the commissioner or his deputy may, in their discretion, be private, and persons other than those required to be present by the provisions of this article may be excluded from the place where the investigation is held, and witnesses may be kept apart from each other and not allowed to communicate with each other until they have been examined.

6077. Inspection of premises; dangerous material removed. The insurance commissioner, or the chief of fire department or chief of police where no chief of fire department, or local inspector of buildings in municipalities where such officer is elected or appointed, has the right at all reasonable hours, for the purpose of examination, to enter into and upon all buildings and premises in their jurisdiction. It is the duty of the insurance commissioner to require in all municipalities of the state that such officers make in their respective municipalities annual inspections of the buildings therein and quarterly inspection of all premises within the fire limits, and report in detail the results of their inspection to the insurance commissioner upon blanks furnished by him. When any of such officers find in any building or upon any premises combustible material or inflammable conditions dangerous to the safety of such building or premises they shall order the same to be removed or remedied, and this order shall be forthwith complied with by the owner or occupant of such building or premises. The owner or occupant may, within twenty-four hours, appeal to the insurance commissioner from the order, and the cause of the complaint shall be at once investigated by his direction, and unless by his authority the order of the officer above named is revoked it remains in force and must be forthwith complied with by the owner or occupant. The insurance commissioner, fire chief, or fire committee shall make an immediate investigation as to the presence of combustible material or the existence of inflammable conditions in any building or upon any premises under their jurisdiction upon complaint of any person having an interest in such building or premises or property adjacent thereto. The commissioner may, in person or by deputy, visit any municipality and make such inspections alone or in company with the local officer. The local inspector shall be paid by the municipality a reasonable salary or proper fees to be fixed by its governing board.

NOTE.—For regulation of buildings, inspection, etc., see Municipal Corporations, art. 11.

6078. Payment of expenses. The license tax imposed upon fire insurance companies shall be used by the insurance commissioner for the purpose of investigating all fires occurring in the state, for the payment of expenses, including counsel fees, expense of deputy, detectives and officers, incurred by him in the performance of the other duties imposed upon him by this article, for the employment of a competent man to give instructions to fire companies, and for the expense of a better inspection of buildings in cities and towns. Any part of such fund unexpended at the end of the fiscal year, April first, shall be paid by the insurance commissioner into the state treasury for general purposes as other funds collected by him.

Rev., s. 4823; 1899, c. 58, s. 6; 1901, c. 387, s. 6; 1903, c. 719, s. 2; 1915, c. 109, s. 2; 1919, c. 186, s. 7.

6079. Reports of insurance commissioner. The insurance commissioner shall submit annually, as early as consistent with full and accurate preparation, and not later than the first day of June, a detailed report of his official action under this chapter, and it shall be embodied in his report to the general assembly. He shall, in his annual report, make a statement of the fires investigated, the value of property destroyed, the amount of insurance, if any, the origin of the fire, when ascertained, and the location of the property damaged or destroyed, whether in town, city, or country. He shall also file annually an itemized statement, under oath, of all money received by him and disbursed under this chapter.

Rev., s. 4824; 1899, c. 58, s. 7; 1901, c. 387, s. 7; 1915, c. 109, s. 1.

6080. Fire prevention and fire-prevention day. It is the duty of the insurance commissioner and superintendent of public instruction, as far as practicable, to provide for the teaching of "Fire Prevention" in the colleges and schools of the state, and to arrange for a text-book adapted to such use. The ninth day of October of every year shall be set aside and designated as "Fire Prevention Day," and the governor shall issue a proclamation urging the people to a proper observance of the day, and the insurance commissioner shall bring the day and its observance to the attention of the officials of the municipalities of the state, and especially to the firemen, and where possible arrange suitable programs to be followed in its observance.

1915, c. 166, s. 5.

NOTE.—For teaching fire prevention in schools, see also Education, sec. 5542.

ART. 2. FIRE-ESCAPES

6081. Construction of buildings regulated. All hotels, lodging houses, school dormitories, hospitals or sanitariums hereafter constructed in this state, over two stories in height and over one hundred feet in length, shall be constructed so that there shall be at least two pairs of stairs for the use of guests leading from the ground floor to the uppermost story, and for larger buildings such number as the proper officials shall designate. Every hotel, lodging house, school dormitory, hospital or sanitarium in the state, three stories and over in height, shall be provided, without delay, with permanent iron balconies with iron stairs leading from one balcony to the other, to be placed at the end of each hall above the second story, in case such hotel, lodging house, school dormitory, hospital or sanitarium is over one hundred and fifty feet in length, and in other cases such number as may be directed by the insurance commissioner or chief of fire department of such city or town in which such hotel, lodging house, school dormitory, hospital or sanitarium is located. Such balconies and iron stairs are to be constructed at the expense of the owner of the building. Where hotels, lodging houses, school dormitories, hospitals or sanitariums, already built and only three stories in height, are, in the opinion of the insurance commissioner, provided with sufficient inner stairways, so located as to furnish sufficient egress in case of fire, the commissioner may waive the requirement for outside iron balconies and stairs. This article shall not apply to private residences at which lodgers are not received for hire.

6082. Places of public amusement, how constructed. Every theater, opera house, or other like place of public amusement shall have as many doors for egress therefrom as may be necessary and can be made consistently with the proper strength of the building; all such doors shall be hung so as to open outwardly, or both outwardly and inwardly; and the seats therein shall be arranged in rows properly spaced, with aisles of adequate width, so as to afford easy egress therefrom. All scenery shall be made as secure against becoming inflamed as reasonably practical, and also all reasonably practical arrangements shall be made for the constant supply of water and other means for extinguishment of fires, and they shall be kept constantly effective during the presence of an audience. The insurance commissioner may require all theaters to be equipped with a front curtain of asbestos or other fireproof material, to be furnished by owner of the building, and this curtain shall be raised and lowered not less than twice before each performance, in order to guarantee its being in perfect working order.

6083. Doors in certain buildings to open outwardly. In all public schoolhouses and other buildings, and also all theaters, assembly rooms, halls, churches, factories with more than twenty employees, and all other buildings or places of public resort where people are accustomed to assemble (excepting schoolhouses and churches of one room on the ground floor) which shall hereafter be erected, together with all those heretofore erected and which are still in use as such buildings or places of resort, the doors for ingress and egress shall be so hung as to open outwardly from the audience rooms, halls, or workshops of such buildings or places, or the doors may be hung on double hinges, so as to open with equal ease outwardly or inwardly.

6084. Fire-escapes to be provided. All factories, manufacturing establishments, or workshops of three or more stories in height, in which thirty or more people are employed above the first floor thereof, shall be provided with one or (if the proper officials shall deem necessary) more outside fire-escapes, not less than six feet in length and three feet in width, properly and safely constructed, guarded by iron railings not less than three feet in length and taking in at least one door and one window or two windows at each story and connected with the interior by easily accessible and unobstructed openings; and the fire-escapes shall connect by iron stairs not less than twenty-four inches wide, the steps to be not less than six inches tread, placed at not more than an angle of forty-five degrees slant, and protected by a well secured hand-rail on both sides, with a twelve-inch-wide drop ladder from the lowest platform reaching to the ground. No outside fire-escapes shall be required where there are already sufficient inside stairways. For every twenty people employed on any floor above the second floor of every factory and workshop there shall be one rope or portable fire-escape, and each story shall be amply supplied with means for extinguishing fires. All the main doors, both inside and outside, in factories, except fire doors, shall open outwardly, when the proper official shall so direct, and no outside or inside door of any building wherein operatives are employed shall be locked, bolted, or otherwise fastened during the hours of labor so as to prevent egress.

6085. Ways of escape provided. Every building now or hereafter used, in whole or in part, as a public building, public or private institution, schoolhouse, church, theater, public hall, place of assembly or place of public resort, and every building in which twenty or more persons are employed above the second story in a factory, workshop, or mercantile or other establishment, when the owner or agent of the owner of the buildings is notified in writing by the insurance commissioner or one of his deputies, shall be provided with proper ways of egress or other means of escape from fire sufficient for the use of all persons accommodated, assembled, employed, lodging or residing in such building or buildings, and such ways of egress and means of escape shall be kept free from obstructions, in good repair, and ready for use. Every room above the second story in any such building in which twenty or more persons are employed shall be provided with more than one way of egress by stairways on the inside or outside of the building. All doors in any building subject to the provisions of this article shall open outwardly, if the insurance commissioner or one of his deputies shall so direct in writing.

6086. Enforcement by insurance commissioner. The insurance commissioner is charged with the execution of this law, and he or the chief of the fire department is vested with all privileges, duties, and obligations placed upon them in this chapter, in regard to the inspection of buildings, for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this article in regard to the buildings and requirements herein. Any owner or occupant of premises failing to comply with the provisions of this article, in accordance with the orders of the authorities above specified, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each day's neglect. If any owner or lessee of any building referred to in this article shall deem himself aggrieved by any ruling or order of any chief of fire department or local inspector, he may within twenty-four hours appeal to the insurance commissioner, and the cause of complaint shall at once be investigated by the direction of the commissioner, and unless by his authority the order or ruling is revoked it shall remain in full force and effect and be forthwith complied with by the owner or lessee.

No evidence shall be admitted to show that the contestant received illegal votes, unless he shall also have been notified the same number of days, and in the same manner. The same notice of time and place required in taking depositions shall be required and proved on the investigation.

Rev., s. 4406; Code, s. 2850; 1893, c. 192; R. C., c. 52, s. 31; 1796, c. 466, s. 1.

ART. 4. REPORTS OF OFFICERS TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY

6097. Treasurer's estimate of expenses and rate of taxation. It shall be the duty of the state treasurer to furnish the general assembly, at the commencement of each session, with estimates of the expenses of the state government and the rates of taxation necessary to pay the same for the two years next succeeding the close of the last fiscal year, and with a scheme in the form of a complete revenue bill to sustain such estimates.

Any state officer, superintendent, head of department or institution, who shall fail or refuse to furnish a full and complete list to the general assembly within ten days after the assembling of the same, shall forfeit and pay to the treasurer of the state the sum of twenty-five dollars for each day of delay in excess of ten days, recoverable by motion in the superior court of Wake county or before a justice of the peace, after twenty days notice to such defaulting officer.

Rev., s. 4410; Code, s. 2865; 1800, c. 557, s. 2.

NOTE.—For bills of maintenance, see budget commission.

ART. 5. INVESTIGATING COMMITTEES

6100. Power of committees. Any committee of investigation raised either by joint resolution or resolution of either house of the general assembly has full power to send for persons and papers, and, if necessary, to compel attendance and production of papers by attachment or otherwise.

Rev., s. 4412; Code, s. 2853; 1868-9, c. 50, s. 1.

In the absence of express enactment otherwise, the existence of a legislative committee necessarily determines upon the adjournment of the body to which it belongs: Bank v. Worth, 117-146—and the per diem of its members ceases, Ibid.

By joint resolution (Acts 1895, page 502) general assembly appointed a committee, from its own body, to investigate certain facts and report to general assembly before its adjournment, if possible to do so; otherwise to report to the supreme court: Held, that such committee was not authorized to do any act after adjournment of general assembly except to make report: Ibid.

Legislative committee appointed to investigate certain facts and report to general assembly is not authorized to employ counsel under a provision for payment of necessary expenses: Purnell v. Worth, 117-157.

6101. Chairman may administer oaths. The chairman of any committee or any person in his presence, and under his direction, shall have power and authority to administer oaths.

Rev., s. 4413; Code, s. 2856; 1869-70, c. 5, s. 3.

6102. Pay of witnesses. Any witness appearing and giving testimony shall be entitled to receive from the person at whose instance he was summoned ten cents for every mile traveling to and from his residence, and ferriage, to be recovered before any justice of the peace upon the certificate of the commissioner.

Rev., s. 4414; Code, s. 2860; R. C., c. 52, s. 33; 1800, c. 557, s. 2.

6103. Appearance before committee. Every person desiring to appear either in person or by attorney to introduce testimony, or to offer argument for or against the passage of an act or resolution, before any committee of either house of the general assembly, shall first make application to such committee, stating in writing his object, the number and names of his witnesses, and the nature of their testimony. If the committee consider the information likely to be important, or the interest of the applicant to be great, they shall appoint a time and place for hearing the same, with such limitations as may be deemed necessary.

Rev., s. 4415; Code, s. 2858; 1868-9, c. 270, s. 10.

6104. Appeal from denial of right to be heard. If any committee shall refuse to grant the request of any citizen to be heard before it in a matter touching his interests, he may appeal to the house of which the committee is a part; and if he show good reason for his request the house shall order it to be granted.

Rev., s. 4416; Code, s. 2859; 1868-9, c. 270, s. 11.

ART. 6. ACTS AND JOURNALS

6105. When acts take effect. Acts of the general assembly shall be in force only from and after thirty days after the adjournment of the session in which they shall have passed, unless the commencement of the operation thereof be expressly otherwise directed.

Rev., s. 4417; Code, s. 2862; R. C., c. 52, s. 35; 1799, c. 527; 1868-9, c. 270, s. 1.

An act of the general assembly which provides that it shall be in force from and after its passage is in force and takes effect from the first day of the session at which it was passed: Hamlet v. Taylor, 50-36.

6106. Notice given of private acts. Any person who may desire the passage of a private law shall give notice of his intention to make application by advertisement in some newspaper of the state which circulates in the county where the applicant resides, or in which such private law will operate, or by advertisement at the door of the courthouse and three other public places in such county for at least thirty days before the application; and when any private bill shall be introduced, a copy of such advertisement, with due proof of its having been so published, shall be produced before the second reading thereof.

Rev., s. 4418; Const., Art. II, s. 12; Code, s. 2861; R. C., c. 52, s. 34; 1796, c. 466, s. 2; 1835, c. 15.

Probably, if it appeared either from act itself or affirmatively from journals of legislature, which would have been competent evidence in court below, that such notice had not been given, this court would hold act unconstitutional; if legislative journal is silent as to the fact, the presumption would be that legislature obeyed constitution: Gatlin v. Tarboro, 78-119; Cox v. Comrs., 146-584.

Courts will conclusively presume, from the ratification of a legislative private act, that the notice of thirty days was given: Cox v. Comrs., 146-584, and cases cited; Power Co. v. Power Co., 175-668.

6107. Bills to pay teachers' salaries. No bill for the payment of any claim for teachers' salaries shall be introduced in either house of the general assembly unless the claim shall have been approved by the chairman of the county board of education and by the county superintendent, and unless a certificate from the county superintendent stating that the debt was contracted by unavoidable mistake on the part of the teacher and the school committee shall be attached to and accompany the bill when introduced.

Rev., s. 4419; 1903, c. 435, s. 16.

6108. Enrollment of acts. All bills passed by the general assembly shall be enrolled for ratification under the supervision and direction of the secretary of state. All bills so enrolled shall be typewritten, or written with pen and ink, in the discretion of the secretary of state. The secretary of state is authorized to rent a sufficient number of typewriters, and employ a sufficient number of copyists, for the purpose of doing this work. He is further authorized to appoint one chief clerk and such assistants as may be necessary to supervise the enrollment of all bills and resolutions.

Rev., s. 4422; 1903, c. 5.

6109. Secretary of state to prepare index to acts. The secretary of state shall biennially, at the beginning of each regular session of the general assembly, appoint an assistant, whose duties it shall be to prepare for publication the indexes, side or marginal notes, and captions to the acts and resolutions, both public and private, ratified by the general assembly.

Rev., s. 4423; 1903, c. 3.

6110. Secretary of state to publish captions of acts. The secretary of state, with the aid of his assistant, shall, immediately upon the adjournment of any regular session of the general assembly, publish two thousand copies of captions of all the acts and resolutions ratified at such session and distribute the same among the members of such body.

Rev., s. 4424; 1903, c. 3, s. 2; 1911, c. 211, s. 3.

6111. Secretary of state to have laws printed. The secretary of state, within thirty days after the termination of each session of the general assembly, shall cause to be published by the state printer all the laws and joint resolutions passed at such session; and each volume shall contain his certificate that it was printed under his direction from enrolled copies on file in his office. In the printing he shall omit the certificate required to be indorsed upon the original bills; but he shall insert immediately after the title of each law the word “ratified,” adding the day, month, and year.

Rev., s. 4425; Code, s. 2869; 1868-9, c. 270, s. 14.

Mandamus will not issue to compel the secretary of state to exclude from the printed statutes a bill signed by the presiding officers of both houses, upon the allegation that it had not been passed after the required readings in each house: Carr v. Coke, 116-223.

6112. Journals indexed by clerks. The principal clerks of the two houses of the general assembly shall provide full and complete indexes for the journals of their respective houses.

Rev., s. 4421; Code, s. 2868; 1866-7, c. 71; 1881, c. 292.

6113. Journals deposited with secretary of state. The principal clerks of the senate and house of representatives, as soon as may be practicable after the close of each session, shall deposit in the office of the secretary of state the journals of the general assembly; and the secretary of state shall make and certify copies of any part or entry of the journals, and may take for the copy of each entry made and certified the same fee as for the copy of a grant.

Rev., s. 4420; Code, s. 2867; R. C., c. 52, s. 36; 1819, c. 1020.

See section 1779. The journals of the general assembly are conclusive evidence as to the passage of an act, and cannot be contradicted by entries made on an original bill: Comrs. v. Packing Co., 135-62—competent evidence only for the purpose of ascertaining whether a law had been passed in accordance with the constitution, article 2, section 14, requiring it to be read three times on three different days in each house and the yeas and nays to be entered on the second and third readings: Wilson v. Markley, 133-616; see, also, Cox v. Comrs., 146-584; Comrs. v. Trust Co., 143-110; Comrs. v. Snuggs, 121-394; Bank v. Comrs., 119-214.

Journals of the general assembly, when competent as evidence, import absolute verity, and cannot be explained or altered by parol evidence: Comrs. v. Trust Co., 143-110.

Copy of the journal of the legislature deposited with the secretary of state is not evidence for any purpose, and a misnomer of a town in a private act therein does not affect the validity of the act: Ibid.

Where title to office depends upon passage of bill acted upon by legislature, but not evidenced by ratification and signatures of presiding officers of two houses and by deposit in the office of secretary of state, the records or minutes of proceedings of the two houses may be resorted to for proof of their action: Stanford v. Ellington, 117-158.

Where it appeared from roll call of house of representatives that a quorum was present upon its assembling on a certain day, but upon a roll call on an election of an officer and before any record of adjournment appeared, a less number than a quorum voted, it will not be presumed that a quorum was present at such election: Ibid.

ART. 7. EMPLOYEES

6114. Principal clerk; term of office; duties. The principal clerk of each house of the general assembly shall hold his office for the term of two years, or until another is appointed; shall be present at such time and place as may be fixed for the meeting of the general assembly, and on the first day thereof, and perform the duties of his office.

Rev., s. 4426; Code, s. 2870; R. C., c. 52, s. 37; 1846, c. 63.

Such gifts must be absolute except in such cases as where the mineral interest on the land has previously been sold. The state geological board shall have the power to purchase lands in the name of the state, suitable chiefly for the production of timber, as state forests, for experimental, demonstration, educational, park, and protection purposes, using for such purposes any special appropriations or funds available. The attorney-general of the state is directed to see that all deeds to the state for land mentioned in this section are properly executed before the gift is accepted or payment of the purchase money is made. Such state forests shall be subject to county taxes assessed on the same basis as are private lands, to be paid out of money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

ART. 4. PRIVATE LANDS DESIGNATED AS STATE FORESTS

6127. Governor may designate state forests. The governor of the state, upon the written application of any owner or owners of wooded lands situated in North Carolina above contour line two thousand feet, may at his discretion declare the lands of such owner or owners, or such parts thereof as he may deem advisable, a "state forest of North Carolina."

1909, c. 89, s. 1.

6128. Publication of declaration. The declaration of the governor shall be published, at the expense of the applicant, in three consecutive issues of any newspaper published in the county or counties wherein the lands declared a state forest reserve are situated, if there be one; if no paper is published in the county or counties, then in a paper published in an adjoining county; and after such publication the said lands shall be a state forest of North Carolina for the term of thirty years.

6129. Duty of the landowners. The owner or owners, when making such written application, shall agree in writing to treat in a conservative manner the proposed state forest described in the application, such manner to be in accordance with a working plan approved by the North Carolina geological and economic survey; and the owner or owners of such proposed state forest, when making such application, shall agree to pay annually into the school fund of the county wherein such proposed state forest or a part thereof is situated one-half cent for every acre of such proposed state forest situated within the county; and if the owner or owners thereafter shall fail to make such annual payment, then the declaration of the governor establishing the said state forest shall be null and void to all intents and purposes.

6130. State forest wardens appointed. The governor shall appoint at his discretion, with the approval of the commissioners of the county wherein a state forest is situated, as state forest wardens such a man or men over twenty-one years of age as may be designated for appointment by the owner or owners of such state forest. Such state forest wardens are to receive no compensation other than that which the owner or owners of the state forest may pay to them.

6131. Powers of state forest wardens. The state forest wardens may make arrest on sight, without warrant, for any criminal offense, as provided in the chapter on Crimes, for setting fire to woods, for camp-fires, for hunting on lands without permission of the owner, for malicious injury to real property, for cutting or removing timber from the land of another, for trespass on land after being forbidden, or for other crime relating to real estate committed within the state forest. They shall safeguard against trespass, and notably against fire, the state forest for which they have been appointed; and, as far as the enforcement of the provisions of this article is concerned, the state forest warden shall have all the powers, privileges, and protection otherwise had by sheriffs under any law now in force.

The forester of the state geological and economic survey, who shall be called state forester, and shall be ex officio state forest warden, may appoint, with the approval of the geological board, one township forest warden and one or more district forest wardens in each township of the state in which the amount of forest land and the risks from forest fires shall, in his judgment, make it advisable and necessary.

6135. Duties of state forester. The state forester, as the state forest warden, shall have supervision of township and district forest wardens, shall instruct them in their duties, issue such regulations and instructions to the township and district forest wardens as he may deem necessary for the purposes of this article, and cause violations of the laws regarding forest fires to be prosecuted.

6136. Duties of forest wardens. Forest wardens shall have charge of measures for controlling forest fires; shall make arrests for violation of forest laws; shall post along highways and in other conspicuous places copies of the forest fire laws and warnings against fires, which shall be supplied by the state forester; shall patrol during dry and dangerous seasons under the direction of the state forester, and shall perform such other acts and duties as shall be considered necessary by the state forester for the protection of the forests from fire. The township forest warden of the township in which a fire occurs shall within ten days make such a report thereof to the state forester as may be prescribed by him. Each district forest warden shall promptly report to township wardens any fire in his district.

6137. Powers of forest wardens to prevent and extinguish fires. Forest wardens shall prevent and extinguish forest fires in their respective townships and enforce all statutes of this state now in force or that hereafter may be enacted for the protection of forests and woodlands from fire, and they shall have control and direction of all persons and apparatus while engaged in extinguishing forest fires. Any forest warden may arrest, without a warrant, any person or persons taken by him in the act of violating any of the laws for the protection of forests and woodlands, and bring such person or persons forthwith before a justice of the peace or other officer having jurisdiction, who shall proceed without delay to hear, try, and determine the matter. During a season of drouth the state forester may establish a fire patrol in any township, and in case of fire in or threatening any forest or woodland the township or district forest warden shall attend forthwith and use all necessary means to confine and extinguish such fire. The forest warden may summon any male resident of the township between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years to assist in extinguishing fires, and may require the use of horses and other property needed for such purpose; any person so summoned, and who is physically able, who refuses or neglects to assist or to allow the use of horses, wagons, or other material required, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars. No action for trespass shall lie against any forest warden or person summoned by him for crossing or working upon lands of another in connection with his duties as forest warden.

1915, c. 243, s. 6.

6138. Compensation of forest wardens. Forest wardens shall receive compensation from the geological board at a rate of not to exceed twenty cents per hour for the time actually engaged in the performance of their duties; and reasonable expenses for equipment, transportation, or food supplies incurred in fighting or extinguishing any fire, according to an itemized statement to be rendered the state forester every month, and approved by him. Forest wardens shall render to the state forester a statement of the services rendered by the men employed by them or their district wardens, as provided in this article, within one month of the date of service, which bill shall show in detail the amount and character of the service performed, the exact duration thereof, the name of each person employed, and any other information required by the state forester. All accounts of the forest wardens must be duly sworn to before a justice of the peace, notary public, or other officer qualified to witness such papers within the county in which the expenses were incurred. If said bill be duly approved by the state forester, it shall be paid by direction of the geological board out of any funds provided for that purpose.

1915, c. 243, s. 7.

6139. Woodland defined. For the purposes of this article, woodland is taken to include all forest areas, both timber and cut-over land, and all second-growth stands on areas that have at one time been cultivated.

1915, c. 243, s. 11.

6140. Misdemeanor to destroy posted forestry notice. Any person who shall maliciously or wilfully destroy, deface, remove, or disfigure any sign, poster, or warning notice, posted by order of the state forester, under the provisions of this article, or any other act which may be passed for the purpose of protecting the forests in this state from fire, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days.

1915, c. 243, s. 5.

6192. Clerk and physician to make examination. If the alleged insane person be confined in jail otherwise than for crime, the sheriff shall remove him from the jail upon the order from the clerk. Upon the bringing of the alleged insane person before the clerk by his friends, or upon the return of the precept with the body of the insane person, the clerk shall call to his assistance the county physician of the county, or some other licensed and reputable physician, resident of this state, and shall proceed to examine into the condition of mind of the alleged insane person. He shall take testimony of at least one licensed physician, resident of this state, and, if possible, a member of the family, or some friend or person acquainted with the alleged insane person, who has had opportunities to observe him after such insanity is said to have begun.

NOTE.—The county health officer, if there be one, performs the duties of county physician. See Public Health, s. 7068.

In a case of emergency, when for any reason the clerk of the court cannot go or is absent from the county, then any justice of the peace is authorized to proceed in like manner by taking the testimony of the physician and other witnesses, as is before provided for in this chapter, and report the same to the clerk. If the clerk is satisfied that the alleged insane person is a fit subject for a hospital for the insane, he shall issue an order for his commitment. In cases of great emergency or inconvenience, the said justice may commit a patient to a hospital, and the superintendent is authorized to receive him, but the justice shall procure an order from the clerk to be forwarded to the superintendent within thirty days.

The clerk will keep a record of all examinations of persons alleged to be insane, and he shall record in such record a brief summary of the proceedings and of his findings, and whenever a justice of the peace shall transmit to the clerk a report of his proceedings when he shall have examined a person under the powers granted under this chapter, the clerk shall make a record of his proceedings, and for recording the justice's proceedings he shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents, to be paid by the county aforesaid, and he shall keep a record of all probations and discharges provided for in article four of this chapter.

6198. Fees for examination. The following fees shall be allowed to the officers who make the examination, and they shall be paid by the county in which the alleged insane person is settled: To the clerk or justice who makes the examination, two dollars, and if the clerk goes to the home of the insane person he shall be entitled, in addition to this sum, to five cents a mile each way. This shall cover his entire cost in taking the examination and making out the necessary papers.

The physician called, in the absence of the county physician, shall be entitled to two dollars with mileage. The county physician, being a salaried officer, is not allowed any fee for his services in this examination. The sheriff shall be entitled to such fees as are now allowed by law for the service of process of similar character.

6199. Superintendent of hospital notified; attendant to convey patient. Whenever any insane person shall be entitled to admission in any one of the hospitals of the state as prescribed by law, and the clerk of the superior court or other officer authorized by law to find such person insane has so found, it shall be the duty of the clerk or other officer forthwith to notify the superintendent of the proper hospital, giving the name, race, sex and age of patient; and it shall be the duty of such superintendent, unless said patient has been exposed to a contagious disease as hereinafter mentioned in this article, to send an attendant to bring such insane person to the hospital. Such attendant shall have all such rights as the sheriff or other officer has heretofore, and to convey such insane person to the hospital.

6200. Bill of expense sent to county commissioners. Upon the arrival of such insane person at the hospital, the superintendent shall send to the board of commissioners of the county in which such insane person had a settlement a bill covering the costs of conveying such insane person to the hospital, including any fees that would now be allowed an officer, and it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners forthwith to repay to such hospital the amount of such bill.

6202. Cost of conveying patients to and from hospital; how paid. The cost and expenses of conveying every insane person to any hospital from any county, or of removing him from the hospital to his county, or of the return to the county of his settlement, as sane, shall be paid by the treasurer of such county, upon the order of its board of county commissioners. Whenever the board of commissioners shall be satisfied that such person has property sufficient to pay such cost and expenses, or that some other person liable for his support and maintenance has property sufficient to pay such costs and expenses as aforesaid, they shall bring an action and recover the amount paid from the said person, or from the other person liable for his support and maintenance.

Rev., s. 4555; 1899, c. 1, s. 32.

6203. Preparation of patient for admission to hospital. Whenever any citizen or resident of this state becomes suddenly or violently insane, in some county other than that of his settlement, the proper authorities, as hereinbefore provided, of any county in which he shall be, shall have authority to examine him, and if necessary commit him to the hospital to which he would be sent had he been committed from the county of his own settlement.

Rev., s. 4582; 1899, c. 1, s. 16.

6205. Expense paid by county of settlement; penalty. Immediately upon the commitment to a hospital of any such person, a transcript of the proceedings shall be sent to the clerk of the county in which he is settled, and that county shall pay over to that county from which he was committed all the cost of the examination and commitment, and if the board of commissioners of the county of the settlement shall fail to pay all proper expense of said proceedings within sixty days after the claim shall have been presented, they shall forfeit and pay to the county which committed the insane person the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, to be recovered by the commissioners of that county in a civil action brought in the superior court of that county from which the patient was committed to the hospital, against the commissioners of the county.

Rev., s. 4546; 1899, c. 1, s. 25.

6207. How admission determined, when superintendent is in doubt. Whenever any insane person shall be conveyed to any hospital, and the superintendent is in doubt as to the propriety of his admission, he may convene any three of the board of directors, who shall constitute a board for the purpose of examining and deciding if such person is a proper subject for admission; and if a majority of such board so decide, such person shall be received into said hospital; but a like board may at any time thereafter deliver such insane person to any friend who will become bound with good surety to restrain him from committing injuries, and to keep, maintain, and take care of him, in the same manner as he might have become bound under the authority of the clerk of the court.

Rev., s. 4590; 1899, c. 1, s. 21; 1917, c. 150, s. 1.

6208. Admission refused, if patient exposed to contagious disease. The superintendent of the hospital may refuse to receive into his institution a patient when he shall have reliable information that the patient has recently been exposed to infectious or contagious disease, and there is danger of contagion and infection being conveyed by the patient, or where the patient comes from a quarantined community. Whenever a patient is rejected because of any of these reasons the superintendent shall make a record of the application, and as soon as, in his opinion, the danger shall have been removed, he shall notify the sheriff of the county, and admit the patient into his hospital.

Rev., s. 4591; 1899, c. 1, s. 26.

6209. Commitment upon patient's own application. Any person believing himself to be of unsound mind, or threatened with insanity, may voluntarily commit himself to the proper hospital. The application for commitment shall be in the form following:

This application shall be accompanied by the certificate of a licensed physician, which certificate shall state that in the opinion of the physician the applicant is a fit subject for admission into a hospital, and that he recommends his admission. The certificate of the clerk of the superior court need not accompany this application. The superintendent may, if he think it a proper application, receive the patient thus voluntarily committed, and treat him until the next meeting of the board of directors or of the executive committee, and shall report the application and admission to the first meeting of said board, and if said board approve such admission, the patient shall be considered as having been regularly committed, and shall in all respects be treated as such. But no report need be made to the clerk of the court of his county of settlement. The superintendent and board of directors shall have the same control over patients who commit themselves voluntarily as they have over those committed under the regular proceedings hereinbefore provided. And no voluntary patient shall be entitled to a discharge until he shall have given the superintendent ten days notice of his desire to be discharged.

The board of directors of the state's prison is hereby directed and required to furnish to the hospital heat, lights, and water at cost, and do all things proper and necessary for the comfort, maintenance, and humane treatment of the dangerous insane herein committed to its care. 6233. Directors appoint a physician; term of office. The board of directors of the state hospital for the dangerous insane shall appoint a skilled physician, educated to his profession, of good moral character, of prompt business habits, and of kindly disposition, to have charge of the insane committed to its care. He shall be required to perform the duties of physician to each of said institutions, and shall be paid from the funds belonging to the said institutions, respectively, such amount as shall be prescribed and agreed upon by the board of directors. He shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the said board, which may, for infidelity to his trust, gross immorality, or incompetence to discharge the duties of his office, fully proved and declared, the proof recorded in the book of their proceedings, remove him and appoint another in his place.

All persons who may hereafter commit crime while insane, and all persons who, being charged with crime, and are adjudged to be insane at the time of their arraignment, and for that reason cannot be put on trial for the crimes alleged against them, shall be sent by the court before whom they are or may be arraigned for trial, when it shall be ascertained by due course of law that such person is insane and cannot plead, to the hospital for the dangerous insane, and they shall be confined therein under the rules and regulations prescribed by the board of directors under the authority of this article, and they shall be treated, cared for, and maintained in said hospital like patients in other state hospitals. Their confinement in said hospital shall not be regarded as punishment for any offense: Provided, that no insane person who has been or may hereafter be committed to the state hospital at Morganton, Raleigh, or Goldsboro shall be transferred therefrom to the hospital for the dangerous insane.

6237. Persons acquitted of certain crimes or incapable of being tried, on account of insanity, committed to hospital. When a person accused of the crime of murder, attempt at murder, rape, assault with the intent to commit rape, highway robbery, train wrecking, arson, or other crime, shall have escaped indictment or shall have been acquitted upon trial upon the ground of insanity, or shall be found by the court to be without sufficient mental capacity to undertake his defense or to receive sentence after conviction, the court before which such proceedings are had shall detain such person in custody until an inquisition shall be had in regard to his mental condition. The judge shall, at the term of court at which such person is acquitted, cause notice to be given in writing to such person and his attorney, and, if in his good judgment it be necessary, to his nearest relative, naming the day upon which he shall proceed to make an inquisition in regard to the mental condition of such person. The judge shall cause such witnesses to be summoned and examined as he may deem proper or as the person so acquitted or his counsel may desire. At such inquisition the judge shall cause the testimony to be taken in writing and be preserved, and a copy of which shall be sent to the superintendent of the hospital for the dangerous insane to which such person is or has been committed. If upon such inquisition the judge shall find that the mental condition or disease of such person is such as to render him dangerous either to himself or other persons, and that his confinement for care, treatment, and security demands it, he shall commit such person to the hospital for dangerous insane, to be kept in custody therein for treatment and care as herein provided. Such person shall be kept therein, unless transferred under the previous provisions of this chapter, until restored to his right mind, in which event it shall be the duty of the authorities having the care of such person to notify the sheriff of the county from which he came, who shall order that he appear before the judge of the superior court of the district, to be dealt with according to law. The expense incident to such commitment and removal shall be paid by the county authorities from which such patient was sent.

Rev., s. 4618; 1899, c. 1, s. 65.

The original section was declared unconstitutional in In re Boyett, 136-415, but section was altered to meet the defect.

Person detained in such hospital cannot be released on habeas corpus if he is insane at time of return of writ: In re Boyett, 136-415.

Person committed because of insanity making him unable to conduct his defense, when restored to his right mind may be put upon his trial: State v. Pritchett, 106-667—and the court can have him brought from the hospital from time to time to ascertain that fact, Ibid. Testimony of superintendent competent evidence upon the question as to whether such insanity feigned: Ibid.

The power to detain under this section applies only to the serious offenses mentioned or those of like character: State v. Craig, 176-740. Where defendant was indicted for resisting an officer, and the jury returned a verdict of “not guilty” because defendant did not have sufficient mental capacity, the judge cannot set the verdict aside, detain defendant, and direct an inquiry as to his sanity: Ibid.

6238. Convicts becoming insane committed to hospital. All convicts becoming insane after commitment to the state’s prison, and the fact being certified as now required by law in the case of other insane persons, shall be admitted to the hospital herein provided for. In case of the expiration of the sentence of any convict insane person, while such person is confined to the said hospital, such person shall be kept until restored to his right mind or such time as he may be considered harmless and incurable.

6239. Persons acquitted of crime on account of insanity; how discharged from hospital. No person acquitted of a capital felony on the ground of insanity, and committed to the hospital for the dangerous insane, shall be discharged therefrom unless an act authorizing his discharge be passed by the general assembly. No person acquitted of a crime of a less degree than a capital felony and committed to said department shall be discharged therefrom except upon an order from the governor. No person convicted of a crime, and upon whom judgment was suspended by the judge on account of insanity, shall be discharged from the said hospital except upon the order of the judge of the district or of the judge holding the courts of the district in which he was tried: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent such person so confined in the hospitals for the dangerous insane from applying to any judge having jurisdiction for a writ of habeas corpus. No judge issuing a writ of habeas corpus upon the application of such person shall order his discharge until the superintendents of the several state hospitals shall certify that they have examined such person and find him to be sane, and that his detention is no longer necessary for his own safety or the safety of the public.

6240. Proceedings in case of recovery of patient charged with crime. Whenever a person confined in any hospital for the insane, and against whom an indictment for crime is pending, has recovered or been restored to normal health and sanity, the superintendent of such hospital shall notify the clerk of the court of the county from which said person was sent, and the clerk will place the case against said person upon the docket of the superior or criminal court of his county for trial, and the person shall not be discharged without an order from said court. In all cases where such person confined in the hospital for the dangerous insane shall have recovered his mind, the clerk of the court of the county from which he was committed shall fix the amount of bail required for his appearance at the next term of the superior or criminal court of his county for trial, except in cases where the offense charged is a capital felony, and in this case only the judge of the superior court residing within or holding the courts of said district shall have the power to fix bail. If the person confined in the hospital for the dangerous insane, and reported sane as aforesaid, shall give the bond fixed by the clerk or judge as above provided for, he shall be discharged by the superintendent, and if he does not give the bond, he shall be transferred to the jail of the county from which he was committed. The superintendent will notify the sheriff of said county, and the sheriff will remove the person to the jail of his county. The sheriff will pay the expenses of such removal, and the county of the person's settlement will repay the sheriff for his expenses and services.

Whenever any person who has been confined in the state's prison under sentence for the felonious killing of another person, and who has been discharged therefrom at the expiration of his term of sentence, or as the result of executive clemency, shall thereafter so act as to justify the belief that he is possessed of a homicidal mania, and shall be duly adjudged insane, in accordance with the provisions of article three of this chapter, the clerk of the superior court or other officer having jurisdiction of the proceedings in which such person shall be adjudged insane may, in his discretion, commit such person to the state hospital for the dangerous insane, or to one of the other state hospitals for the insane, as authorized and provided in this chapter.

6260. Title of the chapter. This chapter may be cited and shall be known as the Insurance Law.

Rev., s. 4677; 1899, c. 54.

This chapter makes elaborate and minute provision for the protection of the people from imposition under the guise of insurance, real or pretended: State v. Arlington, 157-640.

6261. Terms defined. When consistent with the context and not obviously used in a different sense, the term "company" or "insurance company," as used in this chapter, includes all corporations, associations, partnerships, or individuals engaged as principals in the business of insurance; the word "domestic" designates those companies incorporated or formed, and with home office, in this state; and the word "foreign," when used without limitation, includes all those formed by authority of any other state or government, and whose home office is not located in this state.

Rev., s. 4678; 1899, c. 54, s. 1.

The words contemplate both incorporated and unincorporated companies: State v. Arlington, 157-640.

6262. Contract of insurance. A contract of insurance is an agreement by which one party for a consideration promises to pay money or its equivalent or to do some act of value to the insured upon, and as an indemnity for, the destruction, loss, or injury of something in which the other party has an interest.

Rev., s. 4679; 1899, c. 54, s. 2.

For contracts of fire insurance, see sections 6436, 6437. For contracts of life insurance, see section 6455. Accident and health insurance, see section 6477 et seq. General regulations of insurance contracts, sections 6483-6490. For indemnity contracts, section 6363.

ART. 2. INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

6264. Commissioner's election and term of office. The chief officer at the insurance department shall be called the insurance commissioner. He shall be elected by the people in the manner prescribed for the election of members of the general assembly and state officers, and the result of the election shall be declared in the same manner and at the same time as the election of state officers is now declared. His term of office begins on the first day of January next after his election, and is for four years or until his successor is elected and qualified. If a vacancy occurs during the term, it shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired term.

Rev., ss. 4680, 4681; 1907, c. 868.

6265. Bond of commissioner. The insurance commissioner, before he enters upon the execution of his official duties, must give a bond to the state in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, with sufficient surety, to be approved by the state treasurer, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office during his term of office; this bond extends to the faithful execution of the office of insurance commissioner by the person elected or appointed thereto until a new election or appointment of insurance commissioner is made and a new bond given.

Rev., s. 293; 1899, c. 54, s. 55; 1905, c. 430, s. 2.

For actions on official bonds, see sections 354, 356.

The insurance commissioner, with the approval of the governor, shall devise a seal, with suitable inscription, for his office, a description of which, with the certificate of approval by the governor, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, with an impression thereof, which seal shall thereupon become the seal of office of the commissioner of the insurance department. The seal may be renewed whenever necessary.

Rev., s. 4682; 1899, c. 54, s. 11.

6267. General expense allowance. This department shall be upon the same basis as the other departments of the state, and shall be furnished with messenger, stationery, stamps, and such other supplies as are provided by law for them. There shall be allowed to the department a sum of not exceeding five hundred dollars as a contingent fund, of which so much may be used by the commissioner as is necessary to pay the actual expenses of the commissioner or his deputies when engaged in departmental duties or work for the good of the department or state. These accounts are to be itemized and paid on the approval of the insurance commissioner and only for such expenses as are not otherwise provided for.

Rev., s. 4685; 1899, c. 54, s. 3; 1901, c. 391, s. 1; 1911, c. 196, ss. 1, 2; 1913, c. 135.

6268. Expense of suppressing violations of law. For expenses in seeking out, detecting, and punishing violations of this chapter the insurance commissioner may use a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars per annum. Any amounts so expended must be approved by the governor and paid by the treasurer out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Rev., s. 4686; 1899, c. 54, s. 101; 1901, c. 391, s. 8; 1903, c. 438, s. 10.

(3) On or before the tenth day of each month, and oftener should the sum to the credit of the state exceed $20,000, pay over all taxes, licenses, and fees received during the previous month to the state treasurer.

(4) Perform all duties now imposed upon him by law in regard to the examination, supervision, and conduct of companies and associations and orders.

(5) Upon a proper application by any citizen of this state, give a statement or synopsis of the provisions of any insurance contract offered or issued to such citizen.

He may administer the oaths in the discharge of his official duty.

6270. Commissioner to provide books; make inspections; compensation. The insurance commissioner shall provide all books and blanks of every kind required to carry out the provisions of the law for inspection of buildings in towns and cities, and he or his deputy shall make inspections of the cities and towns of the state. Whenever the commissioner has reason to believe that the local inspectors are not doing their duty he or his deputy shall make special trips of inspection and take proper steps to have all the provisions of law relative to the investigation of fires and the prevention of fire waste enforced. Out of the amount collected from fire insurance companies for the investigation of fires and the prevention of fire waste one-twentieth of one per cent on the premium receipts is allowed the commissioner for the extra duties required by this section.

Rev., s. 4690; 1905, c. 506, s. 6.

6272. Original documents and certified copies as evidence. Every certificate, assignment, or conveyance executed by the commissioner, in pursuance of any authority conferred on him by law and sealed with his seal of office, may be used as evidence and may be recorded in the proper recording offices, in the same manner and with like effect as a deed regularly acknowledged or proved before an officer authorized by law to take the probate of deeds; and all copies of papers in the office of the commissioner, certified by him and authenticated by his official seal, shall be evidence as the original.

Rev., s. 4684; 1899, c. 54, s. 11.

The commissioner shall, from time to time, report to the general assembly any change which in his opinion should be made in the laws relating to insurance and other subjects pertaining to his department. On or before the first day of February of each year in which the general assembly is in session he shall make to the governor the recommendations called for in this section, to be transmitted to the general assembly, with the last annual report of this department, including receipts and disbursements; and there shall be printed by the public printer five hundred copies for the use of the commissioner and the usual number for the use of the general assembly.

6274. Authority over all insurance companies; no exemptions from license. Every insurance company, association or order, as well as every bond, investment, dividend, guarantee, registry, title guarantee, debenture, or such other like company (not strictly an insurance company, as defined in the general insurance laws), must be licensed and supervised by the insurance commissioner, and must pay all licenses, taxes, and fees as prescribed in the insurance laws of the state for the class of company, association, or order to which it belongs. No provision in any statute, public or private, may relieve any company, association, or order from the supervision prescribed for the class of companies, associations, or orders of like character, or release it from the payment of the licenses, taxes, and fees prescribed for companies, associations, and orders of the same class; and all such special provisions or exemptions are hereby repealed. It is unlawful for the insurance commissioner to grant or issue a license to any company, association, or order, or agent for them, claiming such exemption from supervision by his department and release for the payment of license, fees, and taxes.

Rev., s. 4691; 1903, c. 594, ss. 1, 2, 3.

All insurance companies must be licensed and supervised by the insurance commissioner: State v. Arlington, 157-640.

6275. Examinations to be made. Before granting certificates of authority to an insurance company to issue policies or make contracts of insurance the commissioner shall be satisfied, by such examination and evidence as he sees fit to make and require, that the company is otherwise duly qualified under the laws of the state to transact business therein. As often as once in three years he shall personally or by his deputy visit each domestic insurance company and thoroughly inspect and examine its affairs, especially as to its financial condition and ability to fulfill its obligations and whether it has complied with the laws. He shall also make an examination of any such company whenever he deems it prudent to do so, or upon the request of five or more of the stockholders, creditors, policyholders, or persons pecuniarily interested therein, who shall make affidavit of their belief, with specifications of their reasons therefor, that the company is in an unsound condition. Whenever the commissioner deems it prudent for the protection of policyholders in this state he shall in like manner visit and examine, or cause to be visited and examined by some competent person appointed by him for that purpose, any foreign insurance company applying for admission or already admitted to do business in this state, and such company shall pay the proper charges incurred in this examination, including the expenses of the commissioner or his deputy and the expenses and compensation of his assistants employed therein. For these purposes the commissioner or his deputy or persons making the examination shall have free access to all the books and papers of the insurance company that relate to its business, and to the books and papers kept by any of its agents, and may summon, administer oaths to, and examine as witnesses, the directors, officers, agents, and trustees of any such company, and any other persons, in relation to its affairs, transactions, and condition.

6276. Oath required for compliance with law. Before issuing license to any insurance company to transact the business of insurance in this state, the insurance commissioner shall require, in every case, in addition to the other requirements provided for by law, that the company file with him the affidavit of its president or other chief officer that it has not violated any of the provisions of this chapter for the space of twelve months last past, and that it accepts the terms and obligations of this chapter as a part of the consideration of the license.

Rev., s. 4693; 1899, c. 54, s. 110; 1901, c. 391, s. 8.

6277. Investigation of charges. Upon complaint being filed by a citizen of this state that a company authorized to do business in the state has violated any of the provisions of this chapter, the insurance commissioner shall diligently investigate the matter, and, if necessary, examine, under oath, by himself or his accredited representative, at the head office located in the United States, the president and such other officer or agents of such companies as may be deemed proper; also all books, records and papers of the same. Before making this examination the commissioner may require the party making complaint to file with him a sufficient bond to secure any expense or cost that may be necessary in making the examination, and if the insurance company is found not guilty of a violation of this chapter, the bond is responsible for all expenses incurred by reason of such investigation; but if the company is found guilty of a violation of this chapter it is responsible for this expense.

Rev., s. 4694; 1899, c. 54, s. 111; 1903, c. 438, s. 11.

6278. Collection of expenses of examination. If any company, authorized to do business in this state under this chapter, fails or refuses to pay the expenses of examination upon the presentation of a bill therefor by the insurance commissioner, the commissioner shall at once institute appropriate action against the company for the recovery of the same.

Rev., s. 4695; 1899, c. 54, s. 113.

6279. Commissioner to prescribe forms and furnish blanks for returns. It is the duty of the insurance commissioner to furnish blank forms for statements, which forms may be changed by him from time to time when necessary to secure full information as to the standing, condition, and such other information desired of companies under his department. 6280. Annual statements to be filed with commissioner. Every insurance company, association, or order—domestic, through its officers, and foreign, through its general agent—shall file in the office of the insurance commissioner, on or before the first day of March in each year, in form and detail as the insurance commissioner prescribes, a statement showing the business standing and financial condition of such company, association, or order on the preceding thirty-first day of December, signed and sworn to by the chief managing agent or officer thereof, before the insurance commissioner or some officer authorized by law to administer oaths. The insurance commissioner shall, in December of each year, furnish to each of the insurance companies authorized to do business in the state two or more blanks adapted for their annual statements.

Rev., s. 4698; 1899, c. 54, ss. 72, 73, 83, 97, 90; 1901, c. 706, s. 2; 1903, c. 438, s. 9.

For effect of failure to comply with this section, see sections 6281, 6295, 6296.

6281. Punishment for making false statement. If any insurance company in its annual or other statement required by law shall wilfully misstate the facts, the insurance company and the person making oath to or subscribing the same shall severally be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars.

Rev., s. 3493; 1899, c. 54, s. 97.

NOTE.—False oath to such statement is perjury. See Crimes, sec. 4368.

6282. Commissioner to examine statements and publish abstracts. It is the duty of the insurance commissioner to receive and thoroughly examine each annual statement required by this chapter, and, if made in compliance with the laws of this state, to publish, at the expense of the company, an abstract of the same in one of the newspapers of the state, which newspaper may be selected by the general agent making the statement, if within thirty days after the filing of the statement he notifies the insurance commissioner, in writing, of the name of the paper selected by him.

Rev., s. 4699; 1899, c. 54, s. 74; 1901, c. 391, s. 6.

6283. Certificate and reports sent to superior court clerks. The insurance commissioner shall keep on file in his office, for the inspection of the public, all the reports received by him in obedience to this chapter, and shall certify to the clerk of the superior court of each county an abstract of each annual statement at the expense of the company making the same, and receive therefor from each company the sum of four dollars: Provided, the insurance commissioner may, in lieu of said abstract, file with the clerks of the courts a copy of the advance sheets of his report or the full report, or both; and he shall also certify, at like expense, to such clerks, on the first day of each alternate month, a list of the licenses in force at such dates and those that have expired without renewal or that have been revoked, and each clerk shall file such certified abstracts and lists in stub books, to be kept for that purpose, furnished by the insurance commissioner, which books shall be open for the inspection of the public. There shall be no tax for any seal on the certificates required by this section.

Rev., s. 4700; 1899, c. 54, s. 77; 1901, c. 391, s. 6; 1903, c. 438, s. 7; 1915, c. 166, s. 9.

6284. Record of business kept by companies and agents; commissioner may inspect. All companies, agents, or brokers doing any kind of insurance business in this state must make and keep a full and correct record of the business done by them, showing the number, date, term, amount insured, premiums, and the persons to whom issued, of every policy or certificate or renewal. Information from these records must be furnished to the insurance commissioner on demand, and the original books of records shall be open to the inspection of the commissioner, his deputy or clerk, when demanded.

Rev., s. 4696; 1899, c. 54, s. 108; 1903, c. 438, s. 11.

Failure to comply is a misdemeanor, see section 6286.

6285. Commissioner may employ actuary or accountant. It is the duty of the insurance commissioner, when in his judgment it is necessary in order that he may be fully advised as to the exact financial condition of any insurance company and the manner in which its business has been or is being conducted, to employ an independent actuary to make a technical calculation of the business and policies of the company, or a skilled accountant to examine and check up the books of the company, and the services shall be paid for as other bills against the state, out of the treasury, where payment is not otherwise provided for.

6286. Books and papers required to be exhibited. It is the duty of any person having in his possession or control any books, accounts, or papers of any company, order, or person licensed under this chapter, to exhibit the same to the insurance commissioner, or to any deputy, actuary, accountant, or person acting with or for the insurance commissioner. Any person who shall refuse, on demand, to exhibit the books, accounts, or papers, as above provided, or who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false statement in regard to the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Rev., ss. 3494, 4697; 1899, c. 54, s. 76; 1907, c. 1000, s. 3.

ART. 3. GENERAL REGULATIONS FOR INSURANCE

6287. State law governs insurance contracts. All contracts of insurance on property, lives, or interests in this state shall be deemed to be made therein; and all contracts of insurance the applications for which are taken within the state shall be deemed to have been made within this state and are subject to the laws thereof.

Rev., s. 4806; 1899, c. 54, s. 2; 1901, c. 705, s. 1.

See Horton v. Ins. Co., 122-498.

Provision that policy contract shall be governed by, subject to and construed only according to the laws of the state of New York, is void hereunder: Blackwell v. Life Assn., 141-117.

This section does not apply to a policy issued prior to its passage to a citizen of this state and subsequently assigned by the insured to a citizen of another state, so as to make a summons served upon the insurance commissioner here in an action by a citizen of such other state a sufficient service, when the defendant has previously thereto withdrawn from the state and canceled its power of attorney to the commissioner: Williams v. Life Assn., 145-128.

In the absence of a statute fixing the lex loci contractus, a foreign insurance company and the insured may fix the place of the contract to be that of the residence of the former party: Williams v. Life Assn., 145-128. Where the contract of insurance is actually made in another state, the law of such state will control: Keesler v. Ins. Co., 177-394. Where a guaranty company executed a bond to indemnify an insurance company in this state against default of agent in another state, it is governed by the law of this state: Ins. Co. v. Bonding Co., 162-385.

Application of section to insurance contracts of fraternal benefit associations explained: Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175-615; Wilson v. Order of Heptasophs, 174-628; Williams v. Order of Heptasophs, 172-787.

Section referred to in Albert v. Ins. Co., 122-92; Cottingham v. Ins. Co., 168-259; Trust Co. v. Young, 172-470.

Rev., s. 4807; 1899, c. 54, s. 2.

An insurance contract made by a company failing to comply with the law may be enforced against the company: Morgan v. Fraternal Association, 170-75; Lea v. Ins. Co., 168-484; Robinson v. Life Co., 163-415; Blount v. Fraternal Association, 163-167; Gazzam v. Ins. Co., 155-330.

6289. Statements in application not warranties. All statements or descriptions in any application for a policy of insurance, or in the policy itself, shall be deemed representations and not warranties, and a representation, unless material or fraudulent, will not prevent a recovery on the policy.

Rev., s. 4808; 1901, c. 705, s. 2.

This changes the old rule as to warranties in insurance contracts, as referred to in Follette v. Accident Association, 110-377. See Albert v. Ins. Co., 122-92; McCarty v. Ins. Co., 126-820.

In an application for a policy of life insurance every fact stated will be deemed material under this section which would materially influence the judgment of the insurance company in accepting the risk or in fixing the premium rate: Bryant v. Ins. Co., 147-181; Fishplate v. Fidelity Co., 140-589.

An application for an insurance policy forms a part of the contract of insurance, and one who can read and has warranted the answers in his application to be true will not be heard to say that he was ignorant of its contents, in the absence of fraud or mistake: Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480. Effect of misrepresentation as to title of insured property is to make void the policy: Ibid.

Under this section it is not necessary to defeat a recovery that a material misrepresentation by the applicant must in some way contribute to the loss for which indemnity is claimed: Bryant v. Ins. Co., 147-181. If it is a material statement and untrue, it will defeat the policy: Alexander v. Ins. Co., 150-536.

The materiality of the facts stated in the written answers in the application is for the court to decide: Ins. Co. v. Woolen Mills, 172-534. Whether the statement as to bodily condition was false and material is a question for the jury: Hines v. Casualty Co., 172-225.

As to false statements by insured in his application for insurance, see Fishplate v. Fid. Co., 140-589; Hinton v. Ins. Co., 135-314; Bryant v. Ins. Co., 147-181; Bobbitt v. Ins. Co., 66-70; Ins. Co. v. Woolen Mills, 172-534; Schas v. Ins. Co., 166-55; Gardner v. Ins. Co., 163-367.

As to knowledge of agent that statement made was false, see Fishplate v. Fid. Co., 140-589; Grabbs v. Ins. Co., 125-389; Follette v. Accident Assn., 110-377. Statements made to agent and omitted in the application: Collins v. Casualty Co., 172-543.

* A stipulation in an automobile policy that the car shall be kept in a certain garage, except under certain conditions, is valid, and if violated will avoid the policy: Lummus v. Ins. Co., 167-654.

Contract of membership in railroad relief department is not affected by this section: Daughtridge v. R. R., 165-188.

Section cited in Cottingham v. Ins. Co., 168-259.

6290. Stipulations as to jurisdiction and limitation of actions. No company or order, domestic or foreign, authorized to do business in this state under this chapter, may make any condition or stipulation in its insurance contracts concerning the court or jurisdiction wherein any suit or action thereon may be brought, nor may it limit the time within which such suit or action may be commenced to less than one year after the cause of action accrues or to less than six months from any time at which a plaintiff takes a nonsuit to an action begun within the legal time. All conditions and stipulations forbidden by this section are void.

Rev., s. 4809; 1899, c. 54, ss. 23, 106; 1901, c. 391, s. 8.

Statute of limitation hereunder is valid if not conflicting with some provision of law: Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-340; Dibrell v. Ins. Co., 110-193; Muse v. Assurance Co., 108-240; Lowe v. Accident Assn., 115-18; Gerringer v. Ins. Co., 133-414; Heilig v. Ins. Co., 152-358; Holly v. Assurance Co., 170-4; Faulk v. Mystic Circle, 171-301. A limitation to less than one year is invalid: Ins. Co. v. Bonding Co., 162-384.

The limitation is in the nature of a condition and not a statute of limitations; and that plaintiff was in prison will not excuse compliance: Holly v. Assurance Co., 170-4—nor will infancy extend the time, Heilig v. Ins. Co., 152-358.

Where suit was commenced within twelve months after accrual of cause of action, and a nonsuit was taken, but record does not show when nonsuit was entered, it will be presumed, in favor of court's ruling, to have appeared that it was done within six months prior to date on which this action was commenced: Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-340.

Section applied to contract of surety company: Lumber Co. v. Johnson, 177-44.

6291. Insurance as security for a loan by the company. Where an insurance company, as a condition for a loan by such company, of money upon mortgage or other security, requires that the borrower insure either his life or that of another, or his property, or the title to his property, with the company, and assign or cause to be assigned to it a policy of insurance as security for the loan, and agree to pay premiums thereon during the continuance of the loan, whether the premium is paid annually, semiannually, quarterly, or monthly, such premiums shall not be considered as interest on such loans, nor will any loan be rendered usurious by reason of any such requirements, where the rate of interest charged for the loan does not exceed the legal rate and where the premiums charged for the insurance do not exceed the premiums charged to other persons for similar policies who do not obtain loans.

6292. Companies must do business in own name. Every insurance company, foreign or domestic, must conduct its business in the state in, and the policies and contracts of insurance issued by it shall be headed or entitled only by, its proper or corporate name.

Rev., s. 4811; 1899, c. 54, s. 18.

6293. Publication of assets and liabilities; penalty for failure. When any company publishes its assets it must in the same connection and with equal conspicuousness publish its liabilities computed on the basis allowed for its annual statements; and any publications purporting to show its capital must exhibit only the amount of such capital as has been actually paid in cash. Any company or agent thereof violating the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars.

Rev., ss. 3492, 4812; 1899, c. 54, ss. 18, 96.

6294. Liabilities and reserve fund determined. To determine the liability of an insurance company, other than life and real estate title insurance, upon its contracts, and thence the amount such company must hold as a reserve for reinsurance, the insurance commissioner shall take the actual unearned portion of the premiums written in its policies. In case of the insolvency of any company, the reserve on outstanding policies may, with the consent of the commissioner, be used for the reinsurance of its policies to the extent of their pro rata part thereof.

Rev., s. 4704; 1899, c. 54, s. 67; 1901, c. 391, s. 5; 1907, c. 1000, s. 4.

6295. Revocation of license of foreign company; publication of notice. If the insurance commissioner is of the opinion, upon examination or other evidence, that a foreign insurance company is in an unsound condition, or, if a life insurance company, that its actual funds, exclusive of its capital, are less than its liabilities; or that it has failed to comply with the law, or if it, its officers or agents, refuse to submit to examination or to perform any legal obligation in relation thereto, or if any foreign insurance company applies to have removed from the superior court of any county of this state to the United States circuit or district court any action instituted against it, or institutes any action at law or suit in equity in a United States court against any citizen of this state, growing out of or in any way connected with any policy of insurance issued by such insurance company, he shall revoke or suspend all certificates of authority granted to it or its agents, and shall cause notifications thereof to be published in one or more newspapers published in this state; and no new business may thereafter be done by it or its agents in this state while such default or disability continues, or until its authority to do business is restored by the commissioner.

Rev., s. 4701; 1899, c. 54, s. 14; 1901, c. 176, s. 1.

Provision as to foreign insurance company applying to remove case to federal court is constitutional and valid: Ins. Co. v. Comrs., 144-442—but this has no application to the removal of a cause wherein an agent is suing the company for services rendered, Ibid.

6296. Revocation of license of domestic company; injunction and receiver. If, upon examination, the insurance commissioner is of the opinion that any domestic insurance company is insolvent, or has exceeded its powers, or failed to comply with any provision of law, or that its condition is such as to render its further proceeding hazardous to the public or to its policyholders, he shall revoke its license, and, if he deems it necessary, shall apply to a judge of the superior court to issue an injunction restraining it in whole or in part from further proceeding with its business. The judge may issue the injunction forthwith, or upon notice and hearing thereon, and after a full hearing of the matter may dissolve or modify the injunction or make it permanent, and may make all orders and judgments needful in the matter, and may appoint agents or a receiver to take possession of the property and effects of the company and to settle its affairs, subject to such rules and orders as the court from time to time prescribes.

Rev., s. 4702; 1899, c. 54, s. 14.

6297. Revocation of license for violation of law or impaired assets. 1. The authority of a domestic or foreign insurance company may be revoked if it violates or neglects to comply with any provision of law obligatory upon it, and whenever in the opinion of the insurance commissioner its condition is unsound, or its assets above its liabilities, exclusive of capital and inclusive of reserve or unearned premiums estimated as provided by this chapter, are less than the amount of its original capital or required unimpaired funds.

2. If the insurance commissioner is satisfied at any time that any statements made by any company licensed under this chapter are untrue, or if a general agent fails or refuses to obey the provisions of this chapter, the insurance commissioner may revoke and cancel such license.

An insurance company violating any provision of this chapter, or refusing to submit to the examination provided for in section eighteen of this chapter, when requested, forfeits its right to do business in this state for twelve months thereafter, and the insurance commissioner shall immediately revoke the license issued to such insurance company to do business in this state.

6298. Agents and adjusters must procure license. Every agent or adjuster of any insurance company authorized to do business in this state shall be required to obtain annually from the insurance commissioner a license under the seal of his office, showing that the company for which he is agent or proposes to adjust is licensed to do business in this state, and that he is an agent of such company and duly authorized to do business for it. And every such agent or adjuster, on demand, shall exhibit his license to any officer or to any person from whom he shall solicit insurance.

Rev., 4706; 1899, c. 54, s. 81; 1901, c. 391, s. 7; 1903, c. 438, s. 8, c. 774; 1915, c. 109, s. 7, c. 166, s. 1.

This applies to foreign insurance companies and fraternal insurance orders doing business in the state: State v. Arlington, 157-640. Section referred to in Hay v. Ins. Co., 167-82.

6299. Application for license. Before a license is issued to an insurance agent or adjuster in this state, the agent or adjuster and the company for which he desires to act shall apply for the license on forms to be prescribed by the insurance commissioner; and before he issues a license to such agent or adjuster, the in-insurance commissioner shall satisfy himself that the person applying for license as an agent or adjuster is a person of good moral character, that he intends to hold himself out in good faith as an insurance agent or adjuster, and has sufficient knowledge of the business proposed to be done, that he has not wilfully violated any of the insurance laws of this state, and that he is a proper person for such position.

6300. Power of commissioner to revoke license. When the insurance commissioner is satisfied that any insurance agent or adjuster licensed by this state has wilfully violated any of the insurance laws of this state, or has wilfully over-insured property of any of the citizens of the state, or has wilfully misrepresented any policy of insurance, or has dealt unjustly with or wilfully deceived any citizen of this state in regard to any insurance policies, or has failed or refused to pay over to the company which he represents, or has represented, any money or property in the hands of such agent or adjuster belonging to the company, when demanded, or has in any other way become unfit for such position, the commissioner may revoke, and it shall be his duty to revoke, the license of such agent or adjuster for all the companies which he represents in this state for such length of time as he may decide, not exceeding one year. The insurance commissioner shall give to the agent or adjuster ten days notice of the revocation of such license, and shall give the reasons therefor; and the agent or adjuster shall have the right to have such revocation reviewed by any judge of the superior court of Wake county upon appeal. For the purpose of investigation under this section, the insurance commissioner shall have all the powers conferred upon him by section 6431 of this chapter.

1913, c. 79, ss. 2, 3; 1915, c. 166, s. 7.

6301. Nonresident agents forbidden; exception. No nonresident of the state shall be licensed to do business in the state, except as a special agent or organizer, and then only when he reports his business for record as North Carolina business to some general or district agent of his company in the state, or having territory within the state.

Rev., s. 4707; 1899, c. 54, s. 108; 1903, c. 438, s. 11.

6302. Resident agents required; discrimination. All business done in this state by steam-boiler, liability, accident, health, live-stock, marine, leakage, credit, plate-glass, and fidelity insurance companies shall be by their regularly authorized agents residing in the state, or transacted through applications of such agents; and all policies so issued must be countersigned by such agents. No such companies nor their agents may make any discrimination in favor of individuals or insureds, and the provisions hereafter set forth in this chapter with respect to discrimination by life insurance companies shall apply to the companies above named and their agents.

Rev., s. 4810; 1899, c. 54, ss. 107, 108; 1903, c. 438, s. 11; 1911, c. 196, s. 5; 1913, c. 140, s. 3.

6303. Agents personally liable, when. An insurance agent is personally liable on all contracts of insurance unlawfully made by or through him, directly or indirectly, for any company not authorized to do business in the state. A person or citizen of the state who fills up or signs any open policy, certificate, blank or coupon of, or furnished by, an unlicensed company, agent, or broker, the effect of which is to bind any insurance in an unlicensed company on property in this state, is the agent of such company, and personally liable for all licenses and taxes due on account of such transaction.

Rev., s. 4813; 1899, c. 54, s. 70; 1903, c. 438, s. 7.

6304. Payment of premium to agent valid; obtaining by fraud a crime. An insurance agent or broker who acts for a person other than himself in negotiating a contract of insurance is, for the purpose of receiving the premium therefor, the company's agent, whatever conditions or stipulations may be contained in the policy or contract. Such agent or broker knowingly procuring by fraudulent representations payment, or the obligation for the payment, of a premium of insurance, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned for not more than one year.

Rev., ss. 3486, 4814; 1899, c. 54, s. 69.

6305. Punishment for agent acting without license or violating law. If any person shall assume to act as an insurance agent or broker without license therefor as required by law, or shall act in any manner in the negotiation or transaction of unlawful insurance with a foreign insurance company not admitted to do business in this state, or as principal or agent shall violate any provisions of law contained in this chapter, the punishment for which is not provided for elsewhere, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars for each offense.

Rev., s. 3484; 1899, c. 54, s. 94; 1907, c. 1000, s. 8.

This applies to agents of foreign fraternal insurance orders doing business in the state: State v. Arlington, 157-640.

6306. Agent failing to exhibit license. If any agent of any insurance company shall, on demand of any person from whom he shall solicit insurance, fail to exhibit a certificate from the insurance commissioner bearing the seal of his office, and dated within one year from such demand, he shall be fined five dollars or imprisoned ten days for each offense.

Rev., s. 3485; 1899, c. 54, s. 81.

6307. Agents making false statements. If any solicitor, agent, examining physician, or other person shall knowingly or wilfully make any false or fraudulent statement or representation in or with reference to any publication for insurance, or shall make any such statement for the purpose of obtaining fee, commission, money, or benefit in any corporation transacting business in this state, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 3487; 1899, c. 54, s. 60.

NOTE.—For criminal offenses connected with fraternal orders and societies, see this chapter, s. 6529.

6308. Agents signing certain blank policies. If any agent, commissioned or otherwise, of any fire, marine, health, live-stock, leakage, credit, steam-boiler, liability, accident, plate-glass, or fidelity insurance company shall sign any blank contract or policy of insurance, upon conviction thereof he shall be fined for each offense not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

Rev., s. 3488; 1899, c. 54, ss. 108, 109; 1911, c. 196, s. 6.

6309. Adjuster acting for unauthorized company. If any person shall act as adjuster on a contract made otherwise than authorized by the laws of this state, or by any insurance company or person not regularly licensed to do business in the state, or shall adjust or aid in the adjustment, either directly or indirectly, of a loss by fire on property located in this state, incurred on a contract not authorized by the laws of the state, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than two hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned not less than six months nor more than two years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 3482; 1899, c. 54, s. 114.

6310. Agent violating insurance law. If any person, either as principal or agent, or pretending to be such, shall solicit, examine, or inspect any risk, or shall examine into, adjust, or aid in adjusting any loss, or shall receive, collect, or transmit any premium of insurance, or shall do any other act in the soliciting, making, or executing any contract of insurance of any kind otherwise than the law permits, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall pay a fine of not less than two hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not less than one nor more than two years, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 3490; 1899, c. 54, s. 115.

6311. Informer to receive half of penalty. The person, if other than the insurance commissioner or his deputy, upon whose complaint a conviction is had for violation of the law prohibiting insurance in or by foreign companies not authorized to do business in the state, or for soliciting, examining, inspecting any risk, or receiving, collecting, or transmitting any premium, or adjusting or aiding in the adjustment of a loss, under a contract made otherwise than authorized by the laws of this state, is entitled to one-half of the penalty recovered therefor.

Rev., s. 4831; 1899, c. 54, s. 93.

6312. Forms to be approved by insurance commissioner. It is unlawful for any insurance company, association, order or society doing business in this state to issue, sell, or dispose of any policy, contract, or certificate, or use applications in connection therewith, until the forms of the same have been submitted to and approved by the insurance commissioner of North Carolina, and copies filed in the insurance department.

This does not affect the validity of the contract, but only the manner of doing business by the company: Blount v. Fraternal Assn., 163-167.

ART. 4. DEPOSIT OF SECURITIES

6313. Deposits held in trust by commissioner or treasurer. 1. Deposits by domestic company. The insurance commissioner or the treasurer, in their official capacity, shall take and hold in trust deposits made by any domestic insurance company for the purpose of complying with the laws of any other state to enable the company to do business in that state. The company making the deposit is entitled to the income thereof, and may, from time to time, with the consent of the insurance commissioner or treasurer, and when not forbidden by the law under which the deposit was made, change in whole or in part the securities which compose the deposit for other solvent securities of equal par value. Upon request of any domestic insurance company such officer may return to the company the whole or any portion of the securities of the company held by him on deposit, when he is satisfied that they are subject to no liability and are not required to be longer held by any provision of law or purpose of the original deposit.

2. Deposits by foreign company. The commissioner or treasurer may return to the trustees or other representatives authorized for that purpose any deposit made by a foreign insurance company, when it appears that the company has ceased to do business in the state and is under no obligation to policyholders or other persons in the state for whose benefit the deposit was made.

3. Action to enforce or terminate the trust. An insurance company which has made a deposit in this state pursuant to this chapter, or its trustees or resident managers in the United States, or the insurance commissioner, or any creditor of the company, may at any time bring an action in the superior court of Wake county against the state and other parties properly joined therein, to enforce, administer, or terminate the trust created by the deposit. The process in this action shall be served on the officer of the state having the deposit, who shall appear and answer in behalf of the state and perform such orders and judgments as the court may make in such action.

6314. Deposits subject to approval and control of commissioner. The deposits of securities required to be made by any insurance company of this state shall be approved by the insurance commissioner of the state, and he may examine them at all times, and may order all or any part thereof changed for better security, and no change or transfer of the same may be made without his assent.

Rev., s. 4710; 1903, c. 536, s. 5.

6315. Deposits by foreign companies required and regulated. A foreign company, if incorporated or associated under the laws of any government or state other than the United States or one of the United States, shall not be admitted to do business in this state until, in addition to complying with the conditions by law prescribed for the licensing and admission of such companies to do business in this state, it has made a deposit with the treasurer or insurance commissioner of this state, or with the financial officer of some other state of the United States, of a sum not less than the capital required of like companies under this chapter. This deposit must be in exclusive trust for the benefit and security of all the company's policyholders and creditors in the United States, and may be made in the securities, but subject to the limitations, specified in this chapter with regard to the investment of the capital of domestic companies formed and organized under the provisions of this chapter. The deposit shall be deemed for all purposes of the insurance law the capital of the company making it.

Rev., s. 4711; 1899, c. 54, s. 64; 1903, c. 438, s. 6.

6316. Deposits by life companies not chartered in United States. Every life insurance company organized under the laws of any other country than the United States must have and keep on deposit with some state insurance department or in the hands of trustees, in exclusive trust for the security of its contracts with policyholders in the United States, funds of an amount equal to the net value of all its policies in the United States and not less than two hundred thousand dollars.

Rev., s. 4712; 1899, c. 54, s. 56.

ART. 5. LICENSE FEES AND TAXES

6317. Commissioner to report and pay monthly. On or before the tenth day of each month the insurance commissioner shall furnish to the auditor a statement in detail of the taxes and license fees received by him under this chapter during the previous month, and shall pay to the treasurer the amount in full of such taxes and fees. The auditor may examine the accounts of the insurance commissioner and check them up with said statement.

Rev., s. 4714; 1899, c. 54, s. 82; 1901, c. 391, s. 7; 1905, c. 430, s. 4.

6318. Schedule of license fees, taxes, and charges. The insurance commissioner shall collect and pay into the state treasury fees, taxes, and charges as follows:

1. For each license issued to: a life insurance company or association, two hundred and fifty dollars; a fire insurance company or association, or to any company or association of companies operating a separate or distinct plant of agencies, two hundred dollars; an accident insurance company or association, two hundred dollars; a marine insurance company or association, two hundred dollars; a surety insurance company or association or mutual fire insurance company doing only one class of fire insurance business, one hundred dollars; a plate-glass insurance company or association, one hundred dollars; a boiler insurance company or association, one hundred dollars; a domestic mutual insurance company, fifty dollars; a domestic mutual insurance company, operating in not more than two counties, ten dollars; reciprocals or inter-insurers, fifty dollars; to a fraternal order, twenty-five dollars; a bond, investment, dividend, guarantee, registry, title guarantee or debenture company, one hundred dollars; all other insurance companies or associations, one hundred dollars. An underwriters agency, composed of two or more companies, proposing to do a reinsurance business only in the state may be licensed without a separate license for each company, upon filing with the insurance commissioner a statement of each company, the amount proposed to be assumed by them, and such other information as he may call for, showing that the companies are solvent and propose to conduct the business in a way that would be safe and fair to the citizens of the state.

2. All of said companies shall pay a tax of two and one-half per centum upon the amount of their gross receipts in this state. But if any general agent files with the insurance commissioner a sworn statement showing that at least one-fourth of the entire assets of his company are invested and maintained in bonds of this state, or of any county, city, or town of this state, or any property situate in this state and taxable therein, the tax is one per centum upon the gross receipts aforesaid, and the license fee is one-half that named above, and if the amount so invested is three-fourths of the total assets, the tax is one-fourth of one per centum and the license fee one-fourth of that named above. Companies paying the taxes levied in this section are not liable for tax on their capital stock, and no county or corporation may impose any additional tax, license, or fee. The license fees and taxes imposed in this section must be paid to the insurance commissioner, and by him paid into the state treasury, as provided by law.

3. Annually for license issued to each general agent, five dollars; to each special or district agent or manager or organizer (including seal), three dollars; to each local or canvassing agent (including seal), one dollar; but any such company having assets invested and maintained in bonds of this state or of any county, city, or town of this state, or in any property situated in this state and taxable therein, amounting to three-fourths of its total assets, shall be charged only fifty cents for such license. In case of loss or destruction of the license the insurance commissioner, for a fee of fifty cents, may certify to its issuance, giving number, date, and form, which may be used by the original party named therein in lieu of the original license. There shall be no charge for the seal affixed to such certificate or said license.

4. Annually twenty dollars for each license issued to a resident broker, authorized to procure insurance in nonadmitted companies, and also a tax of five per centum on his gross premium receipts.

5. For filing and examining statement preliminary to admission, twenty dollars; for filing and auditing annual statement, ten dollars; for filing any other papers required by law, one dollar; for each certificate of examination, condition, or qualification of company or association, two dollars; for each seal when required, one dollar; for each examination of domestic company, twenty-five dollars; for each examination of foreign company, fifty dollars; for filing charter and other papers of a fraternal order, preliminary to admission, twenty-five dollars.

6. To be paid to the publisher, for the publication of each financial statement, nine dollars.

7. The commissioner shall receive for copy of any record or paper in his office ten cents per copy sheet and one dollar for certifying same, or any fact or data from the records of his office; for making and mailing abstracts to the clerks of the superior courts in the counties of the state, four dollars; for examination of any foreign company, twenty-five dollars per diem and all expenses, and for examining any domestic company, actual expenses incurred; for the examination and approval of charters of companies, five dollars; also, to defray the expense of computing the value of the policies of domestic life insurance companies, one cent for every thousand dollars of the whole amount insured by its policies so valued.

8. He shall collect all other fees and charges due and payable into the state treasury by any company, association, order, or individual under his department.

Rev., s. 4715; 1899, c. 54, ss. 50, 68, 80, 81, 82, 87, 90, 92; 1901, c. 391, s. 7, c. 706, s. 2; 1903, c. 438, ss. 7, 8; 1903, c. 536, s. 4; 1903, cc. 680, 774; 1905, c. 588, s. 68; 1913, c. 140, s. 1; 1919, c. 186, s. 6.

Section cited: Trust Co. v. Young, 172-470; State v. Arlington, 157-640.

6319. No additional charge by counties or towns. No county or municipality may impose an additional tax, license, or fee upon any insurance company or agent.

Rev., s. 4716; 1899, c. 54, s. 79; 1901, c. 391, s. 7; 1903, c. 438, s. 8.

6320. License fees for more than one class of insurance. No insurance company admitted to do business in the state shall be authorized to transact more than one class or kind of insurance therein, unless it pays the license fees for each class. But upon the payment of the largest license fees provided in this chapter for any one business done a life insurance company may do a health business, and a fire insurance company may insure against loss or damage to property by lightning, wind, hail, or tornado, use and occupancy, and for nonoccupancy, and may insure vessels, freights, goods, money, effects, and money lent on bottomry or respondentia against the perils of the sea and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance, including risks of inland navigation and transportation; and may also insure against loss or damage by water to any goods or premises arising from leakage of sprinklers and water-pipes. No insurance company may be required to pay license fees amounting in the aggregate to more than three hundred and fifty dollars per annum.

Rev., s. 4717; 1899, c. 54, s. 65; 1901, c. 391, s. 5; 1903, c. 438, s. 6.

6321. Licenses run from April first; pro rata payment. The licenses required by this chapter shall continue for the next ensuing twelve months after April first of each year, unless revoked as provided in this chapter; but the insurance commissioner may, when the annual license tax exceeds twenty-five dollars, receive from applicants after April first so much of the license fee required by law as may be due pro rata for the remainder of the year, beginning with the first day of the current month.

Rev., s. 4718; 1899, c. 54, s. 78.

6322. Statements of gross receipts filed and tax paid. Every general agent shall, within the first thirty days of January and July of each year, make a full and correct statement, under oath of himself and of the president, secretary, or some officer at the home or head office of the company in this country, of the amount of the gross receipts derived from the insurance business under this chapter obtained from residents of this state, or on property located therein during the preceding six months, and shall, within the first fifteen days of February and August of each year, pay to the insurance commissioner the tax imposed by this chapter upon such gross receipts.

Rev., s. 4719; 1899, c. 54, s. 79; 1901, c. 391, s. 7; 1903, c. 438, s. 8.

This section is constitutional, and imposes the tax for the privilege of doing business in the state: Trust Co. v. Young, 172-470.

6323. Policyholders to furnish information. To enable the insurance commissioner the better to enforce the payment of the taxes imposed by this chapter, every corporation, firm, or individual doing business in the state shall, upon demand of the commissioner, furnish to him, upon blanks to be provided by him, a statement of the amount of all insurance held by them, giving the name of the company, number, and amount of policies and the premiums paid on each, and such other information as the commissioner calls for, or shall file an affidavit with the commissioner that all their insurance is placed in companies licensed to do business in this state.

Rev., s. 4720; 1899, c. 54, s. 79; 1901, c. 391, s. 7; 1903, c. 438, s. 8.

SUBCHAPTER II. INSURANCE COMPANIES

ART. 6. GENERAL DOMESTIC COMPANIES

6324. Application of this chapter and general laws. The general provisions of law relative to the powers, duties, and liabilities of corporations apply to all incorporated domestic insurance companies where pertinent and not in conflict with other provisions of law relative to such companies or with their charters. All insurance companies of this state shall be governed by this chapter, notwithstanding anything in their special charters to the contrary, provided notice of the acceptance of this chapter is filed with the insurance commissioner.

Rev., s. 4721; 1899, c. 54, s. 19.

6325. Extension of existing charters. Domestic insurance companies incorporated by special acts, whose charters are subject to limitation of time, shall, after the limitation expires, and upon filing statement and paying the taxes and fees required for an amendment of the charter, continue to be bodies corporate, subject to all general laws applicable to such companies.

Rev., s. 4722; 1899, c. 54, s. 20.

6326. Certificate required before issuing policies. No domestic insurance company may issue policies until upon examination of the insurance commissioner, his deputy or examiner, it is found to have complied with the laws of the state, and until it has obtained from the insurance commissioner a certificate setting forth that fact and authorizing it to issue policies. The issuing of policies in violation of this section renders the company liable to the forfeiture prescribed by law, but such policies are binding upon the company.

Rev., s. 4723; 1899, c. 54, ss. 21, 99; 1903, c. 438, s. 10.

6327. Purposes of organization. Insurance companies, associations, or orders may be formed as provided in the two next succeeding sections for any one of the following purposes:

2. Marine. To insure, upon the stock or mutual plan, vessels, freights, goods, money, effects, and money lent on bottomry or respondentia against the perils of the sea and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance, including risks of inland navigation and transportation.

3. Life. To carry on the business commonly known as life insurance on the stock or mutual plan, contract for the payment of endowments or annuities, or make and enter into such other contracts conditioned upon the continuance or cessation of human life.

5. Accident. Against injury, disablement, or death resulting from traveling or general accident and every insurance appertaining thereto.

6. Fidelity and surety. And a company is authorized to execute such bonds, undertakings, and contracts of suretyship by itself, though a statute requires two or more sureties.

7. Plate-glass. Upon glass against breakage.

8. Liability. Insuring any one against loss or damage resulting from accident to or injury, fatal or nonfatal, suffered by an employee or other person, for and which the person insured is liable.

9. Boiler and machinery. Upon steam boilers and upon pipes, engines, and machinery connected therewith or operated thereby, against explosion and accident and against loss or damage to life, person, or property resulting therefrom. And a company is authorized to make inspection of and to issue certificates of inspection upon such boilers, pipes, engines, and machinery.

10. Burglary. Against loss by burglary or theft, or both.

11. Credit. To carry on the business commonly known as credit insurance or guaranty, either by agreeing to purchase uncollectible debts or otherwise to insure against loss or damage from the failure of persons indebted to the insured to meet their liabilities.

12. Sprinkler. To insure against loss or damage by water to any goods or premises arising from the breakage or leakage of sprinklers and water-pipes. And a company is authorized to make inspection of and to issue certificates of inspection upon such sprinklers and pipes.

16. Miscellaneous. Against any other casualty authorized by the charter of the company, not included under the heads of life, fire, marine, or title insurance, which is a proper subject of insurance. No corporation so formed may transact any other business than that specified in its charter and articles of association.

6328. Manner of creating such corporations. The procedure for organizing such corporations is as follows: The proposed incorporators, not less than ten in number, a majority of whom must be residents of the state, shall subscribe articles of association setting forth their intention to form a corporation; its proposed name, which must not so closely resemble the name of an existing corporation doing business under the laws of this state as to be likely to mislead the public, and must be approved by the insurance commissioner; the class of insurance it proposes to transact and on what business plan or principle; the place of its location within the state, and if on the stock plan, the amount of its capital stock. The words "insurance company," "insurance association," or "insurance society" must be a part of the title of any such corporation, and also the word "mutual," if it is organized upon the mutual principle. The certificate of incorporation must be subscribed and sworn to by the incorporators before an officer authorized to take acknowledgment of deeds, who shall forthwith certify the certificate of incorporation, as so made out and signed, to the insurance commissioner of the state at his office in the city of Raleigh. The insurance commissioner shall examine the certificate, and if he approves of it and finds that the requirements of the law have been complied with, shall certify such facts, by certificate on such articles, to the secretary of state. Upon the filing in the office of the secretary of state of the certificate of incorporation and attached certificates, and the payment of a charter fee in the amount required for private corporations, and the same fees to the secretary of state, the secretary of state shall cause the certificate and accompanying certificates to be recorded in his office, and shall issue a certificate in the following form:

Be it known that, whereas (here the names of the subscribers to the articles of association shall be inserted) have associated themselves with the intention of forming a corporation under the name of (here the name of the corporation shall be inserted), for the purpose (here the purpose declared in the articles of association shall be inserted), with a capital (or with a permanent fund) of (here the amount of capital or permanent fund fixed in the articles of association shall be inserted), and have complied with the provisions of the statute of this state in such case made and provided, as appears from the following certified articles of association: (Here copy articles of association and accompanying certificates). Now, therefore, I (here the name of the secretary shall be inserted), secretary of state, hereby certify that (here the names of the subscribers to the articles of association shall be inserted), their associates and successors, are legally organized and established as, and are hereby made, an existing corporation under the name of (here the name of the corporation shall be inserted), with such articles of association, and have all the powers, rights, and privileges and subject to the duties, liabilities, and restrictions which by law appertain thereto.

Witness my official signature hereunto subscribed, and the seal of the state of North Carolina hereunto affixed, this the day of, in the year (in these blanks the day, month, and year of execution of this certificate shall be inserted; and in the case of purely mutual companies, so much as relates to capital stock shall be omitted).

The secretary of state shall sign the certificate and cause the seal of the state to be affixed to it, and such certificate of incorporation and certificate of the secretary of state has the effect of a special charter and is conclusive evidence of the organization and establishment of the corporation. The secretary of state shall also cause a record of his certificate to be made, and a certified copy of this record may be given in evidence with the same effect as the original certificate.

6329. First meeting; organization; license. The first meeting for the purpose of organization under such charter shall be called by a notice signed by one or more of the subscribers to the certificate of incorporation, stating the time, place, and purpose of the meeting; and at least seven days before the appointed time a copy of this notice shall be given to each subscriber, left at his usual place of business or residence, or duly mailed to his postoffice address, unless the signers waive notice in writing. Whoever gives the notice must make affidavit thereof, which affidavit shall include a copy of the notice and be entered upon the records of the corporation. At the first meeting, or any adjournment thereof, an organization shall be effected by the choice of a temporary clerk, who shall be sworn; by the adoption of by-laws; and by the election of directors and such other officers as the by-laws require; but at this meeting no person may be elected director who has not signed the certificate of incorporation. The temporary clerk shall record the proceedings until the election and qualification of the secretary. The directors so chosen shall elect a president, secretary, and other officers which under the by-laws they are so authorized to choose. The president, secretary, and a majority of the directors shall forthwith make, sign, and swear to a certificate setting forth a copy of the certificate of incorporation, with the names of the subscribers thereto, the date of the first meeting and of any adjournments thereof, and shall submit such certificate and the records of the corporation to the insurance commissioner, who shall examine the same, and who may require such other evidence as he deems necessary. If upon his examination the insurance commissioner approves of the by-laws and finds that the requirements of the law have been complied with, he shall issue a license to the company to do business in the state, as is provided for in this chapter.

Rev., s. 4728; 1899, c. 54, s. 25; 1903, c. 438, ss. 2, 3.

6330. By-laws; classification and election of directors. A domestic company may adopt by-laws for the conduct of its business not repugnant to law or its charter, and therein provide for the division of its board of directors into two, three, or four classes, and the election thereof at its annual meetings so that the members of one class only shall retire and their successors be chosen each year. Vacancies in any such class may be filled by election by the board for the unexpired term.

Rev., s. 4724; 1899, c. 54, s. 22.

6331. Power to purchase, hold, and convey real estate. Any company organized by special charter or under the provisions of the general insurance laws of this state may purchase, hold, and convey real estate for the sole purposes and in the manner herein set forth:

1. Such as is necessary for its immediate use in the transaction of its business.
2. Property mortgaged to it in good faith as security for loans previously contracted or for money due.
3. Property conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings, or purchased at sales upon judgments, decrees, or mortgages obtained or made for such debts.
4. It is unlawful for any such incorporated company to purchase or hold real estate in any other case or for any other purpose; and such real estate acquired, and not necessary for the accommodation of the company in the convenient transaction of its business, shall be sold and disposed of within five years after the company has acquired title, and it is not lawful for it to hold the real estate for a longer period than that mentioned, unless it acquired such real estate prior to March sixth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, or procures a certificate from the insurance commissioner that the interest of the company will suffer materially by a forced sale of such real estate, in which event the time for the sale may be extended to such a time as the insurance commissioner directs in the certificate. Nothing contained herein prevents any insurance company from improving and conveying its real estate, notwithstanding the lapse of five years from its acquisition thereof, without having procured such certificate from the insurance commissioner.

6332. Amount of capital required. The amount of capital requisite to the formation and organization of companies under the provisions of this subchapter is as follows: Companies to insure plate-glass, not less than ten thousand dollars. Companies issuing health policies, policies against damage by hail, or insuring marine risks or inland risks upon the stock plan, or insuring live-stock, not less than twenty-five thousand dollars. Companies for the purpose of transacting life or fire insurance on the stock plan, fidelity insurance, accident insurance, steam-boiler insurance, credit insurance, sprinkler insurance, and insurance against loss by accident to vehicles, not less than fifty thousand dollars; but life or accident companies on the industrial plan, issuing policies not over five hundred dollars, may be allowed to transact business with as little capital as twenty-five thousand dollars. Companies may be so formed to insure mechanics' tools and apparatus against loss by fire for an amount not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars in a single risk, with a capital of not less than ten thousand dollars, divided into shares of the par value of ten dollars each.

Rev., s. 4729; 1899, c. 54, s. 26; 1903, c. 438, s. 4; 1907, c. 1000, s. 5; 1913, c. 140, s. 2.

6333. Capital stock fully paid in cash. The capital stock shall be paid in cash within twelve months from the date of the charter or certificate of organization, and no certificate of full shares and no policies may be issued until the whole capital is paid in. A majority of the directors shall certify on oath that the money has been paid by the stockholders for their respective shares and is held as the capital of the company invested or to be invested as required by the next succeeding section.

Rev., s. 4730; 1899, c. 54, s. 27.

6334. Investment of capital. Such capital shall be invested only as follows:

1. In first mortgage of real estate in this state.
2. In bonds of the United States or of any of the states whose bonds do not sell for less than par.
3. In the bonds or notes of any city, county, or town of this state whose net indebtedness does not exceed five per centum of the last preceding valuation of the property therein for purposes of taxation. The term "net indebtedness" excludes any debt created to provide an electric light plant and equipment, sewerage system, and a supply of water for general domestic use, and allows credit for the sinking fund of a county, city, town, or district available for the payment of its indebtedness.

4. Any insurance company having a capital stock of more than one hundred thousand dollars may, with the consent of the insurance commissioner, after investing one hundred thousand dollars of the capital as provided in this section, invest the balance in such other securities or in such safe manner as may be approved by the commissioner.

5. Any real-estate title insurance company organized for any of the purposes set forth in article fourteen of this chapter, and having a capital stock of more than fifty thousand dollars, may, with the consent of the insurance commissioner, after investing fifty thousand dollars of the capital, as provided in this section, invest the balance thereof in abstracts of titles of property situated in one or more of the cities or counties of this state. The amount of capital so invested shall in no event exceed one-fourth of the total capital stock of such company; and no such company shall guarantee or insure in any one risk more than twenty per cent of its combined capital and surplus. If the capital stock of such company does not exceed fifty thousand dollars, it may, with the consent of the insurance commissioner, after having invested three-fourths of its capital stock as now provided by law, invest the balance thereof in abstracts of titles of property situated in one or more of the cities or counties of this state.

Rev., s. 4731; 1899, c. 54, s. 27; 1907, c. 798; 1907, c. 998; 1911, c. 32; 1913, c. 200.

NOTE.—For general power to invest in farm loan bonds, see Banks, chapter 5, volume 1.

6335. Authority to increase or reduce capital stock. The insurance commissioner shall, upon application, examine the proceedings of domestic companies to increase or reduce their capital stock, and when found conformable to law shall issue certificates of authority to such companies to transact business upon such increased or reduced capital. He shall not allow stockholders' obligations of any description as part of the assets or capital of any stock insurance company unless the same are secured by competent collateral.

Rev., s. 4732; 1899, c. 54, s. 15.

6336. Assessment of shares; revocation of license. When the net assets of a company organized under this article do not amount to more than three-fourths of its original capital, it may make good its capital to the original amount by assessment of its stock. Shares on which such an assessment is not paid within sixty days after demand shall be forfeitable and may be canceled by vote of the directors and new shares issued to make up the deficiency. If such company does not, within three months after notice from the insurance commissioner to that effect, make good its capital or reduce the same, as allowed by this article, its authority to transact new business of insurance shall be revoked by the commissioner.

Rev., s. 4733; 1899, c. 54, s. 28; 1903, c. 438, s. 4.

6337. Increase of capital stock. Any company organized under this article may issue pro rata to its stockholders certificates of any portion of its actual net surplus it deems fit to divide, which shall be considered an increase of its capital to the amount of such certificates. The company may, at a meeting called for the purpose, vote to increase the amount and number of shares of its capital stock, and to issue certificates therefor when paid in full. In whichever method the increase is made, the company shall, within thirty days after the issue of such certificates, submit to the insurance commissioner a certificate setting forth the amount of the increase and the facts of the transaction, signed and sworn to by its president and secretary and a majority of its directors. If the insurance commissioner finds that the facts conform to the law, he shall endorse his approval thereof; and upon filing such certificate so endorsed with the secretary of state, and the payment of a fee of five dollars for filing the same, the company may transact business upon the capital as increased, and the insurance commissioner shall issue his certificate to that effect.

6338. Reduction of capital stock. When the capital stock of a company organized under this article is impaired, the company may, upon a vote of the majority of the stock represented at a meeting legally called for that purpose, reduce its capital stock and the number of shares thereof to an amount not less than the minimum sum required by law, but no part of its assets and property shall be distributed to its stockholders. Within ten days after such meeting the company must submit to the insurance commissioner a certificate setting forth the proceedings thereof and the amount of the reduction and the assets and liabilities of the company, signed and sworn to by its president, secretary, and a majority of its directors. The insurance commissioner shall examine the facts in the case, and if they conform to law, and in his judgment the proposed reduction may be made without prejudice to the public, he shall endorse his approval upon the certificate. Upon filing the certificate so endorsed with the secretary of state and paying a filing fee of five dollars, the company may transact business upon the basis of the reduced capital as though it were original capital, and its charter shall be deemed to be amended to conform thereto, and the insurance commissioner shall issue his certificate to that effect. The company may, by a majority vote of its directors, after the reduction, require the return of the original certificates of stock held by each stockholder in exchange for new certificates it may issue in lieu thereof for such number of shares as each stockholder is entitled to in the proportion that the reduced capital bears to the original capital.

Rev., s. 4735; 1899, c. 54, s. 30.

6339. Dividends declared; liability of stockholders for unlawful dividends. No stock company organized under this article may pay a cash or stock dividend except from its actual net surplus computed as required by law in its annual statements, nor may any such company which has ceased to do new business of insurance divide any portion of its assets, except surplus, to its stockholders, until it has performed or canceled its policy obligations. No dividend shall be paid by any company incorporated in this state when its capital stock is impaired, or when such payment would have the effect of impairing its capital stock; and any dividend so paid subjects the stockholders receiving it to a joint and several liability to the creditors of said company to the extent of the dividend so paid.

Rev., s. 4736; 1899, c. 54, s. 31; 1903, c. 536, s. 3.

6340. Loans insufficiently secured. Whenever it appears by examination, as authorized by law, that an insurance company, organized under the laws of this state, holds, as collateral security for the payment of any loan, any stock, bond, or security of whatever description, which has not a cash market value of at least twenty-five per centum more than the amount of such loan, the insurance commissioner may require the reduction of the loan or an increase of the collateral security, so that the security shall be at least twenty-five per centum in excess of the amount loaned. If the company fail to comply with this requirement within ten days after receiving written notice thereof from the commissioner, it is the duty of the commissioner to disallow the loan and to deduct the amount thereof from the assets of the company. If it appears, upon examination, that any such insurance company holds, as security for any loan, a mortgage upon real estate which is not a first lien, or that the value of the real estate is less than fifty per centum in excess of the loan which it is mortgaged to secure, the insurance commissioner may disallow the loan and deduct the amount thereof from the assets of the company holding it, after having given the company at least twenty days notice, in writing, to change or conform the loan to the requirements of this section.

Rev., s. 4737; 1903, c. 536, ss. 6, 7, 8.

ART. 7. GUARANTY FUND FOR DOMESTIC COMPANIES

6341. Guaranty fund established. Any insurance company formed as provided in the preceding article, or now existing by virtue of any of the laws of North Carolina, may establish a guaranty fund of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars nor more than two hundred thousand dollars, in the following manner: The company may receive from any person, firm, or corporation, money, bonds, or other securities, in such amount as may be agreed upon, for the purpose of providing a guaranty fund, to be used as hereinafter provided, for the payment of the claims of policyholders. Upon the receipt of such bonds, money, or other securities by any insurance company, it shall issue its certificate, in writing, authenticated as required by law for certificates of stock, stating the amount, terms, and conditions of repayment of such money or the return of such bonds or other securities, the name of the payee or depositor, and the certificate shall also state upon its face that it is issued under the provisions of this section. The money, bonds, or other securities, when so paid to or deposited with such insurance company, becomes a part of the guaranty fund of the company, and are liable for all the claims of policyholders after the general assets of the company have been exhausted. This guaranty fund is not liable for the claims or debts due to stockholders or the general creditors of such insurance company. No insurance company shall create a guaranty fund, as provided in this article, except upon the approval of a majority of its stockholders authorized at any regular or special meeting called for the purpose.

6342. Separate accounts; application of fund. Every insurance company which establishes a guaranty fund under the provisions of this article must keep a separate account of the same on its books, together with a full and true list of any securities held therefor. The money and securities belonging to the guaranty fund must be invested in the same manner as is now provided by law for the investment of the other assets of insurance companies; but any bond or other securities received by any such insurance company as a part of its guaranty fund may be deposited with the insurance commissioner, as is now allowed by law, subject to the further provisions of this article. An insurance company receiving said money or securities as a part of its guaranty fund, as herein provided, may pay to the person, firm, or corporation from whom the same is received a semi-annual dividend of not more than three and one-half per cent on the amount of said money or securities. The guaranty fund herein provided for shall be applied to the payment of claims of policyholders only when the insurance company has exhausted its cash on hand and the invested assets, exclusive of uncollected premiums; and when the guarantee is in any way impaired the directors may make good the whole or any part of such impairment by assessment upon the contingent funds of the company at the date of such impairment, if any are available.

6343. Reduction or retirement of fund. The guarantee fund shall be retired when the permanent fund of the company equals two per centum of the amount insured upon all policies in force; and such guarantee fund may be reduced or retired by vote of the directors of the company and the assent of the insurance commissioner, if the net assets of the company above the reinsurance reserve and all other claims and obligations, exclusive of the guaranty fund, for two years immediately preceding and including the date of its last annual statement, are not less than twenty-five per centum of the fund. Due notice of this proposed action on the part of the directors of the company must be mailed to each director of the company not less than thirty days before the meeting when such action may be taken, and must also be advertised in two newspapers of general circulation, to be approved by the insurance commissioner, not less than twice a week for a period of not less than four weeks before the meeting. No insurance company with a guaranty fund, as hereinbefore provided, which has ceased to do new business, may return or retire any part of the guaranty fund or divide to its stockholders any part of its general assets, except incomes from its investments, until it shall have performed, reinsured, or canceled its policy obligations.

6344. Insolvency; return of fund. In the event of insolvency or voluntary liquidation of any such insurance company, the amount of the guaranty fund shall be returned to the persons, firms, or corporations, their heirs, executors, administrators, successors, or assigns, from which the same was received, in full or pro rata, as the case may be, before any amount shall be paid from the assets of said company to its stockholders. The intention of this section is that the liability of the company for the repayment or the return of its guaranty fund, as evidenced by its certificates therefor, as hereinbefore provided, shall be preferred in the distribution of its assets to the stockholders and general creditors of the company, other than its policy obligations.

6345. Conversion to guaranty fund. Any insurance company now doing business as a domestic insurance company under the laws of this state which has received any money or securities to be held as a guaranty capital, guaranty surplus, or guaranty fund, may convert the same into a guaranty fund, as hereinbefore provided, by mutual agreement between the board of directors of the insurance company and the parties from whom the money or securities have been received, subject, however, to the approval of the insurance commissioner, and thereupon certificates shall be issued therefor, as hereinbefore provided, and the same shall thereafter be held subject to the rights and liabilities provided in this article.

1909, c. 922, s. 2.

ART. 8. MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANIES

6346. Mutual fire insurance companies organized; requisites for doing business.

Mutual fire insurance companies may be formed under this article, but no policy may be issued by a purely mutual fire insurance company, or by a mutual fire insurance company with a guaranty capital of less than fifty thousand dollars, until not less than two hundred thousand dollars of insurance, in not less than two hundred separate risks upon property located in North Carolina, has been subscribed for and entered on its books; but in the formation of mutual fire insurance companies to operate in no more than two counties of this state, whether town or farmers' mutuals, the requirement as to amount of insurance shall be twenty-five thousand dollars in risks owned by at least twenty-five adult residents of such towns or counties; but where there is an association or corporation for the purpose of interinsurance or mutual protection between members of said association or corporation, which members or stockholders are engaged in the same line of business, the requirement shall be fifty instead of two hundred separate risks. No policy may be issued under this section until the president and the secretary of the company have certified under oath that every subscription for insurance in the list presented to the insurance commissioner for approval is genuine, and made with an agreement with every subscriber for insurance that he will take the policies subscribed for by him within thirty days after the granting of a license to the company by the insurance commissioner to issue policies.

Rev., s. 4738; 1899, c. 54, ss. 25, 32, 34; 1901, c. 391, s. 3; 1903, c. 438, s. 4; 1911, c. 93.

6347. Assessments kept in treasury; certain officers debarred from commissions.

Every mutual or assessment company or association organized or doing business in the state on the assessment plan shall keep in its treasury at least one assessment sufficient to pay one average loss. No officer or other person whose duty it is to determine the character of the risk, and upon whose decision the application shall be accepted or rejected by a mutual fire insurance company, shall receive as any part of his compensation a commission upon the premiums, but his compensation shall be a fixed salary and such share in the net profits as the directors may determine. Nor shall such officer or person be an employee of any officer or agent of the company.

Rev., s. 4738; 1899, c. 54, s. 32; 1903, c. 438, s. 4.

6348. Policyholders are members of mutual fire companies. Every person insured by a mutual fire insurance company is a member while his policy is in force, entitled to one vote for each policy he holds, and must be notified of the time and place of holding its meetings by a written notice or by an imprint upon the back of each policy, receipt, or certificate of renewal, as follows:

The insured is hereby notified that by virtue of this policy he is a member of the insurance company, and that the annual meetings of the company are held at its home office on the day of, in each year, at o'clock.

The blanks shall be duly filled in print and are a sufficient notice. A corporation which becomes a member of such company may authorize any person to represent it, and this representative has all the rights of an individual member. A person holding property in trust may insure it in such company, and as trustee assume the liability and be entitled to the rights of a member, but is not personally liable upon the contract of insurance. Members may vote by proxies, dated and executed within three months, and returned and recorded on the books of the company three days or more before the meeting at which they are to be used; but no person as proxy or otherwise may cast more than twenty votes.

Rev., s. 4739; 1899, c. 54, s. 33.

6349. Directors in mutual fire companies. Every mutual fire insurance company shall elect by ballot a board of not less than seven directors, who shall manage and conduct its business and hold office for one year or for such term as the by-laws provide and until their successors are qualified. Two-thirds at least of the directors must be citizens of the state, and after the first election members only are eligible, but no director is disqualified from serving the term he was chosen for by reason of the expiration or cancellation of his policy. In companies with a guaranty capital, one-half of the directors shall be chosen by and from the stockholders.

Rev., s. 4739; 1899, c. 54, s. 33.

6350. Mutual fire companies with a guaranty capital. A mutual fire insurance company formed as provided in this article, or a mutual fire insurance company now existing, may establish a guaranty capital or surplus of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars nor more than two hundred thousand dollars, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, which shall be invested in the same manner as is provided in this subchapter for the investment of the capital stock of certain insurance companies. The stockholders of the guaranty capital of a company or owners of guaranty surplus are entitled to a semiannual dividend of not more than three and one-half per centum on their respective shares, if the net profits or unused premiums left after all expenses, losses, and liabilities then incurred, together with the reserve for reinsurance, as provided for, are sufficient to pay the same. The guaranty capital or surplus shall be applied to the payment of losses only when the company has exhausted its cash in hand and the invested assets, exclusive of uncollected premiums, and when thus impaired, the directors may make good the whole or any part of it by assessments upon the contingent funds of the company at the date of such impairment. Shareholders and members of such companies are subject to the same provisions of law in respect to their right to vote as apply respectively to shareholders in stock companies and policyholders in purely mutual companies. This guaranty capital or surplus shall be retired when the permanent fund of the company equals two per centum of the amount insured upon all policies in force, and may be reduced or retired by vote of the policyholders of the company and the assent of the insurance commissioner, if the net assets of the company above its reinsurance reserve and all other claims and obligations, exclusive of guaranty capital or surplus, for two years immediately preceding and including the date of its last annual statement, is not less than twenty-five per centum of the guaranty capital or surplus. Due notice of such proposed action on the part of the company must be mailed to each policyholder of the company not less than thirty days before the meeting when the action may be taken, and must also be advertised in two papers of general circulation, approved by the insurance commissioner, not less than three times a week for a period of not less than four weeks before such meeting. No insurance company with a guaranty capital or surplus, which has ceased to do new business, shall divide to its stockholders any part of its assets or guaranty capital or surplus, except income from investments, until it has performed or canceled its policy obligations.

6351. Dividends and assessments; liability of policyholders. The directors of a mutual fire insurance company may from time to time by vote fix and determine the amount to be paid as a dividend upon policies expiring during each year. Each policyholder is liable to pay his proportional share of any assessments which are made by the company in accordance with law and his contract on account of losses incurred while he was a member, if he is notified of such assessments within one year after the expiration of his policy. Any mutual fire insurance company doing business with a fixed annual premium may in its by-laws and policies fix the contingent liability of its members for the payment of losses and expenses not provided for by its cash funds; but this contingent liability of a member must not be less than a sum equal to five times the cash premiums written in his policy and in addition thereto. The total amount of the liability of the policyholder must be plainly and legibly stated upon the back of each policy. Whenever any reduction is made in the contingent liability of members, it applies proportionally to all policies in force.

Rev., s. 4741; 1899, c. 54, s. 35.

6352. Guaranty against assessments prohibited. If any director or other officer of a mutual fire insurance company, either officially or privately, shall give a guarantee to a policyholder thereof against an assessment to which such policyholder would otherwise be liable, he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense.

Rev., s. 3496; 1899, c. 54, s. 100.

6353. Manner of making assessments; rights and liabilities of policyholders. When a mutual fire insurance company is not possessed of cash funds above its reinsurance reserve sufficient for the payment of insured losses and expenses, it must make an assessment for the amount needed to pay such losses and expenses upon its members liable to assessment therefor in proportion to their several liabilities. The company shall cause to be recorded in a book kept for that purpose the order for the assessment, together with a statement which must set forth the condition of the company at the date of the order, the amount of its cash assets and deposits, notes, or other contingent funds liable to the assessment, the amount the assessment calls for, and the particular losses or liabilities it is made to provide for. This record must be made and signed by the directors who voted for the order before any part of the assessment is collected, and any person liable to the assessment may inspect and take a copy of the same. When, by reason of depreciation or loss of its funds or otherwise, the cash assets of such company, after providing for its other debts, are less than the required premium reserve upon its policies, it must make good the deficiency by assessment in the manner above provided. If the directors are of the opinion that the company is liable to become insolvent they may, instead of such assessment, make two assessments, the first determining what each policyholder must equitably pay or receive in case of withdrawal from the company and having his policy canceled; the second, what further sum each must pay in order to reinsure the unexpired term of his policy at the same rate as the whole was insured at first. Each policyholder must pay or receive according to the first assessment, and his policy shall be canceled unless he pays the sum further determined by the second assessment, in which case his policy continues in force; but in neither case may a policyholder receive or have credited to him more than he would have received on having his policy canceled by a vote of the directors under the by-laws.

Rev., s. 4742; 1899, c. 54, ss. 36, 37.

Courts seek to sustain and enforce contracts of mutual insurance companies by looking to the substance and intention rather than by adopting a technical or strained construction: Perry v. Ins. Assn., 139-374.

Where members of mutual companies have enjoyed its protection, they cannot, after a loss has been sustained, withdraw and refuse to pay their portion of loss: Ibid.

Right of each member is to have assessment made to pay his loss, and he has no claim upon amount paid to another policyholder: Ibid.

Plaintiff may, by a motion in the cause in which he obtained judgment, have an order directed to defendant corporation to have assessment made according to its charter and by-laws, and the court has power to enforce its performance: Ibid.

All contracts and by-laws of an incorporated society are made with reference to the general law, and they must conform to certain general requirements in respect to vested personal and property rights of members: Sherrod v. Ins. Assn., 139-167.

An acceptance of an overdue assessment by a fire insurance company, after property insured is burned, the company having notice thereof, is a waiver of the forfeiture of the policy: Perry v. Ins. Co., 132-283.

6354. Mutual life and health companies. Life and health insurance companies and associations organized in this state to do business on the mutual plan shall be governed as to the commencement of business, election of members, guaranty capital, dividends, and assessments as provided in this article for mutual fire insurance companies, where applicable.

Rev., s. 4743; 1903, c. 536, s. 1.

6355. Dividends on, and redemption of, guaranty capital of life companies. The stockholders of the guaranty capital of any domestic life insurance company are entitled to such annual dividends not exceeding eight per centum, payable from the net surplus, as have been agreed upon in the subscription thereof. Such company may redeem its guaranty capital by appropriation of net surplus for that purpose whenever its members so vote.

ART. 9. ASSESSMENT COMPANIES

6356. Copies of charter and by-laws filed. Every corporation, society, or organization of this or any other state or country, transacting business under this department upon the coöperative or assessment plan, must file with the insurance commissioner, before beginning to do business in this state, a copy of its charter or articles of association, and the by-laws, rules, or regulations referred to in its policies or certificates and made a part of such contract. By-laws or regulations not so filed with the insurance commissioner will not avoid or affect any policy or certificate issued by such company or association.

Rev., s. 4790; 1899, c. 54, s. 86.

As to by-laws with reference to payment of assessments, as to suspension for failure to pay, and as to reinstatement, see Clifton v. Ins. Co., 168-499; Hay v. Assn., 143-256, and cases cited; also Lane v. Ins. Co., 142-55; Duffy v. Ins. Co., 142-103; Riddick v. Ins. Co., 132-118; French v. Life Assn., 111-391. Effect of accepting payment of assessment after it should have been paid, see Hay v. Assn., 143-256.

By-law that notice of assessment may be given by mail, properly addressed, is valid and binding on members: Duffy v. Ins. Co., 142-103—but by-law that certificate of treasurer, etc., is conclusive of the mailing is invalid, Ibid.

Plaintiff can show he did not receive notice, notwithstanding defendant properly postpaid and addressed the same: Sherrod v. Ins. Assn., 139-167.

As to general force of by-laws, see Duffy v. Ins. Co., 142-103. Whether by-law is reasonable is a question for the court: Ibid.

Section merely referred to in Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-418.

6357. Contracts must accord with charter and by-laws. Every policy or certificate or renewal receipt issued to a resident of this state by any corporation, association, or order transacting therein the business of insurance upon the assessment plan must be in accord with the provisions of the charter and by-laws of such corporation, association, or order, as filed with the insurance commissioner. It is unlawful for any such domestic or foreign insurance company or fraternal order to transact or offer to transact any business not authorized by the provisions of its charter and the terms of its by-laws, or, through an agent or otherwise, to offer or issue any policy, renewal certificate, or other contract whose terms are not in clear accord with the powers, terms, and stipulations of its charter and by-laws.

Section cited: Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175-615.

6358. "Assessment plan" printed on application and policy. Every policy or certificate issued to a resident of the state by any corporation transacting in the state the business of life insurance upon the assessment plan, or admitted to do business in this state on the assessment plan, shall print in bold type and in red ink, near the top of the front page of the policy, upon every policy or certificate issued upon the life of any such resident of the state, the words "issued upon the assessment plan"; and the words "assessment plan" shall be printed conspicuously in red ink in and upon every application, circular, card, and any and all printed documents issued, circulated, or caused to be circulated by such corporation within the state, save and except, however, in advertising in newspapers within the state, in which case the words may be printed in black.

6359. Revocation for noncompliance. If any corporation or association transacting insurance business in this state on the assessment plan or issuing any policy upon the life of a resident of North Carolina upon the assessment plan shall fail or refuse to comply with the foregoing section, the insurance commissioner shall forthwith suspend or revoke all authority of such corporation or association and of its agents to do business in this state.

1913, c. 159, s. 2.

6360. Deposits and advance assessments required. Every domestic insurance company, association, order, or fraternal benefit society doing business on the assessment plan shall collect and keep at all times in its treasury one regular loss assessment sufficient to pay one regular average loss; and no such company, association, order, or fraternal benefit society shall be licensed by the insurance commissioner unless it makes and maintains with him for the protection of its obligations at least five thousand dollars in United States or North Carolina bonds, in farm loan bonds issued by federal loan banks, or in the bonds of some city, county, or town of North Carolina to be approved by the insurance commissioner, or deposit with him a good and sufficient bond, secured by a deed of trust on real estate situate in North Carolina and approved by him; but this shall not apply to companies, associations, or orders doing business in not more than two adjacent counties. Such companies, associations, orders, or societies now doing business in this state and not issuing policies or certificates for more than two hundred dollars, shall be permitted to deposit five hundred dollars on the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, and five hundred dollars each six months thereafter until the required amount is deposited; and the last named association when hereafter organized may be allowed by the insurance commissioner to make such deposit in like installments. The insurance commissioner may increase the amount of deposit to the amount of reserve on the contracts of the association or society.

Section referred to in Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-418; Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175-615.

6361. Deposits by foreign assessment companies or order. Each foreign insurance company, association, order, or fraternal benefit society doing business in this state on the assessment plan shall keep at all times deposited with the insurance commissioner or in its head office in this state, or in some responsible banking or trust company, one regular assessment sufficient to pay the average loss or losses occurring among its members in this state during the time allowed by it for the collection of assessments and payment of losses. It shall notify the insurance commissioner of the place of deposit and furnish him at all times such information as he requires in regard thereto; and no such company, association, order, or fraternal benefit society shall be licensed by the commissioner unless it makes and maintains with him for the protection of its obligations at least five thousand dollars in United States or North Carolina bonds, in farm loan bonds issued by federal land banks, or in the bonds of some county, city, or town in North Carolina to be approved by the insurance commissioner, or a good and sufficient bond or note, secured by deed of trust on real estate situate in North Carolina, and approved by the commissioner. The provisions of this section do not apply to associations, orders, or fraternal benefit societies operating in not more than two adjacent counties in the state and paying a benefit of not exceeding two hundred dollars, but the amount to be deposited by said societies is within the discretion of the insurance commissioner, but must be not less than one hundred dollars.

6362. Revocation of license. If any such corporation, association, or order at any time fails to comply with the provisions of the two next preceding sections or shall issue policies or certificates not in accord with its charter and by-laws, as provided in this article, the insurance commissioner shall forthwith suspend or revoke all authority to it, and of all its agents or officers, to do business in this state, and shall publish such revocation in some newspaper published in this state.

ART. 10. BOND AND INVESTMENT COMPANIES

6363. License required; amount of capital stock. Before any bond, investment, dividend, guarantee, registry, title guarantee, debenture, or other like company (not strictly an insurance company as defined in this chapter), or any individual, corporation, or partnership who, by agents, offers for sale or sells the stocks, bonds, or obligations of any foreign corporation, whether organized or to be organized or being promoted, may be authorized to do business in this state, such company, individual, or partnership must be licensed by the insurance commissioner; and the commissioner is authorized to issue such license when he is satisfied that such company or corporation is safe and solvent, and has complied with the laws of this state applicable to fidelity companies and governing their admission and supervision by the insurance department. If such company is chartered and organized in this state and has its home office within the state, and is solvent to the extent of at least fifteen thousand dollars, it may, if a stock company, commence business with a capital stock of twenty-five thousand dollars. The license issued to such companies and their agents shall be issued and paid for as provided for those of insurance companies. This section shall apply also to every corporation, company, co-partnership, or association organized or to be organized in this state where such company or organization by its organizers or promoters puts or proposes to put the stock of the company on the market in person or by agents.

6376. May act as fiduciaries. Any corporation licensed by the insurance commissioner, where such powers or privileges are granted it in its charter, may be guardian, trustee, assignee, receiver, executor or administrator in this state without giving any bond; and the clerks of the superior courts or other officers charged with the duty, or clothed with the power of making such appointments, are authorized to appoint such corporation to any such office, whether the corporation is a resident of this state or not.

No fidelity or surety company shall incur in behalf or on account of any one person, partnership, association, or corporation a liability for an amount larger than one-tenth of its assets, unless it shall be secured from loss thereon beyond that amount by suitable and sufficient collateral agreements of indemnity, by deposit with it in pledge or conveyance to it in trust, for its protection, of property equal in value to the excess of its liability over such limit; or, if such liability is incurred in behalf or on account of a fiduciary holding property in a trust capacity, by such deposit or other disposition of a suitable and sufficient portion of the estate so held that no further sale, mortgage, pledge, or other disposition can be made thereof without such company's approval, except by the decree of a court having proper jurisdiction. If any company violates the provisions of this section, the insurance commissioner may revoke its authority to do business in the state.

ART. 12. PROMOTING AND HOLDING COMPANIES

6383. Terms defined. As the terms are used in this article, "promoting corporation" means a corporation or joint-stock association, engaged in the business of organizing or promoting or endeavoring to organize or promote the organization of an insurance corporation or corporations, or in any way assisting therein; "holding corporation" means a corporation or joint-stock association, which holds or is engaged in the acquisition of the capital stock or a major portion thereof of one or more insurance corporations for the purpose of controlling the management thereof, as voting trustee or otherwise; and "securities" means the shares of capital stock, subscription, certificates, debenture bonds, and any and all other contracts or evidences of ownership of or interest in insurance corporations, or in promoting or holding corporations.

6384. Certificate required. No individual, partnership, association, or corporation, as the agent of another or as a broker, shall sell or offer for sale, or in any way assist in the sale in this state of the securities of any promoting or holding corporation, or of any insurance corporation, which is not at that time lawfully engaged or authorized to engage in the transaction of the business of insurance in this state, without first procuring, as hereinafter provided, a certificate of authority from the insurance department to sell such securities; nor shall any individual, partnership, association, or corporation sell or offer for sale in this state the securities of any promoting or holding corporation, or of any insurance corporation which is not at the time of such sale or offer of sale lawfully engaged or authorized to engage in the transaction of the business of insurance in the state, unless such corporation has first procured from the insurance commissioner, as hereinafter provided, a certificate that the corporation has fully complied with the provisions of this article, and is authorized to sell the securities. Every certificate issued by the insurance commissioner pursuant to the provisions of this article shall state in bold type that the commissioner in no way recommends the securities thereby authorized to be sold, and shall be renewable annually, upon written application, filed on or before the first day of April of each year, and may be revoked for cause at any time by the commissioner. The commissioner shall prepare and furnish upon request suitable blank forms of application for the certificates required by this article.

6385. Application for certificate by agent. Every individual, partnership, association, or corporation desiring or intending to sell or to offer for sale in this state the securities of insurance corporations or of any holding or promoting corporation shall file with the insurance commissioner an application for a certificate of such authority. This application must contain a statement, verified by oath, setting forth the name and address of the applicant, previous business experience, date and place of birth or organization, and such other information as the commissioner requires. It is the duty of the commissioner to examine the application and to make any further inquiry or examination of the applicant as he deems advisable. If upon examination the commissioner finds the applicant, or if a corporation, the officers and directors thereof, to be trustworthy persons of good business credit, he may issue to the applicant a certificate of authority to sell or offer for sale in this state the securities of any insurance corporation, and of any promoting or holding corporation previously authorized under this article, which shall be mentioned therein.

6386. Application for certificate by corporation. Every such unauthorized insurance corporation, and every promoting or holding corporation, whose securities are offered for sale in this state, must file with the insurance commissioner copies of all securities to be offered for sale, and an application for certificate of authority under this article which shall contain a statement in detail of the plans and purposes of such corporation, the amount and par value of the securities to be offered for sale, and the selling price thereof, the manner in which the money paid in therefor is to be spent or employed, the rate of commission to be paid for the sale of such securities, the salaries to be paid to the officers of such corporation, and such other information as the insurance commissioner requires. No change shall thereafter be made in the form or character of the securities to be offered for sale, or in the plans or purposes of any such corporation, without the approval thereof in writing by the commissioner. It is the duty of the commissioner to examine the application and other documents filed, and to make any further inquiry or examination of the corporation as he deems advisable. If upon examination the commissioner finds that the plans and purposes of the corporation are proper, that its condition is satisfactory, that the amount of its securities is reasonable, that the price at which such securities are to be sold is adequate, and that the manner in which the money paid in therefor, the rate of commissions to be paid and the salaries of officers are fair, he may issue a certificate that the corporation has complied with all the provisions of this article, and is authorized to sell or offer its securities for sale in this state.

6387. Approval of advertising matter; misrepresentation. No printed matter may be used in connection with the sale of securities of any such promoting, holding, or insurance corporation, for advertising purposes, or in the dissemination of information with reference thereto, unless it is first submitted to the insurance commissioner and approved by him in writing. No such corporation, and no officer, director, or agent thereof, or any other person, copartnership, association, or corporation may issue, circulate, or employ or cause or permit to be used, issued, circulated, or employed any circular or statement, whether printed or oral, misrepresenting or exaggerating the earnings of insurance corporations or the value of their corporate stock or other securities, or the profits to be derived either directly or indirectly from the organization and management of insurance corporations, or of organizing or holding corporations. No insurance or other corporation, and no individual, copartnership, or association transacting business in this state shall place or offer to place insurance in any corporation in connection with the sale or purchase of the securities of any insurance corporation or of any promoting or holding corporation.

ART. 13. RATE-MAKING COMPANIES

6388. Information to be filed with insurance commissioner. Every corporation, association, board, or bureau which now exists or hereafter may be formed, and every person who maintains, or hereafter may maintain, a bureau or office for the purpose of suggesting, approving or making rates to be used by more than one underwriter for insurance, including surety bonds, on property or risks of any kind located in this state, shall file with the insurance commissioner a copy of the articles of agreement, association, or incorporation and the by-laws and all amendments thereto under which such person, association, or bureau operates or proposes to operate, together with his or its business address and a list of the members or insurance corporations represented or to be represented by him or it, as well as such other information concerning such rating organization and its operations as may be required by the insurance commissioner.

6389. Examination by insurance commissioner; reports. Every such person, corporation, association, or bureau, whether before or after the filing of the information specified in the preceding section, shall be subject to the visitation, supervision, and examination of the insurance commissioner, who shall cause to be made an examination thereof as often as he deems it expedient, and at least once in three years. For such purpose he may appoint as examiners one or more competent persons, and upon such examination he, his deputy, or any examiner authorized by him shall have all the powers given to the insurance commissioner, his deputy, or any examiner authorized by him by law, including the power to examine under oath the officers and agents and all persons deemed to have material information regarding the business or manner of operation by every such person, corporation, association, bureau, or board. The insurance commissioner shall make public the results of such examination, and shall report to the legislature in his annual report on the methods of such rating organization and the manner of its operation.

6390. Schedule of rates filed. Every such person, corporation, association, or bureau, as well as every insurance company doing business in the state, shall file with the insurance commissioner, whenever he may call therefor, any and every schedule of rates or such other information concerning such rates as may be suggested, approved, or made by any such rating organization for the purposes specified in section 6388, or by such company for its own use.

6391. Certain conditions forbidden; no discrimination. No such person, corporation, association, or bureau shall fix or make any rate or schedule of rates which is to or may apply to any risk within this state, on the condition that the whole amount of insurance on such risk or any specified part thereof shall be placed at such rates, or with the members of or subscribers to such rating organization; nor shall any such person, association, or corporation authorized to transact the business of insurance within this state, fix or make any rate or schedule of rates or charge a rate which discriminates unfairly between risks within this state of essentially the same hazard, or if such rate be a fire insurance rate, which discriminates unfairly between the risks in the application of like charges or credits or which discriminates unfairly between risks of essentially the same hazards and having substantially the same degree of public protection against fire. Whenever it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the insurance commissioner that such discrimination exists, he may, after a full hearing, either before himself or before any salaried employee of the insurance department whose report he may adopt, order such discrimination removed; and all such persons, corporations, associations, or bureaus affected thereby shall immediately comply therewith; nor shall such persons, corporations, associations, or bureaus remove such discrimination by increasing the rates on any risk or class of risks affected by such order unless it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the insurance commissioner that such increase is justifiable.

6392. Record to be kept; hearing on rates. Every such rating organization shall keep a careful record of its proceedings and shall furnish upon demand to any person upon whose property or risk a rate has been made, or to his authorized agent, full information as to such rate, and if such property or risk be rated by schedule, a copy of such schedule; it shall also provide such means as may be approved by the insurance commissioner whereby any person affected by such rate may be heard, either in person or by agent, before the governing or rating committee or other proper executive of such rating organization on an application for a change in such rate.

6393. Hearing on rates before insurance commissioner. Any person, firm, or corporation aggrieved by any rating of a fire insurance company, bureau, or board, may file a complaint in writing with the insurance commissioner stating in detail the grounds upon which the complainant asks relief. The commissioner shall set a time, not earlier than seven days after the date of the notice, and a place for a hearing upon the complaint. After due hearing the commissioner shall make a finding as to whether the established rate is excessive or unfair, and shall make such recommendations as he deems advisable. The finding and recommendations in each case shall be made a matter of record, and shall be open to public inspection.

6394. Certain insurance contracts excepted. This article shall not apply to any contract of life insurance, nor to any contract of insurance upon or in connection with marine or transportation risks or hazards other than contracts for automobile insurance, nor to contracts of insurance upon property or risks located without this state, nor to contracts made by persons, partnerships, associations, or corporations authorized to do business on the mutual or coöperative plan as associations or societies, nor title and credit insurance.

1913, c. 145, s. 6.

ART. 14. REAL-ESTATE TITLE INSURANCE COMPANIES

6395. Purposes of organization. Companies may be formed in the manner provided in this subchapter, with a capital of not less than fifty thousand dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, for the purpose of examining titles to real estate, of furnishing information in relation thereto, and of insuring owners and others interested therein against loss by reason of encumbrances and defective title. Such companies shall not be subject to the provisions of this chapter except as regards the manner of their formation and as provided in this article.

Rev., s. 4745; 1899, c. 54, s. 38; 1901, c. 391, s. 3.

6396. Certificate of authority to do business. Before any such company may issue any policy or make any contract or guarantee of insurance, it shall file with the insurance commissioner a certified copy of the record or the certificate of its organization in the office of the secretary of state, and obtain from the insurance commissioner his certificate that it has complied with the laws applicable to it and that it is authorized to do business.

Rev., s. 4745; 1899, c. 54, s. 38; 1901, c. 391, s. 3.

6397. Annual statement and license required. Every such corporation shall, on or before the thirtieth day of January of each year, file in the office of the insurance commissioner a statement, such as he may require, showing its condition and its affairs for the year ending on the preceding thirty-first day of December, signed and sworn to by its president or secretary or treasurer and one of its directors. For neglect to file such annual statement or for making a wilfully false statement it shall be liable to the same penalties imposed upon other insurance companies. The insurance commissioner shall annually license such companies and their agents, and have the same power and authority to visit and examine such corporations as he has in the case of other domestic insurance companies; and the duties and liabilities of such corporations and their agents in reference to such examinations are the same as those of other domestic insurance companies.

Rev., s. 4745; 1899, c. 54, s. 38; 1901, c. 391, s. 3.

ART. 15. RECIPROCAL OR INTER-INSURANCE EXCHANGES

6398. Exchange of insurance contracts authorized. Individuals, partnerships, and corporations of this state hereby designated as subscribers, are authorized to exchange reciprocal or inter-insurance contracts with each other, or with individuals, partnerships, and corporations of other states and countries, providing indemnity among themselves from any loss which may be insured against under other provisions of the laws, excepting life insurance. Such contracts may be executed by an attorney, agent, or other representative, herein designated attorney, duly authorized and acting for such subscribers.

6399. Statement to be filed with insurance commissioner. The subscribers, so contracting among themselves, shall, through their attorney, file with the insurance commissioner of this state a declaration verified by oath of such attorney, setting forth:

1. The name or title of the office at which such subscribers propose to exchange such indemnity contracts. This name or title shall not be so similar to any other name or title previously adopted by a similar organization, or by any insurance corporation or association, as in the opinion of the insurance commissioner is calculated to result in confusion or deception. The office or offices through which such indemnity contracts shall be exchanged shall be classified as reciprocal or inter-insurance exchanges.

2. The kind or kinds of insurance to be effected or exchanged.

3. A copy of the form of policy, contract, or agreement under or by which the insurance is to be effected or exchanged.

4. A copy of the form of power of attorney or other authority of such attorney under which the insurance is to be effected or exchanged.

5. The location of the office or offices from which such contracts or agreements are to be issued.

6. That applications have been made for indemnity upon at least one hundred separate risks, aggregating not less than one and one-half million dollars as represented by executed contracts or bona fide applications, to become concurrently effective, or, in case of liability or compensation insurance, covering a total payroll of not less than one and one-half million dollars: Provided, that when the attorney maintains the central office in this state the insurance commissioner may authorize an exchange with a less number of risks and a smaller amount of indemnity to be exchanged and an amount of cash deposits less than twenty-five thousand dollars.

7. That there is on deposit with such attorney and available for payment of losses a sum of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars.

6400. Agreement for service of process. At the time of filing the declaration provided for by the preceding section, the attorney shall file with the insurance commissioner an instrument in writing, executed by him for the subscribers, conditioned that upon the issuance of certificate of authority provided for in this article, service of process may be had upon the insurance commissioner in all suits in this state arising out of such policies, contracts, or agreements, which service shall be valid and binding upon all subscribers exchanging at any time reciprocal or inter-insurance contracts through such attorney. Three copies of such process shall be served, and the insurance commissioner shall file one copy, forward one copy to the attorney, and return one copy with his admission of service.

6401. Statement as to amount of risks. There shall be filed with the insurance commissioner of this state by such attorney a statement under his oath showing the maximum amount of indemnity upon any single risk, and the attorney shall, whenever and as often as the same shall be required, file with the insurance commissioner a statement verified by his oath to the effect that he has examined the commercial rating of such subscribers as shown by the reference book of a commercial agency having at least one hundred thousand subscribers, and that from such examination or from other information in his possession it appears that no subscriber has assumed on any single risk an amount greater than ten per cent of the net worth of such subscriber.

6402. Certificate issued by commissioner. Upon the filing of the foregoing papers, and upon the payment of fees as provided for in this article, the insurance commissioner shall examine and pass upon the same, and if found correct, and in accordance with this article, issue a certificate of authority, which shall expire on the first day of April next succeeding.

1913, c. 183, s. 6.

6403. Reserve fund. There shall at all times be maintained as a reserve a sum in cash or convertible securities equal to fifty per centum of the aggregate net annual deposits collected and credited to the accounts of the subscribers on policies having one year or less to run and pro rata on those for longer periods. For the purpose of said reserve, net annual deposits shall be construed to mean the advance payments of subscribers after deducting therefrom the amounts specifically provided in the subscribers' agreements, for expenses. Said sum shall at no time be less than twenty-five thousand dollars, and if at any time fifty per cent of the aggregate deposits so collected and credited shall not equal that amount, then the subscribers, or their attorney for them, shall make up any deficiency.

6404. Annual reports; examination by commissioner. The attorney shall make an annual report to the insurance commissioner for each calendar year, showing the financial condition of affairs at that office where such contracts are issued, and shall furnish such additional information and reports as may be required; but the attorney shall not be required to furnish the names and addresses of any subscribers. The business affairs and assets of the reciprocal or inter-insurance exchanges shall be subject to examination by the insurance commissioner.

6405. Exchange insurance in other companies. Any corporation now or hereafter organized under the laws of this state shall, in addition to the rights, powers, and franchises specified in its articles of incorporation, have full power and authority to exchange insurance contracts of the kind and character herein mentioned through exchanges complying with this article.

1913, c. 183, s. 9.

6406. Punishment for failing to comply with law. Any attorney or representative who shall, except for the purpose of applying for certificate of authority as herein provided, exchange any contracts of indemnity of the kind and character specified in this article, or directly or indirectly solicit or negotiate any applications for same without first complying with the foregoing provisions, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

1913, c. 183, s. 10.

6407. Certificate to attorney; revocation. Each attorney by or through whom are issued any policies or contracts for indemnity of the character referred to in this article shall procure from the insurance commissioner annually a certificate of authority, stating that all the requirements of this article have been complied with, and upon such compliance and the payment of the fees and taxes required by this article, the insurance commissioner shall issue such certificate of authority. The insurance commissioner may revoke or suspend any certificate of authority issued hereunder in case of breach of any of the conditions imposed by this article after reasonable notice has been given the attorney in writing so that he may appear and show cause why such action should not be taken.

6408. License fee and tax. Individuals, firms, and corporations exchanging reciprocal or inter-insurance contracts as provided herein shall pay through their attorney an annual license of fifty dollars, and two and one-half per centum of the gross premium deposits, reduced by all sums distributed among the subscribers or credited to their accounts, and also other regular fees.

1913, c. 183, s. 12.

6409. Application of general insurance law. Nothing in the general insurance laws, except as herein provided and as may specifically apply to such contracts and exchanges, shall be construed to extend to inter-insurance or reciprocal exchanges licensed under this article.

1913, c. 183, s. 13.

ART. 16. FOREIGN INSURANCE COMPANIES

6410. Admitted to do business. Foreign insurance companies, upon complying with the conditions herein set forth applicable to them, may be admitted to transact in this state, by constituted agents resident herein, any class of insurance authorized by the laws in force relative to the duties, obligations, prohibitions, and penalties of insurance companies, and subject to all laws applicable to the transaction of such business by foreign insurance companies and their agents.

Rev., s. 4746; 1899, c. 54, s. 61.

6411. Conditions of admission. A foreign insurance company may be admitted and authorized to do business when it:

1. Deposits with the insurance commissioner a certified copy of its charter or certificate of organization and a statement of its financial condition and business, in such form and detail as he requires, signed and sworn to by its president and secretary or other proper officer, and pays for the filing of this statement the sum required by law.

2. Satisfies the insurance commissioner that it is fully and legally organized under the laws of its state or government to do the business it proposes to transact; that it has, if a stock company, a fully paid-up and unimpaired capital, exclusive of stockholders' obligations of any description, of an amount not less than $100,000 (but nothing in this subsection applies to companies now authorized to do business in this state); and if a mutual company, other than life, that its net cash assets are equal to the capital required of like companies on the stock plan; or that it possesses net cash assets of not less than $100,000 or net cash assets of not less than $50,000, with, also, invested assets of not less than $100,000, and in each case with additional contingent assets of not less than $300,000, and that such capital or net assets are well invested and immediately available for the payment of losses in this state; and that it insures on any single hazard a sum no larger than one-tenth of its net assets.

3. By a duly executed instrument filed in his office constitutes and appoints the insurance commissioner and his successor its true and lawful attorney, upon whom all lawful processes in any action or legal proceeding against it may be served, and therein agrees that any lawful process against it which may be served upon such attorney shall be of the same force and validity as if served on the company, and that it will not have removed from any court of this state to the United States circuit or district court any action instituted against it, and that it will not institute any action or suit in equity in the United States courts against any citizen of this state growing out of, or in any way connected with, any policy of insurance issued by it; and the authority thereof shall continue in force irrevocable so long as any liability of the company remains outstanding in this state. Copies of this instrument, certified by the insurance commissioner, are sufficient evidence thereof, and service upon such attorney is sufficient service upon the principal.

Power of attorney hereunder is "irrevocable so long as any liability of company remains outstanding": Ins. Co. v. Scott, 136-157; Biggs v. Life Assn., 128-5; Williams v. Life Assn., 145-128; see annotations under section 6414.

4. Appoints as its agent or agents in this state some resident or residents thereof.

5. Obtains from the insurance commissioner a certificate that it has complied with the laws of the state and is authorized to make contracts of insurance. If a fire insurance company, it must also comply with the provisions of this chapter as to deposits and reinsurance by such companies.

Rev., s. 4747; 1899, c. 54, s. 62; 1901, c. 391, s. 5; 1903, c. 438, s. 6.

Under Code of 1883, section 3062, providing that it shall be unlawful to transact any fire insurance business in this state before making the required deposit of bonds, and laws of 1893, c. 299, sec. 8, providing that all contracts of insurance, the application for which is taken within the state, shall be deemed to be made in the state, where an application is taken by a broker for a foreign insurance company which has not made the deposit, the policy is a North Carolina contract and void: Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-116.

6412. Limitation as to classes of business. No insurance company admitted to do business in the state may be authorized to transact more than one class or kind of insurance therein, unless it has the requisite capital for such business engaged in, and such a company may undertake two or more of the classes of insurance set out in article six, section 6327, of this chapter, upon providing for each additional kind at least fifty thousand dollars additional capital. But if life, fire, and credit insurance is added to any other line or lines, the additional capital shall be one hundred thousand dollars each, and the company shall pay the license taxes and fees for each class or kind of insurance provided by this chapter.

6413. Reciprocal laws. When, by the laws of any other state or nation, any taxes, fines, penalties, licenses, fees, deposits of money or of securities, or other obligations or prohibitions are imposed upon insurance companies of this state doing business in such other state or nation or upon their agents therein, then, so long as such laws continue in force, the same taxes, fines, penalties, licenses, fees, deposits, obligations and prohibitions, of whatever kind, shall be imposed upon all such insurance companies of such other state or nation doing business within this state and upon their agents here. Nothing herein repeals or reduces the license, fees, taxes, and other obligations now imposed by the laws of this state or to go into effect with the companies of any other state or nation unless some company of this state is actually doing or seeking to do business in such state or nation. When an insurance company organized under the laws of any state or country is prohibited by the laws of such state or country or by its charter from investing its assets other than capital stock in the bonds of this state, then and in such case the insurance commissioner is authorized and directed to refuse to grant a license to transact business in this state to such insurance company.

Rev., s. 4749; 1899, c. 54, s. 71; 1903, c. 536, s. 11.

6414. Service of legal process upon insurance commissioner. The service of legal process upon any foreign insurance company, admitted and authorized to do business in this state under the provisions of this chapter, shall be made by leaving the same in the hands or office of the insurance commissioner, and no service upon a company that is licensed to do business in this state is valid unless made upon the insurance commissioner, the general agent for service, or some officer of the company. As a condition precedent to a valid service of process and of the duty of the commissioner in the premises, the plaintiff shall pay to the insurance commissioner at the time of service the sum of one dollar, which the plaintiff shall recover as taxable costs if he prevails in his action. In any action of which a justice of the peace has jurisdiction, summons may be served on any licensed agent of such company, returnable in not less than ten days from date of service; if there is no such agent in the county, then the summons may be served as provided or in other actions against foreign corporations in a court of a justice of the peace.

Rev., s. 4750; 1899, c. 54, ss. 16, 62; 1903, c. 438, s. 6.

An exception to court's refusal to dismiss an action against a foreign insurance company because summons was not served on state insurance commissioner as required by this section, cannot be sustained where trial judge found no facts and it does not appear affirmatively that company is licensed to do business: Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-339.

In absence of any statement of facts by trial judge, this court must presume, in support of his ruling, which is presumed to be correct, that he found as a fact that the defendant was not duly licensed, and that this section did not apply, but that the process had been properly served under section 483: Ibid.

In action against foreign fraternal insurance society doing business in this state, service of summons on insurance commissioner brings the corporation into court: Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-409.

Service of process on the state insurance commissioner is valid although the insurance company has not domesticated: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 135-314.

Fact that foreign insurance company did not comply with law requiring payment of a license tax and the doing of certain other things as a condition precedent to doing business in this state, had no bearing upon service of process against such company upon the insurance commissioner, since that depended upon existence of liability and not upon the doing of business within the state: Biggs v. Life Assn., 128-5.

Section 6287 does not apply to a policy issued prior to its passage to a citizen of this state and subsequently assigned to a citizen of another state, so as to make a summons served upon the insurance commissioner here in an action by a citizen of such other state a sufficient service, when the defendant has previously thereto withdrawn from the state and canceled its power of attorney to the insurance commissioner: Williams v. Life Assn., 145-128.

Service of summons is not limited to the method prescribed in this section; but it may be made under sections 483 and 1137: Pardue v. Absher, 174-676. See, also, Fisher v. Ins. Co., 136-224.

When service of summons may be made upon a foreign corporation as provided in this section, the statute of limitations is not suspended under section 411: Anderson v. Fidelity Co., 174-417; Volivar v. Cedar Works, 152-656, overruling Green v. Ins. Co., 139-309.

6415. Duty of commissioner when served with process. When legal process is served upon the insurance commissioner as attorney for a foreign company, under the provisions of this chapter, he shall immediately notify the company of such service by letter prepaid and directed to its secretary, or in the case of a foreign country, to its resident manager, if any, in the United States; and must within two days after such service forward in the same manner a copy of the process served on him to such secretary or manager, or to such other person previously designated by the company by written notice filed in the office of the commissioner. The commissioner must keep a record of all such proceedings, which shall show the day and hour of service of the process on the commissioner.

Rev., s. 4751; 1899, c. 54, s. 16.

6416. Action to enforce compliance with this chapter. Compliance with the provisions of this chapter as to deposits, obligations, and prohibitions, and the payment of taxes, fines, fees, and penalties by foreign insurance companies, may be enforced in the ordinary course of legal procedure by action brought in the superior court of Wake county by the attorney-general in the name of the state upon the relation of the insurance commissioner.

Rev., s. 4752; 1899, c. 54, s. 102; 1903, c. 438, s. 10.

SUBCHAPTER III. FIRE INSURANCE

ART. 17. GENERAL REGULATIONS OF BUSINESS

6417. Risks carried as incidental to fire protection. All insurance companies authorized to transact fire insurance business in this state may, in addition to the business which they are now authorized by law to do, insure sprinklers, pumps, and other apparatus erected or put in position for the purpose of extinguishing fires, against damage, loss, or injury resulting from accidental causes other than fire; and may also insure any property which such companies are authorized to insure against loss or damage by fire, against damage, loss, or injury by water or otherwise, resulting from the accidental breaking of or injury to such sprinklers, pumps, or other apparatus, arising from causes other than fire. Contracts of insurance of this kind, provided for in this section, shall not be incorporated in any contract of insurance against loss or damage by fire, but may be contained in riders attached thereto, the conditions of which shall be prescribed by the insurance commissioner.

Rev., s. 4754; 1899, c. 54, s. 24; 1907, c. 1000, s. 6.

6418. Policies limited as to amount and term. No insurance company or agent shall knowingly issue any fire insurance policy upon property within this state for an amount which, together with any existing insurance thereon, exceeds the fair value of the property, nor for a longer term than seven years. Policies issued in violation of this section are binding upon the company issuing them, but the company is liable for the forfeitures by law prescribed for such violation.

Rev., s. 4755; 1899, c. 54, ss. 39, 99; 1903, c. 438, s. 10.

Agent must ascertain the value of the property: Queen v. Ins. Co., 177-34. Violation subjects to forfeiture under section 6433.

6419. Limit of liability on total loss. When buildings insured against loss by fire and situated within the state are totally destroyed by fire, the company is not liable beyond the actual cash value of the insured property at the time of the loss or damage; and if it appears that the insured has paid a premium on a sum in excess of the actual value, he shall be reimbursed the proportionate excess of premium paid on the difference between the amount named in the policy and the ascertained values, with interest at six per centum per annum from the date of issue.

Rev., s. 4756; 1899, c. 54, s. 40.

6420. Policies for the benefit of mortgagees. Where by an agreement with the insured, or by the terms of a fire insurance policy taken out by a mortgagor, the whole or any part of the loss thereon is payable to a mortgagee of the property for his benefit, the company shall, upon satisfactory proof of the rights and title of the parties, in accordance with such terms or agreement, pay all mortgages protected by such policy in the order of their priority of claim, as their claims appear, not beyond the amount for which the company is liable, and such payments are, to the extent thereof, payment and satisfaction of the liabilities of the company under the policy.

Rev., s. 4757; 1899, c. 54, s. 41.

Where there is a clause providing that the mortgagee's rights shall not be affected by the acts of the insured, the mortgagee will be protected; but where there is only a "loss payable" clause in favor of mortgagee, a forfeiture by the insured will defeat the rights of mortgagee: Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151. Holders of liens for materials, not filed at the issuance of the policy, share only as general creditors under the policy: Ibid.

6421. Fire loss reported to commissioner before payment. Every insurance company transacting business in this state shall, upon receiving notice of loss by fire of property in North Carolina, on which it is liable under a policy of insurance, notify the insurance commissioner thereof, either directly or through some bureau or association approved by the commissioner, and no insurance upon any such property shall be paid by any company until one week after this notification. A company violating this section may be fined by the insurance commissioner the sum of ten dollars for each offense, and for refusal to comply with its provisions its license may be canceled by the commissioner.

6422. Reinsurance restricted and regulated. When an application for license, renewal of license, or for admission to this state, is made by a company, whether of this state, of another state of the United States, or of a foreign country, for the transaction of business of fire insurance herein, the company shall, as one of the prerequisites of license and admission, file a sworn declaration signed by its president and secretary, or officers corresponding thereto, that it will not reinsure any risk or part thereof taken by it on any property located in this state with any company not authorized to transact the business of fire insurance in the state. Every fire insurance company admitted shall annually and at such other times as the insurance commissioner requires, in addition to all returns now required by law of it or its agents or managers, make a return to the insurance commissioner, in such form and detail as is prescribed by him, of all reinsurance contracted for or effected by it directly or indirectly upon property located in this state, this return to be certified by the oath of its president and secretary, if a company of one of the United States, and if a company of a foreign country, by its president and secretary or by officers corresponding thereto, as to such reinsurance contracted for or effected through the foreign office, and by the United States manager as to such reinsurance effected by the United States branch. If any company, domestic or foreign, directly or indirectly, reinsure any risk taken by it on any property located in this state in any company not duly authorized to transact business herein, or if it refuses or neglects to make the returns required by this section, the insurance commissioner shall revoke its authority to transact business in this state. The provisions of this section also apply to companies licensed to do reinsurance business only. It is unlawful for any company reinsuring risks on property located in this state to reinsure such risks or parts thereof except in companies authorized by the laws of this state to do such business.

Rev., s. 4770; 1899, c. 54, s. 63; 1901, c. 391, s. 5.

6423. Penalty for reinsuring in unauthorized company. If any fire insurance company shall, directly or indirectly, reinsure any risk taken by it on any property located in North Carolina in any company not duly authorized to transact business herein, the insurance agent and the company effecting or acting in the negotiation of such reinsurance shall severally be punished by a fine of five hundred dollars.

Rev., s. 3495; 1899, c. 54, ss. 63, 98.

6424. No action lies on policy of unlicensed company. No action may be maintained in any court in the state upon a policy or contract of fire insurance issued upon property situated in the state by any company, association, partnership, individual, or individuals that have not been authorized by the insurance commissioner to transact such insurance business.

Rev., s. 4763; 1899, c. 54, s. 105.

This does not render the policy void as to the insured: Hay v. Ins. Co., 167-82; Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-116. See annotations under section 6288.

6425. Citizens authorized to procure policies in unlicensed foreign companies.

1. What applicant must show. The insurance commissioner, upon the annual payment of a fee of twenty dollars, may issue licenses to citizens of this state, subject to revocation at any time, permitting the person named therein to procure policies of fire insurance on property in this state in foreign insurance companies not authorized to transact business in the state. Before the person named in such a license may procure any insurance in such companies or on any property in this state, he must execute and file with the insurance commissioner an affidavit that he is unable to procure in companies admitted to do business in the state the amount of insurance necessary to protect such property, and may only procure insurance under such license after he has procured insurance in companies admitted to do business in this state to the full amount which those companies are willing to write on the property; but such licensed person shall not be required to offer any portion of such insurance to any company which is not possessed of cash assets amounting to at least twenty-five thousand dollars, or one which has, within the preceding twelve months, been in an impaired condition.

2. Account and report. Each person so licensed must keep a separate account of the business done under the license, a certified copy of which account he shall forthwith file with the insurance commissioner, showing the exact amount of such insurance placed by any person, firm, or corporation, the gross premium charged thereon, the companies in which the same is placed, the date and terms of the policies, and also a report in the same detail of all such policies canceled and the gross return premium thereon.

3. Bond filed. Before receiving such license the applicant therefor shall execute and deliver to the insurance commissioner a bond in the penal sum of one thousand dollars, with such sureties as the insurance commissioner may approve, with a condition that the licensee will faithfully comply with all the requirements of this section, and will file with the insurance commissioner, in January of each year, a sworn statement of the gross premiums charged for insurance procured or placed, and the gross returned premiums on such insurance canceled under such license during the year ending on the thirty-first day of December next preceding, and at the time of filing such statement will pay into the treasury of the state a sum equal to five per centum of such gross premiums, less return premiums, so reported; or pay such tax at the time of taking out and delivering such policy or policies.

4. Broker may obtain license. Any broker licensed under this section may, upon application to the insurance commissioner, be allowed to place policies of insurance with any mutual fire insurance company not doing or licensed to do business in this state, not paying commissions upon business, not having agents to solicit business, and doing only one class of fire insurance business, if he files with the insurance department a certified copy of the charter of each such company, a statement of its financial condition on a blank of the department, and certificate of its authority to do business at its home office, and also receives from the insurance commissioner a license for each company to do business through him on the payment by him of the license, taxes, and fees required by law. All such contracts of insurance placed through any such broker are valid and legal, and the risks upon which such policies are placed may be examined and inspected by regular agents or inspectors licensed by the insurance department upon the application of the broker writing the insurance.

6426. Punishment for failure to file affidavit and statements. If any person licensed to procure insurance in an unauthorized foreign company shall procure, or act in any manner in the procurement or negotiation of, insurance in any unauthorized foreign company, and shall neglect to make and file the affidavit and statements required by the preceding section, he shall forfeit his license and be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both.

Rev., ss. 3483, 4769; 1899, c. 54, ss. 68, 95.

6427. Tax deducted from premium; reports filed. When any person or corporation shall insure any property located in this state with an insurance company not licensed to do business in this state, it shall be the duty of such person or corporation to deduct from the premium charged on the policy or policies issued for such insurance five per centum of the premium and remit the same to the insurance commissioner of the state, at the same time reporting to the insurance commissioner the name of the company or companies issuing the policy or policies, the location of the property insured, and the premium charged. The insurance commissioner shall pay the said amounts to the treasurer of the state. If such report is not made on or before the thirtieth days of July and January of each year for the business done prior to July first and January first preceding, there shall be added to the amount of taxes thereon the sum of one per centum on the first day of each month thereafter.

6428. Resident agents required. Foreign fire insurance companies legally authorized to do business in this state through regularly commissioned and licensed agents located in the state shall not make contracts of fire insurance on property herein, except through such resident agents as are regularly commissioned by them and licensed to write policies of fire insurance in this state. This section does not apply to direct insurance covering the rolling stock of railroad corporations or property in transit while in the possession and custody of railroad corporations or other common carriers.

Rev., s. 4764; 1899, c. 54, s. 107; 1901, c. 391, s. 8.

6429. Policies through nonresident agent prohibited. Every fire insurance company authorized to do business in the state is prohibited from authorizing or allowing any person, agent, firm, or corporation who is a nonresident of this state, to issue or cause to be issued, except through a licensed agent, any policy of insurance on property located in the state.

Rev., s. 4765; 1903, c. 488, s. 1; 1905, c. 170.

Section cited in Hay v. Ins. Co., 167-82.

6430. Licensed agents not to pay commissions to nonresident or unlicensed persons. Any person, firm, or corporation licensed by the insurance commissioner to act as a fire insurance agent in this state is prohibited from paying directly or indirectly any commission, brokerage, or other valuable consideration on account of any policy covering property in this state, to any person, firm, or corporation who is a nonresident of the state, or to any person, firm, or corporation not duly licensed by the insurance commissioner as a fire insurance agent; but a fire insurance agent licensed in the state may pay a commission not exceeding five per centum of any premiums collected by him to a licensed nonresident broker. The insurance commissioner is authorized to license a nonresident as a broker when he applies therefor on a proper blank of the department and makes affidavit that he will not during the fiscal year place directly or indirectly any fire insurance on any property located in North Carolina except through licensed resident agents of the state. The fee for this license and seal is three dollars.

6431. Revocation of license for violation; power of commissioner. When the insurance commissioner has information of a violation of any of the provisions of the next two preceding sections, he shall immediately investigate or cause to be investigated such violation, and if a fire insurance company has violated any of such provisions he shall immediately revoke its license for not less than three nor more than six months for a first offense, and for each offense thereafter for not less than one year. If a person, firm, or corporation licensed by the insurance commissioner as a fire insurance agent violates or causes to be violated any of the provisions of those sections, he shall for the first offense have his license revoked for all companies for which he has been licensed for not less than three nor more than six months, and for the second offense he shall have his license revoked for all companies for which he is licensed, and he shall not thereafter be licensed for any company for one year from the date of the revocation. For the purpose of enforcing the provisions of those sections the insurance commissioner is authorized and empowered to examine persons, administer oaths, and send for papers and records. A failure or refusal on the part of any fire insurance company, person, firm, or corporation, licensed to do business in this state, to appear before the insurance commissioner when requested to do so, or to produce records and papers, or answer under oath, subjects such company, person, firm, or corporation to the penalties of this section.

Rev., s. 4767; 1903, c. 488, ss. 3, 4.

Rev., ss. 3491, 4768; 1905, c. 424; 1915, c. 166, ss. 2, 3.

6433. Punishment for issuing fire policies contrary to law. Any insurance company or agent who makes, issues, or delivers a policy of fire insurance in wilful violation of the provisions of this chapter which prohibit a domestic insurance company from issuing policies before obtaining certificate and authority from the insurance commissioner; or which prohibit the issuing of a fire insurance policy for more than the fair value of the property or for a longer term than seven years; or which prohibit stipulations in insurance contracts restricting the jurisdiction of courts, or limiting the time within which an action may be brought to less than one year after the cause of action accrues or to less than six months after a nonsuit by the plaintiff, shall forfeit for each offense not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars; but the policy shall be binding upon the company issuing it.

Rev., s. 4832; 1899, c. 54, s. 99; 1903, c. 438, s. 10.

See sections 6290, 6326, 6418.

ART. 18. FIRE INSURANCE POLICIES

6434. Terms and conditions must be set out in policy. In all insurance against loss by fire the conditions of insurance must be stated in full, and the rules and by-laws of the company are not a warranty or a part of the contract, except as incorporated in full into the policy.

Rev., s. 4758; 1899, c. 54, s. 42.

6435. Items to be expressed in policies; agent to inspect risks. There shall be printed, stamped, or written on each fire policy issued in this state the basis rate, deficiency charge, the credit for improvements, and the rate at which written, and whenever a rate is made or changed on any property situated in this state a full statement thereof showing in detail the basis rate, deficiency charges and credits, as well as rate proposed to be made, shall be delivered to the owner or his representative having the insurance on the property in charge, by the company, association, their agent or representative, with a notice to the effect that the rate is promulgated and filed with the insurance department. Every agent of a fire insurance company shall, before issuing a policy of insurance on property situated in a city or town, inspect the same, informing himself as to its value and insurable condition.

6436. Standard policy adopted. No fire insurance company shall issue fire insurance policies on property in this state other than those of the standard form filed in the office of the insurance commissioner of the state, known and designated as the standard fire insurance policy of the state of North Carolina, except as follows: (a) A company may print on or in its policies its name, location, and date of incorporation, the amount of its paid-up capital stock, the names of its officers and agents, the number and date of the policy, and if it is issued through an agent, the words: "This policy shall not be valid until countersigned by the duly authorized manager or agent of the company at.....," and after the words "Standard Fire Insurance Policy of the State of North Carolina," on the back of the form, the names of such other states as have adopted this standard form. (b) A company may use in its policies written or printed forms of description and specification of the property insured. (c) A company insuring against damage by lightning may print in the clause enumerating the perils insured against, the additional words, "also any damage by lightning, whether fire ensues or not," and in the clause providing for an apportionment of loss in case of other insurance, the words, "whether by fire, lightning, or both." (d) A company may write or print upon the margin or across the face of a policy, or write or print in type not smaller than long primer or ten point roman-faced, upon separate slips or riders to be attached thereto, provisions adding to or modifying those contained in the standard form, and all such slips, riders, and provisions must be signed by the officers or agents of the company so using them. The iron safe or any similar clause requiring the taking of inventories, the keeping of books and producing the same in the adjustment of any loss, shall not be used or operative in the settlement of losses on buildings, furniture and fixtures, or any property not subject to change in bulk and value. (e) Every mutual company shall cause to appear in the body of its policy the total amount for which the assured may be liable under the charter of the company. (f) The company may print on or in its policy, with the approval of the insurance commissioner, if the same is not already included in such standard form, any provision which any such corporation is required by law to insert in its policies not in conflict with the provisions of such standard form. Such provisions shall be printed apart from the other provisions, agreements, or conditions of the policy, under a separate title, as follows: "Provisions Required by Law to be Inserted in This Policy."

Rev., s. 4759; 1899, c. 54, s. 43; 1901, c. 391, s. 4; 1907, c. 800, s. 1; 1915, c. 109, s. 10.

EFFECT OF ADOPTION OF STANDARD POLICY. It does not prevent a valid contract from being made verbally or by "binding slip": Lea v. Ins. Co., 168-478; but the parol contract will be construed to be for a standard policy: Black v. Ins. Co., 148-169. It does not require insured to show compliance with its provisions, as that the agent had written authority: Gazzam v. Ins. Co., 155-330; Floars v. Ins. Co., 144-235. Nor does it prevent an assessment company from issuing an assessment policy: Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-116.

CONTRACT OF INSURANCE. The insurance policy is the contract, when there is no fraud: Lancaster v. Ins. Co., 153-285. The agent should inquire as to the title to the property at the time of issuing the policy and not after loss: Modlin v. Ins. Co., 151-35. A policy may be corrected for mistake as to the owner of the property insured: McIntosh v. Ins. Co., 152-50. The application for insurance forms a part of the contract, and one who can read and has warranted the answers in his application to be true, will not be heard to say that he was ignorant of its contents, in the absence of fraud or mistake: Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480; Babbitt v. Ins. Co., 66-70. Where insured failed to state that property was mortgaged, the policy providing that in such case it would be void, it invalidates the policy, though omission was made without intention to deceive: Hayes v. Ins. Co., 132-702.

The insurance contract will be construed most favorably for the insured: Johnson v. Ins. Co., 172-142; Cottingham v. Ins. Co., 168-259; Gazzam v. Ins. Co., 155-330; Higson v. Ins. Co., 152-206; R. R. v. Casualty Co., 145-114; Jones v. Casualty Co., 140-262; Bray v. Ins. Co., 139-390; Rayburn v. Casualty Co., 138-379; Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315.

Policy covering drugs and other goods covers drugs in one part of store and groceries in another room: Drug Co. v. Assurance Co., 110-350. Tobacco warehouseman's policy covering leaf tobacco "owned or held in trust, or on commission or sold and not delivered," construed: Lockhart v. Cooper, 87-149. An insurance policy in favor of husband on a house built by him on his wife's land is invalid: McIntosh v. Ins. Co., 152-50. An equitable interest in property constitutes an insurable interest therein: Gerringer v. Ins. Co., 133-407; Grabbs v. Ins. Co., 125-389. Plaintiff, who held lands under a bond for title, had an insurable interest in the building situated thereon: Clapp v. Ins. Assn., 126-388; Jordan v. Ins. Co., 151-341.

A provision making encumbrances by mortgage a forfeiture is valid: Hayes v. Ins. Co., 132-702; Weddington v. Ins. Co., 141-234; Modlin v. Ins. Co., 151-35; Lancaster v. Ins. Co., 153-285; Watson v. Ins. Co., 159-638; Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151. But an encumbrance operates as a forfeiture only when in existence at the time of the loss, and it suspends the policy during its existence: Cottingham v. Ins. Co., 169-259. See section 6440.

As to increasing the risk by keeping benzine, "or other explosive": Willis v. Ins. Co., 79-285. Stipulation in an automobile policy against using it for passenger service means the habitual use for hire: Crowell v. Ins. Co., 169-35. A condition in policy that mill insured shall be run not later than ten o'clock at night, and that a violation of this stipulation should create a forfeiture of the policy, is a substantial condition: Alspaugh v. Ins. Co., 121-290.

Stipulations against taking out other insurance: Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151; Black v. Ins. Co., 148-169; Grubbs v. Ins. Co., 108-472; Sugg v. Ins. Co., 98-143; Grubbs v. Fire and Marine Ins. Co., 110-108; Folb v. Ins. Co., 109-568—and as to waiver of such stipulations or conditions, see Grubbs v. Ins. Co., 108-472.

A provision against transfer of interest in property is not violated by appointment of a receiver: Pants Co. v. Ins. Co., 159-78; nor by an adjudication in bankruptcy in an involuntary proceeding: Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151. Commencement of foreclosure proceedings against insured property terminates the policy, there being in the policy a provision to that effect: Hayes v. Ins. Co., 132-702.

Provision in a policy of fire insurance, by which, in case of loss, it is made optional with the insurer to repair, rebuild or replace the property destroyed, by giving notice within a certain time, constitutes a contract exclusively between insurer and insured; neither judgment creditor nor mortgagee can interpose to prevent its performance: Stamps v. Ins. Co., 77-209.

When the contract of insurance is complete is a matter of intention of the parties: Mfg. Co. v. Assurance Co., 161-88. The taking of clothing by agent of a fire insurance company in part payment of premium of a policy is a fraud upon the company, and no valid contract as to company arises therefrom: Folb v. Ins. Co., 133-179.

A transfer of a policy by the president of the company is binding, though the transfer was not made according to blank form printed on back of policy: Davis v. Ins. Co., 134-60. A transfer of an insurance policy to one "as his interest may appear" is valid if made with the assent of the insurer: Fertilizer Co. v. Reams, 105-283.

The provision that no suit shall be brought unless commenced within twelve months must be construed in connection with section 6290: Modlin v. Ins. Co., 151-35.

IRON-SAFE CLAUSE; INVENTORY; BOOKS. The limitation of liability of a fire insurance company contained in the "iron-safe clause" is reasonable and valid: Coggins v. Ins. Co., 144-7. A substantial compliance with this clause is sufficient: Arnold v. Ins. Co., 152-232. What is substantial compliance, and meaning of terms "last preceding inventory" and "detailed itemized statement": Ibid.; Coggins v. Ins. Co., 144-7.

In an action to recover a loss under a fire insurance policy, where iron-safe clause allows thirty days for making inventory, and books are not required to be opened until inventory is completed, defendant cannot avail itself of any alleged violation of any provision in the iron-safe clause, where fire occurred within thirty days after policy was issued: Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-339; Bray v. Ins. Co., 139-390.

In an action to recover a loss under a fire insurance policy, the defendant having denied its liability to the plaintiff on the policy by alleging that there was a violation of the iron-safe clause, whereby the policy became null and void, it cannot now successfully plead failure of plaintiff to file proofs of loss and defeat his recovery, as the defense is inconsistent with that of noncompliance with iron-safe clause: Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-339.

When amount of insurance under the policy is specifically apportioned to building, and goods therein contained in fixed amounts as to each, and the premium is entire and risks substantially identical, obligation of insurer is single, and the insured cannot recover as to either when he fails to produce the books and inventory required by his contract of insurance: Coggins v. Ins. Co., 144-7.

RIGHTS AND REMEDIES; WAIVER; ESTOPPEL; MISREPRESENTATIONS. As to the limitation of actions on policies, see Lowe v. Accident Assn., 115-18; Muse v. Assur. Corp., 108-240; Gerringer v. Ins. Co., 133-414; Dibbrell v. Ins. Co., 110-193; Modlin v. Ins. Co., 151-35.

As to arbitration and award, see Perry v. Ins. Co., 137-402; Braddy v. Ins. Co., 115-354; Pioneer Mfg. Co. v. Assur. Co., 106-28; Herndon v. Ins. Co., 107-183; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 123-164; Mfg. Co. v. Assur. Co., 106-28; Millinery Co. v. Ins. Co., 160-130.

Setting aside award of arbitrators when grossly inadequate, see Perry v. Greenwich Ins. Co., 137-402.

A misrepresentation by an applicant in his application as to his title to a certain portion of the property insured avoids the contract of insurance as to the entire amount of property covered by the policy: Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480. A condition which in no way contributes to the loss will not be considered a forfeiture: Smith v. Fire Ins. Co., 175-314. See, also, Cottingham v. Ins. Co., 168-259; Johnson v. Ins. Co., 172-142.

The conditions in a policy of insurance working a forfeiture are matters of contract and not of limitation, and may be waived by the insurer, and such waiver may be presumed by the act of the local agent of the company: Horton v. Ins. Co., 122-498—or may be implied from the conduct of the company: Ins. Co. v. Ins. Co., 161-485, and cases cited; Modlin v. Ins. Co., 151-35. The condition that a waiver by agent shall be written upon the policy fixes a rule of evidence to prove it: Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151; Black v. Ins. Co., 148-169. As to effect of insurance company's knowledge or notice of facts in general, see Cowell v. Ins. Co., 126-684—as to effect of knowledge of or notice to officers or agents, see Alspaugh v. Ins. Co., 121-290; Horton v. Ins. Co., 122-498; Grabbs v. Ins. Assn., 125-389; Clapp v. Ins. Assn., 126-388; Strause v. Ins. Co., 128-64; Bergeron v. Ins. and Bank Co., 111-45; Sprinkle v. Ins. Co., 126-678; Fishblate v. Fid. Co., 140-589; Follette v. Accident Assn., 110-377; McCarty v. Ins. Co., 126-820. Where agent's interest is in conflict: Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151.

Investigation of a loss by insurer does not waive breach of condition by insured, the policy providing that such investigation shall not operate as a waiver: Hayes v. Ins. Co., 132-702. Notice that insured intended to take out additional insurance is not notice of existing insurance: Black v. Ins. Co., 148-169. Notice of an intention on the part of a policyholder to do something contrary to the terms of a contract will not estop company, although not objected to by it at the time: Weddington v. Ins. Co., 141-234. In case of a breach of condition which invalidates policy, company not bound to declare policy forfeited or to do or say anything to make forfeiture effectual, but can set it up in defense when policy sued on: Ibid. Where plaintiff signed a nonwaiver agreement, law presumes he knew what was in it, and he will not be heard, in the absence of proof of fraud or mistake, to say that he did not: Ibid.

Where insurance company determines to cancel a risk for nonpayment of assessment, insured is entitled to reasonable notice: Sherrod v. Ins. Assn., 139-167. Where the policy so provides, a notice by the insured to cancel the policy is sufficient: Johnson v. Ins. Co., 174-201.

As to waiver of proof of loss, see Gerringer v. Ins. Co., 133-407; Strause v. Ins. Co., 128-64; Perry v. Ins. Co., 137-402; Lanier v. Ins. Co., 142-14; Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-339; Mercantile Co. v. Ins. Co., 176-545—of defect of title to property insured: Gerringer v. Ins. Co., 133-407. Proof of loss is not required when the liability is denied: Proffitt v. Ins. Co., 176-680; Higson v. Ins. Co., 152-206; Jordan v. Ins. Co., 151-341; Millinery Co. v. Ins. Co., 160-130.

The existence of an encumbrance on property insured is a most material fact, and should be communicated to the company: Weddington v. Ins. Co., 141-239; Hayes v. Ins. Co., 141-239; Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151. Claim by company that policy was forfeited by change of title in property: Richardson v. Ins. Co., 136-314. Plaintiff depending upon agent of company to renew policy: Rounsaville v. Ins. Co., 138-191. Promise of company to transfer insurance from one kind of property to another: Wright v. Ins. Co., 138-488.

SUBROGATION OF INSURER. Insurer against fire paying the loss is subrogated to rights of insured and can maintain an action against the wrongdoer; and this right is independent of the policy and it is immaterial whether insured makes an actual assignment or not: Cunningham v. R. R., 139-427; Ins. Co. v. R. R., 132-75. When action should be in name of insurer and when in name of insured: Powell v. Water Co., 171-290.

If, after knowledge of payment of loss by insurer, the wrongdoer pays the damages sustained by the destruction of the property, such payment will not bar the action of the insurer to recover upon his subrogated right: Cunningham v. R. R., 139-427.

Where two mortgages were successively given on a lot upon which was a building, both with covenants that mortgagor would insure building, and mortgagor complied with covenant in first mortgage, but did not with covenant in second; the building was burned, and the first mortgagee paid by sale of the lot: Held, that second mortgagee was subrogated to rights of first mortgagee and entitled to have proceeds of policy applied to his debt: Fitts v. Grocery Co., 144-463.

When mortgagee insures the property for his own benefit, the insurer paying the loss is entitled to be subrogated to the rights against the mortgagor: Ins. Co. v. Reid, 171-513.

The right of insurer is barred when the insured would be barred: Ins. Co. v. R. R., 165-136.

6437. Form of standard policy. The standard form of policy must be plainly printed, and no part of it may be in type smaller than that used in printing the form on file in the office of the insurance commissioner, and shall be as follows:

This policy is made and accepted subject to the foregoing stipulations and conditions, and to the stipulations and conditions printed on the back hereof, which are hereby made a part of the policy, together with such other provisions, stipulations, and conditions as may be endorsed hereon or added hereto as herein provided.

In witness whereof, this company has executed and attested these presents.

[Space for date and for signatures and titles of officers and agent.]

Fraud, misrepresentation, etc.—This entire policy is void if the insured has concealed or misrepresented any material fact or circumstance concerning this insurance or the subject thereof; or in case of any fraud or false swearing by the insured touching any matter relating to this insurance or the subject thereof, whether before or after a loss.

Property which cannot be insured.—This policy shall not cover accounts, bills, currency, deeds, evidences of debt, money, notes, or securities.

Hazards not covered.—This company shall not be liable for loss or damage caused directly or indirectly by invasion, insurrection, riot, civil war, or commotion, or military or usurped power, or by order of any civil authority; or by theft; or by neglect of the insured to use all reasonable means to save and preserve the property at and after a fire or when the property is endangered by fire in neighboring premises.

This entire policy is void, unless otherwise provided by agreement in writing added hereto—

Ownership, etc.—(a) if the interest of the insured is other than unconditional and sole ownership; or (b) if the subject of insurance is a building on ground not owned by the insured in fee simple; or (c) if, with the knowledge of the insured, foreclosure proceedings are commenced or notice given of sale of any property insured hereunder by reason of any mortgage or trust deed; or (d) if any change, other than by the death of an insured, takes place in the interest, title, or possession of the subject of insurance (except change of occupants without increase of hazard); or (e) if this policy is assigned before a loss.

Unless otherwise provided by agreement in writing added hereto, this company is not liable for loss or damage occurring—

Other insurance.—(a) while the insured has any other contract of insurance, whether valid or not, on property covered in whole or in part by this policy; or

Increase of hazard.—(b) while the hazard is increased by any means within the control or knowledge of the insured; or

Repairs, etc.—(c) while mechanics are employed in building, altering, or repairing the described premises beyond a period of fifteen days; or

Explosives, gas, etc.—(d) while illuminating gas or vapor is generated on the described premises; or while (any usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding) there is kept, used, or allowed on the described premises fireworks, greek fire, phosphorus, explosives, benzine, gasoline, naphtha, or any other product of petroleum of greater inflammability than kerosene oil, gunpowder exceeding twenty-five pounds, or kerosene oil exceeding five barrels; or

Factories.—(e) if the subject of insurance is a manufacturing establishment while operated in whole or in part between the hours of ten p. m. and five a. m., or while it ceases to be operated beyond a period of ten days; or

Unoccupancy.—(f) while a described building, whether intended for occupancy by owner or tenant, is vacant or unoccupied beyond a period of ten days; or

Excepted property.—(g) to bullion, manuscripts, mechanical drawings, dies, or patterns; or Explosion, lightning.—(h) by explosion or lightning, unless fire ensues, and, in that event, for loss or damage by fire only.

Chattel mortgage.—Unless otherwise provided by agreement in writing added hereto this company is not liable for loss or damage to any property insured hereunder while encumbered by a chattel mortgage, and during the time of such encumbrance this company is liable only for loss or damage to any other property insured hereunder.

Fall of building.—If a building, or any material part thereof, falls, except as the result of fire, all insurance by this policy on such building or its contents immediately ceases.

Added clauses.—The extent of the application of insurance under this policy and of the contribution to be made by this company in case of loss or damage, and any other agreement not inconsistent with or a waiver of any of the conditions or provisions of the policy, may be provided for by rider added hereto.

Waiver.—No one has power to waive any provision or condition of this policy except such as by the terms of the policy is the subject of agreement added hereto, nor shall any such provision or condition be waived unless the waiver is in writing added hereto, nor shall any provision or condition of this policy or any forfeiture be waived by any requirement, act, or proceeding on the part of this company relating to appraisal or to any examination herein provided for; nor shall any privilege or permission affecting the insurance hereunder exist or be claimed by the insured unless granted herein or by rider added hereto.

Cancellation of policy.—This policy will be canceled at any time at the request of the insured, in which case the company shall, upon demand and surrender of the policy, refund the excess of paid premium above the customary short rates for the expired time. The policy may be canceled at any time by the company by giving to the insured a five days written notice of cancellation with or without tender of the excess of paid premium above the pro rata premium for the expired time, which excess, if not tendered, shall be refunded on demand. Notice of cancellation must state that the excess premium (if not tendered) will be refunded on demand.

Pro rata liability.—This company will not be liable for a greater proportion of any loss or damage than the amount hereby insured bears to the whole insurance covering the property, whether valid or not and whether collectible or not.

Noon.—The word “noon” herein means noon of standard time at the place of loss or damage.

Mortgagee.—If loss or damage is made payable, in whole or in part, to a mortgagee, this policy may be canceled as to such interest by giving to the mortgagee a ten days written notice of cancellation. Upon failure of the insured to render proof of loss, such mortgagee shall, as if named as insured hereunder, but within sixty days after such failure, render proof of loss and be subject to the provisions hereof as to appraisal and time of payment. On payment to a mortgagee of any sum for loss or damage hereunder, if this company claims that as to the mortgagor or owner no liability existed, it shall, to the extent of such payment, be subrogated to the mortgagee's right of recovery and claim upon the collateral to the mortgage debt, but without impairing the mortgagee's right to sue; or it may pay the mortgage debt and require an assignment thereof and of the mortgage. Except as stated in this paragraph, the agreement between a mortgagee and this company shall be only as stated by rider added hereto.

Requirements in case of loss.—The insured shall give immediate notice, in writing, to this company, of any loss or damage, protect the property from further damage, forthwith separate the damaged and undamaged personal property, put it in the best possible order, furnish a complete inventory of the destroyed, damaged and undamaged property, stating the quantity and cost of each article and the amount claimed thereon; and the insured shall, within sixty days after the fire, unless such time is extended in writing by this company, render to this company a proof of loss, signed and sworn to by the insured, stating the knowledge and belief of the insured as to the time and origin of the fire; the interest of the insured and of all others in the property; the cash value of each item thereof, and the amount of loss or damage thereto; all encumbrances thereon; all other contracts of insurance, whether valid or not, covering any of said property; and a copy of all the descriptions and schedules in all policies; any changes in the title, use, occupation, location, possession, or exposures of said property since the issuing of this policy; and by whom and for what purpose any building herein described and the several parts thereof were occupied at the time of fire; and shall furnish, if required, verified plans and specifications of any building, fixtures, or machinery destroyed or damaged. The insured, as often as is reasonably required, shall exhibit to any person designated by this company all that remains of any property herein described, and submit to examinations under oath by any person named by this company, and subscribe the same; and, as often as is reasonably required, shall produce for examination all books of account, bills, invoices, and other vouchers, or certified copies thereof, if originals are lost, at such reasonable time and place as is designated by this company or its representative, and shall permit extracts and copies thereof to be made.

Appraisal.—In case the insured and this company fail to agree as to the amount of loss or damage, each shall, on the written demand of either, select a competent and disinterested appraiser. The appraisers shall first select a competent and disinterested umpire; and failing for fifteen days to agree upon such umpire, then, on request of the insured or this company, the umpire shall be selected by a judge of a court of record in the state in which the property insured is located. The appraisers shall then appraise the loss and damage, stating separately sound value and loss or damage to each item; and failing to agree, shall submit their differences only to the umpire. An award in writing, so itemized, of any two, when filed with this company, shall determine the amount of sound value and loss or damage. Each appraiser shall be paid by the party selecting him, and the expenses of appraisal and umpire shall be paid by the parties equally.

Company's options.—It is optional with this company to take all, or any part, of the articles at the agreed or appraised value, and also to repair, rebuild, or replace the property lost or damaged with other of like kind and quality within a reasonable time, on giving notice of its intention so to do within thirty days after the receipt of the proof of loss herein required; but Abandonment.—There can be no abandonment to this company of any property.

When loss payable.—The amount of loss or damage for which this company may be liable shall be payable sixty days after proof of loss, as herein provided, is received by this company and ascertainment of the loss or damage is made either by agreement between the insured and this company expressed in writing or by the filing with this company of an award as herein provided.

Suit.—No suit or action on this policy, for the recovery of any claim, shall be sustainable in any court of law or equity unless the insured has complied with all the requirements of this policy, nor unless commenced within twelve months next after the fire.

Subrogation.—This company may require from the insured an assignment of all right of recovery against any party for loss or damage to the extent that payment therefor is made by this company.

It is important that the written portions of all policies covering the same property read exactly alike. If they do not, they should be made uniform at once.

6438. Size of policy; notice; umpire; statement and blanks. No provisions of this chapter limit insurance companies to the use of any particular size or manner of folding the paper upon which their policies are issued. If notice in writing signed by the insured, or his agent, is given before loss or damage by fire to the agent of the company of any fact or condition stated in paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), of the foregoing form of policy, it is equivalent to an agreement in writing added thereto, and has the force of the agreement in writing referred to in the foregoing form of policy with respect to the liability of the company and the waiver; but this notice does not affect the right of the company to cancel the policy as therein stipulated.

The resident judge of the superior court of the district in which the property insured is located is designated as the judge of the court of record to select the umpire referred to in the foregoing form of policy. When any company demands or requires the insured, under any fire insurance policy, to furnish a statement in writing as prescribed in the standard policy form, after a fire or loss occurs, the company or its representative shall furnish to the insured a blank or blanks in duplicate to be used for the purpose, which blanks shall be of standard form such as the insurance commissioner has approved. The failure to furnish these blanks is a waiver of the provision requiring such statement.

Co.*, 142-14; Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-339; Mercantile Co. v. Ins. Co., 176-545. Waiver of proof of loss by agreement to arbitrate: Perry v. Ins. Co., 137-402.

The denial of liability by a fire insurance company dispenses with necessity of filing proofs of loss: Gerringer v. Ins. Co., 133-407; Jordan v. Ins. Co., 151-341; Higson v. Ins. Co., 152-206; Millinery Co. v. Ins. Co., 160-130; Proffitt v. Ins. Co., 176-680.

6439. Penalty for issuing policy not of standard form. Any insurance company which causes to be issued, and any agent who makes, issues, or delivers a policy of fire insurance other than of the standard form, in wilful violation of this chapter, shall forfeit for each offense not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars; but the policy shall be binding upon the company issuing it.

Rev., ss. 4762, 4833; 1899, c. 54, s. 44.

This does not make policy void: Roper v. Ins. Co., 161-151; Black v. Ins. Co., 148-169.

6440. Effect of failure to give notice of encumbrance. No policy of insurance issued upon any property shall be held void because of the failure to give notice to the company of a mortgage or deed of trust existing thereon or thereafter placed thereon, except during the life of the mortgage or deed of trust.

1915, c. 109, s. 4.

See Cottingham v. Ins. Co., 168-259. See, also, under section 6436.

6441. Additional or coinsurance clause. No fire insurance company licensed to do business in this state may issue any policy or contract of insurance covering property in this state which shall contain any clause or provision requiring the insured to take out or maintain a larger amount of insurance than that expressed in such policy, nor in any way provide that the insured shall be liable as a co-insurer with the company issuing the policy for any part of the loss or damage which may be caused by fire to the property described in such policy, and any such clause or provision shall be null and void, and of no effect: Provided, the coinsurance clause or provision may be written in or attached to a policy or policies issued when the insured or his agent shall, in writing, request such coinsurance clause or provision, and in which case the rate for the insurance, with and without the coinsurance clause, shall be furnished the owner, and where the owner elects to have his insurance property written with coinsurance, then all policies on the property shall be so written, and there shall be stamped on them the words "coinsurance contract."

1915, c. 109, s. 5.

ART. 19. DEPOSITS BY FOREIGN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES

6442. Amount and nature of deposits required. Unless otherwise provided in this article, every fire insurance company chartered by any other state or foreign government shall, by their general agent or through some authorized officer, deliver under oath to the insurance commissioner of this state a statement of the amount of capital stock of the company, and deposit with him bonds of the United States, or of the state of North Carolina, or of the cities or counties of this state, or first mortgages on real estate situated in this state to be approved by the insurance commissioner, as follows: Companies whose capital stock is five hundred thousand dollars or less, ten thousand dollars; companies whose capital stock is more than five hundred thousand dollars and not over one million dollars, twenty thousand dollars; companies whose capital stock is in excess of one million dollars, twenty-five thousand dollars; and the insurance commissioner shall thereupon give the agent a receipt for the same. With securities so deposited the company shall at the same time deliver to the insurance commissioner a power of attorney authorizing him to transfer said securities or any part thereof for the purpose of paying any of the liabilities provided for in this article. The insurance commissioner shall require each company to make good any depreciation or reduction in value of the securities. The securities required to be deposited by each insurance company in this article shall be delivered for safe-keeping by the insurance commissioner to the treasurer of the state, who shall receipt him therefor. For securities so deposited the faith of the state is pledged that they shall be returned to parties entitled to receive them or disposed of as hereinafter provided for. The securities deposited by any company under this article shall not, on account of such securities being in the state, be subjected to taxation, but shall be held exclusively and solely for the protection of contract holders.

1909, c. 923, s. 1; 1911, c. 164, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 62, ss. 1, 2, 3; 1915, c. 166, s. 6.

6443. Right of company to receive interest on deposits. The insurance commissioner, at the time of receiving the securities, shall give to the company authority to draw the interest thereon, as the same may become due and payable, for the use of the company, and this authority shall continue in force until the company fails to pay any liability arising upon any policy made in favor of any person, firm, or corporation which shall be, at the time the liability arises, a resident of this state, or which shall own property in the state covered by policies issued. In case of such failure the corporation charged with the payment of such interest shall be forthwith notified, and thereafter the interest, so long as the liability exists, shall be payable to the insurance commissioner, to be applied, if necessary, to the payment of such liability.

6444. Sale of deposits for payment of liabilities. If the company fails to pay any of its liabilities on its contracts according to the terms thereof, after the liabilities have been adjusted between the parties in the manner prescribed by the contracts, if any manner is prescribed thereby, or after the same have been ascertained in any manner agreed upon by the parties or by the judgment, order, or decree of the court having jurisdiction of the subject, the insurance commissioner shall, upon application of the party to whom the debt or money is due, and upon satisfactory proof that the notice herein required has been given to the company, proceed to sell at public auction such an amount of the securities as, with the interest in his hands, will pay the sum due and expenses of sale, and out of the proceeds of sale pay said sums and expenses; and the company shall be required forthwith to make good any deficit in the amount of the deposit caused by such sale. The party making application shall give to the company or to its agent in this state twenty days notice of his intention to apply to the insurance commissioner for the sale of securities. The insurance commissioner shall advertise the sale of the securities for thirty days prior to the day of sale in some daily newspaper published in the city of Raleigh, and shall state in the advertisement the securities to be sold and the company depositing them, and shall mail a copy to the company.

6445. Lien of policyholders; action to enforce. Upon the securities deposited with the insurance commissioner by any such insurance company, the holders of all contracts of the company who are citizens or residents of this state at such time, or who hold policies issued upon property in the state, shall have a lien for the amounts due them, respectively, under or in consequence of such contracts for losses, equitable values, return premiums, or otherwise, and shall be entitled to be paid ratably out of the proceeds of said securities, if such proceeds be not sufficient to pay all of said contract holders. When any company depositing securities as aforesaid becomes insolvent or bankrupt or makes an assignment for the benefit of its creditors, any holder of such contract may begin an action in the superior court of the county of Wake to enforce the lien for the benefit of all the holders of such contracts. The insurance commissioner shall be a party to the suit, and the funds shall be distributed by the court, but no cost of such action shall be adjudged against the insurance commissioner.

6446. Substitution for securities paid. Where the principal of any of the securities so deposited is paid to the insurance commissioner, he shall notify the company or its agent in this state, and pay the money so received to the company upon receiving other securities of the character named in this article to an equal amount, or, upon the failure of the company for thirty days after receiving notice to deliver such securities to an equal amount to the insurance commissioner, he may invest the money in any such securities and hold the same as he held those which were paid.

6447. Return of deposits. If such company ceases to do business in this state, and its liabilities, whether fixed or contingent upon its contracts, to persons residing in this state or having policies upon property situated in this state have been satisfied or have been terminated, upon satisfactory evidence of this fact to the insurance commissioner the state treasurer shall deliver to such company, upon the order of the insurance commissioner, the securities in his possession belonging to it, or such of them as remain after paying the liabilities aforesaid.

1909, c. 923, s. 6.

6448. Deposit required before license granted; exception. When any fire insurance company files an application with the insurance commissioner to be admitted to do business in this state, he shall require of it a compliance with the provisions of this article before issuing a license to such company; but this article shall not apply to companies licensed to do a reinsurance business only.

1909, c. 923, s. 7; 1915, c. 166, s. 6.

ART. 20. INSURING STATE PROPERTY

6449. Insurance commissioner to procure insurance. It is the duty of the insurance commissioner to prepare a schedule of the different properties of the state and to procure policies of insurance thereon according to these schedules for such amounts as he is able to provide for with the provisions and appropriations for the insurance of state property, and to inspect and pass upon all policies of insurance issued upon the public buildings or other property belonging to the state, as regards the form of contract, rate, description, and such other things as are necessary to have the policies in proper form. He shall keep a record in his department, showing the number and date of policy, the name of company, the amount insured, the amount of premium, date of expiration, the property insured, and its location.

Rev., s. 4825; 1901, c. 710, ss. 1, 2; 1903, c. 771, s. 1; 1905, c. 441.

6450. Payment of premiums by state treasurer. When the insurance commissioner has placed the insurance on state property as provided for in this article and approved the bill for the same, the auditor shall issue his warrant on the state treasurer for the bill, and it is the duty of the treasurer to pay the same out of funds not otherwise appropriated to an amount not exceeding twenty thousand dollars annually; but this shall not apply to insurance on property of, or in charge of, the agricultural department and state's prison.

Rev., s. 4827; 1905, c. 441, s. 2; 1919, c. 155.

6451. Payment of premiums by officers in charge. The insurance on the property of, or in charge of, the agricultural department and the state's prison shall be for the amount agreed upon by the insurance commissioner and the officer or officers having such property in charge, and the premiums shall be paid out of the special funds of the agricultural department and state's prison on the order of the insurance commissioner. Before such board, public officer, or other person charged with the custody or safe-keeping of any public building or other property of the state may pay any sum of money as premium for a policy of insurance thereon, they shall receive and file among their records a certificate of the insurance commissioner that he has examined and approved of the policies of insurance, giving the number, amount, date, and term of such policies, the property covered, and the names of the companies in which they are written.

Rev., ss. 4826, 4827; 1901, c. 710, ss. 1, 2; 1903, c. 771, ss. 2, 3; 1905, c. 441, s. 2.

6452. Information furnished commissioner by officers in charge. It is the duty of the different officers or boards having in their custody any property belonging to the state to inform the commissioner, giving him in detail a full description of same, and to keep him informed of any changes in such property or its location or surroundings.

Rev., s. 4828; 1901, c. 710, ss. 1, 2; 1903, c. 771, s. 2.

6453. Commissioner to inspect state property; plans submitted. It is the duty of the commissioner at least once in each year, or oftener, if deemed necessary, to visit, inspect, and thoroughly examine each state institution or other state property with a view to its protection from fire, as well as to the safety of its inmates or the property therein in case of fire, and call to the attention of the board or officer having the same in charge any defect noted by him or any improvement deemed necessary. No board, commission, superintendent, or other person or persons authorized and directed by law to select plans and erect buildings for the use of the state of North Carolina or any institution thereof or for the use of any county, city, or incorporated town or school district shall receive and approve of any plans until they are submitted to and approved by the insurance commissioner of the state as to the safety of the proposed buildings from fire, as well as the protection of the inmates in case of fire.

Rev., s. 4829; 1901, c. 710, ss. 1, 2; 1903, c. 771, s. 3; 1909, c. 880; 1919, c. 186, s. 3.

SUBCHAPTER IV. LIFE INSURANCE

ART. 21. GENERAL REGULATIONS OF BUSINESS

6455. Life insurance company defined; requisites of contract. All corporations, associations, partnerships, or individuals doing business in this state, under any charter, compact, agreement, or statute of this or any other state, involving the payment of money or other thing of value to families or representatives of policy and certificate holders or members, conditioned upon the continuance or cessation of human life, or involving an insurance, guaranty, contract, or pledge for the payment of endowments or annuities, or who employ agents to solicit business, are life insurance companies, in all respects subject to the laws herein made and provided for the government of life insurance companies, and shall not make any such insurance, guaranty, contract, or pledge in this state with any citizen, or resident thereof, which does not distinctly state the amount of benefits payable, the manner of payment, and the consideration therefor.

[Cases involving contracts for life insurance are placed under this section as a convenient place for reference.]

CONTRACTS OF LIFE INSURANCE. The insurance policy is the contract in the absence of fraud: Lancaster v. Ins. Co., 153-285. An oral contract of insurance is valid unless otherwise required by statute: Morgan v. Fraternal Assn., 170-75. The oral contract merges into the written policy subsequently accepted by the insured, and the rights of the parties must be determined by its terms and conditions: Floars v. Ins. Co., 144-232; Graham v. Ins. Co., 176-313. But parol agreement is not merged in an insurance contract changed by fraud or mistake: Gwaltney v. Ins. Co., 132-925; s. c., 134-552. Meaning and effect of "binding slip" before policy is issued: Gardner v. Ins. Co., 163-367. Effect of marginal notes and pasters on policy: Blount v. Fraternal Assn., 163-167; Waters v. Annuity Co., 144-663.

An insurance policy may be corrected for mistake: Britton v. Ins. Co., 165-149. An application for a policy forms part of insurance contract, and one who can read and has warranted the answers in his application to be true, will not be heard to say he was ignorant of its contents, in the absence of fraud or mistake: Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480; see Bobbitt v. Ins. Co., 66-70. As to misrepresentations of agents to secure the application, see McGowan v. Ins. Co., 141-367; Sykes v. Ins. Co., 148-13. As to misrepresentations by applicant to secure the insurance, see section 6289.

A valid contract for insurance may be enforced and an illegal collateral agreement disregarded: Annuity Co. v. Costner, 149-293.

The policyholder must have an insurable interest in the life of the insured: Trinity College v. Ins. Co., 113-244; Burbage v. Windley's Exrs., 108-357. As to insurable interest of one partner in the life of his copartner, see Powell v. Dewey, 123-103; Grabbs v. Ins. Assn., 125-389. A creditor insuring life of his debtor: Maynard v. Ins. Co., 132-711. A corporation insuring life of its president: Trust Co. v. Ins. Co., 173-558; Victor v. Mills, 148-107; Victor v. Mfg. Co., 148-119; see section 1126. Relation of uncle and nephew does not of itself create an insurable interest: Hardy v. Ins. Co., 152-286. A policy of life insurance taken out in good faith, and premium thereon paid by insured, is valid, though beneficiary has no insurable interest in life of insured: Albert v. Ins. Co., 122-92; discussed in Hinton v. Ins. Co., 135-314. A transfer of a policy in good faith to one not having an insurable interest is valid: Johnson v. Ins. Co., 157-106; Hardy v. Ins. Co., 152-286; s. c., 154-430.

An insurance policy takes effect from its date, unless it is stated that it shall only take effect upon certain conditions, and upon certain conditions being met, if it is delivered, it takes effect as of the day of its date: Rayburn v. Casualty Co., 138-379; Wilkie v. Ins. Co., 146-513. Where insurance is applied for and afterwards a policy is issued and delivered, it is based on the status of the insured at the time of application, and the company assumes risk after date of policy: Rayburn v. Casualty Co., 138-379; Grier v. Ins. Co., 132-542.

Delivery of policy, in absence of fraud, is conclusive proof that contract is complete, and is an acknowledgment that premium was properly paid during good health, and in such case policy takes effect from its date: Waters v. Annuity Co., 144-663; Rayburn v. Casualty Co., 138-379, 141-425; Grier v. Ins. Co., 132-542; Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315; Wilkie v. Ins. Co., 146-513; Powell v. Ins. Co., 153-124; Hardy v. Ins. Co., 152-286; s. c., 154-430; Pender v. Ins. Co., 163-98; Murphy v. Ins. Co., 167-334; Trust Co. v. Ins. Co., 173-558; Britton v. Ins. Co., 165-149. Delivery is a question of intent, and may be indicated in several ways: Waters v. Annuity Co., 144-663. An actual delivery may be explained or qualified, and the burden is upon the insurer: Ibid.; Rayburn v. Casualty Co., 138-379; s. c., 141-425.

Payment of premium may be a condition upon which the policy is to take effect or continue in force: Owens v. Ins. Co., 173-373; Murphy v. Ins. Co., 167-334; Ormond v. Life Assn., 96-158; Perry v. Ins. Co., 150-143; Clifton v. Ins. Co., 168-499. What amounts to payment: Melvin v. Ins. Co., 150-398; Sexton v. Ins. Co., 157-142; s. c., 160-597; Clifton v. Ins. Co., 168-499; Matthews v. Ins. Co., 147-339; Hollowell v. Ins. Co., 126-398; Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315; Jones v. Ins. Co., 122-578. Delivery of policy is prima facie evidence of payment: Britton v. Ins. Co., 165-149; Page v. Ins. Co., 131-115, and cases cited in preceding paragraph. There may be a waiver of the condition of payment; Owens v. Ins. Co., 173-373;

Murphy v. Ins. Co., 167-334. What will or will not constitute a waiver: Clifton v. Ins. Co., 168-499; Matthews v. Ins. Co., 147-339; Ormond v. Life Assn., 96-158.

Where policy, with premium receipt attached, which was signed by president of company and recited that it must be countersigned by agent when premium paid, were forwarded to insured, but agent had never countersigned receipt: Held, that this was a declaration that required payment had not been made and must be made before policy could become effectual: Ormond v. Life Assn., 96-158.

Contract of fraternal insurance as to payment of dues: Page v. Junior Order, 153-404.

Where application for policy was made and premium paid agent, which application and premium were held by company for over two months, when applicant died: Held, under the terms of the application in this case, no contract of insurance was entered into: Ross v. Ins. Co., 124-395.

Where less than premium paid and company withdrew policy, under the provisions of the application and the circumstances of this case there was no binding contract of insurance: Ray v. Ins. Co., 126-166.

Where life insurance premium payable in quarterly installments and insured died after payment of first installment, the insurer was entitled to set-off against the amount of the policy the remaining installments for the current year: Albert v. Ins. Co., 122-92.

A general agent of an insurance company may waive any stipulation in a policy, notwithstanding a clause in the policy forbidding it: Gwaltney v. Assurance Society, 132-925; Davis v. Ins. Co., 134-60; Grabbs v. Ins. Co., 125-389; Floars v. Ins. Co., 144-232; Hardy v. Ins. Co., 154-430; s. c., 152-286. Promise by general agent that premiums would not be raised held not unreasonable in this case: Gwaltney v. Assur. Soc., 134-552, 132-925. Instructions to agent, of which insured had no knowledge, are not binding on the latter: Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315. As to mistakes made by agents having no authority to issue policies, see Floars v. Ins. Co., 144-232.

Where a health policy insured against certain named diseases, including blood poisoning, and a proviso declared that the policy should not apply to any disease which was the result of injury, the proviso was imperative as to blood poisoning, which always results from injury: Jones v. Casualty Co., 140-262.

Stipulations against suicide are valid: Heilig v. Ins. Co., 162-521; Thaxton v. Ins. Co., 143-33; Spruill v. Ins. Co., 120-141—but may be waived and are waived under further stipulation that after three years policy incontestable: Simpson v. Ins. Co., 115-393. But a life insurance policy does not apply to death as a punishment for crime: Scarborough v. Ins. Co., 171-353.

Where policy bound company to pay a certain designated amount on certain conditions to a specified beneficiary, it constituted a contract directly between company and beneficiary: Lanier v. Ins. Co., 142-14. Policy payable to children of insured includes children subsequently born as well as those living at date of policy: Scull v. Ins. Co., 132-30.

Where a policy provides that company will, upon death of insured, pay not exceeding $5,000, and it receives premiums on the full amount, the policy is in legal effect for $5,000: Makely v. Legion of Honor, 133-368.

A provision in a benefit policy that one becomes a member subject to the power of the corporation to change its by-laws cannot be construed into a permission to the corporation to change its contract made with a policyholder at will: Bragaw v. Knights of Honor, 128-354; Williams v. Order of Heptasophs, 172-787; Wilson v. Order of Heptasophs, 174-628.

Policy must be liberally construed so as to take in as many of the objects of assured's bounty as possible: Scull v. Ins. Co., 132-33. Where contract of insurance reasonably susceptible of two constructions, that one most favorable to the insured should be adopted: Trust Co. v. Ins. Co., 173-558; Jones v. Casualty Co., 140-262; Rayburn v. Casualty Co., 138-379; Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315—and this is the rule also where intention of parties is in doubt; Bray v. Ins. Co., 139-390; see Railroad v. Casualty Co., 146-114. Construction of terms of policy upon the "quarterly renewable term plan with participating premiums," which provided that after insured attained the age of sixty years the policy could be exchanged for one on the level or uniform plan, policy reciting the level premium scale which concluded with the words, "etc., etc., etc.": Jones v. Assur. Soc., 147-540.

As to how the question whether applicant has been "under the care of a physician" within a given length of time should be answered by the applicant, see Bryant v. Ins. Co., 147-181.

The thirty days grace for the payment of premiums allowed in an insurance policy does not continue the force of the policy for thirty days, but simply gives to insurer thirty days grace for him to pay and prevent a forfeiture: Wilkie v. Ins. Co., 146-513.

Meaning and effect of incontestable clause: Trust Co. v. Ins. Co., 173-558. Extension of life of policy: Underwood v. Ins. Co., 177-327, and cases cited. Effect of change of beneficiary, or assignment of policy as security for debt: Ibid.

AS TO RIGHTS AND REMEDIES GENERALLY; WAIVER; MISREPRESENTATIONS. Failure to read policy or to examine it for three months is a waiver of any right to reform the policy on the ground of mistake: Floars v. Ins. Co., 144-232; Catheart v. Ins. Co., 144-625.

An illiterate person does not waive his right, by accepting a policy and paying premium thereon, to set up fraudulent representations of agent which induced him to take out the policy, he having read the policy without understanding it, and subsequent to accepting it having been assured by the agent that the policy was such as he had represented it to be: Sikes v. Ins. Co., 144-626; Whitehurst v. Ins. Co., 149-273.

As to remedy for wrongful cancellation of life policy, see Green v. Ins. Co., 139-309, and cases cited on page 313; Gwaltney v. Ins. Soc., 132-925; Smallwood v. Ins. Co., 133-15; Scott v. Life Assn., 137-515; Perry v. Ins. Co., 137-402; Makeley v. Legion of Honor, 133-367; Strauss v. Life Assn., 128-465, 126-971; Burrus v. Ins. Co., 124-9; Braswell v. Ins. Co., 75-8; Williams v. Order of Heptasophs, 172-787; Wilson v. Order of Heptasophs, 174-628.

Different remedies of insured for breach of insurance contract under incontestable clause: Trust Co. v. Ins. Co., 173-558. The remedy of the insurer is by action for cancellation, and not by simple notice: Ibid. For the insured to make an application for reinstatement, when policy has been improperly canceled, is not an abandonment or waiver: Aiken v. Ins. Co., 173-400. Evidence tending to show a waiver of right to cancel policy: Horton v. Ins. Co., 122-498. Waiver by accepting check, when notice stated payment must not be made by check: Hollowell v. Ins. Co. of Va., 126-398.

As to limitation as to time within which action must be brought, see Lowe v. Accident Assn., 115-18; Muse v. Assur. Corp., 108-240; Gerringer v. Ins. Co., 133-414; Dibbrell v. Ins. Co., 110-193.

Recital of receipt of first premium an estoppel as to contract, but not in an action to recover it: Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315; Grier v. Ins. Co., 132-542.

Forfeiture of policy is not favored: Hollowell v. Ins. Co., 126-398.

Effect of knowledge of company, or company's officers or agent of defects, misrepresentations, etc., see Fishplate v. Fid. Co., 140-589; Cowell v. Ins. Co., 126-684; Alspaugh v. Ins. Co., 121-290; Horton v. Ins. Co., 122-498; Grabbs v. Ins. Assn., 125-389; Clapp v. Ins. Assn., 126-388; Strause v. Ins. Co., 128-64; Bergeron v. Ins. and Bank Co., 111-45; Sprinkle v. Ins. Co., 126-678; Follette v. Accident Assn., 110-377; McCarty v. Ins. Co., 126-820.

As to whether there was a misrepresentation in the application for insurance is a question for the jury upon a proper issue: Bryant v. Ins. Co., 147-181.

Receipt of insurance policy, under the circumstances of this case, without reading it, does not bind the assured so as to prevent him from proving a parol agreement between himself and the agent of the company: Gwaltney v. Assur. Soc., 132-925—but he may, by his conduct, waive his right under such parol agreement, see Catheart v. Ins. Co., 144-623.

As to reformation of policy and suit for damages thereon, see Floars v. Ins. Co., 144-232. Where policy was susceptible to two constructions, and insurance agent gave it one, and insured was misled thereby, the company could not claim forfeiture because insured did not follow the other construction: Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315. As to effect of agent's insertion of false answers in application, see Sprinkle v. Indemnity Co., 124-405.

Proof of loss waived when agent denies liability of company and refuses to send blank proof of loss to beneficiary: Lanier v. Ins. Co., 142-14; see, also, Thaxton v. Ins. Co., 143-33.

Voluntary payment of premiums made by the insured with full knowledge of the facts cannot be recovered by him: Jones v. Assur. Soc., 147-540. Payment induced by fraud or misrepresentation may be recovered: Stroud v. Ins. Co., 148-54; but otherwise where applicant was not deceived: Frazell v. Ins. Co., 153-60.

6456. Foreign companies; requirements for admission. A company organized under the laws of any other of these United States for the transaction of life insurance may be admitted to do business in this state if it complies with the other provisions of this chapter regulating the terms and conditions upon which foreign life insurance companies may be admitted and authorized to do business in this state, and, in the opinion of the insurance commissioner, is in sound financial condition and has policies in force upon not less than five hundred lives for an aggregate amount of not less than five hundred thousand dollars. Any life company organized under the laws of any other country than the United States, in addition to the above requirements, must make and maintain the deposit required of such companies by article four of this chapter.

6457. Soliciting agent represents the company. A person who solicits an application for insurance upon the life of another, in any controversy relating thereto between the insured or his beneficiary and the company issuing a policy upon such application, is the agent of the company and not of the insured.

1907, c. 958, s. 1.

6458. Discrimination between insurants forbidden. A life insurance company doing business in this state shall not make any distinction or discrimination in favor of individuals between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life in the amount of payment of premiums or rates charged for policies of life or endowment insurance, or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any of the terms and conditions of the contracts it makes; nor shall any such company or any agent thereof make any contract of insurance or agreement as to such contract other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon, nor pay or allow as inducement to insurance any rebate of premium payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefit to accrue thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever not specified in the policy contract of insurance; nor give, sell, or purchase, or offer to give, sell, or purchase as inducement to insurance or in connection therewith any stocks, bonds, or other securities of any insurance company or other corporation, association, or partnership, or any dividends or profits to accrue therein, or anything of value whatsoever not specified in the policy.

Rev., s. 4775; 1899, c. 54, s. 57; 1903, c. 438, ss. 5, 10; 1911, c. 196, s. 7.

The contract is to be expressed in the policy: Graham v. Ins. Co., 176-313. This section operates against the insurer and not the insured: Robinson v. Life Co., 163-415. If the contract is illegal the insured may recover the money paid: Ibid. But insured cannot enforce a collateral agreement which violates this section: Smathers v. Ins. Co., 151-98. A regular life policy will not be affected by a collateral illegal agreement: Annuity Co. v. Costner, 149-293.

6459. Misrepresentations of policy forbidden. No life insurance company doing business in this state, and no officer, director, solicitor, or other agent thereof, shall make, issue, or circulate, or cause to be made, issued, or circulated any estimate, illustration, circular, or statement of any sort misrepresenting the terms of the policy issued by it or the dividends or share of surplus to be received thereon, or shall use any name or title of any policy or class of policies misrepresenting the true nature thereof. Nor shall any such company, agent, or broker make any misrepresentation to any person insured in said company or in any other company for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce such person to lapse, forfeit, or surrender his said insurance.

6460. Medical examination required. No life insurance company organized under the laws of or doing business in this state shall enter into any contract of insurance, in an amount equal to or exceeding three hundred dollars, upon lives within this state without having previously made or caused to be made a prescribed medical examination of the insured by a registered medical practitioner. This section shall not apply to contracts of insurance issued under the group plan.

Rev., s. 4779; 1899, c. 54, s. 58; 1903, c. 438, s. 5; 1919, c. 186, s. 5.

6461. Domestic companies to report outstanding policies; reinsurance fund calculated. It is the duty of every life insurance company incorporated by the laws of this state to make returns in January of each year to the insurance commissioner, showing all its policies and annuity bonds in force on the first day of that month, with such particulars of the same as are necessary for the valuation thereof as hereinafter directed. The insurance commissioner shall thereupon compute, or cause to be computed, the value of such policies and bonds, or what is known as the reinsurance fund therefor, according to the American experience table of mortality and interest at the rate of four and a half per centum, or according to the actuaries' mortality and four per centum interest, or according to any other recognized standard of valuation as he deems best for the security of the business and the safety of the persons insured. Upon this valuation being made and a certificate thereof furnished by the insurance commissioner, each company shall pay to such officer, to defray the expense thereof, the sum of one cent for every thousand dollars of the whole amount insured by its policies so valued. The reserve fund hereinbefore provided for shall not be available for or used for any other purpose than the discharge of policy obligations, but is a trust fund to be held and expended only for the benefit of policyholders. In case of the insolvency of the company, the reserve on outstanding policies may, with the consent of the insurance commissioner, be used for the reinsurance of its policies to the extent of their pro rata part thereof.

Rev., s. 4777; 1903, c. 536, s. 4; 1905, c. 410; 1907, c. 1000, s. 7.

6462. Reinsurance of risks regulated. No domestic life insurance company may reinsure its risks without the permission of the insurance commissioner, except to the extent of one-half of any individual risk. The receiver of any life insurance company organized under the laws of this state, when the assets of the company are sufficient for that purpose, and the consent of two-thirds of its policyholders has been secured in writing, may reinsure all the policy obligations of such company in some other solvent life insurance company, or, when the assets are insufficient to secure the reinsurance of all the policies in full, he may reinsure such a percentage of each and every policy outstanding as the assets will secure; but there must be no preference or discrimination as against any policyholder, and the contract for such reinsurance by the receiver must be approved by the insurance commissioner of this state before it has effect.

Rev., s. 4778; 1899, c. 54, s. 58; 1903, c. 536, s. 9.

6463. Punishment for violation of law as to reinsurance and medical examination. If any domestic life insurance company shall reinsure its risks, except by permission of the insurance commissioner, exceeding one-half of any individual risk, or if any life insurance company organized under the laws of, or doing business in, this state shall enter into any contract of insurance upon lives within this state without having previously made or caused to be made a prescribed medical examination of the insured by a registered medical practitioner, such insurance company, or any officer, agent, or other person soliciting or effecting, or attempting to effect, a contract of insurance contrary to this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense.

Rev., s. 3497; 1899, c. 54, s. 58.

6464. Rights of beneficiaries. When a policy of insurance is effected by any person on his own life, or on another life in favor of some person other than himself having an insurable interest therein, the lawful beneficiary thereof, other than himself or his legal representatives, are entitled to its proceeds against the creditors and representatives of the person effecting the insurance. The person to whom a policy of life insurance is made payable may maintain an action thereon in his own name. Every policy of life insurance made payable to or for the benefit of a married woman, or after its issue assigned, transferred, or in any way made payable to a married woman, or to any person in trust for her or for her benefit, whether procured by herself, her husband, or by any other person, and whether the assignment or transfer is made by her husband or by any other person, inures to her separate use and benefit and to that of her children, if she dies in his lifetime.

Rev., ss. 4771, 4772; Const., Art. X, s. 7; 1899, c. 54, s. 59.

The general rule is that the beneficiary of an ordinary life policy has a vested interest and acquires the entire property interest in the contract the moment the policy is executed and delivered: Lanier v. Ins. Co., 142-15.

The proceeds of a policy of insurance on the life of a husband payable to his wife and children belong to them and not to the estate of the decedent: Cutchin v. Johnson, 120-51. Provision of this section as to wife and children applied in Hooker v. Sugg, 102-115; see Seull v. Ins. Co., 132-30. For corporation insuring lives of its officers, see section 1126; Trust Co. v. Ins. Co., 173-558.

NOTE.—Corporation may insure lives of its officers, see Corporations, sec. 1126.

6465. Notice of nonpayment of premium required before forfeiture. No life insurance corporation doing business in this state shall, within one year after the default in payment of any premium, installment, or interest, declare forfeited or lapsed any policy hereafter issued or renewed and not issued upon the payment of monthly or weekly premiums, or unless the same is a term insurance contract for one year or less, nor shall any such policy be forfeited or lapsed by reason of nonpayment, when due, of any premium, interest, or installment or any portion thereof required by the terms of the policy to be paid, within one year from the failure to pay such premium, interest, or installment, unless a written or printed notice stating the amount of such premium, interest, installment, or portion thereof due on such policy, the place where it shall be paid, and the person to whom the same is payable has been duly addressed and mailed, postage paid, to the person whose life is insured or the assignee of the policy, if notice of the assignment has been given to the corporation, at his or her last known postoffice address in this state, by the corporation or by any officer thereof or person appointed by it to collect such premium, at least fifteen and not more than forty-five days prior to the day when the same is payable. The notice shall also state that unless such premium, interest, installment, or portion thereof then due shall be paid to the corporation or to the duly appointed agent or person authorized to collect such premium, by or before the day it falls due, the policy and all payments thereon will become forfeited and void, except as to the right to a surrender value or paid-up policy, as in the contract provided. If the payment demanded by such notice shall be made within its time limit therefor, it shall be taken to be in full compliance with the requirements of the policy in respect to the time of such payment; and no such policy shall in any case be forfeited or declared forfeited or lapsed until the expiration of thirty days after the mailing of such notice. The affidavit of any officer, clerk, or agent of the corporation, or of any one authorized to mail such notice, that the notice required by this section has been duly addressed and mailed by the corporation issuing such policy, shall be presumptive evidence that such notice has been duly given. No action shall be maintained to recover under a forfeited policy unless the same is instituted within three years from the day upon which default was made in paying the premium, installment, interest, or portion thereof for which it is claimed that forfeiture ensued.

No forfeiture for nonpayment unless proper notice is given: Aiken v. Ins. Co., 173-400. Section referred to in Owens v. Ins. Co., 173-373.

6466. Distribution of surplus in mutual companies. Every life insurance company doing business in this state upon the principle of mutual insurance, or the members of which are entitled to share in the surplus funds thereof, may distribute the surplus annually, or once in two, three, four, or five years, as its directors determine. In determining the amount of the surplus to be distributed there shall be reserved an amount not less than the aggregate net value of all the outstanding policies, this value to be computed by the American experience table of mortality with interest not exceeding four and one-half per cent.

Rev., s. 4776; 1903, c. 536, s. 10.

ART. 22. REGISTERED POLICIES

6467. Deposits to secure registered policies. Any life insurance company, incorporated under the laws of this state, may deposit with the insurance commissioner securities of the kind described in article six of this chapter, for the investment of the capital of insurance companies, or farm loan bonds issued by the federal land banks, or notes or bonds secured by real estate situated in another state approved by the committee hereinafter designated, to any amount not less than ten thousand dollars, which shall be legally transferred by it to him as insurance commissioner and his successors for the common benefit of all the holders of its "registered" policies and annuity bonds issued under the provisions of this article; and these securities shall be held by him and his successors in office in trust for the purposes and objects specified herein.

All securities offered to the insurance commissioner for deposit under this section shall, before acceptance by him, be approved by a committee, composed of the commissioner, the state treasurer, and the attorney-general; and when the securities are of the character prescribed by law and approved by a majority of the committee, the insurance commissioner shall list them in a book of records kept in his department for that purpose. The committee shall endorse on the record, at the end of the list of the securities, its approval of the securities named in the list. The record shall contain a separate list or account of the securities deposited by each insurance company, so kept as to show at all times the total value of all securities on deposit for each company. No security may be withdrawn or substituted except upon the approval of the committee. All the securities, after being approved and listed, shall be deposited with the state treasurer, who shall give his receipt to the insurance commissioner for them. The committee shall, twice a year, in the months of June and December, review and assess the value of all securities on deposit under this section.

6468. Additional deposits may be required. Each company which has made deposits herein provided for shall make additional deposits from time to time, as the insurance commissioner prescribes, in amounts of not less than five thousand dollars and of such securities as are described in the preceding section, so that the market value of the securities deposited shall always equal the net value of the registered policies and annuity bonds issued by the company, less such liens not exceeding such value as the company has against it. No company organized under this chapter shall be required to make such deposit until the net value of the policies in force, as ascertained by the insurance commissioner, exceeds the amount deposited by said company under the preceding section. As long as any licensed company maintains its deposit as herein prescribed at an amount equal to or in excess of the net value of its registered policies and annuity bonds, as aforesaid, it is the duty of the insurance commissioner to sign and affix his seal to the certificates, as required in this article, on every policy and annuity bond presented to him for that purpose by any company so depositing.

Rev., s. 4781; 1905, c. 504, s. 15; 1909, c. 920, s. 3; 1911, c. 140, s. 2; 1917, c. 191, s. 3.

6469. Withdrawal of deposits. Any such company whose deposits exceed the net value of all registered policies and annuity bonds it has in force, less such liens not exceeding such value as the company holds against them, may withdraw such excess or it may withdraw any of such securities at any time by depositing in their place others of equal value and of the character authorized by law; and as long as such company remains solvent and keeps up its deposits, as herein required, it may collect the interest and coupons on the securities deposited as they accrue; and any life insurance company may withdraw such securities by and with the consent of the policyholder only; and in case of such withdrawal, the certificate of registration in each case must be surrendered for cancellation, or a receipt from the policyholder, satisfactory to the insurance commissioner, must be produced before such withdrawal of deposits shall be allowed.

Rev., s. 4782; 1905, c. 504, s. 18; 1911, c. 134.

6470. Manner of keeping deposits. The securities deposited under this article shall be deposited and kept in the manner required by law for the keeping of other deposits of insurance companies, but separate from other deposits of the company.

Rev., s. 4783; 1905, c. 504, s. 19.

6471. Record of securities kept by commissioner; deficit made good. The insurance commissioner shall keep a careful record of the securities deposited by each company, and when furnishing the annual certificates of value hereafter required in this article, he may enter thereon the face and market value of the securities deposited by such company. If at any time it appears from such certificate or otherwise that the value of securities held on deposit is less than the net value of the registered policies and annuity bonds issued by such companies, it is not lawful for the insurance commissioner to execute the certificate on any additional policies or annuity bonds of such company until it has made good the deficit. If any company fails or neglects to make good such deposit for sixty days it shall be deemed to be insolvent and shall be proceeded against in the manner provided by law in such cases.

Rev., s. 4784; 1905, c. 504, s. 16.

6472. Registered policies certified. After making the deposits provided for in this article no company may issue a policy of insurance or endowment or an annuity bond known or designated as "registered" unless it has upon its face a certificate in the following words: "This policy or annuity bond is registered and secured by pledge of bonds, stocks, or securities deposited with this department as provided by law," which certificate shall be signed by the insurance commissioner and sealed with the seal of his office. Such policies and bonds shall be known as "registered" policies and annuity bonds, and a sample copy of such kind, class, and issue shall be kept in the office of the insurance commissioner. All policies and bonds of each kind and class issued, and the copies thereof, filed in the office of the insurance commissioner must have imprinted thereon some appropriate designating letter, combination of letters or terms identifying the special forms of contract, together with the year of adoption of such form, and whenever any change or modification is made in the form of contracts, policy, or bond, the designating letters or terms and year of adoption thereon shall be changed accordingly.

Rev., s. 4785; 1905, c. 504, s. 13.

6473. Deposit for, and registration of, unregistered policies. Every company which has made the deposit herein provided for may, at any time after the date on which it was made, deposit with the insurance commissioner securities of the kind herein mentioned and in accordance with the provisions hereof, in an amount, inclusive of any amount deposited under the provisions of this law, equal to the net value of any nonregistered policies and annuity bonds which it has in force at that time, less such liens not exceeding such actual cash value as the company has against them, and the insurance commissioner shall, when requested so to do, furnish such company with a certificate of the description mentioned in the preceding section, to be attached to each of said policies and annuity bonds. The insurance commissioner shall enter upon each of such certificates the number of the policy or annuity bond to which it belongs and make a record of the same in his department.

Rev., s. 4786; 1905, c. 504, s. 17.

6474. Record to be kept by commissioner; valuation; mutilated policies. The insurance commissioner shall prepare and keep such registers thereof as will enable him to compute their value at any time. Upon sufficient proof, attested by the president or vice-president and secretary of the company which has issued such policies or annuity bonds, that any of them have been commuted or terminated, the insurance commissioner shall commute or cancel them upon such register. The net present value of every policy or annuity bond according to the standard prescribed in the laws of this state for the valuation of policies of life insurance companies when the first premium shall have been paid thereon, less the amount of such liens, not exceeding such value as the company has against it, shall be entered opposite the record of said policy or annuity bond in the register aforesaid at the time the record is made. On the thirty-first day of December of each year or within sixty days thereafter the insurance commissioner shall cause the registered policies and annuity bonds of each company to be carefully revalued, and the net present value thereof at the time fixed for such valuation, less such liens, not exceeding such value as the company has against it, shall be entered upon the register opposite the record of such policy or bond, and the insurance commissioner shall furnish a certificate of the aggregate of such value to the company. For the purpose of making this valuation the insurance commissioner may employ a competent actuary, who shall be paid by the company for which the services are rendered, but nothing herein shall prevent any company from having made such valuation herein contemplated, which may be received by the insurance commissioner upon such proof as he determines. Upon application of an insurance company, subject to the provisions of this article, it is the duty of the insurance commissioner to receive mutilated policies and annuity bonds issued by said companies and certify in lieu thereof other policies or bonds of like tenor and date.

Rev., s. 4787; 1905, c. 504, s. 14.

6475. Power of commissioner in case of insolvency. If at any time the affairs of a life insurance company which has deposited securities under the provisions of this article, in the opinion of the insurance commissioner, appear in such condition as to render the issuing of additional policies and annuity bonds by such company injurious to the public interest, the insurance commissioner may take such proceedings against the company as are authorized by law to be taken against other insolvent companies, and said companies are in all respects subject to the provisions of law affecting other companies.

Rev., s. 4788; 1905, c. 504, s. 20.

6476. Fees for registering policies. Every company making deposits under the provisions of this article must pay to the insurance commissioner for each certificate on registered policies or annuity bonds, including seal, a fee of fifty cents for those exceeding ten thousand dollars in amount and twenty-five cents for all under ten thousand dollars in amount, except policies for one hundred dollars and not exceeding five hundred dollars the fee shall be fifteen cents; for policies of one hundred dollars or less the fee shall be ten cents; for each certificate, including seal, for nonregistered policies issued in accordance with the provisions of this article, the fee shall be twenty-five cents.

Rev., s. 4789; 1905, c. 504, s. 21.

SUBCHAPTER V. ACCIDENT AND HEALTH INSURANCE

ART. 23. NATURE OF POLICIES

6477. Form, classification, and rates to be approved by insurance commissioner.

No policy of insurance against loss or damage from the sickness or the bodily injury or death of the insured by accident shall be issued or delivered to any person in this state until a copy of the form thereof and of the classification of risks and the premium rates pertaining thereto have been filed with the commissioner of insurance; nor shall it be so issued or delivered until the expiration of thirty days after it has been so filed unless the commissioner shall sooner give his written approval thereto. If the commissioner shall notify, in writing, the company, society, or other insurer which has filed such form that it does not comply with the requirements of law, specifying the reasons for his opinion, it shall be unlawful thereafter for any such insurer to issue any policy in such form. The action of the commissioner in this regard shall be subject to review by any court of competent jurisdiction; but nothing in this article shall be construed to give jurisdiction to any court not already having jurisdiction.

Payment of premiums is necessary to keep the policy in force, but a deviation may be waived: Moore v. Accident Assur. Co., 173-532. What is an "accident" in case insured is killed in a fight: Clay v. Ins. Co., 174-642. Meaning of "total disability": Buckner v. Ins. Co., 172-762. What is sufficient compliance with requirement as to notice: Moore v. Accident Assur. Co., 173-532; section 6479, subsections 4, 5. Right of subrogation of party paying the loss: R. R. v. Guarantee Co., 175-566.

6478. Specifications as to form of policy. No such policy shall be so issued or delivered (1) unless the entire money and other considerations therefor are expressed in the policy; nor (2) unless the time at which the insurance thereunder takes effect and terminates is stated in a portion of the policy preceding its execution by the insurer; nor (3) if the policy purports to insure more than one person; nor (4) unless every printed portion thereof and of any endorsements or attached papers shall be plainly printed in type of which the face shall be not smaller than ten point; nor (5) unless a brief description thereof be printed on its first page, and on its filing back in type of which the face shall not be smaller than fourteen point; nor (6) unless the exceptions of the policy be printed with the same prominence as the benefits to which they apply: Provided, however, that any portion of such policy which purports, by reason of the circumstances under which a loss is incurred, to reduce any indemnity promised therein to an amount less than that provided for the same loss occurring under ordinary circumstances under which a loss is incurred, to reduce any indemnity promised therein to an amount less than that provided for the same loss occurring under ordinary circumstances, shall be printed in bold-face type and with greater prominence than any other portion of the text of the policy.

6479. Standard provisions in policy. Every such policy so issued shall contain certain standard provisions, which shall be in the words and in the order herein-after set forth and be preceded in every policy by the caption "Standard Provisions." In each standard provision, wherever the word "insurer" is used, there shall be substituted therefor "company" or "corporation" or "association" or "society" or such other word as will properly designate the insurer.

1. Provisions relative to contract. A standard provision relative to the contract may be in either of the following two forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide for reduction of indemnity on account of change of occupation, and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide. If Form (B) is used and the policy provides indemnity against loss from sickness, the words "or contracts sickness" may be inserted therein immediately after the words "in the event that the insured is injured."

(A) This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers, if any, and contains the entire contract of insurance. No reduction shall be made in any indemnity herein provided by reason of change in the occupation of the insured or by reason of his doing any act or thing pertaining to any other occupation.

(B) This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers, if any, and contains the entire contract of insurance except as it may be modified by the insurer's classification of risks and premium rates in the event that the insured is injured after having changed his occupation to one classified by the insurer as more hazardous than that stated in the policy, or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified, except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in recreation, in which event the insurer will pay only such portion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate but within the limits so fixed by the insurer for such more hazardous occupation.

If the law of the state in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued requires that prior to its issue a statement of the premium rates and classification of risks pertaining to it shall be filed with the state official having supervision of insurance in such state, then the premium rates and classification of risks mentioned in this policy shall mean only such as have been last filed by the insurer in accordance with such law; but if such filing is not required by such law then they shall mean the insurer's premium rates and classification of risks last made effective by it in such state prior to the occurrence of the loss for which the insurer is liable.

2. Changes in the contract. A standard provision relative to changes in the contract shall be in the following form: No statement made by the applicant for insurance not included herein shall avoid the policy or be used in any legal proceeding hereunder. No agent has authority to change this policy or to waive any of its provisions. No change in this policy shall be valid unless approved by an executive officer of the insurer and such approval be endorsed hereon.

3. Reinstatement of policy. A standard provision relative to reinstatement of policy after lapse may be in either of the three following forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident; Form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness; and Form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness.

(A) If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy, the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy, but only to cover loss resulting from accidental injury thereafter sustained.

(B) If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy, the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy, but only to cover such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance.

(C) If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy, the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy, but only to cover accidental injury thereafter sustained and such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance.

4. Time of notice of claim. A standard provision relative to time of notice of claim may be in either of the three following forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident; Form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness, and Form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness. If Form (A) or Form (C) is used the insurer may at its option add thereto the following sentence: "In event of accidental death immediate notice thereof must be given to the insurer."

(A) Written notice of injury on which claim may be based must be given to the insurer within twenty days after the date of the accident causing such injury.

(B) Written notice of sickness on which claim may be based must be given to the insurer within ten days after the commencement of the disability from such sickness.

(C) Written notice of injury or of sickness on which claim may be based must be given to the insurer within twenty days after the date of the accident causing such injury or within ten days after the commencement of disability from such sickness.

5. Sufficient notice of claim. A standard provision relative to sufficiency of notice of claim shall be in the following form, and the insurer shall insert in the blank space such office and its location as it may desire to designate for the purpose of notice:

Such notice given by or in behalf of the insured or beneficiary, as the case may be, to the insurer at or to any authorized agent of the insurer, with particulars sufficient to identify the insured, shall be deemed notice to the insurer. Failure to give notice within the time provided in this policy shall not invalidate any claim, if it shall be shown not to have been reasonably possible to give such notice and that notice was given as soon as was reasonably possible.

6. Furnishing forms for proof of loss. A standard provision relative to furnishing forms for the convenience of the insured in submitting proof of loss shall be as follows:

The insurer, upon receipt of such notice, will furnish to the claimant such forms as are usually furnished by it for filing proofs of loss. The insurer shall insert in the blank space either the word “immediately” or appropriate language to designate such period of time, not more than sixty days, as it may desire: Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide indemnity for loss of time on account of disability, and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide.

10. Periodical payments. A standard provision relative to periodical payments of indemnity for loss of time on account of disability shall be in the following form, and may be omitted from any policy not providing for such indemnity. The insurer shall insert in the first blank space of the form appropriate language to designate the proportion of accrued indemnity it may desire to pay, which proportion may be all or any part not less than one-half, and in the second blank space shall insert any period of time not exceeding sixty days:

Upon request of the insured and subject to due proof of loss accrued indemnity for loss of time on account of disability will be paid at the expiration of each during the continuance of the period for which the insurer is liable, and any balance remaining unpaid at the termination of such period will be paid immediately upon receipt of due proof.

11. Indemnity payments. A standard provision relative to indemnity payments may be in either of the two following forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which designate a beneficiary, and Form (B) to be used in policies which do not designate any beneficiary other than the insured:

13. Rights of beneficiary. A standard provision relative to the rights of the beneficiary under the policy shall be in the following form and may be omitted from any policy not designating a beneficiary: Consent of the beneficiary shall not be requisite to surrender or assignment of this policy, or to change of beneficiary, or to any other changes in the policy.

14. Limiting time of action. A standard provision limiting the time within which suit may be brought upon the policy shall be as follows: No action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on this policy prior to the expiration of sixty days after proof of loss has been filed in accordance with the requirements of this policy, nor shall such action be brought at all unless brought within two years from the expiration of the time within which proof of loss is required by the policy.

15. Time limitations. A standard provision relative to time limitations of the policy shall be as follows: If any time limitation of this policy with respect to giving notice of claim or furnishing proof of loss is less than that permitted by the law of the state in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued, such limitation is hereby extended to agree with the minimum period permitted by such law.

Such optional standard provisions if inserted in the policy shall immediately succeed the standard provisions named in this article.

1911, c. 209, s. 2; 1913, c. 91, s. 4.

6481. Optional standard provisions. The optional standard provisions which may be used in the policy are as follows:

1. Cancellation of policy by insurer. The insurer may cancel this policy at any time by written notice delivered to the insured or mailed to his last address as shown by the records of the insurer, together with cash or the insurer's check for the unearned portion of the premiums actually paid by the insured, and such cancellation shall be without prejudice to any claim originating prior thereto.

2. Reduction of indemnity. If the insured shall carry with another company, corporation, association, or society other insurance covering the same loss without giving written notice to the insurer, then in that case the insurer shall be liable only for such portion of the indemnity promised as the said indemnity bears to the total amount of like indemnity in all policies covering such loss, and for the return of such part of the premiums paid as shall exceed the pro rata for the indemnity thus determined.

3. Deduction of premium. Upon the payment of claim hereunder any premium then due and unpaid or covered by any note or written order may be deducted therefrom.

4. Other insurance. An optional standard provision relative to other insurance by the same insurer which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided, and in the blank spaces of which the insurer shall insert such upward limits of indemnity as are specified by the insurer's classification of risks, filed as required by this article:

(A) If a like policy or policies, previously issued by the insurer to the insured be in force concurrently herewith, making the aggregate indemnity in excess of $....., the excess insurance shall be void, and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.

(B) If a like policy or policies, previously issued by the insurer to the insured, be in force concurrently herewith, making the aggregate indemnity for loss of time on account of disability in excess of $..... weekly, the excess insurance shall be void, and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.

(C) If a like policy or policies, previously issued by the insurer to the insured, be in force concurrently herewith, making the aggregate indemnity for loss other than that of time on account of disability in excess of $....., or the aggregate indemnity for loss of time on account of disability in excess of $..... weekly, the excess insurance of either kind shall be void, and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.

5. Age limits. An optional standard provision relative to the age limits of the policy, which shall be in the following form and in the blank spaces of which the insurer shall insert such number of years as it may elect: The insurance under this policy shall not cover any person under the age of years nor over the age of years. Any premium paid to the insurer for any period not covered by this policy will be returned upon request.

6482. Conflicting provisions forbidden; terms in policy. No such policy shall be issued or delivered if it contains any provision contradictory, in whole or part, of any provisions hereinbefore in this article designated as "Standard Provisions” or as “Optional Standard Provisions”; nor shall any endorsements or attached papers vary, alter, extend, be used as a substitute for, or in any way conflict with any of the “Standard Provisions” or the “Optional Standard Provisions”; nor shall such policy be issued or delivered if it contains any provision purporting to make any portion of the charter, constitution, or by-laws of the insurer a part of the policy unless such portion of the charter, constitution, or by-laws shall be set forth in full in the policy, but this prohibition shall not be deemed to apply to any statement of rates or classification of risks filed with the commissioner of insurance in accordance with the provisions of this article.

ART. 24. GENERAL REGULATIONS

6483. False statement in application. The falsity of any statement in the application for any policy covered by this subchapter shall not bar the right to recovery thereunder unless such false statement was made with actual intent to deceive or unless it materially affected either the acceptance of the risk or the hazard assumed by the insurer.

1913, c. 91, s. 6.

6484. Waiver by insurer. The acknowledgment by any insurer of the receipt of notice given under any policy covered by this subchapter, or the furnishing of forms for filing proofs of loss, or the acceptance of such proofs, or the investigation of any claim thereunder, shall not operate as a waiver of any of the rights of the insurer in defense of any claim arising under such policy.

6485. Alteration of application. No alteration of any written application for insurance by erasure, insertion, or otherwise, shall be made by any person other than the applicant without his written consent, and the making of any such alteration without the consent of the applicant shall be a misdemeanor. If such alteration shall be made by any officer of the insurer, or by any employee of the insurer, with the insurer's knowledge or consent, then such act shall be deemed to have been performed by the insurer thereafter issuing the policy upon such altered application.

6486. Construction of policy. A policy issued in violation of this subchapter shall be held valid, but shall be construed as provided in this subchapter, and when any provision in such a policy is in conflict with any provision of this subchapter, the rights, duties, and obligations of the insurer, the policyholder, and the beneficiary shall be governed by the provisions of this subchapter.

6487. Provisions of laws of other states. The policies of insurance against accidental bodily injury or sickness issued by an insurer not organized under the laws of this state may contain, when issued in this state, any provision which the law of the state, territory, or district of the United States under which the insurer is organized, prescribed for insertion in such policies; and the policies of insurance against accidental bodily injury or sickness issued by an insurer organized under the laws of this state may contain, when issued or delivered in any other state, territory, district, or country, any provision required by the laws of the state, territory, district, or country in which the same are issued, anything in this subchapter to the contrary notwithstanding.

6488. Discrimination forbidden. Discrimination between individuals of the same class in the amount of premiums or rates charged for any policy of insurance covered by this subchapter, or in the benefits payable thereon, or in any of the terms or conditions of such policy, or in any other manner whatsoever, is prohibited.

1913, c. 91, s. 11.

6489. Certain policies of insurance not affected. 1. Nothing in this subchapter shall apply to or affect any policy of liability or workmen's compensation insurance or any general or blanket policy of insurance issued to any municipal corporation or department thereof, or to any corporation, copartnership, association, or individual employer, police or fire department, underwriters' corps, salvage bureau, or like associations or organizations, where the officers, members, or employees or classes or departments thereof are insured for their individual benefit against specified accidental bodily injuries or sickness while exposed to the hazards of the occupation or otherwise, in consideration of a premium intended to cover the risks of all the persons insured under such policy.

2. Nothing in this subchapter shall apply to or in any way affect contracts supplemental to contracts of life or endowment insurance where such supplemental contracts contain no provisions except such as operate to safeguard such insurance against lapse or to provide a special surrender value therefor in the event that the insured shall be totally and permanently disabled by reason of accidental bodily injury or by sickness: Provided, that no such supplemental contract shall be issued or delivered to any person in this state unless and until a copy of the form thereof has been submitted to and approved by the commissioner of insurance, under such reasonable rules and regulations as he shall make concerning the provisions in such contracts and their submission to and approval by him.

3. Nothing in this subchapter shall apply to or in any way affect fraternal benefit societies.

4. The provisions of this subchapter contained in clause (5) of section 6478, and clauses two, three, eight, and twelve of section 6479, may be omitted from railroad ticket policies sold only at railroad stations or at railroad ticket offices by railroad employees.

6490. Punishment for violation. Any company, association, society, or other insurer or any officer or agent thereof, which or who issues or delivers to any person in this state any policy in wilful violation of the provisions of this subchapter, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars for each offense, and the commissioner of insurance may revoke the license of any company, corporation, association, society, or other insurer of another state or country, or of the agent thereof, which or who wilfully violates any provision of this subchapter.

SUBCHAPTER VI. FRATERNAL ORDERS AND SOCIETIES

ART. 25. FRATERNAL ORDERS

6491. General insurance law not applicable. Nothing in the general insurance laws, except such as apply to fraternal orders or fraternal societies, shall be construed to extend to benevolent associations, incorporated under the laws of this state that only levy an assessment on the members to create a fund to pay the family of a deceased member and make no profit therefrom, and do not solicit business through agents. Such benevolent associations providing death benefits in excess of three hundred dollars to any one person, or disability benefits not exceeding three hundred dollars in any one year to any one person, or both, shall be known as “fraternal benefit societies”; and those providing benefits of three hundred dollars or less shall be known as “fraternal orders.”

Rev., s. 4794; 1899, c. 54, s. 87; 1901, c. 706, s. 2; 1913, c. 46.

For other provisions as to assessment insurance, see sections 6356-6362.

The act of 1899, c. 54, was intended to exempt fraternal orders and societies from the operation of the general insurance laws and place them in a separate class: Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175-615. See annotations under section 6509.

6492. Fraternal orders defined. Every incorporated association, order, or society doing business in this state on the lodge system, with ritualistic form of work and representative form of government, for the purpose of making provision for the payment of benefits of three hundred dollars or less in case of death, sickness, temporary or permanent physical disability, either as the result of disease, accident, or old age, formed and organized for the sole benefit of its members and their beneficiaries, and not for profit, is hereby declared to be a “fraternal order.” Societies and orders which do not make insurance contracts or collect dues or assessments therefor, but simply pay burial or other benefits out of the treasury of their orders, and use their funds for the purpose of building homes or asylums for the purpose of caring for and educating orphan children and aged and infirm people in this state, shall not be considered as “fraternal orders” or “fraternal benefit societies” under this subchapter; and such order or association paying death or disability benefits may also create, maintain, apply, or disburse among its membership a reserve or emergency fund as may be provided in its constitution or by-laws; but no profit or gain may be added to the payments made by a member.

Rev., s. 4795; 1899, c. 54, s. 88; 1901, c. 706, s. 3; 1907, c. 936; 1913, c. 46.

Section referred to in Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-418; Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175-615. See annotations under section 6509.

6493. Funds derived from assessments and dues. The fund from which the payment of benefits, as provided for in the next preceding section, shall be made, and the fund from which the expenses of such association, order, or society shall be defrayed, shall be derived from assessments or dues collected from its members. Such societies or associations shall be governed by the laws of the state governing fraternal orders or societies, and are exempt from the provisions of all general insurance laws of this state, and no law hereafter passed shall apply to such societies unless fraternal orders or societies are designated therein.

Rev., s. 4796; 1899, c. 54, s. 89; 1901, c. 706, s. 2; 1913, c. 46.

Funds derived from assessments, which a collector is bound to pay over to society's treasurer, are impressed with a trust and are not subject to attachment in a suit against the society by a creditor: Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-409; see Blackwell v. Life Assn., 141-117.

Assessments due are not debts or choses in action which company could enforce: Blackwell v. Life Assn., 141-117—and a receiver of a foreign insurance company will not be appointed where assessments to become due are the only assets, Ibid.

What law governs in regard to assessments when association is chartered in another state: Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175-615.

6494. Meetings of governing body; principal office; separation of races. Any such society or order incorporated and organized under the laws of this state may provide for the meeting of its supreme legislative or governing body in any other state, province, or territory wherein such society has subordinate lodges, and all business transacted at such meetings is as valid in all respects as if the meetings were held in this state; but the principal business office of such society shall always be kept in this state. No fraternal order or society or beneficiary association shall be authorized to do business in this state under the provisions of this article, whether incorporated under the laws of this or any other state, province, or territory, which associates with, or seeks in this state to associate with, as members of the same lodge, fraternity, society, association, the white and colored races with the objects and purposes provided in this article.

Rev., s. 4797; 1899, c. 54, s. 91; 1913, c. 46.

6495. Conditions precedent to doing business. Any such fraternal, beneficiary order, society, or association as defined by this chapter, chartered and organized in this state or organized and doing business under the laws of any other state, district, province, or territory, having the qualifications required of domestic societies of like character, upon satisfying the insurance commissioner that its business is proper and legitimate and so conducted, may be admitted to transact business in this state upon the same conditions as are prescribed by this chapter for admitting and authorizing foreign insurance companies to do business in this state, except that such fraternal orders shall not be required to have the capital required of such insurance companies.

Rev., s. 4798; 1899, c. 54, s. 92; 1901, c. 706, s. 2; 1903, c. 438, s. 9; 1913, c. 46.

Subject to regulation of insurance commissioner as to agents, license, etc.: State v. Arlington, 157-640. Courts of this state have no power to control by mandamus or injunction the supreme council of a foreign fraternal insurance society: Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-409; Blackwell v. Life Assn., 141-117.

6496. Certain lodge systems exempt. Beneficial fraternal orders, or societies incorporated under the laws of this state which are conducted under the lodge system, having the supreme lodge or governing body located in this state, and so organized that the membership consists of members of subordinate lodges, and the subordinate lodges accept for membership none but residents of the county in which such subordinate lodge is located, and each subordinate lodge issues certificates, makes assessments, and collects a fund to pay benefits to the widows and orphans of its own deceased members and their families, each lodge, independently of the other, for itself, and independently of the supreme lodge, each lodge controlling the fund for this purpose, and in addition to the benefits paid by each subordinate lodge to its own members, the supreme lodge provides for an additional benefit for such of the members of the subordinate lodges as are qualified, at the option of the subordinate lodge member, and such organization is not conducted for profit, has no capital stock, and has been in operation for ten years in this state, such beneficial orders or societies shall be exempt from the requirements of this chapter, and shall not be required to pay any license tax or fees nor make any report to the insurance commissioner, unless the assessments collected for death benefits by the supreme lodge amount to at least three hundred dollars in one year. The insurance commissioner may require the chief or presiding officer, or the secretary, to file annually an affidavit that such organization is entitled to this exemption.

ART. 26. FRATERNAL BENEFIT SOCIETIES

6497. Fraternal benefit society defined. Any corporation, society, order, or voluntary association, without capital stock, organized and carried on solely for the mutual benefit of its members and their beneficiaries, and not for profit, and having a lodge system with ritualistic form of work and representative form of government, and which makes provision for the payment of benefits as hereafter prescribed in this article, is declared to be a fraternal benefit society.

1913, c. 89, s. 1.

6498. Lodge system defined. A society having a supreme governing or legislative body and subordinate lodges or branches, by whatever name known, into which members are elected, initiated, and admitted in accordance with its constitution, laws, rules, regulations, and prescribed ritualistic ceremonies, which subordinate lodges or branches are required by the laws of such society to hold regular or stated meetings at least once in each month, is deemed to be operating on the lodge system.

1913, c. 89, s. 2.

6499. Representative form of government defined. A society is deemed to have a representative form of government when it provides in its constitution and laws for a supreme legislative or governing body, composed of representatives elected either by the members or by delegates elected directly or indirectly by the members, together with such other members as may be prescribed by its constitution and laws: Provided, that the elective members constitute a majority in number and have not less than two-thirds of the votes, nor less than the votes required to amend its constitution and laws; and Provided further, that the meetings of the supreme or governing body, and the election of officers, representatives, or delegates, are held as often as once in four years. The members, officers, representatives, or delegates of a fraternal benefit society shall not vote by proxy.

6500. Organization. 1. Application. Ten or more persons, citizens of the United States, and a majority of whom are citizens of this state, who desire to form a fraternal benefit society, as defined by this article, may make and sign (giving their addresses) and acknowledge before some officer competent to take acknowledgment of deeds, articles of incorporation in which shall be stated:

a. The proposed corporate name of the society, which shall not so closely resemble the name of any society or insurance company already transacting business in this state as to mislead the public or lead to confusion.

b. The purpose for which it is formed—which shall not include more liberal powers than are granted by this article: Provided, that any lawful social, intellectual, educational, charitable, benevolent, moral, or religious advantages may be set forth among the purposes of the society—and the mode in which its corporate powers are to be exercised.

c. The names, residences, and official titles of all the officers, trustees, directors, or other persons who are to have and exercise the general control and management of the affairs and funds of the society for the first year or until the ensuing election at which all such officers shall be elected by the supreme legislative or governing body, which election shall be held not later than one year from the date of the issuance of the permanent certificate.

2. Papers and bond filed. Such articles of incorporation and duly certified copies of the constitution and laws, rules and regulations, and copies of all proposed forms of benefit certificates, applications therefor, and circulars to be issued by such society, and a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, with sureties approved by the insurance commissioner, conditioned upon the return of the advance payments, as provided in this section, to applicants, if the organization is not completed within one year, shall be filed with the insurance commissioner, who may require such further information as he deems necessary.

3. Preliminary license. If the purposes of the society conform to the requirements of this article, and all provisions of law have been complied with, the insurance commissioner shall so certify to the secretary of state, and upon his issuing the articles of incorporation shall furnish the incorporators a preliminary license authorizing the society to solicit members as hereinafter provided.

4. Completion of organization. Upon receipt of such license from the insurance commissioner the society may solicit members for the purpose of completing its organization, and shall collect from each applicant the amount of not less than one regular monthly payment, in accordance with its table of rates as provided by its constitution and laws, and shall issue to each applicant a receipt for the amount so collected. But no such society shall incur any liability other than for such advanced payments, nor issue any benefit certificate nor pay or allow, or offer or promise to pay or allow, to any person any death or disability benefit until actual bona fide applications for death benefit certificates have been secured upon at least five hundred lives for at least one thousand dollars each, or the largest amount written on any one person, and all such applicants for death benefits shall have been regularly examined by legally qualified practicing physicians, and certificates of such examinations have been duly filed and approved by the chief medical examiner of such society; nor until there shall be established ten subordinate lodges or branches into which said five hundred applicants have been initiated; nor until there has been submitted to the insurance commissioner under oath of the president and secretary, or corresponding officers of such society, a list of such applicants, giving their names, addresses, date examined, date approved, date initiated, name and number of the subordinate branch of which each applicant is a member, amount of benefits to be granted, rate of stated periodical contributions, which shall be sufficient to provide for meeting the mortuary obligation contracted, when valued for death benefits upon the basis of the national fraternal congress table of mortality, as adopted by the national fraternal congress, August twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, or any higher standard, at the option of the society, and for disability benefits by tables based upon reliable experience, and for combined death and permanent total disability benefits by tables based upon reliable experience, with an interest assumption not higher than four per cent per annum; nor until it shall be shown to the insurance commissioner by the sworn statement of the treasurer, or corresponding officer of such society, that at least five hundred applicants have each paid in cash at least one regular monthly payment as herein provided per one thousand dollars of indemnity to be effected, which payments in the aggregate shall amount to at least twenty-five hundred dollars. Such advanced payments shall be credited to the mortuary or disability fund on account of such applicants, and no part thereof may be used for expenses, but such payments shall be held in trust and returned to the applicants if the organization is not completed within one year as hereinafter provided.

5. License issued. The insurance commissioner may make such examination and require such further information as he deems advisable, and, upon presentation of satisfactory evidence that the society has complied with all the provisions of law, he shall issue to such society a certificate or license to that effect. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such society at the date of such certificate.

6. One-year limit. No preliminary certificate or license granted under the provisions of this section shall be valid after one year from its date, or after such further period, not exceeding one year, as may be authorized by the insurance commissioner, upon cause shown, unless the five hundred applicants herein required have been secured and the organization has been completed as herein provided; and the articles of incorporation and all proceedings thereunder shall become null and void in one year from the date of such preliminary certificate, or at the expiration of such extended period, unless the society shall have completed its organization and commenced business as herein provided.

7. Discontinuance. When any domestic society shall have discontinued business for the period of one year, or has less than four hundred members, its charter shall become null and void.

6501. Constitution and by-laws. Each society shall have power to make a constitution and by-laws for the government of the society, the admission of its members, the management of its affairs, and the fixing and readjusting of the rates of contribution of its members from time to time; it shall have the power to change or amend such constitution and by-laws, and it shall have such other powers as are necessary and incidental to carrying into effect the objects and purposes of the society.

6502. Amendments to constitution and by-laws. Every society transacting business under this article shall file with the insurance commissioner a duly certified copy of all amendments of or additions to its constitution and laws within ninety days after the enactment of the same. Printed copies of the constitution and laws as amended, changed or added to, certified by the secretary or corresponding officer of the society, shall be prima facie evidence of the legal adoption thereof.

6503. Waiver of the provisions of the laws. The constitution and laws of the society may provide that no subordinate body, nor any of its subordinate officers or members, shall have the power or authority to waive any of the provisions of the laws and constitution of the society, and the same shall be binding on the society and each and every member thereof, and on all beneficiaries of members.

1913, c. 89, s. 17.

6504. Place of meeting; location of office. Any domestic society may provide that the meetings of its legislative or governing body may be held in any state, district, province, or territory wherein such society has subordinate branches, and all business transacted at such meetings shall be as valid in all respects as if such meetings were held in this state; but its principal office shall be located in this state.

6505. No personal liability for benefits. Officers and members of the supreme, grand, or any subordinate body of any such incorporated society shall not be individually liable for the payment of any disability or death benefit provided for in the laws and agreements of such society; but the same shall be payable only out of the funds of such society and in the manner provided by its laws.

6506. Qualifications for membership. Any society may admit to beneficial membership any person not less than sixteen and not more than sixty years of age, who has been examined by a legally qualified physician, and whose examination has been supervised and approved in accordance with the laws of the society: Provided, that any beneficiary member of such society who shall apply for a certificate providing for disability benefits need not be required to pass an additional medical examination therefor. Nothing herein contained shall prevent such society from accepting general or social members.

6507. Benefits. 1. Every society transacting business under this article shall provide for the payment of death benefits, and may provide for the payment of benefits in case of temporary or permanent physical disability, either as the result of disease, accident, or old age: Provided, the period of life at which the payment of benefits for disability on account of old age shall commence shall not be under seventy years, and may provide for monuments or tombstones to the memory of its deceased members, and for the payment of funeral benefits. Such society shall have the power to give a member, when permanently disabled or on attaining the age of seventy, all or such portion of the face value of his certificate as the laws of the society may provide; but nothing contained in this article shall be so construed as to prevent the issuing of benefit certificates for a term of years less than the whole of life, which are payable upon the death or disability of the member occurring within the term for which the benefit certificate may be issued. Such society shall, upon written application of the member, have the power to accept a part of the periodical contributions in cash, and charge the remainder, not exceeding one-half of the periodical contribution, against the certificate, with interest payable or compounded annually at a rate not lower than four per cent per annum; but this privilege shall not be granted except to societies which have readjusted or may hereafter readjust their rates of contributions, and to contracts affected by such readjustment.

2. Any society which shall show by the annual valuation hereinafter provided for that it is accumulating and maintaining the reserve not lower than the usual reserve computed by the American experience table and four per cent interest, may grant to its members extended and paid-up protection, or such withdrawal equities as its constitution and laws may provide; but such grants shall in no case exceed in value the portion of the reserve to the credit of such members to whom they are made.

6508. Beneficiaries. The payment of death benefits shall be confined to wife, husband, relative by blood to the fourth degree, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepfather, stepmother, step-children, children by legal adoption, or to a person or persons dependent upon the member; but if after the issuance of the original certificate the member shall become dependent upon an incorporated charitable institution, he shall have the privilege, with the consent of the society, to make such institution his beneficiary. Within the above restrictions each member shall have the right to designate his beneficiary, and, from time to time, have the same changed in accordance with the laws, rules or regulations of the society, and no beneficiary shall have or obtain any vested interest in such benefit until the same has become due and payable upon the death of the member. Any society may, by its laws, limit the scope of beneficiaries within the above classes.

A member may change the beneficiary at will unless restricted by law or the rule of the order or society: Pollock v. Household of Ruth, 150-211.

The bigamous wife of a member is not entitled to benefits under a certificate payable to the wife: Applebaum v. Commercial Travelers, 171-435.

6509. Benefit certificates. Every certificate issued by any such society shall specify the amount of benefit provided thereby, and shall provide that the certificate, the charter, or articles of incorporation or, if a voluntary association, the articles of association, the constitution and laws of the society, and the application for membership and medical examination, signed by the applicant, and all amendments to each thereof, shall constitute the agreement between the society and the member; and copies of the same certified by the secretary of the society, or corresponding officer, shall be received in evidence of the terms and conditions thereof. Any changes, additions, or amendments to the charter or articles of incorporation, or articles of association if a voluntary association, constitution or laws duly made or enacted subsequent to the issuance of the benefit certificate, shall bind the member and his beneficiaries, and shall govern and control the agreement in all respects the same as though such changes, additions, or amendments had been made prior to and were in force at the time of the application for membership.

1913, c. 89, s. 7.

A change of classification and rates which discriminates against certain members is invalid, and the members so discriminated against may recover the amount paid by them: Williams v. Heptasophs, 172-787; Wilson v. Heptasophs, 174-628; Makely v. Legion of Honor, 133-367; Hill v. Life Assn., 128-463; Strauss v. Life Assn., 126-971; s. c., 128-465.

The power to increase rates is recognized in Hollingsworth v. Supreme Council, 175-615, which distinguishes the cases above cited, decided under the law before the act of 1899, c. 54; see section 6491.

The member is concluded by the agreement to leave the adjustment of his right to benefits to the regulations of the organization, in the absence of fraud: Nelson v. R. R., 157-194; s. c., 167-185 (Relief Department).

Suspension of member for nonpayment of dues: Coile v. Commercial Travelers, 161-104. Waiver where insured misrepresents his age: Robinson v. B. of L. F. and E., 170-545. The burden is upon the society to show matter in avoidance of the policy: Lyons v. Knights of Pythias, 172-408; Harris v. Junior Order, 168-357.

6510. Benefits not subject to debts. No money or other benefit, charity or relief or aid to be paid, provided, or rendered by any such society shall be liable to attachment, garnishment, or other process, or be seized, taken, appropriated, or applied by any legal or equitable process or operation of law to pay any debt or liability of a member or beneficiary or any other person who may have a right thereunder, either before or after payment.

6511. Funds provided. 1. Any society may create, maintain, invest, disburse, and apply an emergency, surplus, or other similar fund in accordance with its laws. Unless otherwise provided in the contract, such funds shall be held, invested and disbursed for the use and benefit of the society, and no member or beneficiary shall have or acquire individual rights therein or become entitled to any apportionment or the surrender of any part thereof, except as provided in subsection two of section 6507. The funds from which benefits shall be paid and the funds from which the expenses of the society shall be defrayed shall be derived from periodical or other payments by the members of the society and accretions of said funds. But no society, domestic or foreign, shall hereafter be incorporated or admitted to transact business in this state which does not provide for stated periodical contributions sufficient to provide for meeting the mortuary obligations contracted, when valued upon the basis of the national fraternal congress table of mortality as adopted by the national fraternal congress, August twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, or any higher standard, with interest assumption not more than four per cent per annum, nor write or accept members for temporary or permanent disability benefits except upon tables based upon reliable experience, with an interest assumption not higher than four per cent per annum.

2. Deferred payments or installments of claims shall be considered as fixed liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or installments are thereafter to be paid. Such liability shall be the present value of such future payments or installments upon the rate of interest and mortality assumed by the society for valuation, and every society shall maintain a fund sufficient to meet such liability regardless of proposed future collections to meet any such liabilities.

See annotations under section 6509.

6512. Investment of funds. Every society shall invest its funds only in securities permitted by the laws of this state for the investment of the assets of life insurance companies: Provided, that any foreign society permitted or seeking to do business in this state, which invests its funds in accordance with the laws of the state in which it is incorporated where it has such laws, shall be held to meet the requirements of this article for the investment of funds.

6513. Application of funds. Every provision of the laws of the society for payment by its members, in whatever form made, shall distinctly state the purpose of the same and the proportion thereof which may be used for expenses, and no part of the money collected for mortuary or disability purposes or the net accretions of either or any of said funds shall be used for expenses.

1913, c. 89, s. 10.

6514. Powers of existing societies retained; reincorporation. Any society now engaged in transacting business in this state may exercise, after the passage of this article, all of the rights conferred thereby, and all the rights, powers, and privileges now exercised or possessed by it under its charter or articles of incorporation not inconsistent with this article, if incorporated; or, if it be a voluntary association, it may incorporate hereunder. But no society already organized shall be required to reincorporate hereunder, and any such society may amend its articles of incorporation from time to time in the manner provided by law.

6515. Mergers and transfers. No domestic society shall merge with or accept the transfer of the membership or funds of any other society unless such merger or transfer is evidenced by a contract in writing, setting out in full the terms and conditions of such merger or transfer, and is filed with the insurance commissioner of this state, together with a sworn statement of the financial condition of each of the societies, by its president and secretary or corresponding officers, and a certificate duly verified under oath of said officers of each of the contracting societies that such merger or transfer has been approved by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the supreme legislative or governing body of each of the societies.

Upon the submission of such contract, financial statements, and certificates, the insurance commissioner shall examine the same, and if he shall find such financial statements to be correct and the contract to be in conformity with the provisions of this section, and that such merger or transfer is just and equitable to the members of each of the societies, he shall approve the merger or transfer, issue his certificate to that effect, and thereupon the contract of merger or transfer shall be of full force and effect.

In case such contract is not approved, the fact of its submission and its contents shall not be disclosed by the insurance commissioner.

6516. Annual license. Societies authorized to transact business in this state may have their authority renewed annually, but in all cases to terminate on the first day of the succeeding April; and the license shall, upon payment of license fee, continue in full force and effect until the new license is issued or specifically refused. For each license or renewal the society shall pay the insurance commissioner twenty-five dollars. A duly certified copy or duplicate of such license shall be prima facie evidence that the licensee is a fraternal benefit society within the meaning of this article.

6517. Accident societies may be licensed. Any fraternal benefit society heretofore organized and incorporated, and operating within the definition set forth in this article, providing for benefits in case of death or disability resulting solely from accidents, but which does not obligate itself to pay death or sick benefits, may be licensed under the provisions of this article, and shall have all the privileges and be subject to all the provisions and regulations of this article, except the provisions requiring medical examinations, valuations of benefit certificates, and that the certificate shall specify the amount of benefits.

6518. Certain societies not included. Nothing contained in this article shall be construed to affect or apply to societies which limit their membership to any one hazardous occupation, nor to similar societies which do not issue insurance certificates, nor to an association of local lodges of a society now doing business in this state which provides death benefits not exceeding five hundred dollars to any one person or disability benefits not exceeding three hundred dollars in any one year to any one person, or both, nor to any contracts of reinsurance business on such plan in this state, nor to domestic societies which limit their membership to the employees of a particular city or town, designated firm, business house, or corporation, nor to domestic lodges, orders, or associations of a purely religious, charitable, and benevolent description, which do not provide for a death benefit of more than one hundred dollars, or for disability benefits of more than one hundred and fifty dollars to any one person in any one year. The insurance commissioner may require from any society such information as will enable him to determine whether such society is exempt from the provisions of this article.

6519. Reports to insurance commissioner. 1. Annual report. Every society transacting business in this state shall annually, on or before the first day of March, file with the insurance commissioner, in such form as he may require, a statement, under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers, of its condition and standing on the thirty-first day of December next preceding, and of its transactions for the year ending on that date, and also shall furnish such other information as the commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society.

2. Valuation of certificates. In addition to the annual report herein required, each society shall annually report to the commissioner a valuation of its certificates in force on December thirty-first, last preceding, excluding those issued within the year for which the report is filed, in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current mortality and expenses: Provided, the first report of valuation shall be made as of December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and twelve. Such report of valuation shall show, as contingent liabilities, the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation; and as contingent assets, the present mid-year value of the future net contributions provided in the constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected. At the option of any society, in lieu of the above, the valuation may show the net value of the certificates subject to valuation hereinbefore provided, and the net value, when computed in case of monthly contributions, may be the mean of the terminal values for the end of the preceding and of the current insurance years.

3. Valuation ascertained. Such valuation shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary, or, at the request and expense of the society, verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home state of the society, and shall be filed with the commissioner within ninety days after the submission of the last preceding annual report. The legal minimum standard of valuation for all certificates, except for disability benefits, shall be the national fraternal congress table of mortality as adopted by the national fraternal congress, August twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, or, at the option of the society, any higher table; or, at its option, it may use a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not less than one hundred thousand lives with interest assumption not more than four per centum per annum. Each such valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation. Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep the net contributions for such benefits in a fund separate and apart from all other benefit and expense funds and the valuation of all other business of the society: Provided, that where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent total disability benefits, the valuation shall be according to tables of reliable experience, and in such case a separation of the funds shall not be required.

4. Test of solvency. The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society, but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities.

5. Report mailed to members. A report of such valuation and an explanation of the facts concerning the condition of the society thereby disclosed shall be printed and mailed to each beneficiary member of the society not later than June first of each year; or, in lieu thereof, such report of valuation and showing of the society's condition as thereby disclosed may be published in the society's official paper, and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficiary member of the society.

6520. Additional or increased rates. The laws of such society shall provide that if the stated periodical contributions of the members are insufficient to pay all matured death and disability claims in full, and to provide for the creation and maintenance of the funds required by its laws, additional, increased, or extra rates of contribution shall be collected from the members to meet such deficiency; and such laws may provide that, upon the written application or consent of the member, his certificate may be charged with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by valuation, with interest not exceeding five per cent per annum.

1913, c. 89, s. 20.

6521. Provisions to insure future security. If the valuation of the certificates, as hereinbefore provided, on December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, shall show that the present value of future net contributions, together with the admitted assets, is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities, such society shall thereafter maintain said financial condition at each succeeding triennial valuation in respect of the degree of efficiency as shown in the valuation as of December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen. If at any succeeding triennial valuation such society does not show at least the same condition, the commissioner shall direct that it thereafter comply with the requirements herein specified. If the next succeeding triennial valuation after the receipt of such notice shall show that the society has failed to maintain the condition required herein, the commissioner may, in the absence of good cause shown for such failure, institute proceedings for the dissolution of such society, in accordance with the provisions of this article, or in the case of a foreign society, its license may be canceled in the manner provided in this article.

Any such society, shown by any triennial valuation, subsequent to December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, not to have maintained the condition herein required, shall, within two years thereafter, make such improvement as to show a percentage of deficiency not greater than as of December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, or thereafter, as to all new members admitted, be subject, so far as stated rates of contributions are concerned, to the provisions of this article, applicable in the organization of new societies: Provided, that the net mortuary or beneficiary contributions and funds of such new members shall be kept separate and apart from the other funds of the society. If such required improvement is not shown by the succeeding triennial valuation, then the new members may be placed in a separate class and their certificates valued as an independent society in respect of contributions and funds.

6522. Valuation on accumulation basis; tabular basis. In lieu of the requirements of the two preceding sections, any society accepting in its laws the provisions of this section may value its certificates on a basis herein designated "accumulation basis," by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year, and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his shares of the losses for each year, herein designated "cost of insurance," and carrying the balance, if any, to his credit. The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this state, and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year, which shall be the amount payable at death, less the credit to the member. Except as specifically provided in its articles or laws or contracts, no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member of any past share of losses exceeding the contributions and credit. If, after the first valuation, any member's share of losses for any year exceeds his credit, including the contribution for the year, the contribution shall be increased to cover his share of the losses. Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contributions especially created or required for such purpose.

Any member may transfer to any plan adopted by the society with net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained, and on such transfer shall be entitled to make such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society.

Certificates issued, rerated, or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this state, shall be valued on such basis, herein designated the "Tabular Basis": Provided, that if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate, the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis.

Whenever, in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis, the total of all costs of insurance provided for any year shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year, the deficiency shall be met for the year from the available funds after setting aside all credits in the reserve; or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied to the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws. Savings from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws.

If the laws of the society so provide, the assets representing the reserves of any separate class of members may be carried separately for such class as if in an independent society, and the required reserve accumulation of such class so set apart shall not thereafter be mingled with the assets of other classes of the society.

A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credit the tabular reserve required on the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract, according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this state and adopted by the society, shall be filed by the society with each annual report, and also be furnished to each member before July first of each year.

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for a transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract. No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis.

For this purpose individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required, and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis pursuant to its laws; nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in manner as expressed in the contract and its laws; nor as making any such reserve or credits a liability in determining the legal solvency of the society.

6523. Examination of domestic societies. The insurance commissioner, or any person he may appoint, shall have power of visitation and examination into the affairs of any domestic society. He may employ assistants for the purpose of such examination, and he, or any person he may appoint, shall have free access to all the books, papers, and documents that relate to the business of the society, and may summon and qualify as witness under oath and examine its officers, agents, and employees or other persons in relation to the affairs, transactions, and condition of the society.

The expense of such examination shall be paid by the society examined upon statement furnished by the insurance commissioner, and the examination shall be made at least once in three years.

6524. Proceedings for dissolution. When after examination the insurance commissioner is satisfied that any domestic society has failed to comply with any provision of this article, or is exceeding its powers, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, or is transacting business fraudulently; or whenever any domestic society, after the existence of one year or more, shall have a membership of less than four hundred (or shall determine to discontinue business), the insurance commissioner may present the facts relating thereto to the attorney-general, who shall, if he deem the circumstances warrant, commence an action in quo warranto in a court of competent jurisdiction, and such court shall thereupon notify the officers of such society of a hearing, and if it shall then appear that such society should be closed, it shall be enjoined from carrying on any further business, and a receiver shall be appointed to take possession of its books, papers, moneys, and other assets and immediately, under the direction of the court, proceed to close its affairs and distribute its funds to those entitled thereto.

No such proceedings shall be commenced by the attorney-general against any such society until after notice has been duly served on its chief executive officers and a reasonable opportunity given to it, on a date to be named in the notice, to show cause why such proceedings should not be commenced.

6525. Proceedings only by attorney-general. No application for injunction against or proceedings for the dissolution of or the appointment of a receiver for any such domestic society or branch thereof shall be entertained by any court in this state unless the same is made by the attorney-general.

1913, c. 89, s. 22.

6526. Examination of foreign societies. The insurance commissioner or any person whom he may appoint may examine any foreign society transacting or applying for admission to transact business in this state. The commissioner may employ assistants, and he, or any person he may appoint, shall have free access to all the books, papers, and documents that relate to the business of the society, and may summon and qualify as witness under oath and examine its officers, agents, and employees and other persons in relation to the affairs, transactions, and condition of the society. He may, in his discretion, accept in lieu of such examination the examination of the insurance department of the state, territory, district, province, or country where such society is organized. The actual expenses of examiners making any such examination shall be paid by the society upon statement furnished by the insurance commissioner.

If any such society or its officers refuse to submit to such examination or to comply with the provisions of the section relative thereto, its authority to write new business in this state shall be suspended or license refused until satisfactory evidence is furnished the commissioner relating to its condition and affairs, and during such suspension the society shall not write new business in this state.

6527. No adverse publications. Pending, during, or after an examination or investigation of any such society, either domestic or foreign, the insurance commissioner shall make public no financial statement, report, or finding, nor shall he knowingly permit to become public any financial statement, report, or finding affecting the status, standing, or rights of any such society, until a copy thereof has been served upon the society, at its home office, nor until the society has been afforded a reasonable opportunity to answer any such financial statement, report, or finding, and to make such showing in connection therewith as it may desire.

1913, c. 89, s. 24.

6528. Revocation of license. When the insurance commissioner on investigation is satisfied that any foreign society transacting business under this article has exceeded its powers, or has failed to comply with any provisions of this article, or is conducting business fraudulently, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, he shall notify the society of his findings, and state in writing the grounds of his dissatisfaction, and after reasonable notice require the society, on a date named, to show cause why its license should not be revoked. If on the date named in the notice such objections have not been removed to the satisfaction of the commissioner, or the society does not present good and sufficient reasons why its authority to transact business in this state should not at that time be revoked, he may revoke the authority to continue business in this state. All decisions and findings of the commissioner made under the provisions of this section may be reviewed by proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, as provided in this article.

1913, c. 89, s. 25.

6529. Criminal offenses. Any person, officer, member, or examining physician of any society authorized to do business under this article who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false or fraudulent statement or representation in or with reference to any application for membership, or for the purpose of obtaining money from or benefit in any society transacting business under this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Any person who shall solicit membership for, or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any fraternal benefit society not licensed to do business in this state, or who shall solicit membership for, or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any such society not authorized as herein provided, to do business as herein defined in this state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars.

Any society, or any officer, agent, or employee thereof, neglecting or refusing to comply with, or violating, any of the provisions of this article, the penalty for which neglect, refusal, or violation is not specified in this section, shall be fined not exceeding two hundred dollars upon conviction thereof.

1913, c. 89, s. 28.

NOTE.—False oath to any statement to obtain payment of benefit, or to any report required of fraternal benefit societies, is perjury. See Crimes, ss. 4369, 4370.

ART. 27. WHOLE FAMILY PROTECTION

6530. Insurance on children. Any fraternal order or fraternal benefit society authorized to do business in this state and operating on the lodge plan may provide in its constitution and by-laws, in addition to other benefits provided for therein, for the payment of death or annuity benefits upon the lives of children between the ages of two and eighteen years at next birthday, for whose support and maintenance a member of such society is responsible. The society may at its option organize and operate branches for such children and membership in local lodges, and initiation therein shall not be required of such children, nor shall they have any voice in the management of the society. The total benefits payable as above provided shall in no case exceed the following amounts at ages at next birthday at time of death, respectively, as follows: two, thirty-four dollars; three, forty dollars; four, forty-eight dollars; five, fifty-eight dollars; six, one hundred and forty dollars; seven, one hundred and sixty-eight dollars; eight, two hundred dollars; nine, two hundred and forty dollars; ten, three hundred dollars; eleven, three hundred and eighty dollars; twelve, four hundred and sixty dollars; thirteen to fifteen, five hundred and twenty dollars; and sixteen to eighteen years, where not otherwise authorized by law, six hundred dollars.

6531. Medical examination; certificates and contributions. No benefit certificate as to any child shall take effect until after medical examination or inspection by a licensed medical practitioner, in accordance with the laws of the society, nor shall any such benefit certificate be issued unless the society shall simultaneously put in force at least five hundred such certificates, on each of which at least one assessment has been paid, nor where the number of lives represented by such certificate falls below five hundred. The death benefit contributions to be made upon such certificate shall be based upon the "Standard Mortality Table" or the "English Life Table Number Six," and a rate of interest not greater than four per cent per annum, or upon a higher standard; but contributions may be waived or returns may be made from any surplus held in excess of reserve and other liabilities, as provided in the by-laws; and extra contributions shall be made if the reserves hereafter provided for become impaired.

6532. Reserve fund; exchange of certificates. Any society entering into such insurance agreements shall maintain on all such contracts the reserve required by the standard of mortality and interest adopted by the society for computing contributions as provided in the preceding section, and the funds representing the benefit contributions and all accretions thereon shall be kept as separate and distinct funds, independent of the other funds of the society, and shall not be liable for nor used for the payment of the debts and obligations of the society other than the benefits herein authorized. A society may provide that when a child reaches the minimum age for initiation into membership in such society, any benefit certificate issued hereunder may be surrendered for cancellation and exchanged for any other form of certificate issued by the society: Provided, that such surrender will not reduce the number of lives insured in the branch below five hundred; and upon the issuance of such new certificate any reserve upon the original certificate herein provided for shall be transferred to the credit of the new certificate. Neither the person who originally made application for benefits on account of such child, nor the beneficiary named in such original certificate, nor the person who paid the contributions, shall have any vested right in such new certificate, the free nomination of a beneficiary under the new certificate being left to the child so admitted to benefit membership.

6533. Separation of funds. An entirely separate financial statement of the business transactions and of assets and liabilities arising therefrom shall be made in its annual report to the insurance commissioner by any society availing itself of the provisions hereof. The separation of assets, funds, and liabilities required hereby shall not be terminated, rescinded, or modified, nor shall the funds be diverted for any use other than as specified in the preceding section, as long as any certificates issued hereunder remain in force, and this requirement shall be recognized and enforced in any liquidation, reinsurance, merger, or other change in the condition or the status of the society.

6534. Payments to expense or general fund. Any society shall have the right to provide in its laws and the certificate issued hereunder for specified payments on account of the expense or general fund, which payments shall or shall not be mingled with the general fund of the society, as its constitution and by-laws may provide.

1917, c. 239, s. 5.

6535. Continuation of certificates. In the event of the termination of membership in the society by the person responsible for the support of any child on whose account a certificate may have been issued as provided herein, the certificate may be continued for the benefit of the estate of the child, provided the contributions are continued, or for the benefit of any other person responsible for the support and maintenance of such child who shall assume the payment of the required contributions.

1917, c. 239, s. 6.

ART. 28. GENERAL PROVISIONS FOR SOCIETIES

6536. Appointment of trustees to hold property. 6611. Bond of secretary. The secretary of the board of medical examiners shall give bond with good surety, to the president of the board, for the safe-keeping and proper payment of all moneys that may come into his hands.

Rev., s. 4497; Code, s. 3134; 1858-9, c. 258, s. 17.

6612. Officers may swear applicants. The president and secretary of the board of medical examiners of this state shall have power to administer oaths to all persons who may apply for examination before the board.

6613. Examination for license; scope; conditions and prerequisites. It shall be the duty of the board of medical examiners to examine for license to practice medicine or surgery, or any of the branches thereof, every applicant who complies with the following provisions: He shall, before he is admitted to examination, satisfy the board that he has an academic education equal to the entrance requirements of the university of North Carolina, or furnish a certificate from the superintendent of public instruction of the county that he has passed an examination upon his literary attainments to meet the requirements of entrance in the regular course of the state university. He shall exhibit a diploma, or furnish satisfactory proof of graduation from a medical college in good standing requiring an attendance of not less than four years and supplying such facilities for clinical and scientific instruction as shall meet the approval of the board; but the requirement of three years attendance at school shall not apply to those graduating prior to January first, nineteen hundred, and license or other satisfactory evidence of standing as a legal practitioner in another state shall be accepted in lieu of a diploma and entitle to examination.

The examination shall cover the following branches of medical science: Anatomy, physiology, surgery, pathology, medical hygiene, chemistry, pharmacy, materia medica, therapeutics, obstetrics, and the practice of medicine.

If on such examination the applicant is found competent, the board shall grant to him a license or diploma, authorizing him to practice medicine or surgery or any of the branches thereof.

Five members of the board shall constitute a quorum, and four of those present shall be agreed as to the qualification of the applicant.

Rev., s. 4498; 1913, c. 20, ss. 2, 3, 6.

Legislature has unquestioned right to require examination of applicants: State v. Call, 121-643.

Mandamus cannot be used to enforce issue of license (in this case to a dentist): Ewbank v. Turner, 134-77.

This section discussed in State v. McKnight, 131-723; State v. Biggs, 133-729; State v. Siler, 169-314.

6614. Two examinations, preliminary and final, allowed. It shall be the duty of the state board of medical examiners to examine any applicant for license to practice medicine on the subjects of anatomy, histology, physiology, and chemistry, upon his furnishing satisfactory evidence from a medical school in good standing and supplying such facilities for anatomical and laboratory instruction as shall meet with the approval of the board, that he has completed the course of study in the school upon the subjects mentioned. The board shall set to the credit of such applicant upon its record books the grade made by him upon the examination, which shall stand to the credit of such applicant; and when he has subsequently completed the full course in medicine and presents a diploma of graduation from a medical college in good standing, requiring a four years course of study of medicine for graduation, and when he has completed the examination upon the further branches of medicine, to wit: medical hygiene, pharmacy, materia medica, therapeutics, obstetrics, pathology, practice of medicine and surgery, he shall have accounted to his credit the grade made upon the former examination, and if then upon such completed examination he be found competent, said board shall grant him a license to practice medicine and surgery and any of the branches thereof. The applicant shall pay seven and one-half dollars for each of the two examinations herein provided for, but the whole of these sums shall be refunded to him if he fails to procure a license.

6615. Temporary license. To prevent delay and inconvenience, two members of the board of medical examiners may grant a temporary license to any applicant who shall comply with the requirements as to graduation prescribed above, and make report thereof to the next regular meeting of the board. Such temporary license shall not continue in force longer than the next regular meeting of the board, and shall in no case be granted after the applicant has been refused a license by the board of medical examiners. The holder of such a temporary license shall not be entitled to register as a physician and surgeon, as provided in this article, but he may practice during the time the license remains in force.

Rev., ss. 4499, 4504; Code, s. 3125; 1858-9, c. 258, s. 7; 1889, c. 181, s. 3; 1899, c. 93, s. 2.

6616. Limited license. The board may, whenever in its opinion the conditions of the locality where the applicant resides are such as to render it advisable, make such modifications of the requirements of the preceding sections, both as to application for examination and examination for license, as in its judgment the interests of the people living in that locality may demand, and may issue to such applicant a special license, to be entitled a "Limited License," authorizing the holder thereof to practice medicine and surgery within the limits only of the district specifically described therein. The holder of the limited license practicing medicine or surgery beyond the boundaries of the district as laid down in said license shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each and every offense; and the board is empowered to revoke such limited license, in its discretion, after due notice. The clerk of the superior court, in registering the holder of a limited license, shall copy upon the certificate of registration and upon his record the description of the district given in the license.

6617. When license without examination allowed. The board of medical examiners shall in their discretion issue a license to any applicant to practice medicine and surgery in this state without examination if said applicant exhibits a diploma or satisfactory proof of graduation from a medical college in good standing, requiring an attendance of not less than four years and a license issued to him to practice medicine and surgery by the board of medical examiners of another state.

6618. Board may rescind license. The board shall have the power to rescind any license granted by them when upon satisfactory proof it shall appear that any physician thus licensed has been guilty of grossly immoral conduct.

Rev., s. 4503; Code, s. 3133; 1858-9, c. 258, s. 16.

6619. License fee. The board shall have power to demand of every applicant thus licensed the sum of fifteen dollars before issuing a license or diploma, and the sum of five dollars for each temporary license, to be paid to the secretary of the board. Whenever any license is granted without examination, as authorized in this article, the applicant shall pay to the secretary of the board a fee of fifty dollars before license or diploma is issued.

Rev., s. 4501; Code, s. 3130; 1858-9, c. 258, s. 13; 1913, c. 20, ss. 4, 5.

6620. Board to keep record. The board of examiners shall keep a regular record of its proceedings in a book kept for that purpose, which shall always be open for inspection, and shall cause to be entered in a book kept for that purpose the name of each applicant for license, and the name of each applicant licensed to practice medicine and surgery, and the time of granting the same, together with the names of the members of the board present, and shall publish the names of those licensed in two of the newspapers published in the city of Raleigh, within thirty days after the granting of the same.

Rev., s. 4500; Code, s. 3129; 1858-9, c. 258, s. 12.

6621. Blanks furnished clerk. It shall be the duty of the medical society of the state of North Carolina to prescribe proper forms of certificates required by this article, and all such blanks and forms as the clerk may need to enable him to perform his duties under this chapter.

Rev., s. 4505; 1889, c. 181, s. 7; 1899, c. 93, s. 4.

6622. Practicing without license; penalties. No person shall practice medicine or surgery, nor any of the branches thereof, nor in any case prescribe for the cure of diseases for fee or reward, unless he shall have been first licensed and registered so to do in the manner provided in this chapter, and if any person shall practice medicine or surgery without being duly licensed and registered, as provided in this chapter, he shall not be allowed to maintain any action to collect any fee for such services.

The person so practicing without license shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned, at the discretion of the court, for each and every offense: Provided, that this section shall not be construed to apply to women who pursue the vocation of a midwife: and Provided further, that this section shall not apply to any reputable physician or surgeon resident in a neighboring state coming into this state for consultation with a registered physician resident herein. But this proviso shall not apply to physicians resident in a neighboring state regularly practicing in this state: Provided, that this section shall not apply to physicians who have a diploma from a regular medical college and were practicing medicine and surgery in this state prior to the seventh day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

Rev., ss. 3645, 4502; Code, s. 3122; 1858-9, c. 258, s. 2; 1885, c. 117, s. 2; 1885, c. 261; 1889, c. 181, ss. 1, 2.

See generally: State v. Van Doran, 109-864; State v. Call, 121-643; State v. Welch, 129-579. Constitutional: State v. Van Doran, 109-864; State v. Call, 121-643.

Section 6623, requiring registration, does not repeal this section requiring license: State v. Call, 121-643.

Practice of obstetrics is within this section: State v. Welch, 129-579. Practice of osteopathy not within this section: State v. McKnight, 131-717—and so a “nonmedical” physician: State v. Biggs, 133-729. But see in this chapter, art. 4, Optometry; art. 5, Osteopathy; art. 6, Chiropractic.

Sufficient to charge in indictment that a person wilfully and unlawfully practiced or attempted to practice medicine or surgery: State v. Van Doran, 109-864; State v. Welch, 129-579—sufficient to allege failure to obtain license: State v. Welch, 129-579—need not charge that practicing was done for fee or reward: State v. Welch, 129-579—need not negative a proviso withdrawing a certain class from the operation of the statute: State v. Welch, 129-579.

Under acts 1889, chapter 181, section 5, making it a misdemeanor to practice medicine without first having registered and obtained a certificate, an indictment which does not charge that defendant did not register and obtain a certificate, as required, is defective; but it need not charge that defendant does not belong to one of certain classes which are withdrawn from the operation of the statute by a proviso thereto: State v. Call, 121-643.

Sufficient to show under acts of 1889, ch. 181, that defendant held himself out as a physician, and not necessary to show that he practiced on any particular person: State v. Van Doran, 109-864.

A special verdict must find that defendant practiced for "fee or reward" to justify a conviction: State v. Call, 121-643; compare State v. Welch, 129-579.

Party holding himself out as a doctor, visiting people and prescribing his own proprietary remedy, is guilty: State v. Van Doran, 109-864.

That a statute, requiring examination and certificate, exempts from its requirements physicians already practicing in the state at date of its passage, does not make statute invalid as creating a monopoly or conferring special privileges, since it is only the exercise of police powers to protect public from imposters and incompetents: State v. Call, 121-643—nor does such statute violate the fourteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States prohibiting any state from denying to any person the equal protection of the laws, Ibid.

In an action to recover damages for physical injury, evidence of the amount plaintiff paid to an osteopath for services, nursing and attention reasonably given and rendered is competent to be considered by the jury, but not conclusive, even if the osteopath could not recover for such services in an action at law, or if such recovery by him were barred by the statute of limitations: Allen v. Traction Co., 144-288.

In this case, contract under which the services were rendered being absolutely prohibited, was void in its inception: Puckett v. Alexander, 102-95.

Subject-matter of this section generally reviewed and interpreted in State v. Biggs, 133-729; State v. McKnight, 131-723.

6623. Practicing without registration; penalties. Any person desiring to engage in the practice of medicine or surgery shall personally appear before the clerk of the superior court of the county in which he resides or practices, for registration as a physician or surgeon. The person so applying shall produce and exhibit before the clerk of the superior court a license obtained from the board of medical examiners of the state, or a diploma issued by a regular medical college prior to the seventh day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, or make oath that he was practicing medicine or surgery in this state prior to the date last mentioned. The clerk shall thereupon register the date of registration, with the name and residence of such applicant, in a book to be kept for this purpose in his office, marked "Register of Physicians and Surgeons," and shall issue to him a certificate of registration under the seal of the superior court of the county upon the form furnished him by the medical society of North Carolina, for which the clerk shall be entitled to collect from said applicant a fee of twenty-five cents. The person obtaining such certificate shall be entitled to practice medicine or surgery, or both, in the county where the same was obtained, and in any other county in this state; but if he shall remove his residence to another county he shall exhibit said certificate to the clerk of such other county and be registered, which registration shall be made by said clerk without fee or charge.

Any person who practices or attempts to practice medicine or surgery in this state without first having registered and obtained the certificate required in this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned at the discretion of the court, for each and every offense: Provided, this section shall not apply to women pursuing the vocation of midwife, nor to reputable physicians or surgeons resident in a neighboring state coming into this state for consultation with a registered physician of this state.

Rev., ss. 3646, 4504; 1889, c. 181, ss. 4, 5; 1891, c. 420.

See annotations under section 6622.

See generally: State v. Call, 121-643. Indictment hereunder must charge that defendant did not register and obtain a certificate as required: State v. Call, 121-643—need not charge that defendant practiced for fee or reward, Ibid.—need not charge that defendant does not belong to one of the classes protected by the proviso, Ibid.

6624. Clerk punishable for illegally registering physician. If any clerk of the superior court shall register, or issue a certificate to, any person practicing medicine or surgery in any other manner than that prescribed by law, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than two hundred dollars and shall be removed from office.

Rev., s. 3647; 1889, c. 181, s. 6.

6625. Certain offenses prosecuted in superior court; duties of attorney-general. In case of the violation of the criminal provisions of the last three sections preceding, the attorney-general of the state of North Carolina, upon complaint of the board of medical examiners of the state of North Carolina, shall investigate the charges preferred, and if in his judgment the law has been violated, he shall direct the solicitor of the district in which the offense was committed to institute a criminal action against the offending persons. For his services in conducting such a prosecution the solicitor shall be allowed a fee of five dollars. The board of medical examiners may also employ, at their own expense, special counsel to assist the attorney-general or the solicitor.

Exclusive original jurisdiction of all criminal actions instituted for the violations of the last three sections preceding shall be in the superior court, the provisions of any special or local act to the contrary notwithstanding.

ART. 2. DENTISTRY

6626. Board of examiners. The North Carolina state board of dental examiners, heretofore created for the examination of those desiring to obtain a license to engage in the practice of dentistry in this state, shall consist of six members of the North Carolina dental society, to be elected by said society at its annual meeting, who shall be commissioned by the governor and shall hold office as follows: Two for one year, two for two years, and two for three years, and until their successors are elected, commissioned, and qualified. This section shall not be so construed as to vacate the office of any member of said board as now constituted and now holding office thereon until the term of office so held shall have expired as now provided by law, and the governor shall issue his commission to such members of the board for the remainder of their terms. The board shall also have power to fill all vacancies for unexpired terms, the persons so elected to be commissioned by the governor, and they shall be responsible to the North Carolina dental society and the governor of North Carolina for their acts.

Rev., s. 4463; 1915, c. 178, s. 1.

6627. By-laws. The board of examiners shall have power to make by-laws and necessary regulations for the proper fulfillment of their duties under this article. 1915, c. 178, s. 2.

6628. Meetings; seal. The board of dental examiners shall elect one of its members president, and one secretary-treasurer, and shall have a common seal with the following inscription: "North Carolina State Board of Dental Examiners." It shall meet annually on Monday preceding the time and at the place of the meeting of the North Carolina dental society, and shall also meet, if application shall be made for examination, during the month of January following such annual meeting, at a time and place to be selected by the board, and at such other times and places as the board or any four members thereof shall agree upon, to conduct the examination of applicants and for the transaction of any other business that may come before it. Notice of such meetings shall be given by advertising for ten days in at least three newspapers published in this state.

Rev., s. 4464; 1915, c. 178, s. 3.

6629. Quorum; powers of investigation. Four members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and should a quorum not be present on the day appointed for the meeting those present may adjourn from day to day until a quorum is present. The president and, in his absence, the secretary-treasurer of the board shall have power to administer oaths, issue subpoenas, and send for persons and papers in any hearing, investigation, accusation or other matter coming before the board, and the sheriffs of the several counties or other officers authorized to serve process shall serve any subpoena or other lawful order issued by the president or secretary-treasurer of the board, and shall receive for such service the fees provided by law for like service, to be paid out of any funds in the hands of the board. Any person wilfully neglecting or refusing to obey any subpoena or lawful order of the board shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court.

Rev., 4465; 1915, c. 178, s. 4.

6630. Records and transcripts. The board shall keep a record book in which shall be entered the names and proficiency of all persons to whom license may be granted under this article, the license numbers, and the date of granting of such license, and other matters of record, and the book so provided shall be deemed a book of records, and a transcript of any such entry therein, or a certificate that there is not entered therein the name, proficiency, and license number, or date of granting such license of a person charged with a violation of the provisions of this article, certified under the hands of the secretary-treasurer and the seal of the North Carolina state board of dental examiners shall be admitted as evidence in any court of this state when it is otherwise competent.

Rev., s. 4466; 1915, c. 178, s. 5.

6631. Requisites for license. No person shall engage in the practice of dentistry in this state, or attempt to do so, after the ratification of this act, without first having applied for and obtained a license for that purpose from the North Carolina state board of dental examiners, and having registered such license with the clerk of the superior court of each county in which he proposes to practice dentistry. This provision applies to all persons whether they have heretofore practiced dentistry or not in this state, except such persons as have been heretofore duly licensed and registered, or who were engaged in the practice of dentistry in this state before the seventh day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, if on or before the twenty-fifth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, such person or persons filed verified statements with the secretary of the state board of dental examiners, showing his name, residence, date of diploma or license, or date of commencing the practice of dentistry.

Application shall be made to the board in writing for an examination in the knowledge and practice of dentistry, and for license. The applicant for examination and license must be of good moral character, at least twenty-one years of age at the time of making the application; and the application of each person must be accompanied by satisfactory evidence to the board that the applicant so applying is a person of good character, has an English education, the standard of which shall be determined by the board of dental examiners, is a graduate of and has a diploma from a reputable dental college or institution, recognized as such by the board of dental examiners, or the dental department of a reputable university so recognized by the board of dental examiners of this state. Examinations must be both written and clinical, and of such a character as to thoroughly test the qualifications of the applicant to practice dentistry, and the board may, in its discretion, refuse to grant license to any person found deficient in said examination or whom they may find guilty of cheating, deception, or fraud during such examination, or whose English education is found to be defective. The board of examiners may refuse to grant a license to any person guilty of a crime involving moral turpitude, of gross immorality, or who is addicted to the use of alcoholic liquors or narcotic drugs to such an extent as to render him unfit to practice dentistry. Any license obtained through fraud or by any false representation shall be void ab initio and of no effect.

This section constitutional; must be strictly construed: State v. Hicks, 143-689. See, also, State v. Call, 121-643.

The burden of proof is upon the defendant to show he came under provision of this section, and in the absence of evidence that he practiced dentistry in the state before the specified time, or had filed the required statement, having admitted that he had not passed the requisite examination or received the certificate, a motion to quash the indictment is properly refused: Ibid.

Time for filing the statement to practice dentistry under this section is not of the essence of the enactment; by a present compliance therewith the defendant will be entitled to a certificate to be registered under section 6634, and thus become lawfully qualified to continue the practice of his profession: Ibid.

Defendant indicted for practicing without complying with section is not excused because designated officers failed to furnish him with blanks: Ibid.

The granting of a certificate to practice dentistry involves matters of judgment and discretion, and will not be enforced by mandamus: Ewbank v. Turner, 134-77.

6632. Examination and licensing of applicants. The board shall grant license to practice dentistry to all applicants who are graduates of a reputable dental institution who undergo a satisfactory examination of proficiency in the knowledge and practice of dentistry, and who receive a majority of votes of the board upon such proficiency. No one applying for license to practice dentistry shall be denied license on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. The license granted shall be signed by the members of the board conducting the examination, and shall bear the seal of the North Carolina state board of dental examiners.

6633. Temporary or limited license. Any person wishing to engage in the practice of dentistry at any time prior to the regular meeting of the board may be examined by any one member of said board, and if competent may receive a temporary certificate, which shall be in force only until the next regular meeting, and no member of said board shall grant a temporary certificate a second time to the same person.

The board of dental examiners may grant a limited license, temporary or permanent in their discretion, to practice dentistry to any applicant of good character who has received a diploma from a reputable dental college. Such license shall authorize the applicant to practice only in a county or prescribed territory, to be fixed in the license, in which there is no dentist who has duly passed the required examination or received a certificate of proficiency at the time of such application.

6634. Registration of license; fee. Every person receiving a license to practice dentistry in this state by or from the state board of dental examiners shall, before the beginning of the practice of dentistry, cause said license to be registered in the office of the clerk of the superior court of each county in which such person desires to engage in the practice of dentistry, by appearing before such clerk and filing his license or duplicate thereof showing that he has been examined as to his proficiency in the knowledge and practice of dentistry, and has been licensed as herein provided. The clerk of the superior court is authorized to receive a registration fee of fifty cents for each registration, and shall keep a record of the same in a book provided by the county for such purpose.

Rev., 4468; 1915, c. 178, s. 8.

See annotations under section 6631.

6635. License to be displayed. The license to practice dentistry herein provided for shall at all times be displayed in a conspicuous place in the office wherein the licensee practices the profession of dentistry, and he shall, whenever requested, exhibit such license to any of the members of the state board of dental examiners or its authorized agent or attorney.

6636. Fees, examination and annual; pay of examiners; use of funds. In order to provide the means of carrying out and enforcing the provisions of this article the board of dental examiners shall charge and collect from each person applying for an examination for license to practice dentistry in this state an examination fee of twenty dollars, and in addition thereto a fee of one dollar for every annual certificate or license, or duplicate certificate or license, issued by the board, and out of the funds coming into the possession of the board under the provisions of this article the members of the board shall each receive as compensation a sum not exceeding ten dollars for each day actually engaged in the duties of the office (the amount of such compensation to be fixed by the board), and all legitimate and necessary expenses incurred in attending meetings of the board. The secretary-treasurer of the board shall be allowed a reasonable salary to be fixed by the board and actual necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of the duties of his office. All expenses herein provided for shall be paid out of the funds received by the board under the provisions of this article, and no part thereof shall be paid out of the state treasury. All moneys received in excess of the per diem and allowances and other expenses herein provided shall be held by the secretary-treasurer of the board as a special fund for meeting the other legitimate expenses of the board and for such use as the board may deem necessary in the enforcement of the provisions of this article. The board by its secretary-treasurer shall make an annual report of its proceedings to the governor on or before the twenty-fifth day of February in each year showing all moneys received and disbursed by it pursuant to this act. Any sum in excess of five hundred dollars remaining after meeting the per diem and other expenses hereinbefore mentioned shall be turned into the state treasury to the use of the general school fund of the state.

Rev., 4469; 1915, c. 178, s. 10.

6637. Renewal and cancellation of license; fees. On or before the first day of January of each year every dentist engaged in the practice of dentistry in this state shall transmit to the secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina state board of dental examiners his signature and postoffice address, the number of his license, together with a fee of one dollar, and receive therefor a renewal license. Any license or certificate granted by the board, under this act, shall automatically be canceled if the holder thereof fails to secure the renewal herein provided for within a period of three months after the thirty-first day of December of each year; but any license thus canceled may be restored by the board upon the payment of five dollars if paid within one year after cancellation. Any legally practicing dentist in this state who retires from practice may receive license to resume practice upon application to the board of dental examiners for such license upon payment of ten dollars.

Rev., 4468; 1915, c. 178, s. 11.

6638. Use of false or fraudulent papers forbidden. Any person filing or attempting to file as his own a diploma or license of another, or a forged affidavit of identification or qualification, shall be deemed guilty of a crime and be punishable upon conviction thereof by imprisonment or fine or both in the discretion of the court.

1915, c. 178, s. 12.

6639. Practice of dentistry defined. Any person shall be regarded as practicing dentistry within the meaning of this article who shall diagnose or profess to diagnose, or treat or profess to treat any of the diseases or lesions of the oral cavity, teeth, gums, or maxillary bones, or shall prepare or fill cavities in human teeth, correct malposition of teeth, of jaws, or apply artificial teeth as substitutes for natural teeth, or administer anesthetics, general or local, or any other practice included in the curriculum of recognized dental institutions or colleges. Nothing in this article, however, shall be so construed as to forbid regularly licensed physicians and surgeons from treating any diseases coming within the province of the practice of medicine; and nothing herein shall prevent any one from extracting teeth.

A dentist is not a surgeon who can prescribe whiskey: State v. McMinn, 118-1259.
Definition of "dentist" or "dental surgeon" prior to this enactment, see Ibid.

6640. Exemption from jury duty. All duly licensed dentists of this state shall be exempt from service as jurors in any of the courts of this state.

1915, c. 178, s. 14.

6641. Record of licenses issued. All licenses and certificates issued by the state board of dental examiners shall bear a serial number, the full name of the applicant, the date of the issuance, the seal of the board, and be signed by the president and a majority of the members thereof, and be attested by its secretary.

1915, c. 178, s. 15.

6642. Practice under corporate or fictitious name forbidden. It shall be unlawful for any person to practice or offer to practice dentistry or dental surgery as herein defined under the name of any company, association, or corporation, and every person practicing or offering to practice dentistry or dental surgery under any other name than his own shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

6643. Licenses of other states; reciprocal recognition. The board of dental examiners may in its discretion issue a license to practice dentistry without an examination other than clinical to a legal and ethical practitioner of dentistry who removes into North Carolina from another state or territory of the United States whose standard of requirements is equal to that of the state of North Carolina, and in which he conducted a legal or ethical practice of dentistry for at least five years next preceding his removal; but such applicant must present a certificate from the dental board or a like board of the state or territory from which he removes, certifying that he is a legally competent and ethical dentist, and is of good moral character, and such certificate must be presented to the state board of dental examiners within six months of the date of its issuance, and must be recorded in the county or counties where such person proposes to practice as is provided by this article: Provided, that the said board of such other state or territory shall permit in like manner by law the recognition of licenses or certificates issued by the North Carolina state board of dental examiners when presented to such other board by legal practitioners of dentistry from this state, when he or she wishes to remove to or practice dentistry in such other state or territory.

1915, c. 178, s. 17.

6644. Certificate for change of residence.
